My path, illumined by His smiles,
Grows brighter day by day.
No woes, no foes, my heart can fear,
With my almighty friend so near.
Oh, wondrous bliss! oh, joy sublime!
I've Jesus with me all the time.

I know His sheltering wings of love
Are always o'er me spread,
And though the storms may fiercely rage,
All calm and free from dread,
My peaceful spirit ever sings;
I'll trust the covert of His wings.
Oh, wondrous bliss! oh, joy sublime!
I've Jesus with me all the time.

For the Southwestern.

Our Letter from China.

The "rainy season" has poured down upon us, until it seems to have exhausted its resources. Its little streams have met in the valleys, joined hands and gone rushing towards the South, regardless of ripening grain, in their pitiless frolic encircling and sweeping away the mud houses that offered resistence, sometimes—can it be they did have thoughts of mercy!—taking with them those whom they had made homeless. Now the glorious Autumn is here with "sunny skies and cloudless times."

"With a sober gladness the old year takes up
His bright inheritance of golden fruit."

The shaven priests wander alone through their deserted temples at the "Western Hills," for the foreigners have all returned to town. Missionaries have begun the "fall campaign," while society life fairly opens this evening with a dinner given by the First Secretary of the English Legation—Mr. Grovesnor—to the English and French Admirals who are now in the city.

Mr. Grovesnor is in charge of affairs in the absence of Sir Thomas Wade, who was summoned home by the Queen a few weeks ago. Mrs. Grovesnor is a daughter of Prof. S. Wells Williams of Yale College. He was formerly in the U. S. Legation and he now owns the place which is rented by our government. He is always spoken of with great respect by those who knew him. His "Dictionary of the Chinese Language" is the standard with students, and his [illegible] [illegible] three years for many [illegible] and as they saw it was to be failure again, and with no other hope in life—the disappointment and the disgrace were too heavy a burden to bear. Only a small per cent are allowed to receive degrees in one year. The number is limited by the Emperor to two or three hundred!

Last evening the Peking Association met the American Legation at the house of Mr. Holcombe. It had been announced that the constitution of the proposed "North China Tract Society," which had been drawn up by the committee appointed for that purpose, would be up for discussion, after which Dr. Edkins, the famous Sinologue, would read an address on the Chinese theory of the Future world. The constitution was read and adopted article by article.

The Executive Committee of the society is to consist of twenty-five persons and must include one at least from each mission in North China. The movement is taken up with a great deal of zeal and a delightful spirit of unanimity that promises well for its future success, and it is hoped that it will be the means of scattering Christian literature all over these provinces. The paper was postponed on account of the lateness of the hour.

The glorious comet that appeared so unexpectedly in our eastern sky a few mornings ago is exciting much comment. The Chinese say it means disaster to their Empire, and supplications are offered for the aversion of the evil.

Letters from Tientsin yesterday say that our long looked for reinforcements have arrived at that place, and started up the river in boats.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart are to live in the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Willitts, who were appointed to Tientsin at the last Annual meeting.

The Boy's School building is completed and is said by visitors from the south to be one of the finest school buildings in China. It looks very plain, but it is substantial and commodious. It is hoped that the English course will draw in many [illegible] students. The lectures [illegible] last winter proved a great success, drawing in crowded [illegible]. Another course has been [illegible] for this season, which [illegible] equally good. Our Girl's School now numbers forty, most of whom are very satisfactory.

Dr. Howard, Mr. Walker and George Lowry, our Superintendent's [illegible]

[illegible] Bro. T. Cole commenced work as a travelling missionary and organizer for the society. Six auxiliaries have been organized on the Navasota District; meetings of various kinds have been held; interest in mission work created, and the following amounts received: Courtney, $12.45; Bryon, $26.89; Millican, $7.50; Navasota, $2.75; Anderson, 12.85; Yarborough, $3.

Marshall District has made a grand start, with sister I. R. Cole as organizer. At Paris, Jefferson and Texarkana auxiliaries have been formed.

A little work has been done on the other districts and the Conference Board hope to effect organizations in them also, before long.

We have spent on the work this year $127.68, and sent to the Executive Board $50.

Through some mistake the West Texas Conference has received credit for the work done by the W. H. Mission Society of the Texas Conference; but as we are part and parcel of the whole, we expect them to enter as heartily into the work as we have done, and prosecute it with more earnestness this coming year than we have done in the one now closing.

We trust we are not so anxious for the applause of men as we are for the favor of God.

During the year we have received from the parent Board one box of clothing, by means of which we have been able to help ten families, some of them having so many children that it was a great mercy to be able to help clothe them. We also received from the A. B. Society a box of Bibles, Testaments and Gospels. They will, we doubt not, be a great blessing wherever they go. A beautiful pulpit Bible in English and one in German, for Shulenburg M. E. Church were among the number. A goodly number of tracts from friends, in English, have been received and distributed in various counties throughout the State, relying on the promise of God, "My word shall not return unto me void," etc.

Thus you see, dear bishop and brethren, we are trying to prove ourselves worthy of the confidence not only of the Executive Board of the W. H. M. Society of the Texas Conference, but of the world at large.

We have made some mistakes, but we say, "Forgive us our sins." Dear bishop, we [illegible] you to sincerely [illegible]

[illegible] timely assistance will be given in the future. Our conference school buildings must go up. Let us continue to work. The sleepless eye of the world is upon us. Our actions are noted by friends and foes, at home and abroad. Some of our oily-mouthed friends, see in us no good, no progress making in the black wing of wedded Methodism. But Christian-hearted women and men see advance all along the line. Let us be true to our God, true to ourselves, and true to the grand old M. E. Church, which is aiding us upward and onward.

As ever, truly yours,
M. Henson.

Waco District Conference.

The District Conference of the Waco District, West Texas Conference of M. E. Church, met at Dallas, September 7, 1882. Presiding Elder S. Gates in the chair. Rev. A. Foster was elected secretary, and the usual committees appointed. The conference was largely attended and well represented. The ministers from all the charges and circuits were on time to answer at roll call. The presiding elder, S. Gates, represented his district as being in a flourishing condition; and also reported improvements in church work, and conversions all over the district.

This conference cut a fearful inroad in the hearts of the people, which will tell wonders for our church in the future.

This body having found the Rev. S. Gates, a wise councilor, a faithful adviser, and a good presiding elder, therefore,

Be it resolved, To present this reverend gentleman his conference suit.

This resolution was unanimously adopted and the suit presented.

Yours, Jas. W. Robinson.

The census returns disclose an alarming state of illiteracy in certain portions of the country where the provision for schools is greatly inadequate. It is a momentous question for the decision of Congress whether immediate and substantial aid should not be extended by the general government for supplementing the efforts of private beneficence and of State and Territorial legislation in behalf of education.—President's Message.

It is rather startling, and to [illegible] may savor of irreverence [illegible] of Christ as [illegible]

[illegible] of the sermon Rev. M. A. Daughery presented his financial statement, showing that the entire cost of the building and furnishing was $14,855.01. It was necessary to raise $1400 in order to dedicate the church free from debt incurred in furnishing. Within twenty-five minutes the congregation responded to the amount of over $1700 in valid subscriptions. This we regard as a liberal contribution and speaks well for the generosity of our Austin people as well as their appreciation of this new church. The debt being provided for Bishop Bowman at once dedicated the church according to the ritual of the M. E. church, and the large congregation dispersed seemingly pleased with all the services.—From the Austin Daily Statesman of Nov. 21, 1882.

The Gates of Hell.

In a sermon upon this subject, Mr. Talmage said: "Another gate of hell, and the chief gate, and as wide as all the others put together, is the gate of alcoholic beverages. On the night of exploration I found that everything was done under the enchantment of the wine cup; that was one of the chief attractions of the illuminated garden; that staggered the step of the patrons as they went home. The wine cup is the instigator of all impurity, and the patron of all uncleanliness. So far as God may help me, I shall be its unending foe. It was the testimony of the officials on the night of the exploration that those who frequent the house of death, go in intoxicated; the mental and spiritual abolished, the brute ascendant. Tell me a young man drinks, and I know the rest. Let him become a captive of the wine cup, and he is a captive of all vices. No man ever runs drunkenness alone. That is one of the carrion crows that go in a flock. If that break is ahead, you may know the other breaks follow. In other words, it unbalances and dethrones and makes him a prey to all the appetites that choose to light on his soul.

"There is not a sin on this continent that doos not find its chief abettor in the places of inebriety. There is a drinking bar before, behind, or a bar under it. The officers said to me that night, 'You see how these escape legal penalty, they are licensed to sell liquor.' Then I thought within myself, the [illegible] which licenses the sale of in[illegible]ng liquors and gambling [illegible] licenses libertinism, dis[illegible] crime, all sufferings, all [illegible] is the legislature and the [illegible] swing wide this grind[illegible], stupendous gate of [illegible]t you say you have [illegible] swing in to al[illegible] the doomed. [illegible] they swing out [illegible] the penitent. [illegible] the exception [illegible] I think nine [illegible] out of a [illegible] live!

"The total annual contribution of all the churches of the United States, for both home and foreign missions, is about $5,000,000.

"That is less than our drink-bill for three days."

Why Are You Not a Christian?

Is it because you are afraid of ridicule and of what others may say of you? Jesus says:

"Whosoever shall be ashamed of me and my words, of him shall the Son of Man be ashamed."

Is it because professing Christians do not live consistent lives?

"Every one shall give an account of himself to God."

Is it because you fear that Jesus will not accept you? He says:

"Him that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out."

Is it because you think you are too great a sinner?

"The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanseth us from all sin."

Is it because you think you do the best you can, and pay your debts, God ought to be satisfied?

"Whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all."

Is it because you think there is time enough yet?

"Boast not thyself of to-morrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth."

Is it because you are not willing to give up all for Jesus, and take the narrow way?

"What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

"He that, being often reproved, hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy."—Proverbs xxix:1.

The annual report of Gen. Sherman shows that the general staff consists of 573 officers and 1,216 enlisted men; the army proper, of ten regiments of cavalry—421 officers and 6,380 men; five regiments of artillery—twenty-eight officers and 2,493 men; twenty-five regiments of infantry—877 officers and 8,773 men; total, including available men detailed at various points, being 2,162 officers and 23,024 men. He states that there has been a less number of Indian outbreaks in the year than at any time for twenty years. A part of this is due to the efficiency of the army and part to the advancement of civilization in the west. The number of desertions during the year was 3,721 and of enlistments and re-enlistments 7,341. He says, on the number of desertions, many are those of men who enlist in eastern cities, and after getting free transportation west, desert, knowing there will be little effort to bring them back or punish them. The remedy, he thinks, is in the better treatment of those who stay and the more severe punishment of deserters. He recommends an increase of pay of men to $16 per month, instead of $13 as now, and that punishment for desertion be made more severe, inflicting capital punishment in aggravated cases, as is [illegible]

Navada is always doing something contrariwise. A baby was born out there a short time since, and these are the anomalous facts: The father and mother are strong and healthy, weighing 100 and 160 pounds. The child is a male, perfectly formed. When it first saw light it weighed eight ounces. Its face is about the size of a horse chestnut. The mother's wedding ring was pulled over its foot up to the knee. Three such babies could play hide and seek in a cigar-box.

What is ministerial success—crowded churches, full aisles, attentive congregations, the approval of the religious world, much impression produced? Elijah thought so; and when he found out his mistake and discovered that the applause on Carmel subsided into hideous stillness, his heart well nigh broke with disappointment. Ministerial success lies in altered lives and obedient, humble hearts—unseen work recognized in the judgment day.—F. W. Robertson.

Jesus needed frequent seasons of private communion with God. How his followers can get along without these, and do any efficient work for him, is a marvel. Indeed it is not possible, the work they might do remains undone, and their professions of friendship for Jesus will not in that great day be any offset for their failure to do what they might have done for him during these days of earth-life.

A circular letter issued by Capt. Gen. Prendergast, of Cuba, directs the different provinces to apply the articles of the law abolishing slavery, which order that freedmen remain under the protection of the State four years after they have obtained their liberty, and require them to prove that they are not leading an idle life.

Wyandotte, Kan., has a colored population of 3,000, nearly all of them are property owners, as not more than twenty-five families live in rented houses. A correspondent gives the names of twenty-one heads of families who are collectively worth $81,000, and says he can give a list of three more property owners.

The great end to be attained in all moral teaching is to lead the child to act from principle, to do a thing because it is right, and avoid doing or saying a certain thing because it is wrong.—Professor Huxley

The fall term of the Ohio W[illegible] leyan University closed Dec. 20th. The term has been one of the greatest prosperity. 664 students have been in attendance, which is 138 more than has been present in any previous term. The Freshman Class numbers 103. Excellent work has been done in all departments of the University. The next term commences Jan. 3rd, when new students can enter and find classes adapted to their wants.

A canary owned by a lady in Dubuque, Iowa, upon being given its liberty in a room, one day, flew to the mantle where there was a mirror. Thinking that he found a mate, he went back to the cage and got a seed to offer the stranger. As the image refused to eat the seed, the little fellow poured forth his sweetest notes, pausing now and then to watch the effect. After awhile the poor bird went back to his perch, and with his head hanging, remained silent the rest of the day.—Iowa State Registea.

... of the ... in the sunny South or snowy North, in India or China, whether loving or neglecting Christ, a happy New Year. May we long walk together in the true converse of redeemed, free and independent souls. May these columns come weekly to your eyes and hearts having in them nothing false, unmanly or unchristian. May they speak the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The times call loudly for such preaching. God is calling on the nation to lay aside every weight and the sin that doth so easily beset. He is calling on the church to lay aside the sin of caste, the sin, the one great sin that so greivously hinders her in her work today. Perfection is not yet reached. Rum still rules the State. This is no pitiful tale to make women and children cry, but a simple statement of an awful fact that no man can deny. Work, hard work is to be done. We ask all the friends of the SOUTHWESTERN of whatever faith or order, in whatever part of the land, to give us their cordial support. Each subscriber knows some person who does not take the paper. Go see him or her to-day and get their subscription. Let the list be doubled on every charge, and we will try and walk together in the Spirit and unto edification. May God make the year 1883 a year of the right hand of the Most High, of personal consolation, of revivals, of church extension, of national and human progress. Of real spiritual prosperity let there be no limits. So will it

"Roll onward, leading up the golden year."

Benevolence.

Benevolence does not consist half as much in a desire or intention to do good, or in acts of kindness, or good done. The highest manifestation of benevolence is found in that act of God when He "so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him might not perish, but have everlasting life." A truly benevolent heart is the fruit of divine grace, and as grace triumphs in the soul men become more tender and benevolent.

The philantrophy of Howard, Wilberforce and Clarkson, clearly demonstrated that they had hearts in sympathy with Christ. Their unwearied exertions in behalf of suffering humanity will cause their names to be held in everlasting remembrance. Carey, Coke, Jackson, and a host of others, of whom the world is not worthy, gave themselves for the benefit of the degraded and benighted. They rest from their labors, but their names are not forgotten. No truly benevolent effort was ever put forth in vain, none ever can be. Theological and Normal Classes in New Orleans University.

"Apt to teach" is one of the qualifications that the Apostle names as needful for the preacher. It is of course equally needful for the school teacher. For these qualifications two things are demanded. First, we must have a knowledge of the subjects to be taught, and we must know how to teach them. Thorough acquaintance with the doctrines of the Bible must be acquired by the successful preacher, and with the sciences, by the successful school teacher; and both classes must be skilled in the best modes of teaching these.

New Orleans University has made provision for supplying these wants. This term, which commences Jan. 2nd, the Theological class will commence with the "Remedial Dispensation" in Wakefield's Theology, and will finish the book. In addition there will be daily exercises in Exegesis or Homiletics. Every preacher and person preparing to preach will be welcome.

In the Normal class, to which all who are preparing to preach will be admitted, two lectures a week will be given, on managing schools and the best modes of instruction. On the other days there will be model exercises in teaching and recitations.

Arrangements will be made by which all persons qualified in scholarship and character will be reasonably sure to obtain good situations to teach.

For particulars call at the office of the University, No. 188 Race street, or write to the President, Rev. James A. Dean, D. D.

Every thought entertained, every word spoken, every act performed is a seed sown. The sowing determines the reaping, and the reaping is determined by the sowing. In this harvest field the sower has to do his own reaping. The hand that scattered must gather. God's law of sowing, and growing, and reaping, is the same everywhere. The same in the moral world as in the animal and vegetable kingdoms. Sugar cane planted never produces corn, Java coffee never grows barley. If the seed is good the crop is good, and no one but the sower takes the honor; if bad the crop is bad, and the sower bears all the shame. He who sows the devil's seed must reap the devil's crop. "They that plough iniquity and sow wickedness reap the same." Sow "wild oats" and there can be but one result, a harvest of unpleasant memories and accumulated sorrows. We shall reap in full measure according to our sowing. "God is not mocked" men; ... at him but they cannot mock

Other collections $87.21. For current expenses $122.34. Total of these collections $1,213.82. In the support of the preachers there seems to have been a large decline.

There is no advantage whatever in pretending to be what you know you are not. It is best always to be true, and never profess to believe what you know to be a lie. We respect candor, though it be ten thousand miles from what to us is the truth, but we have an utter loathing for pretense. We like Christian independence and honesty, and the man who accepts the good because it is good, and rejects the bad because it is bad. We dislike a sham, a false self-willed make-believe independence, that allows one to become a slave to an unholy prejudice, wrong fashion, and corrupt codes. Just now men are needed who will work towards the perfection and beauty of the latter day glory, more than those who look and work towards the imperfection and ugliness of the past. Let us be honest, and accept the good, and reject the bad, according as our conscience apprehends.

"Work For The Hour."—Our agricultural journals frequently put this heading to certain articles in their papers. It is especially appropriate at this season to every Christian pastor. Of fairs, festivals, concerts or lectures we have but little to say, save that most uniformly they interfere with the work of the Spirit. If they ever draw the time and interest from the one great work of saving souls, they do unmeasured harm. Whatever interferes with the pastors work of soul-harvesting should be cast down and out. This is the time for extra effort to save men. Every Christian should see to it that he is now doing work for God, for the salvation of his neighbors, and of his acquaintances. Now is the accepted time. Behold now is the day of salvation. Work while it is called to-day.

TEXAS.

I. B. Scott, Trinity M. E. Church, Houston: "I am glad to say that our new building is completed and ready for dedication. It is our intention to have it dedicated to the service of God on the 24th of December, the fourth Sunday of this month. We hope to have Bishop T. Bowman, and other leading men of the church present. All friends and former pastors are invited to be present."

E. E. Cooper, Alleyton: "At last quarterly conference all reports were good. There were 26 converts this year. The outlook at the beginning of the year was hard. Many had to buy seed to plant, as the crops were short last year. I took a mallet and wedge and went into the timber to work for my wife and eight children; in March we found a plow and horse and labored in the field, then in the church. Mt. Pleasant, with 25 members, paid me $50; Alleyton, with 75 members, $145—or $240 in all. Out of this I paid my subscription of $50 for the conference school. I am thankful to Prof. G. O. Richardson for his assistance, and the friends who paid. Many promised but failed. The church generally is doing well. ... was a grand affair. It will live long in the memory of the people.

The ladies spared no pains to make everything comfortable and nice. Crowds came from the neighboring towns and villages so that on the night of the 15th La Teche presented an appearance of gaiety and merriment. Several prizes were competed for, of whom the most successful competitors were Miss Rachel Alexander and Mrs. Nelly West.

The distinguished ladies, Misses Wright and Fisher, from New York, members of the above quartette, being present we were favored with several pieces of music. It is but seldom that we listen to such displays of musical talent, both vocal and instrumental. The audience sat in raptured silence as the sweet strains of music pealed forth from the organ. But a deeper silence, approaching that of magnetism, transfixed every gaze to the spot where stood the "sirens" during the rendition of the piece by Glover "I Heard A Voice." We made at the entertainment $110 gross

We beg to thank these ladies through you, for the zeal and interest manifested in working for the cause of God, and especially to Sister Mary Hall of New Orleans, the President lady, whose hands were full, and also to the other members of the committee, Sisters Milly Augustus, Betty Patty, Rachel Alexander, Nelly West, Alice Kinchen, Marcelite Kinchern, Fellis Baker, Celina Baker, Mary Garrette, Mary Brown, and Amee Fontinette. Also to Mrs. Ellen Kinchen and Misses Effie Walker and Mary Byrd of Franklin for their hearty co-operation.

Yours in Christ,
E. LYON.

La Teche, Dec. 27th, 1882.

Mississippi Conference.

DEAR EDITOR:—Permit me through your paper to say a few words to the ministers of the Mississippi Conference. Dear Brethren It is but 20 days to the meeting of our Annual Conference. I have mailed to the Presiding Elders the blanks to make your reports upon. Will you make them out carefully before going to Conference. Carefully fill out tables Nos. I, II and III. Our minutes were faulty last year from the fact that they do not contain table No. 3.

Dr. J. H. Vincent, corresponding secretary S. S. Union, insists that we furnish him these tables this year. Do not disappoint him. Again, there are in our Conference 113 appointments, 64, more than half, took no collection for Church Extension Society last year. Of this Dr. A. J. Kynett justly complains. How many of us will see to it that there are no blanks in our report this year? We shall probably meet Dr. Rust at Confer-... us cheer him by making ... Rust

From Our Mission Rooms.

Library for the Denmark Mission.—Good English books in exegesis, theology, church history and practical religion are very much needed by our preachers in Denmark. A large number of them read English. They need a Methodist and general evangelical literature.—They desire to secure a library which can be deposited in some central or accessible place, as at the Copenhagen church, or elsewhere—the library to be called "The Methodist Episcopal Church Library of Denmark." This would be a great help toward a theological school. An opportunity is here offered for any persons who have books suitable to the purpose, which they will spare, to put them to an excellent use. Please send the same to the Mission Rooms, 805 Broadway, New York, and they will be thence forwarded to the Denmark Mission. A quantity of good books to help on Bible study or general ministerial culture would be very acceptable. A single book would be thankfully received. Such are readily sent through the mail.

Shahjehanpore Circuit, India.—Rev. James Mudge reports many inquirers on this circuit. A goodly number of baptisms were expected to occur before the end of the year. The work in the entire conference goes on steadily if slowly. There is no rush as yet, but the converts seem to come in some places as fast as they can be well cared for. The Sunday-schools are having "wonderful development," but they entail expense hard to meet. Help in the way of money is still much needed.

The Earl of Derby, in a speech at Manchester, England, on the 13th inst., indicated that he would prefer the country should expend some millions sterling to promote emigration from Ireland rather than listen to fresh proposals for legislation in regard to Irish land. He thinks the tenants of Ireland will soon be just as dependent on the landlords as ever. As to allowing an Irish parliament to be created, he would not consent to it; for that means separation, which never can be permitted.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Council Fire and Arbitrator is published monthly in Washington, D. C. Subscription price $1 per year. It advocates the rights of American Indians and arbitration of differences between nations.

The holiday number of Babyland, (a monthly published by D. Lothrop & Co. Boston, Mass, at 50 cents per year,) is a beauty.

The American Agriculturist for January begins the 42nd volume of that cheap and useful aid to farmers and gardeners.

The January Century contains an article on "The Debt of Science to Darwin," by Prof. Wallace, author of "Island Life," and probably the most distinguished living English writer on subjects akin to the Darwinian theory.

One of the illustrated features of the January Century is "Farming for Feathers," by E. B. Biggar, a former resident of Cape Town—a timely topic, now that ostrich-farming is being discussed as a possible American industry.

Harper's Magazine for January is a remarkably beautiful and interesting number. The opening article is the first of the long expected series of papers by George H. Broughton, entitled "Artist Strolls in Holland." Ernest Ingersoll, as a writer, and A. C. Redwood, as an artist, co-operate in a most interesting representation of "A Redwood Logging Camp"—full of pictures of the Coast Range region of California. Colonel Higginson continues his American History series, with a chapter entitled "The Old English Seamen," showing what the Cabots, Hawkins, Drake, Cavendish, and Raleigh did for the maritime supremacy of England in America in the sixteenth century. Courad Wilson contributes a paper on the possibilities of the American Dairy. In fiction and poetry the number is unusually strong. Mr. George William Curtis, in the Editor's Easy Chair, defends the good old Saxon custom of dining our English guests and discusses Mr. Spencer's views concerning America.

Haus und Herd, our popular German monthly, for January, is very attractive and interesting. Subscription price $2 per year. Walden & Stowe, publishers, Cincinnati.

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, for December, (New York; Leonard Scott Publishing Co.,) has Alison's Autobiography, Iole, Four Months in Morocco, Goethe's West—Eastern Divan, A Singular Case, Notes of an Egyptian Campaign, The [illegible] of the Opposition, etc. This [illegible] magazine has a [illegible] on both sides of the Atlantic.

The Popular Science Monthly, for January, offers a goodly collection [illegible] ties of Superstition." Herbert Spencer's after-dinner speech is published under the title of "The Gospel of Recreation." "The Influence of Education on Observation," touches a question of importance to teachers. The portrait and sketch are of the late Dr. Henry Draper. New York: D. Appleton & Company. Fifty cents per number, $5 per year.

The Boston Musical Herald for December has a portrait of Professor James Parker and other American biographical notes and sketches. Price 15 cents.

For several years The London Graphic and the London Illustrated News have each sent out a costly Pictorial Christmas Number which has been eagerly bought by the people at large in both hemispheres; and these great pictorials have come to be regarded as a part of Christmas, and are considered very suitable and much-to-be-coveted Christmas gifts. This year Americans have taken up the idea, and the largest houses in the book-trade, Messrs D. Lothrop & Co., of Boston, and Harper and Brothers, of New York, have each sent out a "Christmas" that far excels anything that London publishers have ever attempted. The Christmas Wide Awake (Dec. No.) cost over $10,000 and authors and artists, here and abroad, have been busy for a year in its preparation. Parents who feel anxious to put into the hands of their young folks a magazine of high literature as pure and stimulating as it is gay and entertaining, should secure the periodical for the year at once.

"Can Go to Sleep in a Minute."

A gentleman who had suffered much from insomnia, writes, after using Compound Oxygen: "I can do something now I could never do before using the Oxygen that is, I can lie down at night, and go to sleep almost in a minute—formerly it took me hours; seemingly caused from nervousness." Our Treatise on Compound Oxygen, its nature, action, and results, with reports of cases and full information, sent free. Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 and 1111 Girard Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

There was a great fire at Canton, China, Nov. 7 and 8. Eight hundred houses were destroyed and many lives lost, including firemen, who were burned to death. The Viceroy visited the scene, with a body of soldiers to prevent robbery, and fierce fights occurred between thieves and citizens. The Viceroy, himself, was placed in danger of his life, his party being jammed in narrow streets. There were two fires in Foochow, November 4 and 5. They consumed each about two hundred houses and five lives were lost. Prince Kung's death may be looked for at any time.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION

By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. The few songs and melodies first introduced and sung by the "Jubilee Singers" and "Tennesseeans" were every where received with enthusiastic applause, and soon attained immense popularity. They are now familiar to almost every one, and have created an earnest and very general desire that every song and melody which has been popular among the negroes of the South during their days of slavery should be gathered together and published in a form and style which would give them the widest circulation and insure their preservation. This wide-felt want is now supplied in this complete and valuable collection, which comprises the best of the many variations of these songs and melodies, giving all that have seemed worthy of preservation. The author, Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., who is presiding elder of the Ohio District of the Lexington Conference, is peculiarly well qualified for the preparation of a work of this kind, requiring as it does, a thorough knowledge of the subject, good judgment and much careful, painstaking labor; and the thorough and systematic manner in which the work has been completed, leaves nothing to be desired. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. They include, therefore, very many songs entirely new which are as meritorious as those so well known, and which will probably become equally popular. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational signing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. Read the few following testimonials:

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley.

"Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley.

"It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust.

"We take pleasure in giving to this timely publication our hearty commendation."—Dr. F. S. Hoyt.

"It is just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel.

"I most heartily commend it as brimful of the plaintive, quaint melody and song spirit, or which our race is so truly celebrated."—Rev. Daniel Jones.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

The countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes of a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach; at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

will certainly effect a cure.

In buying Vermifuge be sure you get the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE, manufactured by Fleming Bros., 24 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. The market is full of counterfeits. You will be right if it has the signature of Fleming Bros. and C. McLane.

The New York Times.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

The TIMES will enter on its thirty-third year with the support and confidence of a steadily growing constituency and in possession of a public influence which in kind and degree is unrivaled in American journalism.

To the purification of the public service, the sweeping away of all unjust and burdensome forms of taxation, to the maintenance of a sound currency, and the enforcement of a system of strict accountability in public and corporate trusts, the efforts of THE TIMES will, in the future as in the past, be devoted. Its well-earned fame as the fearless assailant of all forms of public peculation rests on principles of its management which are beyond the reach of change. THE TIMES is the organ of no individual, of no faction or clique, and of no interest adverse to the public good. It knows no service other than that of the people.

Recognizing in all political organizations simply a means to the end of good government, THE TIMES will continue to judge all parties by their fidelity to the purpose for which they professedly exist. The elections of 1882 have very clearly demonstrated the timeliness of the warnings which THE TIMES so persistently addressed to the leaders of the Republican Party in this and other States, and have vindicated its right to speak for a large and intelligent body of public opinion. The Republicanism which THE TIMES represents was never so vigorous and aggressive as it is to-day, and with this progressive type of party opinion rests the future of reform in National, State and Municipal government.

THE TIMES will, as in the past, be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fullness of its correspondence, by mail and telegraph from all parts of the world will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demand of our time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, THE TIMES will address itself as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people.

No theories subversive of the principles on which the sacredness of family ties and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

THE TIMES rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES is especially fitted to meet the requirements of those who seek more ample details of current news and fuller installments of current discussion than are furnished in the weekly issue. The SEMI-WEEKLY has a large circulation abroad and among the professional and mercantile classes, outside of the large cities, at home.

THE WEEKLY TIMES, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social, and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. Its conductors will spare no effort not only to maintain its well earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

MR. EDITOR: I desire to hear from my people whom I left in war time. Mother was Mary Thatcher. She had four boys and four girls; John was the eldest boy, then Mark, Richmond and myself, Dock Thatcher. The girls were Martha, Eliza, Matilda and Peggy. I left them in Limestone county, Alabama. Address, care of Rev. E. D. Spencer, Argenta, Arkansas.

DOCK THATCHER.

DEAR EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my sister-in-law's relatives, whom she left in Lyon county, Alabama, near 26 years ago. Mother was Maria Thompson. She had two sons, Aleck and Wiley Thompson. The inquirer Jennie Heggans, formerly Jennie Thompson, was brought to Texas by Morgan Thompson. One sister was named Lucy. Address, care of Rev. W. H. Harmes, or W. W. Heggans, Jewett, Texas.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to know the whereabouts of my Uncles, my Father's brothers, three in number. Names—John Price, Jesse Price, and the other he did not know the name. My Father's name is Wm. Price; he left his parents' home when 12 years of age, by the traders to New Orleans, and stayed there six months, when a farmer by the name of A. G. Jordan bought him and brought him to a plantation in Louisiana on Bayou Taplacat and in the village of Allen, La., and he has been living within 12 miles of this town, until last August 15th, when he passed through the dark valley of the shadow of death by the penetration of 12 bullets. He said he left his brothers and parents in Fairfax, Virginia. Please write me at Allen, Natchitocles parish, La.

D. J. PRICE.

Allen, La., Dec. 5th, 1882.

DEAR EDITOR: I would like to find my nephew, Robert Brown, who left New Orleans, Oct. 20, 1877, for Louisville, Ky. He stopped at Plaquemines, La., and wrote me two letters, but as I was out of the city teaching school at the time, they were not answered until my return home. I wrote but did not receive a reply. I have not heard from him since, although I have traveled and made inquiries at river cities. Address me at Allen, La. D. J. PRICE.

Gorham Silid Silver

Is of only one quality (925/1000 fine), absolutely guaranteed. Every piece is stamped and the goods can be purchased of dealers at the same prices asked for STERLING goods of inferior manufacture, and often of debased quality.

Gorham Plated Spooms and Forks

Are made of only ONE QUALITY, and that the same as used on our GORHAM PLATED HOLLOW WARE, are extra heavy in metal, and are finished equal to our Solid Silver Goods. The same patterns are never made in both Silver and Plated Ware by us, but as much careful attention is given to the production of a pattern in Gorham Plate as in Silver, and the result is the Gorham Plated Spoons and Forks are equally beautiful in appearance, and for Country Houses are much appreciated.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

No. 56 USE THE TRADE MARK St. Charles

A WONDERFUL and SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew a night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

WE DON'T SELL TO PEDDLERS.

WHAT WILL THE WEATHER BE TO-MORROW
Pool's Signal Service Barometer
OR STORM GLASS AND THERMOMETER COMBINED, WILL TELL YOU!

It will detect and indicate correctly any change in the weather 12 to 48 hours in advance. It will tell what kind of storm is approaching, and from what direction—invaluable to navigators. Farmers can plan their work according to its predictions. Saves 50 times its cost in a single season. Has an accurate thermometer attached, which alone is worth the price of the combination. This great WEATHER INDICATOR is endorsed by the most eminent Physicians, Professors and Scientific men of the day to be the BEST IN THE WORLD! The Thermometer and Barometer are put in a nicely finished walnut frame, with silver plated trimmings, etc., making it a beautiful as well as useful ornament. We will send you a sample one, delivered free, to your place, in good order, on receipt of $1, or six for $4. Agents are making from $5 to $20 daily selling them. A trial will convince you. Order at once. It Sells at SIGHT! Just the thing to sell to farmers, merchants, etc. Invaluable to everybody. U. S. J. C. Houston, Pickens: "In an entertainment given on the 23rd of Nov. we made $63, which settled all of the indebtedness of the church. Every member is rejoicing under the happy thought of being free again in this respect. The Elder arrived last Saturday morning. The dark clouds that had hung so heavily over our heads had fled, which left a blue sky and a bright sun to bid him welcome. Although it was very cold Sunday the congregation was out on time, and he gave them a talk from the words—"Master, it is good for us to be here." And I tell you we did not need any fire from the stove, for it came from Heaven without pressure."

H. L. Kennedy, Crystal Springs: "We are pleased to note that at a basket meeting, given at White Oak, one of the preaching points in October last, we succeeded in taking up $80 to build a new church. We did not have any place to hold the congregation, and the white people gave the use of their church, and many of them gave liberally to the good cause."

LOUISIANA.

C. A. Taylor, Rosedale: "The church is moving on nicely under the leadership of Rev. A. Jackson. He is now serving his third year with us. During the overflow the following brethren responded to our call for help: Revs. Thomas McCarey of Bayou Goula; J. H. Rylander, of West Baton Rouge; Wm. Smith, of Donaldsonville; Bro. Haynes, of the A. M. E. Church, and Bro. Randall of the M. E. Church, South. A revival closed with 10 converts and several backsliders reclaimed. The sacrament was administered to 61 on the first Sunday; 6 were received in full membership; 10 baptized. Collection was $25. We are trying to get up a good SOUTHWESTERN list for 1883."

ARKANSAS.

A correspondent from the Hot Springs says, that a protracted meeting of three weeks brought 12 converts and 16 additions to the church. Shortly after the revival closed, the young converts gave a festival, made $42, and devoted $37 of the amount to a new suit of clothes to the pastor. On the night of Nov. 17th, a host of the members and friends made him a donation.

TEXAS.

C. W. Campbell, Houston: "Your mention of our school will bring us students. Many thanks. The following members of Mount Vernon M. E. Church have paid subscriptions to the Houston Seminary, in addition to those reported last week: P. Ross, $1; Geo. Parker, 25 cents."

 "Figures are not always facts," but the incontrovertible facts concerning Kidney-Wort are bettter than most figures, For instance: "It is curing everybody" writes a druggist. "Kidney-Wort is the most popular medicine we sell." It should be by right, for no other medicine has such specific action on the liver, bowels and kidneys. Do not fail to try it.

It is noteworthy how much more respectful and even friendly the most influential of our daily papers are latterly in their treatment of the temperance work. As there has been no change in the object sought to be attained, the altered manner of treating it must be accepted as no mean evidence of the substantial advancement of the work.—Pittsburg Workman.

Not an alcoholic beverage, but a true and reliable family medicine is Brown's Iron Bitters.

Judge: "What I can not understand is how you could kill a man with a single blow." Culprit: "Shall I show you how?"—Fliegende Blatter.

KIDNEY-WORT IS A SURE CURE for all diseases of the Kidneys and LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

TIRED.

Of all thy promises, O Christ,
This sometimes seems the best—
"Come to Me, ye that labor,
And I will give you rest."
We get so tired, we cannot care
For many things. We creep
Like weary children near to Thee,
And only pray to sleep.

We have been strong to dare and do;
We have gone forth to fight;
With force that led to victory
Have striven for the right.
Where thou hast called us we have gone,
With gladsome step and free;
But what can worn-out hearts and hands
Avail to do for thee?

We have gone forth to work among Thy busy servants, Lord;
Oh, pleasant were the merry songs
We sang with sweet accord!
But night comes after the long day,
And we, by care oppressed,
Come to thee, Master, in the dark,
And ask for leave to rest.

Oh, Jesus, thou wast weary too,
And thou wilt understand
Why the unfinished tasks are put
From out the nerveless hand.
We thank thee for thy patient love,
That gives us our best;
We turn from all the world beside,
And come to thee for rest.

The Birmingham Matter.

BY REV. J. E. DAVIS (EX-LIEUT. GOVERNOR OF MISSISSIPPI.)

MR. EDITOR:—I have looked on with a great deal of interest at what has been said, both pro and con relative to the Birmingham matter. I was much pleased with the [illegible] Christian-like letter of [illegible], published in [illegible] of the 21st [illegible] breathes the senti- [illegible] sinking portion of our [illegible] against the connection. [illegible] have ever been [illegible] all else to show men [illegible] we are for [illegible] has done for [illegible] We have also believed that [illegible] God ordained and [illegible] we have a joint [illegible] with the greatest [illegible] glorious tradi- [illegible] prestige. [illegible] history [illegible] truth, [illegible] and [illegible] We know [illegible] owing to [illegible] which we [illegible] is not a [illegible] man in- [illegible] taken [illegible] of [illegible] growth; [illegible] its al- [illegible]

[illegible] their adoption. Shall the church of God be the last to accept these sacred principles or recognize this great fact? Dr. Revels truly says, "The unfortunate language of the Rev. Mr. King is not to be so much deprecated as is that of those who have tried to defend his course." No thinking colored man would have regarded the card of the Rev. Mr. King as significant were it not defended by such dignitaries as the Revs. J. S. Spence, of Tennessee, and Dr. Fuller, of Georgia, and others. I don't believe any one (colored) would have taken any serious notice of what one obscure preacher should say in an obscure place over in Alabama, a region properly termed by one as "The Egypt of the South." I assure you that I should not have written one line to bring him into noteriety, for it is evident that is what he desired when he penned his card.

I am aware of the fact that it was quite common for some Northern men to be more bitter, cruel and intolerant in their prejudice than Southern men in order to prove, as the saying was, they were sound on the negro question, and to ingratiate themselves into the society of the more prejudiced and narrow-minded Southerners. It was left for the Rev. Mr. King to overdo Termigant and out-Herod Herod. There is occasionally the cropping out of a character that reminds one of the foul spirit in Manfred—

"I am a rider of the wind,
A sturrier of the storm,
The hurricane I left behind,
Is still with lingtning warm."

The great heart of the church will form a safe conductor to convey this combustible fluid where it will do no material harm. Prejudices of caste should be avoided at all times and under all circumstances, especially in the church of Christ, for it has no brain, it cannot think; no mind, it cannot reason; no heart, it cannot feel; when it moves it is in wrath, and when it lights it is upon some kindred rock to whet its vulture fins for keener rapine and destruction. Shame upon the man or church that does the fact proclaim that they have driven the colored people in a body from a participation in the worship of God, and assails them and their friends with all the venom of race hatred and religious proscription. It is mean, it is cowardly, it is rebellious to excite the prejudice of the stronger class against the weaker.

Are we, of all other races to be denied the privilege of the common people, "Who heard the word gladly." "Though we are natives here and to the manner born," yet it seems we are to remain strangers here in our own home; but He who rules all events to the ends of justice has allowed the African reared on the soil to be incorporated into the body politic. Thus the proclamation from on high is that the colored man is a fellow, not only in the bonds of a Christian brotherhood, but also in the bonds of patriotism and citizenship, and sooner or later it must be recognized. A gentleman who had authority over me some 22 years ago, in reprimanding me for some opinion that I entertained said, "I am your superior, and no circumstance in life can make you my equal." Fifteen years from that time that same gentleman sought and obtained an executive pardon at my hands. I endeavored for a long time to convince myself that the prejudice against us was not on account of color but on account of the position we occupied to society. Some seven years ago a lady of no mean standing in society called at the office where I was, and made the most sympathetic appeals for a [illegible] of no ordinary consideration; [illegible] explaining it she turned coolly [illegible] said, "We must stoop to [illegible]." She brushed away with [illegible] breath all my previous [illegible] the cause of this distem- [illegible] satisfied that the [illegible] is not so much [illegible] position, [illegible] color.

[illegible] has been put down on account of social position of those who engaged in them? It is the rule with deep reforms that they are rejected by pampered aristocrats and pedantic Rabbi's, and accepted only by the humble in station. To the eye of the Pharisees and Sadducees the followers of Christ were infinitely more despicable than the humblest black man or woman that was notified by the Rev. Mr. King that they were neither wanted nor expected in the First M. E. Church in Birmingham. I've always regarded it as a credit to the church that the poor, humble, helpless colored people of the South nestle to its side, and seek there that relief from misfortune and aid in education which they are hopeless of attaining from any other source. I always feel a sense of pride when I hear the old M. E. Church denounced, as Dr. Hartzell would put it, as "A negro white church." This implies that the down-trodden negro may look up to it as a friend and benefactor. There are multiplied thousands of blacks that are as true to the old church as the needle to the pole, notwithstanding the repeated efforts all over the land to alienate us from it by force and proscription on one hand and persuasion on the other. It is amusing to hear the arguments of the enemies of our church. They tell our people that they are not represented on the Episcopal Board; that we are ignored and ostracised by the great body of the church, and many other things too ridiculous to mention. I never hear one of these arguments without being reminded of Satan, as represented by Milton:

"He" squat like a toad at the ear of Eve,
Assaying by his devilish art
To reach the organ of her fancy;
At least distempered, discontented thoughts,
Vain hope, vain aims, inordinate desire."

I wish that I possessed the spear of Ithuriel, that I might touch and unmask the monster. None of the opponents of the colored man dare believe that the providence which brought the negro here, and has elevated him to citizenship can be reversed. What is the direction which this contumacy towards God and the nation takes? They turn upon the objects of these benefactions, the poor and submissive colored man; they revolt against the laws of God and the nation, and take the cowardly form of persecuting the humble child of toil, and to this unmanly persecution and unchristian prejudice, and this groveling programme, the M. E. Church is invited by the Rev. Mr. King and his supporters. I do not doubt or fear the response which the old church will give to this insulting invocation. The issue is forced upon the church, and there are those who would dodge it and seek an ignoble abrogation of it. I am not one of that class. We cannot, we dare not shirk it when we are challenged to it. The church would dissolve in the experiment, therefore she should scorn to dodge it.

Pardon me for taking up so much of your valuable space. I would have made my communication much shorter but I did not have time.

Winona, Miss., Dec. 29.

Don't Whine.

There is a class of people in this world, by no means small, whose prominent peculiarity is whining. They whine because they are so poor; or if rich because they have no health with which to enjoy riches. They whine because they have no luck and others' prosperity exceeds theirs; they whine because some friends have died and they are still living; they whine because they have aches and pains, and they have these because they whine so much.

Now, a word to these whining people: First, stop whining; it is of no use complaining, fretting, fault-finding and whining. Do you know that it is a well settled principle of physiology and common sense that these habits are more exhausting to nervous vitality than any other violation of physical laws?

And do you know that life is pretty much as you make it? You can make it bright and sunshiny, or you can make it dark and shadowy. This life is meant only to [illegible] us for a higher [illegible] being. For your [illegible] sanity's sake, [illegible] fretting and [illegible]

From Our Mission Rooms.

ITINERATING IN NORTH JAPAN. Rev. Lee W. Squier, a recent accession to our missionary force at Hakodati gives the following account of his journey on the first quarter's visitation of the filed.

After being delayed some time in waiting for our passports to come from the Central Government, Rev. Charles Bishop and I took passage from Hakodati on the evening of Sept. 5th, in a small coasting steamer bound for Mororan, a village on the eastern coast of the island of Yesso. Passing out of the harbor into the straits and thence into the Pacific, we experienced no inconvenience on our little vessel save the cold, which, as we had no staterooms and were trying to sleep on deck, was felt very keenly before morning. However, we managed to get a little sleep, and when morning dawned felt none the worse for roughing it. About eight o'clock our steamer announced her arrival to the quiet village, and immediately the health officer, with due pomp and ceremony, came on board to make an examination. Although we hailed from a port infected with cholera, we were not detained long, but permitted to make our way to the shore without being subjected to a personal examination. We proceeded to a hotel where we where shown a room in which to rest and prepare for continuing our journey across the island to Sapporo.

While eating with sharpened appetites, our meal of rice and eggs, we sent out to order horses for the journey, but because it had begun to rain a little the horsemen hesitated to let their horses go. On persuasion, a number were brought down the street with great clatter of hoofs and jingling of the rings on halter and saddle. We selected two of the best, and with our baggage strapped on a third, in company with some Japanese travelers, we were off about noon—a strange looking procession, the horses tied together in single file and each accompanied by its colt, the train moving along like a huge machine. Evidently ours were not lead horses. They could not be driven or coaxed into any rapidity of movement. The rain increased and descended in torrents. We were drenched, but rode through for three hours to the end of the first stage. As no more pack horses were to be had, we were now put into a Russia wagon, a vehicle introduced into the island by the colonization department of the government. The drivers had no management of the horses which drew to wagon, and we were car at break-neck speed down the hills till the wagon broke under us. Fortunately there was nothing worse. Mounting the horses we followed the baggage wagon through dangerous fords and various perils, till at last we arrived before a hospitable inn after such a journey of thirty miles through a cold driving rain.

The landlord and attendants were polite and obliging. Out of our well soaked package we managed to find a dry change of clothing, but alas! the sheets and pillows, such a dependence for our comfort, were unserviceable. Sleep nevertheless came to our relief, notwithstanding the swarms of fleas, on the bare Japanese bed. In the morning, after cooking our breakfast over a small charcoal fire, we were again in the saddle and enjoying our ride under the bright, clear sky. It took us over mountains, through valleys, into quiet villages, and with a few stops to change horses, finally got into Sapporo, a distance of fifty five miles from our starting point in the morning.

We remained in Sapporo five days, preaching, consulting and administering the Sacraments. We found the church very prosperous in its self-support, and joyful in the fact that now the entire debt on the church property has been nobly provided for and that better days are before them. Our Sapporo church is very heroic and zealous and deserves the praise which has has been awarded it from all quarters. Our work done here we started on the homeward trip in quite [illegible] From Sa- [illegible] on the [illegible] miles, [illegible] ing in [illegible] drive [illegible] get here in good health and spirits. The next day saw the day school opened, and we organized the work for another year. With the Masters blessing, our trip will prove a success in more ways than one."

The Ichang Station, West China.—An appropriation was made by the general committee especially for the purchase of some property at Ichang (on the Yangtse Kiang) as an intermediate station for the West China Mission. Dr. Wheeler, in a recent letter to the secretaries, thus sets forth the importance of such a station: "A change from steamer to junk in going up, and from junk to steamer in coming down will have to take place at this point. Delay will always be produced, and it is likely sometimes to be protracted and vexatious. Goods and packages of all kinds must be transhipped there. Should there be cases of sickness on the part of returning missionaries, it might be necessary to wait from one to two weeks for a steamer, as connection by steam eastward is uncertain and at distant intervals. There may be also delays on account of accidents in the rapids, involving even a return to Ichang after having once left. It is moreover a promising field for missionary work. With a proper residence and wholesome premises it would probably come to be regarded as a desirable sanitarium, having a healthful river and mountainous breeze in the summer, with pleasant, picturesque and mountainous scenery in every direction. It might be a convenient resort for health-seeking missionaries from Central China. But the city is poorly drained and the streets are filthy, rendering it desirable to buy new land in the suburbs and to build a house; the structure to be bungaloo style, and comparatively unexpensive, with room for one family [illegible] and two or three guests. A family stationed there would afford shelter and other needed aid to traveling missionaries, would see to the transfer of goods passing up the river (there is no agency there to attend to such business) and might do excellent missionary work. Tchang being a treaty port, foreigners, including a physician, would be at hand in case sympathy and help should be required. One family stationed there might answer the need; two families, or one family and a single man at the most. Chunking is a long way from any sort of proper base, and good generalship would seem to require some such support as Ichang could give. The few China inland missionaries in Szechuen, with their limited and feble plan of operations, could hardly exist without the special agency maintained by that society in Hankow. The Romanists have intermediate stations all along the river, and they are beginning to make much of Ichang."

Reception of the Seminary Quartette and La Teche Children.

The return of Mrs. A. H. D. Godman from her labor of love, to the quiet retreat of her La Teche home, was heralded with gladness and great joy by a grateful people; whose heart and prayer are the highest tribute to the philanthrophic friends. The reception service at the chapel was grand in simplicity; thrilling and magnanimous. The Chapel was filled beyond its capacity. Every man, woman and child's face told where their hearts were. At the signal of approach of the benevolent lady and her coadjutors, all stood in bowed reverence. After prayer, Judge Camille D. Bonaparte, the chairman, rose and said:

"I am glad to see so many here to-night. This reception is to welcome the troupe that have been traveling in the North for the benefit of education.

"Have you, my friends, been trying to help to educate your daughters and sons? Have you given your surplus pennies to help to educate your children? No! I say. You have not done this. Have you sent your surplus pennies to the Freedmen's Aid Society to help to educate your children? No! my friends, you have not done that. Have you given them for the Missionary Cause? No! I say. Well, what have you done with your surplus pennies? Ah! we'll get to the place now where the pennies have been spent. "Oh yes, I went to the whiskey-shop with my friend that belongs to the same band that I do, and there he and I took a drink together, which cost twenty cents; then I saw Tom and Joe and John and called them in, and they came in and took a drink with us; then a little shooting was had, and at the first of my knowing I was in jail, on a hard rack, tried for crime before the court, and did not get clear."

My friends, had you taken those pennies [illegible] help to educate your sons and daugh- [illegible] to educate your race, you [illegible] what was just before the [illegible] instead of so doing, you [illegible] fifteen and twenty [illegible] revolver, so as to [illegible] his damnation. [illegible] the reputa- [illegible] La Teche; you [illegible] reputation [illegible] that the [illegible] eyes have been on the corruption of men. God in His time and way has seen fit to have the human race free and happy. He has broken the chains on all sides.

My friends, educate your children. If you are too poor to give your boy a good pair of pants, let him go to school with what he has. If his pants are so short as to reach up to his knees, let him go to school with his short pants. Do not keep him at home because his pants are short. The good book will reach up to his heart and then pass up to his brains and make him a good man, then he can put on pants that will come down to his feet and go out of school a good man to tell the whisky-drinking-man, that God has a work for him to do.

My friends, I am so glad to-night that there is a Christ, and that through Him came a Martin Luther, a John Wickliff and a John Chrysostom.

My friends, the emotion I feel to-night is too great. It is a new outcome for La Teche. You see these children that have been North with Mrs. Godman. Any one can discover how much they have improved; how different they are from others.

I hope you all, dear friends, will lift up your voices in prayer for the worthy lady, Mrs. Godman. I hope you will feel all the gratitude that human hearts can have to see the Rev. W. R. Webster in the cause, to help to educate your children.

Friends, let us pray with faith to the great God for the continued prosperity of the good work here in La Teche. Oh, Lord, how long, how long, shall the wicked go on here.

I am a Methodist, I must say that while I have been an officer of justice for years, I have not yet been able to put the leaves of the law around a Methodist.

"Dear friends, I thank you for your kind attention. May God bless these little girls and boys that belong to the people. In His way and time God will make all things straight."

The Rev. Ernest Lyon was announced by the chair as the orator of the evening, and said:

It is to me a pleasing task to be thus employed this evening. Any other engagement just now I should most certainly have declined, but allied as I am with the cause of truth, and with the educational advancement of my race and people, necessity is laid upon me thus publicly to take a part in these demonstrations of esteem and gratitude to those who so worthily deserve them.

One thing we regret this evening, Mr. Chairman, and it is this, that we cannot offer them a more tangible evidence of our gratitude.

But we trust that the widow's mite has not yet lost its sanctity in the circles of christendom. You might have received a grander reception and more enthusiastic greetings from other sources, but flattering encomiums and high toned eulogies are not always proofs of sympathy and gratitude.

Among the crowds of Publicans and Pharisees who deposited their offerings in the Jewish treasure box—the widow's mite was the smallest; but it was not the quantity that was the medium of decision—but the quality. It was the spirit which actuated the woman, which made her cast in her all, and it was that which [illegible] impulse to our Lord's conclusion. [illegible] gave [illegible] ning, as the representative

And this even[illegible] of this part of the ecclesiastical branch [illegible] the vine-yard, and as such I virtually become the representative of the major part of those who are materially interested, I wish it to be distinctly understood on the part of these my brethren and sisters, the members of the La Teche Quartette that this demonstration, though feeble in its attempt, is heartfelt and intense.

We cannot recompense you. The sympathy your efforts demand lies to a very great extent utterly beyond the reach of us poor mortals. But may God, the giver of every good and perfect gift, shower on you blessings in copious measures. Traveling, as you have been, in the interest of this down trodden race; immuring yourselves to hardships, and exposing your gentle nature to the idiosyncracies of stage life, thereby rendering your tribute of labor and toil to assist in the grand design of ameliorating the condition of the dark and sable sons and daughters of unfortunate Ham. I tell you, Sister Godman, you come not behind the most illustrious of your predecessors in this labor of love.

In view of all that has been accomplished, I feel like falling at your feet as a token of my gratitude. In me you have an addition to the number of your faithful and trustworthy friends. We therefore welcome you back to this quiet bank of the Teche where we know you are welcome. May God bless you.

The Chair announced that it was his privilege to introduce the benevolent lady whom all would delight to hear, Mrs. Godman.

Mrs. Godman arose and said:

My Dear Friends, it is a great pleasure to me to be here to-night, to hear these kind words of greeting and to look into your pleasant cheerful faces. We have been more than a year away from you, (all the time among friends who treated us with great kindness, and were especially kind to the children) and now we come back to our home, for this is our home—LA TECHE. You committed your children to us and now we bring them back to you, and I think you are satisfied of their well doing and their advancement. [Responses of "yes!" "yes!"] We've required them to be obedient and they have been obedient, coming to their duties daily like soldiers. When evil things were said of us by those who desired to prevent our success, we were ever sustained, not only by the grace of God, but also by your confidence, which we knew to be behind us like a strong wall. Here is Miss Victoria Sutton, she has been a good, faithful girl, looking after the children as our helper; and an excellent singer, too. Maria Bannister also, has been a very good singer and a faithful girl; Susie Kinchen and Yi Jackson and Corinne Comb (our little Duca,) they have charmed the people by their singing and have been obedient girls. Master James Jackson is also worthy of mention and has done well his part. These are your own children, and you see for yourselves how great an opportunity they have enjoyed and how much they have improved by it. But here are two noble young ladies, Miss Wright and Miss Fisher, who when some of our southern helpers abandoned the cause, joined us and gave their energies successfully to the work. They are worthy of all praise, and you will hear them sing. I cannot justly omit to mention the valuable services of my daughter, Miss Inez, without whom it had been impossible for me to carry through my task. I thank you, dear friends for these hearty greetings and strong marks of your affection.

Rev. W. R. Webster, of the New York East Conference, was then called for and said:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:—It affords me great pleasure to look into the face of this audience and to participate in these exercises.

I find myself very much at home in La Teche. Many things here have a familiar look and sound. Every time your bell summons the people to worship, or the students to the temple of science, I seem to hear the word Orient ringing out; for it was during my pastorate of the Orient M. E. Church, N. Y. East Conference, that the contribution was taken up in that church for the purchase of this bell upon which you find the word Orient engraven. Having been appointed by the authorities of the church as the financial agent of the La Teche Seminary, I have [illegible] this educational work before the Christian and philanthropic public of the North, and have long cherished a profound interest in your welfare. I am now delighted to see your faces beaming with intelligence and pleasure, and to listen to these eloquent words of welcome so appropriately bestowed. It is impossible for you to over-rate the services of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Goodman. I believe that you appreciate them, but you can never fully realize the magnitude of their sacrifices. I emphasize the statement of Rev. Dr. Fowler in an editorial of the Christian Advocate, that "It is not extravagant to say that there are few men in our American Methodism anywhere of higher literary culture, or who more thoroughly illustrate the dignity and beauty of the Christian gentleman than Dr. Wm. D. Godman.

Dr. and Mrs. Godman have given several of the best years of their lives to this work without any salary or worldly compensation whatever. Their record is on high and also in the hearts of these grateful people. Their sympathies for the oppressed race were deeply stirred but were more fully evoked by their personal observation of your needs during their visit at La Teche. A few months later Mrs. Godman was found addressing a large assembly at Martha's Vineyard, and presenting the claims of the imperilled orphanage. The sainted Bishop Gilbert Haven listened to her burning words, and afterwards suggested to her the propriety of adopting some measures to save this most valuable property from destruction.

Under that stimulus and the inspiration from heaven, this philanthropi lady returned to the South and organized the band of students from New Orleans University, of which Dr. Godman was then president, and with them started North, to sing these institutions out of debt, with those sweet and sad old songs of slavery days. "The New Orleans University Singers," under the training of their able conductors, Dr. and Mrs. G., and the tuition of Professor Fischer of Philadelphia, and Tourjee & Daniell of Boston, developed in to what was pronounced in the blue room of the White House—where they sang before President Hayes and his cabinet—"the best jubilee singers ever heard." It was when these friends, whom to-night you delight to honor, were in the midst of the hard struggle in the north to raise the funds to extinguish the debts, that the tidings reached them of the fearful tornado which destroyed two millions of property in the parish of St. Mary's and laid the orphanage in ruins. The best friends of the enterprise then utterly despaired, and this whole interest, which was as Dr. Fowler stated in the columns of the Christian Advocate, in 1878, "the most valuable property owned by the Christian Church in any single place in the South for the colored race," would have been annihilated to the cause of Christian education but for the patient and indomitable efforts of Dr. and Mrs. Godman. Her toils and noble self-sacrifice in ministering to the intellectual. social and material wants of the singers, eternity alone will reveal. For years this noble Godman family have stood like a living wall between the Orphan's Home and La Teche Seminary and the enemies of this protective and educational interest both in the North and South, who would have gladly swept the whole into oblivion.

In history we find that ancient Athens was an exception to the ordinary national custom of building immense walls around their cities as means of defense, and when [illegible] statesman Themistocles was the great [illegible] he pointed to the [illegible] asked the reason [illegible] soldiers composing his army, and said "these are the walls of Athens, and every one is a brick," and to this day that phraze is used by many of the European natives as expressive of bravery, defense, and commendation. So in a deep and veritable sense we may say of these friends, "these are the walls of the La Teche institutions of benevolence and education, and every one is a living stone in that spiritual temple which is rising fair and beautiful and which shall yet fill the whole earth with its light and glory.

They have succeeded not merely in wiping out the debts, but also in rebuilding the Orphanage, and in lifting the Seminary to its present important status, and also in securing the nucleus for the erection of the new domitory building. This whole enterprise will be carried forward to successful completion.

The Seminary Quartette and La Teche Children have rendered very efficient service, and are exceedingly popular in the North, where we now have applications for concerts from the representative churches in the great cities.

The singers have been entertained by the very first families of the land, and have received the utmost consideration and kindness from their directors; who have watched over them with more than parental tenderness, combined with the maintenance of faithful discipline.

I anticipate the time when these faithful Christian workers will return with joy to their heavenly home on the banks of the river of life, and will be greeted by multitudes of redeemed ones from La Teche, lifted through their agency to the abode of immortality, and who shall exclaim as they shout the welcome home, "Hail ye blessed of the Lord! hail! hail! deliverers of our souls! Hail to immortal life and glory."

"The good begun by them shall onward flow,
In many a branching stream, and wider grow
The seed that in these few and fleeting hours,
Their hands unsparing and unwearied sow;
Shall deck their grave with amaranthine flowers,
And yield their fruits divine in heaven's immortal bowers."

After the address of Mr. Webster came singing by the ladies, Miss Fisher and Miss Wright—which was received with enthusiastic applause, and a chorus piece of rare beauty led by Miss Yi Jackson, the songs were received with the most enthusiastic applause. A vote of thanks was unanimously adopted, and the happy audience proceeded to discuss the Christmas tree. C. D. BONAPARTE.

Rev. George Hill, of Derby, England, says it is a remarkable fact, in view of some popular theories as to the origin of the human race, that no race has ever yet been found in any part of the world too degraded to be reached by Christian truth, or speaking a language so barbarous as to be incapable of receiving a translation of the scriptures.

Spiritual Power.

In reading the account of Pentecost as given in Acts, and judging of it from any human stand-point, one wonders why so many were pricked in the heart and made to ask, "Men and brethren what shall we do." The sermon of Peter was a plain straight-forward talk, he had no tongue of honey, no soothing flattering speech to allay the passions of the multitude. He charged them with the willful murder of the Son of God, and uttered other words which were calculated to stir the bad passions of men. But no one's ire was excited. All were humbled, tears and sobs overspread the entire assembly. No old Jew could keep himself still. The whole multitude overwhelmed with deep conviction cried, "Men and brethren what shall we do." What did this? Surely it was not Peter, he had no silver tongue, they called him "unlearned and ignorant." But the Holy Ghost warming and quickening the heart of this plain Galileean fisherman, his words swept from end to end of this vast multitude burning like fire, and became a discerner of thoughts and intents of the heart, This was the direct work of the Holy Ghost without whose presence nothing can be done in the way of saving souls. To us it is a wretched waste of time to go through the forms of singing, praying, and preaching without the Spirit's presence to help the preacher and to send his words rushing on through the congregation, burning like streams of fire. We are not living in the past, and care but little about what some people call old fashioned religion, but we do care for the actual presence of the Holy Spirit, he will quicken us through and through, and give definiteness and steadiness of aim at all times. He will give us truth as naked of words as possible. And with His presence the song, prayer, and sermon, always meet the demand of the occasion. "When Jesus gave his great commission to his disciples it would have been just like Peter to have said, "I am ready to go; only tell me what town I shall visit first, and which of the disciples I shall take with me." But the Master bid them tarry. For ten days they remained indoors. What for? For the Holy Spirit. It was well that they tarried; for when the Holy Spirit came they did more in one day than they would have done in ten years without the Spirit. It is even so now. We need and we must have the Holy Spirit or we fail in our work." It is the Holy Ghost who is to "take of the things of Christ and show them unto us," so that we "behold with an open face the glory of the Lord." It is He who "enables us to comprehend the breadth, and length, and depth, and hight, and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge," and thus He "fills us with all the fullness of God." The main cause of the feebleness in so many of our pulpits and churches, is because the doctrine of the presence and baptism of the Holy Ghost is so seldom if ever made the subject of a discourse. Put the question, "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" to some who are in the pulpit, and many more who are in the pew, and we fear that they would have to answer. "We have never heard whether there be any Holy Ghost. "Oh for that flame of living fire."

It is seldom that we see a drunken woman on the streets. We frequently do drunken men, but a drunken child on the street is a sight that must almost sober the most sodden toper. We know that a drunken child is not a common spectacle, yet it is not unknown to our city. It suggests the awful depravity on the part of parents and the liquor sellers. One would think that such a child must belong to those vile slums where degraded fathers and mothers teach their children to lie, swear and steal. No, it is not so. The little boy we saw drunk must have belonged to another class. One thing is certain, a drunken boy is a horrible sight, no matter where he belongs. But no seaman's sounding-line can reach the bottom of that monster's depravity who could sell a boy, eight or ten years old, liquor. No doubt hell is a governmental necessity a fit place where God can punish all such vile ... Let all the people say ...

Leon Gambetta.

From a trivial wound there died on New Year's morning, in the city of Paris, the most brilliant and influential man in French politics, and one of the greatest in Europe, in the forty-second year of his age. Gambetta was a native of southern France; his parents of moderate means and little social influence, but by dint of his own genius he rose to the Premiership of the French Republic, which position however he soon resigned. As an administrator he was a failure. His throne was the forum. As a debater, an eloquent and powerful orator, he had no superior in France. No one will deny that he was a devoted Republican, the great genius and spirit of the French Republic. In 1869 when the Republicans carried the election, he was chosen to the Assembly and never for a moment from that day to the time of his death did he falter in his opposition to Imperialism, always acting with decision and promptness. It is not too much to say that his genius "made, established and retained the Republic." His gifts as a powerful debater indicated his mission. Gambetta knew when the Premiership was forced upon him that he had not the qualifications for the position, he was restless, seemed to court defeat, and was glad when it came. He was a man of the people and rose from this defeat stronger than ever. It has been charged that he was ambitious. That may be true. But he was a patriot and loved Republican principles and France more than he did Gambetta. The good government that France has enjoyed the past few years has been under God, more his gift than any other genius.

Like most members of the human family he doubtless had his faults. His work is done and we believe he has served his country well. His death created a profound sensation in all Europe and the civilized world.

The report of the Commissioner of Pensions, W. W. Dudley, in the statistics of the whole number of men enlisted in the army, and of the number which have applied for pensions, and of dead who have left relatives who are entitled to pensions, affords a fearful picture of the awful destruction of men in our late civil war. The report shows a total enlistment of 2,780,-178. Of these 716,878 were counted more than once by reason of re-enlistment, leaving the actual individual enlistments 2,063,271. Of these there are living who have not applied for pensions 1,009,469. The living who have applied for pensions are 458,553. Out of the whole number of soldiers who served in the war for any time, pension has been applied for on behalf of 26 per cent. The report says: "The general proposition is that there is a surviving soldier population of a little over 1,000,000, out of which claims for pensions in the future may be made by those who incurred pensionable disabilities." With this are the following pregnant figures: "Number who died during the war, 304,369; number discharged for disability, 285,545; number in service May 1, 1865, 1,000,516. The first part of the cost of the war in men and money is not the greater part, as these statistics and our enormous pension appropriations show. War is a play which politicians and people enter into in a gay and festive spirit, but has a train of calamity which outlives all those who made the war."

State Superintendent Fay has been non-suited in his effort to stop the unconstitutional robbery of the common school fund by the payment of $10,000 to each of the three State Universities. He is clothed with no power to defend the school interests, and the Attorney General is the proper officer to apply for an injunction. The act of the Legislature making the appropriation was passed and signed after its unconstitutionality had been pointed out by Superintendent Fay to Gov. McEnery and others. The money is to be taken by virtue of the collusion of officials, and public apathy on the subject. Superintendent Fay has appealed to the parish school board to act in the matter.

Public Schools in Mississippi.

Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, one of the corresponding editors of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, gives a Mississippian view of schools. "Good schools," he says, "must have good teachers, and good teachers must have good heads and good hearts and skill withal not only to impart what they know but to quicken youthful energies and awaken youthful aspirations in the study of books." All of which is correct. But such is the illiteracy of the people of Mississippi that it is impossible to provide such teachers for the public schools. He would therefore have the public schools abandoned at least for the present, for the following reasons:

1. "Their sphere is too low and limited." Public schools are just what the people make them, and if in their sphere they are low and limited, the fault must be with the people.

2. "They are not adapted to our people's wants either in their length or in the quality of their instruction." The phrase "our people" in this connection is peculiar, and we suppose must mean the more intelligent and wealthy classes who desire something more and better than that instruction which the public school provides. But this class is very limited in Mississippi. That State has a population of 1,131,597, of this number there are 373,210 over ten years of age, who cannot even read and write, and it would certainly seem that the needs of the more intelligent could furnish no argument against the instruction suited to this fearful mass who cannot read and write.

3. "Public schools are agrarian in principle and leveling in tendency." Precisely so, Brother Hunnicutt. They are "leveling," but they level up, not down; and we know that this is not in harmony with the ante bellum ideas that seem to prevail in certain localities in Mississippi.

4. "There is no good reason why education should be made peculiarly a charity."

Public schools are in no sense whatever a charity. A direct tax is assessed upon the people for their support. While most all other schools are more or less a charity. Brother Hunnicutt makes special and favorable mention of a gentleman who offered to give a $1000 towards a private school.

The great schools of the nation are all more or less a charity.

5. "The idea of the system was imported from the North and forced upon us during the period of reconstruction."

Exactly so, it "was imported from the North." And this is doubtless the real ground of opposition, unworthy as it may appear.

We have however, every reason to believe that the sentiment of Brother Hunnicutt is not the general sentiment of the South. It is, doubtless, characteristic of a few whose eyes are always turned wistfully back upon the past, but not of the liberal and progressive men who look hopefully to the future. It is far too late in the day to take steps backward. Mississippi with over 49 per cent. of her population who cannot write needs the uplifting and "leveling" power of a thorough system of public schools. Mississippi has a school population of 426,689, of this number she has enrolled 236,704, the average attendance is only 156,761, and pays the enormous sum of $2.70 per capita of scholars enrolled. Massachusetts has a school population of 307,321; she has scholars enrolled 306,777; the average attendance is 233,127 and she pays the sum of $14.93 per capita for the education of her school children. To-day the poor people of Massachusetts have deposited in the savings banks over $220,-000,000, more than enough to buy the entire State of Mississippi. Yes, Brother Hunnicut, the public schools are "agrarian" and "leveling." This we believe is the one great need of Mississippi.

At the last election in the State of New York when Mr. Cleveland was elected Governor by over one and hundred ninety thousand majority over Mr. Folger, he received but 1,783 more votes than did General Hancock in 1880 when Mr. Garfield defeated the latter by a plurality of over 20,000. In making their calculations for 1884 men would do well to remember these facts.

The Rev. T. A. Hoyt, in his prayer at the opening of the Tennessee Legislature, created a decided sensation by saying: "From repudiation and from all forms of dishonesty, good Lord deliver ... can be no doubt of ... these words at th... used.

A Good Book.

We desire to call the special attention of our pastors, local preachers and exharters to Dr. James Porters, "Hints to Self Educated Ministers," and give them a few reasons why they should read it:

1. Because it furnishes "the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively."

2. Because "it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and yet with power and success."

3. Because it exposes numerous errors "in all branches of ministerial service and shows how to correct them."

Its reviewers advise ministers to read the work carefully, because they will find much in it that they never thought of: "because the very hints they most need to receive are not furnished by other homiletical works;" because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, good sense;" because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated;" because "it sheds light on many difficult questions;" because "it is a work of real practical merit and is very much needed;" because "it points out the rocks on which many ministers split, and will save young men from a thousand snares, and be equivalent to a thousand steps on the ladder of experience;" because "it is wise, pithy and practical on every point it presents;" because "it is of inestimable value, giving strength and courage to those who most need them;" because "it is heartily endorsed by many pastors and other public speakers who have examined the book." We ean commend it to all public speakers.

Pastors ought to preach the Gospel so straight and clear, and conduct their social meetings and pastoral work in such a way as to leave no hungry soul unfed. The following note, from a brother to a former pastor, reveals a lack somewhere:—

"Dear Brother——: I am just from the class-meeting. I want to see you. I can think of no one that can help me but you. My soul is drying up, dying, I want to have a good talk with you, and a season of prayer.

"Yours in Christ, ——.

—The Christian Witness.

Of course we know nothing of the above case save that it "reveals" a sad "lack somewhere." We should call the writer of that note a religious crank. He belongs to the fault finding class. The "drying up" of his soul is a sure index of the nature of his religious diet. We can easily see how a man feeding on spiritual pride can have a soul "drying up," or "dying;" but no such calamity can befall a man who has an indwelling Christ. He is "a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

There must have been a "lack" in that "former pastor;" he had evidently directed the attention of that man more to himself than to Christ. Read "I can think of no one that can help me but you." Strange words for one to use who subscribes himself "Yours in Christ." The writer believes in perfect love and that it is attended with what Peter calls "joy unsepakable and full of glory." That it makes a man sunny, happy, and cheerful in the midst of toil and reproach. He has a warm side for Bible Holiness as taught by the Methodist Episcopal Church. His feelings towards it are much like those of David toward Jonathan. With him the experience is not waning or stationary, but "from glory to glory." But he has an utter loathing for religious cant. The world has need of holy men and women who have a moral backbone.

Recent developments are demonstrating more and more the importance of greater exertions in behalf of Christian education, by all who value our civilization in preference to blatant infidelity and scepticism. The marvelous growth and progress of this country are not due alone to superior fertility of soil, of mineral wealth, and of salubrity of climate, but rather to the more fertile, richer, and more healthy spirit of liberty and Christian education which possessed the fathers of this country. Eliminate this element of righteousness and power, and you will bring ruin and desolation upon the future of this nation. Christian education is the mighty lever which alone can sanctify the conglomerated mass of which this nation is composed, hence the future welfare of our country demands that the church should continue to educate. The church must educate or we must perish. We heartily commend the ... neighbor, the N. O. ... when it says: ... forces moral ... culture is ... coun... can ... are ...

throw assured. In their morbid fear of a too intimate relation between Church and State, some politicians are advocating theories that are repugnant to the Christian conscience. It surely is a very contracted view that separates between secular education and moral training. Men have read history to little profit who become its advocates. But this only serves to arouse the church to its duty. It cannot be neglected or relegated."

Perhaps there never was a time when civil service reform was more popular than now, certainly it was never more needed. It is not, however, to be supposed, that the members of the present Congress are any more in favor of reform now than they have always been. But each party knows that it must make a record or abandon all hope of success in 1884. Mr. Pendleton's bill, has passed, and its enactment will doubtless mark a turning point in the history of the nation. We regret to see that Mr. Brown of Georgia, and a number of other Democratic Senators seem to be acting in concert to defeat Civil Service Reform. They may be the friends of reform. They certainly however resort to methods which make many good people believe that the reform promises of the Democratic party are not to be relied upon, and that the time has not come when the people can entrust that party with the National Administration.

The accommodations for boarders at Houston Seminary have been increased by fitting up some of the old buildings on the grounds, and renting rooms across the street. The boarding department will now be able to take care of many more, and perhaps all who come. Rates low, and fare good.

A training class has been organized for teachers, which will do much to make their future work successful. The smaller classes are present with the training class and much of the time will be spent in teaching them under the supervision of the principal and subject to his criticism and that of his class. Lectures will be given on the subject of teaching once or twice a week. The faculty propose to do thorough work and to send out teachers who are fully prepared to do good work in the school-rooms of southern Texas.

A Sunday-school class will be taught each Sabbath morning at 9 o'clock. The objects aimed at will be two-fold: first, to teach the lesson; second, to train teachers for the Sunday-schools. Religious services will also be held in the school rooms at 6:30 P. M.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

The Methodist Episcopal Church (col.) situated on the corner of Murray and Seventh streets, has been enlarged in order to accommodate the Louisiana M. E. Conference, which will convene in our city on February 1st, 1863. The repairs given are an improvement in the former proportion and general appearance, and will rank with our best churches as a building.—We the People, Alexandria.

G. Sternley, Baton Rouge: "Our Sunday school gave an exhibition Dec. 23; Revs. J. Qualls and R. T. Louis and a large congregation were present. Two much credit cannot be given to the young ladies for their faithful labors and to our energetic pastor."

TENNESSEE.

A. P. Blakemore, Springfield: "I entered on my work Dec. 6, and began with a small congregation. I walked twenty miles and preached at two places. I have started up one new church at New Bethel.

J. Summerhill, Lawrenceburg: "At a fire on the 16th inst., an 18 months old infant, Eddie Davis, was lost. The cries of the mother were awful. Fires on the 18th and 19th destroyed property of Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Etherigde. The Children's Christian Association has received its charter, and the A. M. E. Church has been turned over to it for a seminary. They will send out circulars soon. The officers are J. Summerhill, president; H. C. Welch, vice president; Miss Ida Marsh, secretary; Miss V. R. Welch, treasurer."

J. L. Massey, Martin: "I was with Rev. G. C. Harden, who was sent to Linden church, when the people received him gladly. The people at Martin received me well, and I am in my new house."

W. H. Bullard, New Middleton: "The public schools have made great progress this year. Since those for colored people have been in operation, we have had better teachers, several from Central Tennessee College and Fisk University. Smith county is looking forward."

ARKANSAS.

Wm. Pope, Caddo Gap: "I have had a hard time this year, and have worked for the best part of the time to support my family. At Spoonville there is a Sunday school of 48 pupils. At Amite, there are 4 members; I walked to them until compelled to stop."

Gov. Butler, of Massachusetts, was inaugrated amid popular demonstrations.

go... is whi... specially earnestness as manifested their intercourse as contrasted with the ge... reserve of European Christians in Calcutta. This warmth of Christian love in our mission is begining to tell effectually upon the people. A camp meeting has been held at Lucknow with good success.

The presiding elder of the Kawaon district reports that the people are taking each year more interest in the district conference. Not only is the membership of the church increasing, but the members "are growing stronger from year to year." Very many of those attending the recent district conference came as much as forty miles on foot, bearing their own expenses. In this district the day-schools have grown during the year from 37 to 47, and attendance from 1426 to 1762; Sunday-schools. from 20 to 25, and attendance from 879 to 1344.

ANGLO-CHINESE COLLEGE, FOUCHOW.—Over 70 students have matriculated at this institution during the year past. They show zeal and steady progress in their studies, paying their way. Many have been converted in the special revival metings, and all are favorably inclined to Christianity. Two died during the summer leaving testimonies that thrilled the native church, one a son of Hu-Po-Mi, the other a son of Sia-Heng-Ho. Rev. F. Oblinger has charge of the college, teaching there five hours a day. Rev. N. Sites, beside having charge of three districts, acting as mission treasurer, etc., gives three hours a day to teaching in the college. Much solid work is done in the Foochow mission, as the results show. Dr. J. L. Taylor, for the medical department, and Rev. G. F. Smythe for other work in the institution, have been welcome additions to the force.

A FRUITFUL SOWING.—On the Hok-Chiang district in the Foochow conference some aid in chapel building was pressingly needed. A knowledge of the fact reached the ears of brother——, and a generous contribution of $500 was forwarded from Baltimore, which realized $580.82; when it reached Foochow. With this Mr. Chandler and elder Hu Yong planned to aid three chapels, and three villages now report chapel and parsonage property valued at $1500, where before we had little or nothing. This took out of the contributor's fund $422. A good sowing that—to reap over 300 per cent. A balance of $158.82 awaits a bid from some other enterprising town in Hok-Chiang. The Chinese are likely to appreciate this church-extension system. We would gladly see more of it offered to them till they build up their own church-extension society—a result we hope not far distant.

GIRLS' SCHOOLS in the Hok-Chiang district.—The demand for aid in opening such schools is in creasing quite beyond the ability of the mission to supply it. This demand shows clearly the growing confidence in Christianity, as many of the little girls are from non-Christian families. In the newer work in Yen Ping district, where the Gospel is less known, it is impossible to get the girls to come to school at all. Here is a lesson of perseverance.

THRONDHJEM.—This is an important city for to the north over the Dofrefield mountains, where we opened work last year, a church has now been formed of 35 members and 40 probationers. Sunday School scholars number 110. The new society has paid 1600 crowns into the missionary treasury.

HELP THEM.—The students in our Anglo-Chinese college, Foochow. Please read the note about the college in the missionary column, then hear what Mr. Ohlinger says: "Our Christian boys from the interior of the province cannot enter the college until we have a boarding hall and dormitories on the ground; for this we need $5000 at once. Who will build a "Durbin Hall" (or any other name that may be desired) for this young institution? We do not ask this for youths who expect to be "carried" financially through a college course, but for those who mean to toil nobly and long for the blessings of a liberal education, paying more than is required of young men in America in proportion to their ability. Help them!"

Will not some one lend a hand with Mr. Mr. Goucher in this matter. Who that has means will consecrate it now to this eminent service for the church, for the Gospel of Christ in China? Here is a greater Macedonia, and the same appeal. Help them!

It has not been considered immediately dangerous; although if continued it induces dyspepsia and obstinate constipation. But the fact that many cases of poisoning have occurred from baking powders which contained alum, puts the question in a more serious aspect, and prudent people will exercise caution in the selection of baking powders.

"Under what conditions, then, does this substance—formerly used only for mechanical purposes—become poisonous? They are certainly obscure, and at present we can only surmise what they may be. We suspecct that the cause exists in the individual poisoned; some peculiarity of the constitution producing a morbid change in the secretions of the stomach, with which the alum combines and forms an active poison; or the secretions may be healthy but in unusual proportions, and that these less or greater proportions, in combination with the alum, constitute a poison.

"For example, two parts of mercury and two parts of chlorine form calomel, which is not poisonous; but change the proportions to one part of mercury and two parts of chlorine, and we get corrosive sublimate, which is a deadly poison.

"Then, again, we know nothing of the causes of constitutional peculiarities. Why is it that one person can eat all kinds of green fruits and vegetables with impunity, while the same course might cost another individual his life? One person can handle poison ivy and sumac without being in the least affected; another is poisoned if he approaches to within ten feet of them. SUNDAY SCHOOL.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON II. January 14, 1883.

THE DESCENDING SPIRIT. (Acts ii, 1-16.)

When Jesus went home to heaven he told his disciples to stay in Jerusalem until he sent the Holy Ghost to them. They did not know what that meant, but they obeyed. Ten days they waited and prayed together. Then came the great Pentecost or thanksgiving feast. They were all together, and then it came from heaven; it was God's power, and sounded like a great wind, and a light shone from above or or on each of their heads.

Then came something never seen before or since. The disciples could speak different languages. This power came from God. People have to study ha.d to learn a new language, but God gave it to his disciples at this moment. Can you tell why?

He had told them to go and preach him everywhere. How could they when so many could not understand? You see how God opened the way for them.

When people of different countries in Jerusalem heard it, they knew it was a wonder they could not understand. They knew these men were from Galilee and only knew that language, and now they knew all languages. Some bad men even said the disciples were drunk. One of the disciples spoke out. Peter told them it was God, and showed them how God had promised it by the prophet Joel.

Did you ever hear of people getting a new language now? They do often. Bad people who swear and say wicked things, often learn to say God's name in love, and leave lying for truth. This is a new tongue or language and comes from a new heart.

God gives it to every one who asks him. Have you the new heart full of love to God and every one you know? If you have, then your lips speak God's language of love. If not, you use sin's words, and must learn the new tongue before you are disciples of Jesus—Western.

NEW BOOKS.

The Figures of Hell, or the Temples of Bacchus. Dedicated to the licensers and manufacturers of beer and whisky. By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson. Printed by the Oaharpe Publishing Association, New York.

This is a book the result of over 20 years of close observation and careful study as to the results of the use of intoxicating drinks amongst the high and low. It is full of testimony and statistics collected from reliable sources, not merely for sensation, but to awaken and steer the reader. During the year ending June 30, 1881, there were imported into the United States of different kinds of intoxicating liquors, seven millions five hundred and thirty six thousand six hundred and three gallons. The same year there were manufactured and sold in the United States sixty-nine million one hundred and seventy-two thousand two hundred and six gallons of distilled spirits. The population of this country in 1880 was a little over fifty millions, giving an average of over ten gallons to each individual man, woman and child.

The total amount expended for education, including salaries of teachers and superintendents, and all expenditures for apparatus and books, etc., was eighty millions seven hundred and thirty-two thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight dollars. The amount spent for liquors in any one year is nearly nine times the amount paid for education. In certain States, as Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, the amount spent for liquors in any one year is full twelve times the amount paid for education. If the money spent for liquors in 1881 had been spent for bread it would have given two barrels to each person in the United States. The average number of persons in each family is five, this would give ten barrels of flour to each family.

There are in this country over two hundred and fifty thousand places where intoxicating liquors are sold, giving employment to ... seven hundred and fifty thousand persons, and the consumers ... over six hundred million dollars for the liquors they purchase. We have in the United States ... seventy-two thousand four hundred and fifty religious organizations, employing eighty-three thousand six hundred and thirty ... ministers of the gospel ... [illegible] awful. They show that full one hundred and thirty widows and orphans are made annually as a result of the liquor traffic, and that four-fifths of all the inmates of the poor-house are sent there by whiskey, and that full four-fifths are sent to prison and the gallows, because of crimes committed when under the influence of intoxicating liquors. We commend this book, and ask our readers to send and get it; it will give strength, and help stay the tide of destruction that is sweeping over the land.

If you have any disease which does not yield to ordinary medical treatment, don't fail to get the Treatise on Compound Oxygen, that wonderful revitalizing agent and health restorer, and study it carefully. It is sent free by Drs. Starkey & Phalen, 1109 Girard Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

We have had the pleasure of examining several numbers of the Sidereal Messenger, a monthly periodical published by Prof. W. W. Payne, of Northfield, Minn. The journal is well edited, and replete with the latest information gotten by astronomical observations and scientific experiments. It merits a perusal by every person interested in geographical or mathematical astronomy.

REPORT FOR DECEMBER.

The following amounts have been received by the Secretary during the month of December:

J. W. Dunn	$25 00
L. Bradford	20 00
W. McDonald	15 00
H. L. Kennedy	10 00
A. M. Trotter	5 00
W. W. Hooper	6 05

The above $25 completes the $100 promised by Brother Dunn, who has sent us $25 each quarter during the year. If the many other brethren of the Conference who have sent but little or nothing during the year had followed the plan of Elder Dunn, and made an earnest effort to raise one-fourth of their amount each quarter, we are sure our collections would have been much larger than they have been.

Of the $4000 pledged at Conference, less than $1000 has been received.

We hope many of the brethren who have not reported will bring good reports to conference.

Concerning the year's work, we shall have somewhat to say during our session at Meridian.

Respectfully,
W. W. HOOPER.

The funeral porcession of Gambetta was probably the most imposing demonstration of the kind in modern times. It is estimated 300,000 people were on the streets of Paris.

During the past two years the wealth of Cornell University, at Ithaca, New York, has increased nearly $3,000,000, making it the richest educational institution in the country, with the exception, perhaps, of Columbia College, in the city of New York.

MARRIAGES.

In Allen, La., Dec. 7, 1882, by Rev. D. Shelby, Mr. Samuel Morris and Miss Matilda Johnson, both of Marthasville.

A large congregation assembled at Military Chapel M. E. Church, of the Columbus Circuit, Miss., around a Christmas Tree, on the 25th ult., at 8½ o'clock p. m., to witness the marriage of Mr. Lewis Perkins and Miss Pinder McIntosh, all of Lowndes county, Miss., by the writer. Bro. Perkins is a member of our Church, 77 years of age, and this is his third wife. He notified the people to come out and see him married the last time.

Mr. Charles Brown died Nov. 26, 1882, aged near 27 years, leaving a mother and two sisters to mourn his loss.

Sister Lizzie Girteus died Dec. 2, 1882, aged 17 years. She had been a church member seven years.
J. W. RICHARDSON,
Centreville, La., Dec. 20, 1882.

Sister Mary Passaway, the only sister of Elder J. W. Dunn, departed this life December 17, 1882, aged 71 years and six months. She was born in Baltimore, Maryland, and remained there until 21 years of age, when she removed to Philadelphia, and united with the A. M. E. Church, where she lived for 31 years a Christian life; after which time Elder Dunn, her only brother, brought her to Greenwood, Miss., to live with his family, where she joined the M. E. Church and remained a faithful Christian until her earthly labors ceased and she went to rest with friends above. Ten minutes before she died her brother asked her how the case was with her and her Maker and she said, "When I get through with this suffering it will be over forever." She lived in the Church for 50 years. P. BLUE.

STRONG FACTS!
A great many people are asking what particular troubles BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is good for.
It will cure Heart Disease, Paralysis, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all similar diseases.
Its wonderful curative power is simply because it purifies and enriches the blood, thus beginning at the foundation, and by building up the system, drives out all disease.

Kidney Disease Cured.
Christiansburg, Va., 1881.
Suffering from kidney disease, from which I could get no relief, I tried Brown's Iron Bitters, which cured me completely. A child of mine, recovering from scarlet fever, had no appetite and did not seem to be able to eat at all. I gave him Iron Bitters with the happiest results.
J. KYLE MONTAGUE.
Heart Disease.
Vine St., Harrisburg, Pa. Dec. 2, 1881.
After trying different physicians and many remedies for palpitation of the heart without receiving any benefit, I was advised to try Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used two bottles and never found anything that gave me so much relief.
Mrs. JENNIE HESS.
For the peculiar troubles to which ... are subject, BROWN'S IRON ... invaluable. Try it.
... the Genuine.

Worthy of Its Fame.

If any medicine is fairly entitled to the claims set forth for it, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is one. Its virtues have been so well established that it has become a staple article in the fullest sense of the word. Thousands of people whose health and strength had gone, and who seemed to have but a feeble hold on life, have been restored to perfect health by its use, and thousands more will have the same cause to rejoice. It is a life preserver in some respects, and is well worthy of the good words which are spoken of it by the many who owe the restoration of their health to its use.

The Rhine and Danube rivers overflowed their banks destroying much property.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

R. T. Louis, Plaquemine: "Will you be kind enough to allow me to vindicate myself through the columns of your paper. I was appointed to Plaquemine by Bishop Jesse T. Peck, where I found two members of the M. E. Church. With these I began. To-day we have thirty members, twenty-nine Sunday School scholars, with a plenty of books (a blessing from the Sunday School Union), and a few weeks ago we purchased our church ground and had it deeded to the general conference with every dollar paid notwithstanding our meeting was stopped all summer, and the flood upon us in the spring. All of this is a blessing. But now I tell you how we are treated here. When the flood came this year the three M. E. Churches formed themselves into a relief committee, of which I am President; A. Spruce, Secretary; A. Jackson of the Rosedale M. E. Church, and T. McCary of the Bayou Goula M. E. Church. This committee authorized me to send North and solicit aid for the sufferers. I did so, and our northern friends sent us a great amount of old clothing, which I distributed among the most needy of the sufferers, whereupon the Baptist and African M. E. ministers, in company with Andrew Canza (mayor), came up and demanded a portion of the goods, claiming to be members of the committee. I refused to give up the goods, when the Mayor had me arrested under a charge of embezzling goods, and I was refused a preliminary examination before the Justice of the Peace, and consigned to jail to await my trial. But I gave bond. Who would not go in jail for the sake of the church? Brethren, pray for us."

D. Shelby, Allen: "Our church is out of debt. The amount was $76. We gave two suppers which brought it down to $13, and this sum was cleared by contributions of members and friends. I shall do the best I can to pay on the school building, according to promise."

A. J. Ford, Houma: "We are getting along splendidly and times are a little dull owing to the suaar season, but we are still encouraged to go forward—we expect to bring up to conference a good benevolent collection. We are still pushing the cash interest of the SOUTHWESTERN, and hope by the 20th of January, to have every cent we owe the office. The Lord has not forsaken us down here in Terrebonne."

MISSISSIPPI.

Martha J. Cooper writes us in praise of the labors of Rev. D. Calvert of Starkville. There were some 65 conversions during the year, and over 100 additions to the church.

Linzy Mallory writes from Okolona, that the circuit is in a prosperous condition, and a great many conversions have been made this year.

TENNESSEE.

J. A. Samuel, Liberty: "I have canvassed for the church paper Few of my charge can read. The work here is in a bad condition, but I will do the best I can. There is one church, and we are trying to build one. The people are very poor."

TEXAS.

D. W. Tucker, Lavernia: "As I promised nothing to the West Texas Conference Seminary at the time of calling for subscriptions, after taking charge of my field I proposed to do something for the cause [illegible] succeeded thus far in doing [illegible]. I will leave San Anto-[illegible] for Lavernia [illegible]

A Foolish Mistake.

It is a foolish mistake to confound a remedy of merit with quack medicines. We have used Parker's Ginger Tonic with the happiest results for Dyspepsia and Debility and know it to be a sterling health restorative.—Times.

The policeman had left his revolver at home, and he needed one to shoot a mad dog. In the emergency he exclaimed, "Great heavens! is there a Texas man present?"

Buchupaiba.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. La. Depot, I. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

When an old backwoodsman was about to take his first ride on a Mississippi steamer he was asked whether he would take a deck or cabin passage. "Well," he said, in a resigned sort of a way, "I've lived all my life in a cabin, and I guess cabin passage will be good enough for a rough chap like me."

SIR ROBERT CHRISTIAN, Physician to Her Majesty the Queen of England, speaking of the Coca plant says: "The properties of this wonderful plant are the most remarkable of any known in the medical world. From repeated personal trials, I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic." To build up a broken down system, use Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic, endorsed and recommended by the foremost physicians of Europe and America. Overwrought and feeble neves are quieted, digestion is promoted and new tone and vigor in all of the organs of the body follow its use.

An English correspondent of the Nation says: "The crusade against intemperance has untred Christians of all denominations in a way never seen before. The Church of England clergy have gone almost beyond the limits of sound judgment in their anxiety to sympathize with and adopt whatever can be thought practically useful in the methods of the Salvation Army. Much more, therefore, do the wiser among them feel the necessity of cultivating greater friendliness with the old non-conforming bodies."

The compliments of the season—colds, coughs, catarrhs—may be effectively dealt with by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. To neglect prompt treatment for these ailments is to risk consumption, which is said to cause one-sixth of the mortality of all civilized countries.

A claim for $1,000,000 is about to be preferred against the United States from the province of Ontario, for wrongfully charging twenty per cent duty on hay imported there when the proper duty was only ten per cent.

Care-worn persons, students, weak and over-worked mothers will find in Brown's Iron Bitters a complete tonic, which gives strength and tone to the whole system.

We often hear it said that Christianity is less demonstrative than a century ago, or than 50 years ago. We hear no longer the hearty shouts of praise, nor sudden and powerful conversions. To some it is proof of decadence. But is it really? Have not the manners of the people changed? A generation or two ago there were greater demonstrations among the wicked. Drunkenness, rowdyism and blustering pretentions and infidelity were more common than now. The unconverted of these days who attend religious service, are usually moral, thoughtful, well-behaved people. They are met by persons of similar manners. Nothing is gained now by rowdyism in the pulpit, even at camp-meetings, its day has gone by on both sides. On the whole, candor, thoughtfulness and morality have gained among the irreligious and among us. We believe that vital piety has not lost ground.

 "It is a great art to do the right thing at the right time." The person subject to derangement of the kidneys or liver has a protective duty to perform in purchasing a package of Kidney-Wort. It invigorates those organs and by its cathartic and diuretic effect, cleanses the whole system of all bad humors.

Archbishop Whately was one day asked if he rose early. He replied that once he did, but he was so proud all the morning and so sleepy all the afternoon that he determined never to do it again.

One of New-York's most famous physicians, Dr. Willard Parker, makes the astonishing statement that one-third of the deaths in New York City are the result, directly or indirectly, of the use of alcohol, and that in the last fifty-eight years 190,000 persons have died of its use in the city.—Lifeboat.

Christian cultue is battering down the rampart of heathenish barbarism. After much stubborn opposition prejudice against color is giving slowly away. The day rolls on when the color of a man's face will neither be an help nor an hindrance. His character—nothing else—will decide the place he is to take among men. He may go to van or he may linger in the rear; he may be rich or he may be poor; he may be with, or without influence, but in either case the choice of character and not the accident of color will be found the weight that shall turn the scale one way or the other.—Chatanooga Enterprise.

Forty Year's Experience of an Old Nurse.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœa, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. 20-1y

A LETTER FROM GERMANY.

SIEGEN, January 9, 1882.

Very esteemed sirs:
The praise your Liver Pills have called forth here is wonderful. After taking one and a half boxes of your genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, I have entirely recovered from my four years' suffering. All who know me wonder how I, who, for so many years, had no appetite and could not sleep for backache, stitch in my side, and general stomach complaints, could have recovered.

An old lady in our city, who has suffered for many years from kidney disease, and the doctors had given her up, took two of your Pills, and got more relief than she has from all the doctors. Yours truly,
J. VON DER BERG.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar-coated.
Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression: McLane's Liver Pill.
The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signature of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. on the wrappers.
Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently, but of same pronunciation.
If your storekeeper does not have the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, send us 25 cents, and we will send you a box by mail, and a set of our advertising cards.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.
The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. The few songs and melodies first introduced and sung by the "Jubilee Singers" and "Tennesseeans" were every where received with enthusiastic applause, and soon attained immense popularity. They are now familiar to almost every one, and have created an earnest and very general desire that every song and melody which has been popular among the negroes of the South during their days of slavery should be gathered together and published in a form and style which would give them the widest circulation and insure their preservation. This wide-felt want is now supplied in this complete and valuable collection, which comprises the best of the many variations of these songs and melodies, giving all that nave seemed worthy of preservation. The author, Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., who is presiding elder of the Ohio District of the Lexington Conference, is peculiarly well qualified for the preparation of a work of this kind, requiring as it does, a thorough knowledge of the subject, good judgment and much careful, painstaking labor; and the thorough and systematic manner in which the work has been completed, leaves nothing to be desired. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. They include, therefore, very many songs entirely new which are as meritorious as those so well known, and which will probably become equally popular. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational signing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. Read the few following testimonials:

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung.."—Bishop I. W. Wiley.

"Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley.

"It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust.

"We take pleasure in giving to this timely publication our hearty commendation."—Dr. F. S. Hoyt.

"It is just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel.

"I most heartily commend it as brimful of the plaintive, quaint melody and song spirit, or which our race is so truly celebrated."—Rev. Daniel Jones.

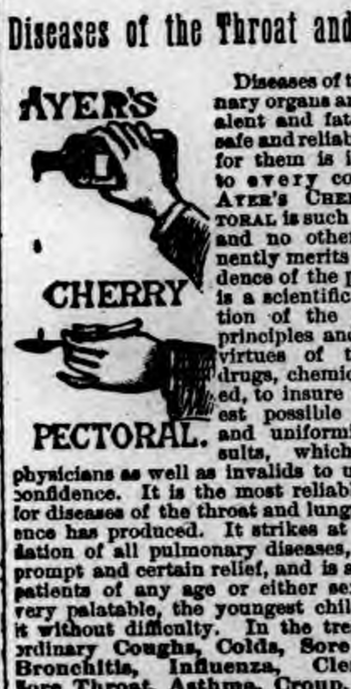
THE BEST REMEDY
FOR
Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.



Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints [illegible] beyond the reach of human aid.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire to inquire for my mother's relatives, whom she left in Cloverport, Ky. Her father's and mother's names were Bennet and Delila Johnson; brothers, Rolling, Elisha, Wesley and Bob Johnson. She also had a brother named Smith Boulette.—Her name at that time was Sarah Johnson, but it is now Sarah Forrest. Her aunts were Bettie and Sally. They belonged to Ezekiel, brother of Clayton Fisher. Her son, Henry Clay Brown, she left in Elizabethtown, Ky. Before peace was declared, she belonged to Thomas, brother of Elisha Brown. My father, now dead, left his relatives on Stanley's Creek, Gaston county, North Carol'na. His father and mother were Sam and Lucy Forrest; brothers, Moses, Orange, Wirt and Jerry Forrest. Ministers of North Carolina and Kentucky will please read this from their pulpits. Address, Chestnut near Valence sts, New Orleans.

A WONDERFUL and
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:
1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

DON'T STOP MY PAPER.

Don't stop my paper, printer,
Don't strike my name off yet;
You know the times are stringent,
And dollars hard to get;
But ing a little harder
Is what I mean to do,
And scrape the dimes together,
Enough for me and you.

I can't afford to drop it;
I find it doesn't pay
To do without a paper,
However others may.
I hate to ask my neighbors
To give me their's on loan;
They don't just say—but mean it—
"Why don't you have your own?"

You can't tell how we miss it,
If it, by any fate,
Should happen not to reach us,
Or come a little late.
Then all is in a hubbub,
And things go all awry,
And, printer, if you're married,
You know the reason why.

The children want their stories,
And wife is anxious, too,
At first to glance it over,
And then to read it through;
And I to read the leaders,
And con the book reviews,
And scan the correspondence,
And every scrap of news.

I cannot do without it;
It is no use to try;
The other people take it,
And, printer, so must I.
I, too, must keep me posted
And know what's going on,
Or feel and be accounted
A fogy simpleton.

Then take it kindly, printer,
If pay is somewhat slow,
For cash is not so plenty,
And wants not few, you know;
But I must have the paper,
Cost what it may to me;
I'd rather dock my sugar,
And do without my tea.

So, printer, don't you stop it,
Unless you want my frown,
For here's the year's subscription,
And credit it right down,
And send the paper promptly
And regularly on,
And let it bring us weekly
Its welcomed benison.

Much Damage to Trade.

BY DR. J. W. HARMON.

When Paul labored to bring the light, and life, and blessedness of Christianity into the great city of Ephesus, he raised a storm of opposition, from an unexpected quarter, of which he did not dream.

The shrine manufactories of that city, that made gods to order, and by the thousand, clamored loudly against his new revelation, and brought the whole population in a mighty, surging mob about his ears, with the vehement and hard argument of "Sirs, by this craft we have our wealth. If you succeed in inducing the people to embrace Christianity, great damage will fall upon our trade. We have large capital invested, we have vested rights which must be respected; the law of the land and the law of usage is on our side."

If such an argument as this is [illegible] good in our day and be addressed by sensible men, and thinking men, then there is no conceivable benefit that can be offered for the acceptance and advantage of [illegible] in the future. Admit such [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the people, sustained by the [illegible] Almighty God, riding the [illegible] obedience, having put on [illegible] armor of God, determined [illegible] with the people as long as [illegible] members crying for redemption [illegible] Christians willing to work [illegible] go forth with [illegible] no doubt [illegible]

And now that it has come to pass that a distinct body of men, ever increasing in numbers in these United States, have embarked all their energies, and all their talents in the prosecution of the grand and blessed object of prohibiting, I may say, abolishing from the legislative page of every State in this Union, the unholy and wicked privilege to manufacture and sell intoxicating liquors, and in the future to place it under government surveillance, with severe penalties against all others, we hear a deafening clamor swelling up and over the land from the great mob of liquor men, calling upon Congress and the State legislatures, in the most piteous accents: "Sirs, pause, know ye not by this craft we have our wealth; should prohibition be adopted much damage will come to our trade. We have millions invested in this lucrative business."

But behold, Christianity has converted and produced a distinct body of philanthropists, with a new revelation of gospel temperance and statistics, real lovers of our species, who have been searching out the monstrous heritage of woe inflicted upon the health, prosperity and happiness of our people by this liquor craft; and they have poured out such volumes of light, and life, and knowledge of their revelations upon the public ear, that the people are about to rise up in all the majesty of insulted, oppressed, outraged and afflicted humanity, and sweep the traffic into that perdition from which it never should have issued.

This may look romantic, but I shall never despair of so just and so righteous a cause when advanced to an enlightened Christian public. The manufacture and promiscuous sale of intoxicants in these United States is certainly doomed.

The continued and incessant tramp, tramp, tramp of the prohibition army, signals its utter doom.

Men must and will be sent up to Congress by the suffrages of the people who have elevated conceptions of our race, who will sweep away this liquor craft, because it is a thousand fold worse than the slave trade. Men who, looking to the welfare of the nation, will vote for and pass Senator Blair's amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Down with the manufacture and traffic, and let the millions invested, only to destroy, be hereafter be invested to build up and prosper.

Missionary Money.

BY L. M. HAGOOD.

The prosperity and enlargement of the Church depends a great deal upon the way the missionary and church extension monies are applied. Missionary money can become a drawback to spiritual growth as well as growth of ability: the love of it can also become the root of evil. It places are given help where they can do without it they are usually weakened by it, and if it is continued they pretty soon fall back on the stool of do-nothing and wait for the Missionary society to pay the pastor's salary. There are places that now receive missionary money, and have for years, and it is to be expected that sometime they will become self-sustaining. Suppose these places continue in this way, and then when we go there as pastors we make no to do about "giving to the Lord" from the fact that our water and bread is sure? Will it not ruin the work? Sometimes it appears to me that some of our fields of labor require more missionary money, and yield a smaller profit, than some other fields I know that are cultivated. Just why other men, with no more talent, can outstrip us is a mystery to me, nevertheless it is a fact. It does seem to me that a man who is commissioned from God to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," and goes out among the people, sustained by the [illegible] Almighty God, riding the [illegible] obedience, having put on [illegible] armor of God, determined [illegible] with the people as long as [illegible] members crying for redemption [illegible] Christians willing to work [illegible] go forth with [illegible] no doubt [illegible] for the defense of my people. But it does seem to me that we are in danger of weakening ourselves by depending too much on missionary money and not enough on self. I do not say we have too much or not enough missionary money, but I do say that we could make room to use more if we properly applied what we have. I am of the opinion that no place with as many as 50 members and a church building, or a place with 100 members and no building, should ever be given missionary money "while there remains so much land to be possessed." Self-reliance administered, properly, in small doses and then increased according to the condition of the patient, will increase our benevolent collections and pastors' salaries 100 per cent. Every church having 75 live members, and now receives missionary money ought, next Conference, come up and let the Conference understand that they are able to stand alone. Why have we so few preaching places and churches in the two largest cities in this State? It is simply because we have not enough missionary money to put a man there and keep him there to organize the members into societies, as they come from the rural districts, and to hold series of meetings for the conversion of sinners. The only reason, it seems to me, that we have this lack is because we give it to places where it is not needed. Now, this year our Conference received from the Missionary Society $3000 for this purpose. We applied part of it as follows: To the P. E. of Nashville District, where there are 2373 members and probationers, $275; to the P. E. of Murfreesboro District where there are 3466 members and probationers, $350; to the P. E. of the West Tenn. District, where there are 2341 members and probationers, $400. We gave to one place with 120 known members a good brick building in good repair and in debt, the sum of $50, another place with 315 known members the sum of $30; this circuit has three churches, valued at $800 each; another with 170 known members and 4 churches $40; another, with 24 known members and 2 churches worth $400 each, we gave $30; another with 10 members and nothing else, we gave $30. Now no one is responsible for this state of things. The Conference appoints the committee and and they report their action for the approval of the Conference. By noting these things this early in conference year we will be better prepared to act when the time comes. Under such circumstances is it any wonder that a number of our preachers go to other fields by transfer? Is it strange that no more promising men are heard knocking for admission at our Conference doors? Is it to be wondered that we have so few churches in the cities of Nashville and Memphis. In this city we could as easily have had 8 or 10 churches as the number we now have, and could have supplied them with the pastors who visit the Central College, or otherwise. Is it not evident that we could have used our means more wisely? Suppose we do have flourishing congregations here and there in the country, ought we to be satisfied with that? Can we expect to plant Methodism in this State by neglecting the larger towns and cities? Now our Conference enjoys privileges that many others would be glad to improve, but are we doing it when we are so situated that every man who finishes the college curriculum is snatched away from us by the inviting fields calling him elsewhere? Now if a stream can not rise higher than its source, ought it not rise that high? Now I ask if it would not be better and wiser in us to use our missionary money for the purpose of saving what members we will likely lose if they move to the larger cities and we have no church to receive them, nor a pastor there to look after them? We could put pastors in these places, more than we have, and then notify them whenever a member moves into the part of the town where he resides. The whole sum and substance of the matter is this: Our unmethodistic way of doing business is costing us considerable. Now, why is it necessary to give a P. E. as much money as we do each year? Is it because the people are unable to raise it, or [illegible] because we do not ask it of them? Let us see. The members [illegible] Conference [illegible] secretary of the [illegible] and pastor as follows: Nashville District, $2.13½ each, Murfreesboro District $1.18½, West Tennessee District $1.75½. Now, if each member had given 10 cents per week for support of the gospel they would have realized $42,484 instead of the $13,312 75 given by the entire membership for Bishop, presiding elder and pastor. Can't we now see why we are compelled to give our presiding elders as much as we do? They must have it or they can not carry on their work. It is not a question of how much the presiding elders get above what they ought to have, for I think if they get more than they ought they are the only set of ministers in Tennessee that get it. But they ought to receive it from the people, and let the missionary appropriations go to destitute places. Suppose we, like the Baptists, Southern Methodists and our African brethren, had no source from which to draw, would we leave the work? Most assuredly not. We would teach the people to save all they could and give all they could. Just think of a congregation of 315 members paying $150 for the support of a pastor for 12 months? just $12.50 per month or 4.16⅔ cents per day for the support of the gospel. Is this Methodism? Is it not suicidal to tolerate such stupidity in members? I ask in the name of Christianity if such training would not ruin angels, if it were possible? I think such a congregation ought to sing "Father, and shall we ever live at this poor dying rate?" I feel warranted in answering, in such thunder tones as would wake the very snakes in that neighborhood, NO! where God and His Christ is ye cannot go. I cite this as an example, and I am not crowded to the wall for other cases similar, but we don't want to tell it all. "Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Askelon; lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph." Brethren, ought we talk of progress when our members are doing so little for Christ's cause? Will any man tell me that this is the best we can do? I sympathize with those who were unfortunate in their crops, etc., but that is no reason why they should not be asked to give. It seems to me that a preacher is not worthy the name who courts favor and becomes popular among his people, by refusing to ask them to give anything for Christ's cause. If we continue in this way, pretty soon our Presiding Elders will receive orders to send no preacher next year, unless the Missionary Society will support him. I have only mentioned the collections that will interest those who feel that "our people are too poor to give." Brethren, it is high time we stopped begging and go to work to make this vast howling wilderness blossom as the rose. Hark! I hear just behind us the tramping of an army of 10,000 children—your children—coming upon the stage of action. I see them halt; look around to see what preparations have been made for them. They find nothing but an empty missionary purse. I feel interested in this work, and feel that God will not hold us guiltless if we go up to heaven's gate with an army of pigmies and dwarfs that could have been intellectual, spiritual and financial giants in His cause.

It may be that same brother of the conference will read these lines through green spectacles. If so, I will say now I only wish he would take them off and carry this matter with me to Jesus. Some one must mention these matters; some one must now and then speak out. As for myself, I serve the church for no other purpose than, in my humble way, to help build up her waste places. If any think hard of these lines, my only reply must be, "For her my tears shall fall; for her my prayers ascend; to her my cares and toils are given, till toils and cares shall end." For "beyond my highest joy I prize her heavenly ways."

Tribute of a Student Legislator on Wiley University.

DEAR EDITOR:—Will you allow space in your columns for a brief report from a student of Wiley University? Our second term closed Dec. 14, 1882, in its grandeur, among so many of our loving hearted friends. We greeted them. When we walked into the chapel halls and saw that the seats and aisles were all filled with such bright elements of love, how pleased we were. In looking upon the College walls we see this superscription: "Emmentiam et Sumus beatus." Let us give God and those brave-hearted men who heard the groans and saw the sufferings of this benighted race, the praise. We are afforded with schools, universities and colleges for the education of the negro race; a race born in poverty and brought up in ignorance; a race that was decoyed, kidnapped, almost, I might say, from their parents arms, and sold into slavery. I thank God that the inspiration of His holy will found its way into a few men's hearts, North, to liberate the people. The poor South was heard and was released from the hands of the scepter. May the inspiration of love from our hearts for those who stood by us in the hour of peril and death be warm and changeless. Let us thank God for the gift and prove to the people that we are worthy of the great high trust put upon us by our people and government. A man is known by his works. May the good that is being done by the aid of the Freedman's Aid Society be continued. I can only say to those engaged, students especially, "Go on, go on, go on to eminence and success, add kingdoms to kingdoms, wealth to wealth, and honor to honor. O, God, wilt thou rend in twain from top to bottom the veil, and cause to be removed the scum which blinds the eyes of the people? Let them give their ears to a man and not their hearts and money before knowing him. How long will ignorance prevail in our land? Awake you that sleep, and arise from illiteracy. O, God, give us the incessant love for education, turn darkness into light and sorrow into joy; erase color line and form an equation.

"Errors like straws on the surface flow,
He who would seek for pearls must dive below."

This said for the Wiley University and its students, and the accomplishment made within the last decade, by a student while en-route to Little Rock to assume his seat as a representative. May it be pondered. I am sincerely your friend, etc., M. M. MURRAY, JR.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

MR. EDITOR: We wish to say, through the columns of our widely circulated SOUTHWESTERN, that Dr. J. F. McKindley, late of the Meharry Medical Department of Central Tennesse College, now of this city (Austin), left yesterday via Houston, Texas Central Rail, road, for Nashville, to visit his alma mater, (Central Tennessee College) to deliver a series of lectures; and to be gone two months. His skill as a physician has been exercised to the satisfaction of the entire community at large. Dr. McKindley's practice is extensive and ever on the increase. In him a prayerful demand of long standing was significantly supplied. At the first, some gentlemen of high standing, felt as usually, called of Heaven to oppose him for prejudice's sake; but with manly courage and Christian fortitude this opposition and prejudice was eloquently met and vanquished; and the yelping hounds were called off for the time being. He fights those deadliest of gigantic enemies with patient, smiling intelligence. All who expects to succeed in whatever sphere divine providence may call them to labor, will do well to follow Dr. McKindley's example.

Dr. Q. B. Neal, who comes, and is highly recommended by Dr. McKindley, takes his place for the time being.

But the earnest and prayerful wish of this people is, a safe trip, [illegible]nish up, and return of our beloved [illegible]d much valued friend, McKindley. [illegible]rking earnestly for the elevation [illegible]race, two promising young [illegible] his city and of excellent [illegible]ompany him with [illegible]ring the Central [illegible] All such young [illegible] reserved host [illegible] field service. [illegible] a Pharoah, [illegible]es to lead His people. King Asa may hire a wicked Benhadad to fight against Israel, with his thirty-two wicked associate kings, and while they are drinking themselves drunk in their pavillion preparing for war. God is strengthening the young princes in Israel, through the ceaseless efforts of His own prophets, to go out and meet them, to drive back in utter dismay their infuriated and deluded minions, and defend all of his own dominions.

May Heaven's blessings ever rest upon those noble-hearted men and women of our church whose wisdom contrived the institution of the Freedmen's Aid Society. God bless those who have and continue to contribute to this perpetuity. Bless its present board of officers—and inspire our hearts to give more largely to its treasury. And bless we, its rod of wonder-working power; and curse we, the oppressing and smiting rod. Yours, truly,

MACK HENSON.

Austin, Texas, Dec. 29, 1882.

Strike for the Heart.

Men have hearts, and the most successful rulers, statesmen, teachers and preachers the world has ever known have been men who have striven for and gained the hearts of their fellowmen. And even in war the principle has held good, for the greatest generals have been those who commanded the affections of their soldiers. And as I have stepped higher and contemplated the dealings of God with man I have found the same principle underlying the Divine government, being the very mainspring of the atonement itself and the key which unlocks the mysteries of the incarnation and crucifixion. In all the details of the wonderful plan of salvation we behold the stupendous efforts of the Great Ruler of the universe in His strivings to reach the hearts of His beloved but rebellious subjects. Jesus came to earth, assumed our flesh, cured our diseases, bore our scorn and died the victim of our malice that He might convince us that God loves us, and this is the one great argument which the human heart cannot resist. And when the Spirit, speaking through John, strives to convince us of the love of the Father, he does not tell us how He had created a world and filled it with beauty and blessings for us, and crowned our lives with goodness and mercy, but pointing back to Calvary, cries, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son."

It is on this hope of reaching the human heart that the strongest predictions of the success of Christ's Kingdom are based. The stone cut from the mountain is not to roll on and fill the earth because it is to crush and destroy all before it and leave the world full of suffering and wretchedness, as the dream of Mohammedanism, but because, like the philosopher's stone which turned everything to gold, it is to turn all hearts touched by it to love. The Gospel of Christ is "the power of God unto salvation," not because it has in it the granite of the law, but the melting power of a Savior's love. Christ, being lifted up, is drawing all men unto Him, not because He commands them to come with a voice of regal power, but because their hearts are touched by seeing the innocent suffer for the guilty.—Rev. S. H. Huber in Central Advocate.

Boston's First Colored Lawyer.

The late Robert Morris, it is said, died worth a property of $100,000. He was one of the oldest of Boston's lawyers, and our impression is that few have made more money in the profession. Mr. Morris was a hard worker, and he had a sharp eye for obtaining pay for what he did. There was something singular about his clientage. He came to the bar when prejudice against the colored race was very strong in Boston, and by none was it more evinced than by our fellow citizens of Irish birth. Yet Mr. Morris' clients were for a long time almost entirely among the Irish people. Hes succeeded in impressing them vividly with a sense of his smartness, and they had great faith in the capacity of this lively little colored gentleman. On the other hand, the colored people themselves were rather shy of the lawyer of their race. He never counted many clients among them. He was probably the first colored lawyer in the country, and no other one has had anything like this lengthened career of service at the bar.—Boston Gazette.

The American Bible Society.

This national and catholic organization has been engaged for sixty-six years in circulating the Holy Scripture without note or comment.

It has distributed above forty millions of copies in more than eighty languages or dialects; thus reaching by its ministrations every quarter of the globe.

Not a few of these volumes have been granted gratuitously to mission churches, Sabbath schools, hospitals and asylums.

It has prepared at great expense the entire Bible in raised letters for the blind.

It has supplied hundreds of thousands of volumes to immigrants landing upon our shores, and hundreds of thousands more to the freedmen, and has paid special attention to the spiritual wants of the North American Indians.

Its publications are furnished to those who wish to purchase them at the mere cost of manufacture, and at ten per cent. below cost to auxiliary societies and dealers in books. Thus the benevolent features of the Society's work are manifest, not in its grants only, but also in its sales.

It conducts an extensive system of colportage, not less than 170 persons being at present employed in this service in our own country, and 214 in foreign lands.

The society is now engaged for the fourth time in the general supply of the United States with the Scriptures. Many of the auxiliaries of the Society are co-operating in this work, and contributions to their respective treasuries ought to be larger than usual, that they may not only be able to accomplish efficient work at home, but also have a considerable surplus to aid the general work of the Parent Society at this period of increased expenditure.

It is hoped that individuals and churches accustomed to forward contributions directly to the Bible House, will feel disposed to continue and enlarge their offerings, and that others, who have not recently or ever assisted the Society, impressed by the important bearing of the present enterprise upon the welfare of the land, will gladly sustain it by their hearty sympathies, their fervent prayers, and their generous gifts.

Competitive examination as a means of admission to the public service is a device of practical men for a practical puprosee. It is intended maily to provide means of obtaining admission to the service which shall be free from favoritism. Its advocates do not say that it is the best mode of recruiting the service; they say it is the best attainable mode. Nor do they say that every man who passes a competitive examination is sure to be fit for the service; they say he is more likely to be a good man to try than a man recommended by a Congressman. Nor do they say that a man who gets higher marks in a competitive examination is sure to be fitter for a place than the man now filling it. What they say is, that there is no proof of a man's fitness for a place so good, or nearly so good, as his having filled it efficiently. No examination, competitive or pass, can approach this for certainty. Any officer now in the service, therefore, who has for some time discharged his duties faithfully and accurately, has a claim to his place such as no other process devised by man could give him. It would be as silly to give the office to another man who beat him in a competitive examination, as to displace a successful commander for a young man who was better read in strategy or tactics. All this to a practical reformer seems as simple as the alphabet.—The Nation.

Napoleon Bonaparte said: "Great men are like meteors; they glitter and are consumed, to enlighten the world." And Bancroft closes one of his chapters thus: "The business of the day being over, Washington set out for Mount Vernon, and on Christmas eve, after an absence of nine years, he crossed the threshold of his own home; but not to find rest there, for the doom of greatness was upon him." So there is compensation in the world; and not to be great has its blessings.

Upwards of thirteen million letters and postal cards are posted daily in the world; three billion three hundred and eighteen million letters are annually distributed in Europe; one billion two hundred and forty-six million in America; seventy six million in Asia; thirty-six million in Australia; and eleven million in Africa.

Holiness.

Some people have a certain dread or horror of holiness; they have seen a sour, crabbed sanctimoniousness, which some persons call holiness; they think it is that, so they dread it. Others intelligently seeing, honestly long for it as a most desirable, but to them unattainable state. To us, holiness is not monkish asceticism, nor is it a sour sanctimoniousness, as some seem to imagine, neither is it the unattainable state of the glorified before the throne of God. It is being cleansed from all of our sins, and the habit of agreeing with God in all things. The holy soul will hate what God hates, and love whatever God loves, even though it costs a denial of ease, appetite and all selfish lusts. With the holy, there is a fixed and permanent habit of living by the Bible and of following Jesus as our model. That this is not unattainable is clear from the fact that God commands us in his Word, "be ye holy!" He knows that it is possible for every one of his children to be holy. The want of personal holiness is our sin. He possession of holiness is God's gift; but it is only given to those who hunger and thirst after it. The promises to fill them with all the fullness of God, not merely to forgive them their sins, but to cleanse them from all unrighteousness.

We exhort the great household of the SOUTHWESTERN to begin this new year by earnestly praying for holiness, and striving aftet it Make it the fixed habit of your life to imitate and follow Jesus. His grace is sufficient for you. His blood can cleanse you from all sin. This is the believer's heritage in Christ.

Home Work Needed.

"Consistency is a jewel," says the proverb. Is it not a little wonderful that the Christian churches in America should be sending missionaries to enlighten the heathen of Africa, India, Japan and China, while they have in the bosom of the churches here at home the sin of caste which, according to the testimony of certain persons who say they know, is as clearly defined and as strongly entrenched as in India or Japan? We know what certain scientific men pretend to think, and we also know that God in the Bible declares that all men were made of one blood. And we know that there is an identity between the so-called races. They all have the same bones and muscles, heads, eyes, ears, hands and feet the same. They all love, hate, laugh, cry, think, reason, have a language with which to communicate with each other, and are capable of the greatest measure of improvement. Whatever wicked men may have done and are still doing, it is evident that God has put no barriers between these races, and it is just as evident that in all the business necessities of life they coalesce with pleasure and profit, here all of these man-made distinctions break down. But it is left for the so-called Christian churches of America to maintain a caste system full as horrid and accursed as that in India or Japan. What but this Moloch prevents one so-called Christian minister (we say so-called because to us there is a gulf deeper and wider between all such men and the meek and lowly Jesus than that to which Abraham refers as separating Lazarus from Dives) from recognizing the ministerial standing of his brother, and treating him with the commonest civilities either in private intercourse or the public sanctuary? What but this Moloch caste could induce a man, upon whose unsanctified heart and skull some tender-hearted Bishop had laid his hands to publish to the world that certain persons were neither expected nor wanted at his church. Zion's Herald was right when it characterized this act as "brutal." The Independent was right when it described it as "that Alabama leprosy." Dr. Buckley was right when he called it a "stain." And we hope and pray that these men will hold fast whereunto they have attained. Mr. Lansing says that "The Birmingham pastor only voiced the opinion and wishes of the white churches generally, without exception, as far as we know." We have had a little experience as a Methodist minister, and are confident that Dr. Lansing, "whose … Dr. Curry says, "gives force … responsibility to whatever he … a wrong impres… … the course of our … have been pastor of … churches, and … it is estimated that … not wanted. … a church caste prevails. They sing psalms, say prayers, and have talented men who read beautiful essays to their delighted hearers, but this American Devil caste has long since expelled Christ, if he was ever there. Into any of these places if a white man were to go with a gold ring and goodly apparel on it would be said to him "Sit thou here in this good seat," but if a colored man were to go, it would be said to him, either, "you are neither expected or wanted here," or else, "sit thou there on that back seat next the door." But who would for a moment think of calling these places Christian churches? We think that it is best to honor the name of Christ or abandon it. While we think that the churches of this country are far from having reached the end of this subject caste we have no doubt but that it is doomed soon to disappear before the onward march of Him who has "chosen the poor of this world, rich in faith and heirs of the Kingdom which He hath promised to them that love Him." Christ or caste must triumph, to the Christian there can be no doubt as to the final issue.

Incidents by the Way.

We always enjoy a ride over the Morgan Texas and Louisiana Railroad. The bed of the road is smooth, the cars commodious and the conductors always pleasant and gentlemanly. At one time a brakeman commanded me to take my seat in the smoking car, of course I did not like that, but who would think of blaming a great railroad corporation because of the impertinence of a foolish brakeman? We always have a commutation ticket. We do this for two reasons. It is the cheapest, two cents a mile saved is no small amount. Then there is to us a great satisfaction in feeling that the Morgan Railroad Company is indebted to us. On the seat behind there sat two young men from Kentucky. Just after passing Lafourche, one remarked to his companion that "this is a grand place for the Baptist." "Why so," said the other. "You know they like water, and here they could find all that they could desire. "Hush," said his companion, "the Baptists are called God's navy, and what could a navy do without water." Navy did you say, not a bit of it, a navy always rides on the water, and no man can be a Baptist unless he goes under the water.

The cars reach Terrebonne at three o'clock P. M. Brother Carr, just up from the chills and fever, met us at the depot, and conducted us to the parsonage, which is a little too near the marshes to suit us. Nevertheless here we found a pleasant home. Quarterly conference reports were all in order. Men who have the ability to lead a class in the Methodist Episcopal Church are scarce. Read carefully the following reports from the classes:

Class.	Members.	Collections.
No. 1	17	$14 70
" 2	15	8 45
" 3	11	12 00
" 4	20	9 00
" 5	14	8 85
" 6	16	2 65
" 8	13	8 00

Some of these reports show effectiveness on the part of the leaders' and some strong marks of superannuation and "often infirmities." Real push, baptized with the Holy Ghost is as good for class-leaders as preachers. If any man doubts let him make the experiment.

Bishop Peck made no mistake when he sent Bro. Ford to Houma. Peculiar effectiveness has marked his administration. He has in hand $75, for benevolent purposes, this is a wonderful advance over any other year. Piety not cant, work not talk, is what is needed. The minister who thinks that he can live on his past record is awfully mistaken; present work is needed. Weeds grow fast. The roll of this quarterly conference contains nine local preachers. One was recommended to the "Traveling connection." We called to see one, an old man, "just on the borders of the grave." Christ was with him and his heart was full of gladness, and patiently he waits for the Boatman to come and take him over. This dear old Brother seems to have mellowed into ripeness and fitness for glory ere death has come.

From Houma to Live Oak, twenty miles, by an immutable decree on the part of mud and slosh, we were made to ride horse back, but then all the way we comforted ourselves with the saying of Aunt Susie, "Dem ministers ob de Lord Jesus dat hab cum to Louisiana to bruse de head ob … sarpent de Debel must not … the path of duty … mud." … the affairs of …

whole voyage of this life is bound in shallows and miseries."

All along the journey of life there are crises, culminating points, from which men gradually descend or ascend. "The spider taketh hold with her hands and is in king's palaces." The pivotal point at Live Oak in the history of the Methodist Episcopal Church has been passed. Bro. Armston has taken hold with his hands, and as the result of his own personal toil we have a nice church and parsonage. Here we have an open door, for a man who loves God and hard work, no others need apply for this post of honor. The goodly land lies just a little beyond Live Oak, from this point all of its wealth and glory are almost in sight. Happy the man whom Bishop Hust shall send to the place, where he can get ideals of fresh ideas.

When a New Orleans judge, in the Morgan steamship case, decided the tonnage tax levied by the State Board of Health to be unconstitutional, a great burden was removed from the commerce of the port which had been submitted to a surprising length of time considering the law and equity involved. The Board of Health should be supported from the treasury of the State, and it is astonishing that reasonable men should contend that it would be either right or desirable to continue an oppressive and unlawful tax on the shipping of other States and foreign nations. The quarantine system requires national sovereignty and supervision to give it full force and effect. It should not be in the power of local, city and state boards, in and out of season, to place embargoes upon the commerce of the country. The local board can find enough to do in looking after the sanitation of cities and towns within their sphere of jurisdiction, without prejudicing or coming in conflict with an efficient National Board.

Every time that a defaulter, a thief, an adulterer, or an evil-doer in any other line, who is arrested for crime, is found to be a clergyman or a church member, a hue and cry is made by the secular press on the shocking illustrations of corruption and hypocrisy; and the connection of these persons with the church is coupled always with the story of the fall. We feel a sense of shame and humiliation whenever we read one of these stories. This is certainly a high compliment to the character and good repute of the clergy and the church members generally. It shows that better things are looked for among the clergy than among other classes of good citizens. We would be glad if it were a matter of like surprise that a member of the Legislature or Congress, a lawyer, a bank president or cashier, were caught stealing. Certainly we hope the time never will come when it will seem less strange than now, that a clergyman or any Christian worker should be dishonest or otherwise unworthy.

We have received from the publisher, and have placed in a conspicuous position in our office, for ready reference, one of Tunison's historical, county, railroad and distance maps of the United States. On the reverse side there is also an illustrated reference map of the world. The map bears date 1882, and therefore embraces late changes and statistics of the census of 1880. It is remarkably clear, and beautifully colored, and suitable for families, school rooms and general office use. The price is $4. The publisher, H. C. Tunison, may be addressed at Cincinnati, Ohio, Jacksonville, Ill., Omaha, Neb., or New York City. We cheerfully commend the map as being all it claims to be, reasonable in price, correct in design, and ornamental as well as useful.

There are certain times and circumstances that have much to do with the success of most men. But it is equally certain that is the duty of every man, great or small, in storm or calm, to do the best he can. He who is acting the part of a man, never need trouble himself about his reputation. Some men are always stopping and stooping to find out how the spectators regard them, as though the praise or detraction of men could change the moral quality of an act. He who resolves to be good, and do good, will always be hindered and helped; if he stops to correct misunderstandings and is troubled about his popularity as unpopularity, he will certainly be hindered and in the end make a miserable failure but let him take care that he d[oes] not make God responsible.

The Texas Wesley[an] … an institution charter[ed] … ing $2000 of pro[perty] … Worth, and to whi[ch] … Johnson and W. … [illegible] to deed t[illegible] was adopted as an institution of the Austin conference. The citizens of Fort Worth and vicinity are to contribute $10,000 for the erection of suitable buildings, and the conference is to raise $10,000 for the same purpose. The second term opened Jan. 2, and the Advocate at Fort Worth reports that President Harvey and his assistants are devotedly laboring with sacrificing spirits to make the school all that the most critical friend of education can desire.

We make no special plea for ignorance, and yet it is desirable to be ignorant of some things. It is better not to know some people, some books, some practices, than to be well acquainted and familiar with them. There are certain things that God does not care to have us know, and He never blames us because of our ignorance on these points. We are not criminal for not knowing the day of our death. Man is not a sinner, because he cannot count the stars and the sands upon the sea shore; nor is he a sinner because he cannot tell what a day may bring forth or when the day of judgment will be. But every man does need to know his sins forgiven.

The first anniversary of the Prisons and Asylums Aid Association, at Grunewald Hall, on Monday evening, 8th inst., was an interesting occasion. Vigorous speeches in favor of reform of abuses, ascertained after investigation by them, indicate that practical results will follow. To this philanthropic association, of which the author, Geo. W. Cable, was the originator, the transfer of the inmates of the City Insane Asylum to Jackson, and the better location of the Boys House of Refuge is largely due.

Miss Emma Lazarus, the best-known literary representative of her race in America, has written for the forthcoming Midwinter Century a paper on "The Jewish Problem," which is likely to attract wide attention both at home and abroad. In brief space the writer has reviewed the whole history of the Jews since the origin of Christianity, and finally gives her reasons for the establishment of a separate nationality. These reasons are forcibly put, and will be novel to many readers.

Brethren of the Louisiana and Little Rock conferences should bear in mind that now is the time to prepare their annual statistical reports. If the necessary blanks have not yet come to hand you need not wait longer, but without further delay, following the forms given on pages, 56–59 of the Discipline of 1880, go to work at once and prepare as accurate reports as possible. These reports are of greater or less value, just in proportion as they are more or less correct. Let them be carefully gotten up.

The Arkansas Mansion says: "Walden Seminary opened for the winter term on the 3d inst. with an enrollment of forty pupils. Some of these came from Louisiana and Tennessee, evidencing the fact that the school is growing in popularity and usefulness. The faculty consists now of Rev. Thomas Mason, A. M.; H. B. Fry, A. M., and Rev. I. G. Pollard. The strengthened faculty and completed details give great promise of a term of thorough, successful work."

Florida is moving onward, Gov. Bloxham reports that during the past two years more miles of railroad were built than during the whole previous history. school attendance increased near one hundred per cent., and assessed taxable property increased from thirty-one to forty millions; and yet the news reaches us that a constitutional convention project is about to be launched by the Legislature. Why not let well enough alone?

On beginning volume LX Zion's Herald "astonished the natives" by bringing into use a bold, yet tasteful specimen of the engraver's art, for its heading. It caused us to glow with enthusiasm.

Our Southern Work.

TENNESSEE.

A. J. Fletcher, East Tennessee Conference, Kingston charge: "We have just closed a protracted meeting at this place in which the church was greatly revived, and the work has started up afresh. Rev. Eli Provine, formerly of the Tennessee Conference, is our Presiding Elder. He was transferred by Bishop Warren to take charge of the Chattanooga District, and arrived in time to hold our first quarterly conference, Dec. 9th, and preached several times during his stay with us, and prayed from house to house. I am proud to say that he is gladly received all over the district. He is an excellent preacher and a good disciplinarian, and is, without doubt, the … man to succeed Rev. S. J. … who so wonderfully improved matters in the last four years. Thanks to God and Bishop Warren for the selection; with such men as Revs. Provine and Harris at the head of affairs will soon have a conference in East Tennessee that will rank among the best conferences of the South, but at present we are needing men and money to develop the work; but be it known that we are coming in every particular."

J. B. Marbrey, Mason: "My first quarterly conference closed its session with glorious results. All of my leaders were present but two, and the conference was a cheerful one. The men we owe for our church were present, and we paid $120 and were given until March 15th next to pay the rest, or $80. The church was much pleased with the change of the circuit. Bro. L. M. Moores was present, and gave us words of good cheer. The trustees reappoint Bro. C. E. Alexander and wife to the Preparatory School which will open Jan. 1st. Our beloved Presiding Elder, Rev. J. P. Price preached with great acceptability, and revived the whole church. Was paid to the elder $12, the pastor $11 95; raised on missions $1 70; Bishop, 50 cents; something on all the collections. Everything bids fair for the circuit. Those who promised to help us on our church debt are requested to forward the money as soon as possible to Bro. James Williams Jr., care of J. B. Marbrey.

J. L. Massey, Martin: "Elder Price held our first quarterly meeting, and preached at both churches. A white friend presented him with a dollar, and promised to give him one every time he comes this year. We paid elder $5.50. I think we shall meet with success."

LOUISIANA.

A committee of ladies and gentlemen, members of Frst Street M. E. Church presented their pastor, Rev. T. G. Montgomery, with the means to get a suit of clothes, as their New Year's gift. The Tabernacle of the Order of Brothers and Sisters of Love and Charity also gave him $3.50 for the Gilbert-Haven Theological school.

A. J. Ford, Houma: "I have all my benevolent collections in hand, raised by subscription. Our hearts have been made to rejoice over the labors of the past year. The church has been shingled, and about 50 converts, backsliders and members from other churches have been received. The debts have been kept up with. On New Year's night Miss Juda Brown visited the parsonage and brought many nice things for the household. Pray that we may keep our pledges for the coming year.

TEXAS.

E. E. Cooper, Oakland: "We trust you may have all of the 5000 subscribers in the next thirty days. A happy New Year to you."

J. L. Smith, Burleson circuit: "The corner stone was laid at Caldwell, Dec. 3. This place has been trying to go forward for the past six years, and at last the money was raised to buy the foundation of St. John's M. E. Church. It is the second church of ours in Burleson county, and three or four more are under headway. During my pastorate I have added six pieces of property, and built a parsonage. The Church Extension Society has aided us, and the building will be ready for worship within months. My next letter will be from Millican."

Meeting of the Book Committee.

The annual meeting of the Book Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the Book Concern in New York, commencing on Wednesday, February 14, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M.

HOMER EATON, Chairman.
J. S. BINGHAM, Secretary.

From Our Mission Rooms.

FOOCHOW MISSION.—Dr. J. L. Taylor and wife, and Rev. G. B. Smythe, our reinforcements for this mission, have been welcomed at Foochow. They were present at the session of the conference. They were introduced to the conference on Sunday morning at the conference love-feast. "Their very presence," writes Bro. Siles, "and the sound of their voices are a new inspiration to all. Their words of good cheer translated made all hearts rebound."

EDUCATION FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS IN ENGLISH.—From the inception of the Anglo-Chinese College in Foochow, it has been the hope of leading men among our Chinese friends to secure the advantages of English education, also for their daughters as well as their sons. The subject was before the Foochow conference, and resolutions were almost unanimously adopted recommending classes to be formed in our women and girl's schools for instruction in English, in music, in native classics and in medicine. Some positive action has been taken by the mission in furtherance of this plan.

CLOSE OF THE CONFERENCE.—The preachers, we are informed, separated and went to their new appointments much encouraged. All departments of the work give promise of increasing activity and wider and wider success.

NORTH INDIA MISSION.—In Lucknow the baptisms of the year represent the highest as well as the lowest castes of Hindoos.

Christmas day was this year celebrated for the first time in India. The Central Sunday school of Lucknow, Rev. J. H. Messmore's, gives regularly $2.00 monthly for mission work in the city. They devoted this year's offerings to the purchasers of copies of the Gospel—one for each boy and girl in the city Sunday schools. The copies cost two cents each.

Saddat Gunge is becoming a very important preaching place in Lucknow, under Chaumore Lall.

RAM CHANDRA BOSE has been lecturing to educated Hindoos in a great number of cities, as Seetapore, Shahjehanpore, Bareilly, Moradabad, Agra, Joypore, Bombay, Ahmednaga, etc. He was received with favor. The Religious Tract Society of London has published a volume of his lectures under the title—"The Truth of the Christian Religion." It is likely to have a good circulation.

CENTENNIAL SCHOOL, Lucknow. This school, under direction of Rev. B. H. Bodley, has shown remarkable advance during the year. The total enrollment has been 311, as compared with 184 of preceding year. Both school and boarding-house have been crowded, and there has been fear of more applicants than could be accommodated. Last year the Government gave $2500 toward a new school. The municipality has added another $2500. An appropriation was made by the Missionary Society and the building is already under construction.

THE MEMORIAL SCHOOL, Cawnpore.—The average attendance for the year has been 66—52 boarders and 15 day scholars. The school now pays its running expenses. 30 of the boys have been converted during the past year.

The Press in Lucknow has made so much profit the past year as to add 300 rupees to its capital. Bro. Craven's dictionaries are having a good sale.

GREAT ENCOURAGEMENT.—One of the missionaries says: "During all the years I have been engaged in this work I have never been more encouraged to hope for great things from this vast empire of idolatry. Another writes: "The fruit of all the work in this field appears not so much in the number of baptisms as in the multiplied inquiries among the people, the friendliness among all classes for our work, the willingness to attend Christian service, and the abatement of fear and superstition.

THE MAJOR ORR ENDOWMENT—ITS FRUIT.—It will be remembered that some two years ago report was made of a fund given by Major Orr to support a preacher in Roy Bareilly. The native preacher, L. Cutlor, who has been supported on this fund, preaches in forty villages. He has besides made many friends in the city where he lives, and his wife has free acces to very many houses, indeed more than she can visit. Numbers of the women attend Sunday school regularly. In one Sunday school, composed entirely of women, the attendance is about 40. They join heartily in the singing, and are rapidly learning the truths of the Gospel. The presiding elder and others were recently permitted to visit and address this school, notwithstanding it is composed entirely of women. Truly, "the entrance of thy word giveth light."

BULGARIA MISSION.—The new church building dedicated at Sistof was opened for preaching in September, and the congregation rose at once from an average of 10 up to an average of 40, amounting sometimes to as much as 60. The idea of permanence and thorough earnestness in mission work given by the purchase of property and the erection of buildings, naturally has its effect in Bulgaria as well as elsewhere. The same effect is produced by a persistent development of a school of high grade. The new building of the girls' school at Loftcha was occupied Nov. 1. It is very pleasantly situated on a hillside overlooking the city and surrounding country. It has ample grounds, and will accommodate about 30 pupils, with two teachers, and a missionary's family. This site was secured and the building erected in spite of official hindrance only through great perseverance on the part of Superintendent Challis.

UNCHRONICLED RESULTS.—Special accounts come to us from Norway of facts which we have long learned to realize, in …

[illegible] in Germany and [illegible] Our presence and work [illegible] no statistics can [illegible] influence is very effect- [illegible] in the State churches [illegible] land. The presiding elder of [illegible] Christian band, the southern [illegible] of Norway, informs us that [illegible] all the conversions that take [illegible] under our preachers, "scarce [illegible] in ten join themselves to our [illegible] church;" they remain in the State [illegible] church, and it is hoped add effect- [illegible] to its spiritual life. Nume- [illegible] Sunday schools are formed in [illegible] emulation of ours. This is a "bright side to the opposition we meet."

NORWAY—SUNDAY SCHOOL MISSIONARY SOCIETIES. — Let the church please take note that at least in one district in the Norway Conference—the Christiana District—all the Sunday Schools are organized into missionary societies. Several new schools have been formed also in this district, and the older ones have increased in usefulness.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON III. January 21, 1883.

THE BELIEVING PEOPLE. (Acts ii, 34-47)

After the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples, one of them stood up and preached a brave sermon. It was Peter who had denied Jesus; but now he stood up and told the crowd that Jesus was their Lord, the Christ whom they had been expecting, and had killed. Some of the people believed, and said "What shall we do?" Peter told them to repent of their sins and be baptized. His preaching stirred many to repent, and three thousand received the word gladly and were baptized.

"The believing peope," formed the first Christain Church. They liked to talk about Jesus, and so should we. The rich ones divided with the poorer ones. Their examples we should all follow, help one another. If we follow Jesus we must do this. He is our pattern, he spent his life helping the world. These first found favor in the eyes of the people. This means they were thought well of. If people are true Christians they will only do things people must say are right.

Jesus has gone home to heaven, but he needs a whole world of boys and girls as brave as Peter. When you hear men or boys use your King's name badly, stand up for him if you have a chance, tell them Jesus is your King, and it hurts you to hear him abused. Stand up for Jesus every day. [illegible] do stand up for him whenever you try to live just as you know he wants all his people to live. Peter [illegible] three thousand to believe in Jesus, and you can lead some one if you only try. If you lead only one it is greater in God's sight than to conquer a city.—Western

A Rapid Decline Arrested.

Mrs. Anna G. Fourqurean, of San Marco, Texas, wife of a well-known and influential citizen of that place, writing under date of May 21, 1881, says: "In the Spring of 1878, a deep cold settled on my [illegible]; I had a dreadful cough, accompanied by daily fevers, sleepless nights, [illegible], loss of flesh and strength, [illegible] depression, and hemorrhages from [illegible]. This state continued for eighteen months, notwithstanding I had the [illegible] of good physicians. By this I had lost all my vitality, spent most of [illegible] in bed, coughed continually, raising [illegible] quantity of deep yellow mucus, and [illegible] little sleep in the latter part of [illegible] night, I would awaken drenched by night [illegible], and so prostrated that I could not [illegible] myself in bed until I had taken a [illegible] remedy. I began to lose hopes of life. [illegible] husband and my neighbors thought I [illegible] not possibly live. About this time [illegible] Compound Oxygen Treatment' was [illegible] to our notice. My husband immediately sent for it; I stopped the use [illegible] medicines and began the 'Treatment.' I was too weak at first to take it [illegible] long 2 times as two minutes; but [illegible] the inhalations increased in [illegible] and strength, and would leave [illegible] a delightful sense of relief to my [illegible] [illegible]

The Original Chatterbox, published by Estes & Lauria, Boston, is a desirable and very cheap magazine for the children. It has many full page illustrations. Price $1 per year.

The Illustrated Christian Weekly, of New York, took on a new typographical dress with the new year, representive of the highest skill of the printer's art, but we can not say that it is an improvement. The paper deserves a place in Christian families for its purity, elegance and worth. $2.50 per year.

The thirty-sixth annual report of the American Missionary Association has been received from 56 Reade street, New York. It is a pamphlet of 112 pages.

The American Missionary opened the new year with a handsome engraved title-page, New York, price 50 cents a year.

The Chautauquan for January (Meadville, Pa.) has an excellent variety of papers. Russian, Scandinavian and English history, Sunday readings, education for and against caste, home life in Germany and tales from Shakespeare, are some of the titles: Price 20 cents.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine, February number, has its usual manifold attractions—literary and artistic. Among the prominent articles are: "Whispers," by the editor, Rev. T. DeWitt Talmedge; a continuation of Do Leon's "The American Pilgrim in Palestine;" a continuation of "Religious Denominations in the United States—What is Congregationalism?" by Rev. Dr. Tarbox; Alfreton Harvey treats of Beethoven. In the department of fiction, "Justice Warren's Daughter" and "Weighed and Wanting," are continued, and other popular writers contribute short stories, sketches, essays, etc. There are some excellent poems, many of them beautifully illustrated, and in the Home Pulpit a sermon by Dr. Talmage, "Hospitality." We can only refer generally to the abundance good things in this number, which is elaborately embellished. Single copies 25 [illegible]; $3 a year postpaid. E. T. Lewis, of St. Landry, is the Democratic nominee for Congress, Sixth Louisiana District, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Gen. A. S. Herron. Gen. T. C. Anderson, also of St. Landry, will receive the Republican vote of the district, and is by far the best qualified by reason of extended political experience to serve Louisiana interests in Congress. While so much needs to be done to protect the sugar industry it is unwise to make experiments with new and untried men. From an independant standpoint this objection will be urged against Mr. Lewis, whose Democracy will not be disputed.

A New Volume.

With the first number in January, Littell's Living Age enters upon its one hundred and fifty-sixth volume. The field of periodical literature, especially in England, is continually breadening, and including more and more the work of the foremost authors in all branches of literature and science. Presenting, in compact and convenient form, all that is most valuable of this work, The Living Age becomes more a necessity to the American reader. The first weekly number of the new volume and new year—a convenient one with which to begin a subscription—has the following table of contents:—Miss Burney's Novels, Contemporary Review; Au Pair, Temple Bar; Peasant Properties in Auvergne, Contemporary; The Story of L. E. L., Gentleman's Magazine; Poor Matthias, by Matthew Arnold, Macmillan; The Ladies Lindores, Blackwood; Gainsborough's Letters to William Jackson, Leisure Hour; In an Inn Garden, Temple Bar; with poetry and miscellany. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages (more than 3,300 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4.00 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

KIDNEY-WORT HAS BEEN PROVED The SUREST CURE for KIDNEY DISEASES. [illegible]

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible. If disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth, cause headache or constipation, and is positively not injurious.

Saved his Child.

17 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md. Feb. 12, 1880.

Gents:—Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried BROWN'S IRON BITTERS as a tonic and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, she began to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A fifth daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said "Tonics were required;" and when informed that the elder sister was taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, responded "that is a good tonic, take it."

ADORAM PHELPS.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS effectually cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such wasting diseases as Consumption, Kidney Complaints, etc.

An Incident in High Life.

The man in the Moon who sails in the skies
Is a most courageous skipper;
But he made a mistake
When he tried to take
A drink of milk from the Dipper.
He dipped it into the Milky Way,
And slowly, cautiously filled it,
But the Little Bear growled,
And the Great Bear howled,
And frightened him so he spilled it.

The Habit of Saving.

Children who have a little money ought to practice saving something. Many boys and girls of to-day hardly know a higher use for any money that comes into their hands than spending it for some foolish thing as quickly as possible. To such a lesson in self-denial and economy is very important. As go the boy's pennies and dimes, so, very likely, will go the man's dollars and hundreds by and by. Without having the spirit of a miser, the person accustomed to save has more pleasure in laying up than a spendthrift ever knows. The way to keep money is to earn it fairly and honestly. Money so obtained is pretty certain to abide with its possessor. But money that is inherited, or that in any way comes without a fair and just equivalent, is almost certain to go as it came. The young man who begins by saving a few dollars a month and thriftily increases his store—every coin being a representative of good solid work, honestly and manfully done—stands a better chance to spend the last half of his life in affluence and comfort, than he who in his haste to become rich, obtains money by dashing speculations, or the devious means which ... in the foggy region lying ... dealing, and actual ... among the wisest and ... men of wealth, the ... is, money goes as ... A Strange Reminiscence.

The Escape of a Well known ex-Army Surgeon from an Unforeseen Danger.

[Baltimore American.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: I seldom appear publicly in print, but the facts connected with my experience which follow are so striking, and bear so closely upon the experience of others, that I venture to reproduce them entire:

In the month of September, 1879, I was practicing medicine in New Orleans. The summer had been excessively hot and everybody was complaining of being exhausted and feeling tired. It was not an infrequent occurrence to have patients ask for something to relieve this weary sensation, and that I should also partake of the same universal lassitude or weakness, did not alarm me. I supposed that over-work and exposure had produced a temporary physical prostration; therefore I made a trip to St. Paul, Minn., thinking that a rest of a few weeks in a cooler climate would soon reinvigorate me. Little did I dream, however what was in store for me. After getting settled in my new quarters I took a short walk every day, and patiently awaited a return of strength, but in spite of all my efforts I seemed to be losing strength and even any slight exercise became laborious and tiresome. During this time I had frequent dull aching pains in my head, and through my back and hips, occasional shooting pains in various parts of the body, with soreness, shortness of breath, and palpitation of the heart. My feet and hands would be like ice one day, and burn with heat the next. I had no desire for food, and what I did eat distressed me; my sleep became disturbed with the frequent desire to urinate. The quantity of fluid passed would at one time be small and at another quite profuse. Then for days I would be perfectly free from this desire and nothing seemed to be the matter; nevertheless my debility gradually increased. My eyelids were puffed out; my bowels were alternately torpid and too active, the urine would be clear some days, on others it would be of high color and deposit a brick-dust sediment; and at still others there would be a whitish appearance and a thin greasy scum would rise to the top. The pains in my head, back, chest, joints, bowels and bones were horible in the extreme. I went in vain from place to place and consulted the best medical authorities the country affords; I would have a chill one day and a burning fever the next. I suffered excruciatingly with a numbness of my feet and hands, and at the base of the brain and between my shoulders; at times my limbs and body would bloat and physicians said I was suffering from the dropsy and could not recover.

How I could be so blind to the terrible trouble that was devouring me. I do not know; but there are thousands to-day who are suffering from the same cause and are as ignorant of its nature as I was. My skin was the color of marble at one time, and then again it would be like saffron, and this terrible restlessness, and I might say wildness, was followed by a dull, heavy, drowsy sensation. I was wasted to a mere skeleton except when the dropsical bloat occurred. I tried all the celebrated mineral waters of this country and Europe; all kinds of medicine and all kinds of doctors. Still no help came. I lay at my hotel in Philadelphia, where I was temporarily sojourning, given up to die by my friends and physicians alike, when there providentially came into my hands a little pamphlet, which I carefully read and from which I got a view of my real condition, which no other agency had revealed. Acting on its advice, I had my water analyzed at once, and to my surprise, albumen and tube casts were found in large quantities. He said I had Bright's Disease, and that death was certain. My friends importuned me to take a remedy which had won a great reputation for the cure of all forms of kidney diseases, and I therefore laid aside my prejudice and commenced its use. At first my stomach rejected it and I had to use small quantities; but after the first five days my stomach retained full doses. This was one year ago last October, and my improvement was rapid and permanent. I have regained 50 of the 65 pounds of flesh I lost during my illness, and I feel as well to-day as I ever did, and I can unreservedly state that my life was saved by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the remedy I used.

It may seem strange that I, being a physician and an ex-army surgeon, did not have the water analyzed before; but such is the fact. I had the symptoms of every other disease, and I did not suspect that my kidneys were in the least particular out of order; and here is just where I was in the greatest danger, and where most people who read this article are in danger. I find that I am only one of thousands who are suffering from kidney disorders, which, neglected, surely terminate in Bright's disease. I also know that physicians may treat these disorders for months without knowing clearly what the trouble is, and even after ascertaining the cause, be unable to prevent it. When death, however, finally overtakes the helpless victim they disguise its real cause, attributing it to heart disease, convulsions, apoplexy, vertigo, paralysis, spinal meningetis, blood and uremic poisoning, etc., etc.

Words, of course, fail to express my thanks to H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., for giving the world such a needed and certain specific as the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, but such as they are I ... give them; while to the ... whom I have lectured ... of health and ... cordially, and warn them to beware of the insidious nature of a disease over which physicians confess they have no control and which in one form or another, is carrying more people to untimely graves than any other malady.

MOTHERS READ.

GENTS:—About nine years ago I had a child two years old and almost dead. The doctor I had attending her could not tell what ailed her. I asked him if he did not think it was worms. He said no. However, this did not satisfy me, as I felt convinced in my own mind that she had. I obtained a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE (genuine). I gave her a teaspoonful in the morning and another at night, after which she passed seventy-two worms and was a well child. Since then I have never been without it in my family. The health of my children remained so good that I had neglected watching their actions until about three weeks ago, when two of them presented the same sickly appearance that Funny did nine years ago. So I thought it must be worms, and went to work at once with a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE between four of my children, their ages being as follows: Alice, 8 years; Charley, 4 years; Emma, 6 years; John, 9 years. Now comes the result: Alice and Emma came out all right, but Charley passed forty-five and Johnny about sixty worms. The result was so gratifying that I spent two days in showing the wonderful effect of your Vermifuge around Utica, and now have the worms on exhibition in my store.

Yours truly, JOHN PIPER.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER.

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies —AND— REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION

By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. The few songs and melodies first introduced and sung by the "Jubilee Singers" and "Tennesseeans" were every where received with enthusiastic applause, and soon attained immense popularity. They are now familiar to almost every one, and have created an earnest and very general desire that every song and melody which has been popular among the negroes of the South during their days of slavery should be gathered together and published in a form and style which would give them the widest circulation and insure their preservation. This wide-felt want is now supplied in this complete and valuable collection, which comprises the best of the many variations of these songs and melodies, giving all that have seemed worthy of preservation. The author, Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., who is presiding elder of the Ohio District of the Lexington Conference, is peculiarly well qualified for the preparation of a work of this kind, requiring as it does, a thorough knowledge of the subject, good judgment and much careful, painstaking labor; and the thorough and systematic manner in which the work has been completed, leaves nothing to be desired. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. They include, therefore, very many songs entirely new which are as meritorious as those so well known, and which will probably become equally popular. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. Read the few following testimonials:

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley.

"Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley.

"It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust.

"We take pleasure in giving to this timely publication our hearty commendation."—Dr. F. S. Hoyt.

"It is just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel.

"I most heartily commend it as brimful of the plaintive, quaint melody and song spirit, or which our race is so truly celebrated."—Rev. Daniel Jones.

is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

The Housekeeper.

Look after the false hair! The Lancet calls attention to the danger of the trade in false hair. It seems that the demand exceeds the supply. Europeans will not sell their hair, or have not enough to sell. Dealers, therefore, go for the material to Asia Minor, China and Japan. But the hair to be had there is mostly black, and to fit it for the Western market it is first boiled in dilute nitric acid to deprive it of its natural color, and it is then dyed to suit the fashion of the time. This operation has been found to give rise to severe coughs, bronchitis, and other complaints, as the workmen breathe the nitrous vapors which escape from the caldrons. The Lancet strongly objects to hair-dressers indulging in amateur dabbling with dangerous chemicals, especially nitric acid.

A GOOD PUDDING.—For a simple and good pudding take two cups of finely-grated bread crumbs, six apples, or half a can of canned apples, four eggs, one cup of sugar, a little nutmeg grated and a little lemon peel; steam this in a pudding dish for an hour and a half, having first moistened the bread crumbs with warm water; serve with a sauce of sweetened cream or flour, butter and sugar, mixed in proportion of two spoonfuls of flour to one of butter and two of sugar; beat these together, and add boiling water until the sauce is of the proper thickness; flavor with nutmeg and lemon.

TEA CAKE.—Beat two eggs in a teacup, fill the cup with sweet milk, add one cup sugar, ten even teaspoonfuls melted butter, one and three-fourths cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. This is the most reliable, easily made and accommodating of cakes. Delicious baked in layers and spread with jelly, chocolate, icing or cream. May be baked in a loaf or small patty pans, and served warm for tea.

We should educate men as men; not for business, not for professions, not for opportunities, mainly, but should educate them to be men—that is to say, should develop every power and faculty—intellectual, moral and physical—that they may, thus prepared, be able to turn their hand to anything, and find their education, not a shining blade without a handle, but a good tool held in the firm grip of character.—Dr. Bellows.

A WONDERFUL And SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

THE REIGN OF CHRIST.

There's a light from the cross! There's a light from the world!
It is flooding the earth with the joy of the Lord!
And hearts that were aching
In darkness, and breaking,
Are chanting his praises in blissful accord.

Bow down, eastern mountains! The Savior has come!
And sing, O ye fountains, in every wide zone!
To every dark nation
The glad proclamation
Is offering welcome and pardon and home!

Ay! crumble to dust in your temples of gold,
Ye idols so ancient and stony and cold,
The people are yearning
For comfort, and learning
The best, sweetest story that ever was told.

There's a light from the cross! There's a light from the world!
And the kingdoms of earth are the realms of our Lord!
O Savior victorious,
So tender, so glorious!
We praise thee, we bless thee, in reverent accord!

What I Know About a Color Line in the M. E. Church.

BY MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D. D.

"Forasmuch as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us," touching the "color line," therefore harken to me—I will answer. I will also show mine opinion. Though like Elihu, the Buzite, we are young, and those who have previously spoken are old, not so much in years as in the depth and breath of their rich culture, still we think it meet "to set forth in order" our views on this subject.

DEFINITIONS.

By "color line," is meant the doctrine or teaching of aversion to a certain race because of its color, the accident of its station and the mean birth of part or all of its members. No such doctrine as this is taught in the M. E. Church, in which I have been able to make personal observations; nor is any such law in its statistics. Society is naturally divided into good and bad, clean and unclean, intelligent and ignorant, rich and poor, virtuous and vicious, Christian and Pagan. I use the word pagan in the stead of common unbelievers. The former types of character are always included in the Christian, and the latter in the pagan. The former associate themselves together for missionary efforts among the latter grade of society. These two classes of course have nothing in common with each other except moral responsibility and immortality. When they come in contact with each other they therefore evidence their several qualities in such a marked degree as to bring the pure and vile into the clearest contrast. This makes separate stations for the inculcation of the higher characteristics mutually agreeable if not positively desirable. But when, [illegible]tics are inculcated and lapse [illegible]ciple and practice, than there is a mutual admiration and attraction for each other; intelligent Christianity being the magnet which universally attracts men together for all philanthropic purposes, and [illegible] good, and thus elevate them to positions of social dignity. That their efforts were directed to the colored people at all with this great object in view is prima facie evidence of the intent to lift such of them as shall be purified into these higher associations. This theory resolves itself into practice in that region where I have had liberty to observe; and that has been no pent-up Utica either, as will appear from the instances cited below. Of course that class, which is finally incorrigible, will not come into prominent and favored association. I cannot see why some very dirty people, in person and manner, or charctor, should expect to be regarded as fit and welcomed associates for those who try to "cleanse themselves from all filthiness of flesh and spirit," no matter in what hue their complexion may be traced. Bro. King may write his very silly card; Drs. Spence and Fuller may defend and justify his silliness with words, logic and assumptions still more silly. Bro. Lansing may retort upon the whole Southern work, and Dr. Curry answer by saying to the whole church North of the old slave line, you're another, giving a rasp at the eyes of the "Great Official," as he passes. But they do no more than stir up otherwise placid waters of Christianity upon which we have been calmly sailing—ere long to behold their pebble of discord sink feebly to the bottom and close out of human sight and mind, leaving the great work of God for humanity to proceed as before in the hand of the M. E. church, His annointed instrument. I shall give my promised observations here, and with them prove that it is not a "color" but a character line, which exists in the M. E. church. I have preached in Trinity M. E. church, Madison, Indiana, and sat beside Rev. L. G. Adkinson, its accomplished and popular pastor in the pulpit. I preached at one time in Trinity M. E. church, Cincinnati, and at another time participated in a memorial service to Bishop Gilbert Haven, held there, in which, with Bishop Wiley, Drs. Rust and Hoyt, I read a tribute to the great and almost peerless dead. I was invited to dine with its pastor, Rev. Dr. D. H. Moore, and also pressed with my family to attend a social meeting of the alumna of Wesleyan College, Cincinnati, Ohio. I preached in Finley Chapel, M. E. church, Cincinnati, sitting with pastor, Rev. C.W. Rishall, in the pulpit. I have been frequently invited to participate in various services at St. Paul's, and was a welcome visitor at the parsonage in the days of the pastorate of the saintly Dr. Ridgaway. Under the present pastor, Dr. Joyce, in the great Harrison revival last winter, colored seekers were at the altar, mixed indiscriminately with the whites without the slightest public expression of dissatisfaction on the part of any one in the vast sea of humanity, which thronged that church for many weeks successively. From Wesley Chapel, the mother church of Cincinnati, Methodism, I have received frequent invitations to assist in various services. There has in that church always been more or less colored members, of whom Mrs. Col. Robert Harlan, one of the wealthiest colored ladies in Cincinnati, claims to be one. I have been cordially and freely received both in the home and office of our exalted and revered friend, Dr. Rust, and I know others whose hearts have made to leap into nobler aims because of the kindness exhibited toward them by that princess of good women, Mrs. Dr. Rust, within her own domicile and in her own splendid parlor. I have represented the Book Concern both in New York and Cincinnati, on several occasions of importance where considera[illegible] of money were involved, and have dealt with it for myself and others to the extent of thousands of dollars. Through all these transactions, though brought into close contact with every class of employees and with all departments, I have never discovered the slightest departure from the manner of meeting and dealing common [illegible] Christian gentlemen and [illegible] except that I have thought [illegible] there was more considera[illegible] given me than I deserved at [illegible] I am [illegible] been [illegible] of [illegible] orarily called to preside over its deliberations. I have spoken in Greenup street M. E. Church, Covington, Ky.; also at Maysville and Vanceburg, in Kentucky. I have been invited to dine with the pastors at Maysville, Ky., and Aberdeen, Ohio; and also to preach at the latter place. I have preached in the M. E. churches at Laurel and at Batavia, Clermont county, Ohio; was sought for the pastorate of a white charge at Shiloh, Ohio. I have preached in white churches in Troy, Ohio. Rev. M. A. Richards, pastor, Springfield; Rev. T. J. Harris, and also invited to dine at the parsonages represented; I was also invited to Central church, Springfield, and dined with the Rev. Jos. Courtney and H. Cardozonie, the guests of Dr. C.W. Ketchum, the pastor and family. I preached at the M. E. church at Galion and was invited, but declined to preach at the First M. E. church at Cleveland and Oberlin, O., though the appointment at the First church was filled by that eminently pious man, Rev. Geo. W. Dowing, who was a colored minister. I have preached in the Sixth street M. E. church, Portsmouth, Ohio, under the pastorate of the genial Dr. Wallace, and enjoyed the kindliest consideration with many favors, and invitations from Rev. Frank G. Mitchell, of Ripley, O. Rev. J. S. Payne, when in Cincinnati May, 1880, was escorted by Rev. J. N. Irvin from his hotel to the residence of the latter. Leaning upon his arm—Irvin's—he was supported from the carriage to the house, tead, and then in the same style returned to Trinity M. E. church, one of the finest houses and most respectable congregations in this country, of which Bro. Irvin now in Europe, was then the honored pastor; here the Rev. and Hon. J. S. Payne preached; no one thinking of his color, except perhaps to admire his race, because it could produce such a man under the circumstances by which it had been surrounded. I preached at Fletcher Place M. E. church, Indianapolis, Ind.; Rev. J. S. Tevis, pastor, sitting in the pulpit at the same time, afterward was invited to dine at the parsonage. Under the pastorate of Rev. Geo. D. Watson, at Meridian street M. E. church, I was invited to speak but declined, as I have been compelled to do in scores of other cases. I was pressed by the Rev. W. W. Case to be his guest at Akron, O., and to especially visit and preach to his congregation, one of the best in northern Ohio. Dr. Case has since been appointed P. E. of that district—hence, his act has been officially approved. Nothing is more common in my ministrations on the Ohio district, of which I am at present presiding elder, than to find white people of the first grade at almost every communion service, and partaking of the elements. I have given the sacrament to thousands of them, both ministers and honorable laymen, and women of our church. I have assisted in doing the same in white churches of our connection in this region, and had charge of Bro. Pollard's church at Vanceburg, Ky., one entire Sabbath in his absence. The First M. E. church, Oberlin, Ohio, has a colored class-leader and many colored members, though the latter is to be expected of Oberlin, where colored churches are at a discount, and our colored congregation was determinedly opposed as an innovator; but it was not so for the reason that a large body of colored people from the South after the war, made a separate congregation necessary until they could by this means, as a training school, be prepared for that indiscriminate mingling which has ever been popular there. It is very common for colored and white people to worship as members of our church on the Western Reserve together. I have preached in Drummond Chapel at the birthplace of Bishop Simpson, and in all that region have preached in our white churches; at Mount Pleasant, Ohio, which church has been transferred to our conference, it formerly belonged to the Ohio conference, the white mem-bers, who remain, still worship, though the Rev. W. H. Brown, a colored man, is its pastor, and the bulk of the congregation is colored. At Martin's Ferry and Bridgeport, O, I have commonly occupied the white churches by request, and the colored and white congregations [illegible] unite in the [illegible] quarterly [illegible] when I do the pre[illegible] [illegible] M. [illegible] of Cramer [illegible] has repeatedly invited us to his parsonage and pulpit, as have others of our pastors and people of that city. These citations can be continued almost indefinitely; surely they are relevant to the case, and are of value as indications of public sentiment in these parts, on this subject in the M. E. church. I have been entertained in the homes of many eminent members of our church and have been present where those of our most esteemed brethren have accepted the hospitality of their colored brethren. Bishop Wiley has been the honored guest of colored members of our church in Baltimore, Md., and Louisville, Ky., Jeffersonville and Connersville, Indiana. Dr. Hoyt, editor of the Western sat down with the pastor of the Ninth street M. E. church, Covington, Ky., his wife, daughter and the writer at the house of one of the members, after an excellent sermon by the Doctor at the morning service. I knew Bishop Simpson to once have an invitation to dine with one of our ministers which it was impossible for him to accept, and such was his concern about it that he has asked the writer's counsel as to the best method of declining without having his purposes misunderstood and his actions misinterpreted by either colored or white persons in the community. In making New Year's calls a few years since Dr. Hight, assistant editor of the Western, left his card with the lady of our house. Dr. Braden has found it convenient to break bread with us there. And the Rev. J. B. Tope, of Birmingham, Ala., when visiting here in the interest of the First M. E. Church at that place, of which Bro. King is pastor, was more than once our guest at home both in parlor and at the table. We gave him a most hearty welcome, not more for his own than for his work's sake. And we gave also our little mite to aid the noble cause he represented.

So it will be seen we have a direct interest in that badly eminent church.

Once I was tendered an assistant's place by the Secretary of the Freedman's Aid Society, and was also so frequently asked to visit the conferences in its interest, but these offers have been uniformly declined, for two reasons: 1st. I prefer the work in which I am now engaged—that is, the pastorate—to any other work in the church. God called me to be a pastor. 2nd. To make a successful pastorate I had not the time to make the desired visits, though in the best of causes, and at the request of the grandest of men. I only speak of these things to show that while much was said against the M. E. Church because colored men were not in such positions that the blame was not her's, but their's; at least I am to blame, for I could have occupied such. So is Dr. Revels, for he was editor of a paper and did not stay there. But the church is clear; she has not only provided for the elevation of colored men to places of both honor and profit, but she has formally installed them in these dignified positions. Instance: Bro. Albert, assistant editor of the SOUTHWESTREN ADVOCATE, New Orleans. If she has tolerated for a time that which she could not remove, it was only Hercules bending for a mighty effort which should utterly sweep the impediment away later. The great M. E. Church has stooped to conquer before, and may again, but do what she will I shall love and be true to to her still.

Suppose the "color line," as defined above, did exist, what should the colored people of the M. E. Church do? Go to the A. M. E. Church? Never! How would that improve the case? The "color line" exists in a more hateful and less excusable form in the A. M. E. Church than that in which it is said to exist in ours. A color-caste reaching to the home, taking its grades upwards from deepest black to faintest octoroon; often interferring with the family relations. It will be full time for us to think of the A. M. E. Church as an asylum from color-caste when it ceases itself to be the most brazen monument of color-caste in the whole world. It cannot thus cease to be and exist at all as a distinct church for American Africans. [illegible] there would be to go from [illegible] to a more intense and vi[illegible] of the disease; and i[illegible] a dog t[illegible] No; ou[illegible] [illegible] myse[illegible] intellige[illegible]

Tanner is dealing strong, steady and heroic blows to do. He fights, truly fights against heavy odds there, as it is said we do here. But he there and we here will as surely succeed as that we have our quarrel just. If we have any quarrel here at all and only when it is, for justice we contend, and not then unless the contention is in a lawful manner. Would it help us to turn to the Colored M. E. Church in America for relief? There caste has intrenched itself, and every step in that direction would bring us closer to an unmistakable "color line" and prove to be a positive retrogression. What has been said of the two colored churches named, is equally true of all that could be named, and the talk with which their adherents boast of race pride, self-assertion, freedom, manhood, and patriotism, is but another form of demanding, asserting and upholding color-caste and the

COLOR LINE.

And thus strengthning the hands of our foes by placing arguments in their mouths against inter race mixture for moral, and mental development. If we should not unite with either of the colored churches to avoid this alleged color prejudice of certain members of the M. E. Church, should we organize one district from all others? As for that it would at once become a caste church, and in violation of the very principle for which we have all along contended. The least we could say of such a course, is that it would be fighting fire with fire. But by thus acting, we loose the image of Christ and become schismatic beside; the ultimate object of which we are in pursuit, as members of the M. E. Church, is not a social felicity that has its goal in a seat in some pew with white people. This does no harm and is well enough in its way. But there are other things equally desirable, and far more important. We need inter race confidence, and cooperation in our efforts for educational and moral elevation; they will come only as a result of it. These we have secured by our membership in the M. E. Church. And we can not afford to put their retention in peril by rendering the church doubtful of our continuation in that relation, by any disloyal expressions. Whenever we have grievances, there will be found within the church a remedy for them. The colored people in our church and out of it, will have "to labor and to wait." We are going on finely in the right direction, we must guard against every thing that would urge us beyond our strength. Only a few days since I was denied the pleasure of the company, for dinner at my residence, of Rev. John Holliday of the A. M. E. Zion Church, stationed at Pittsburg, Pa., and visiting Cincinnati, Dr. Brown, the learned president of Wesleyan College, demanding him for the same purpose as an old friend and an honored acquaintance. These straws indicate the trend of our denominational wind. At Mechanicsburg in this state, Rev. J. W. Cassatt, the pastor, informed me that a majority of his church would favor colored people worshipping in their homes with the whites. I was invited there to preach, and to the parsonage for dinner Sunday, Jan. 7th. They used to have colored members there who finally united with the A. M. E. Church, and two of them in extreme old age and indigence, are still supported by the members of the white, those of the A. M. E. Church being unable to do it I suppose. I was told by the Rev. Dr. Tower of Oregon University, that he had taken many a meal with a most respectable colored member of a former charge he held in that state. He also gave it, as his opinion, the statement made by Dr Curry in the Western of Jan. 3d, 1883, as to the state of feeling in a certain church whereof he, Dr. Tower, had once been pastor, could not be verified by the facts. Knowing Dr. Curry as I do, and to know is to love him, my knowledge of him assures me that what he says he believes. But it is only a belief, and may after all be a mistaken belief. If it is true, it makes no difference, we are in the M. E. Chu[illegible] stay. We shall wait unti[illegible] occasion comes, and then [illegible]rs within the church, [illegible] and by its laws, [illegible]ecure what ever [illegible]led to by law as [illegible]riotism means [illegible]ests and an [illegible]f the white [illegible]verywhere.

And in this direction the colored had just as well move first as the white. I have in many instances been pressed forward into social and official prominence among men, eminent alike for their piety, talent, and wealth, modesty has compelled me in a great many instances to decline them, others were accepted only for the sake of the cause. But these things go to show that it is the want of suitable character and not color which impedes us. Therefore if any one should meet with difficulties in securing social desires, it would be well for such to look to an improved moral, financial and intellectual character, as the surest means of surmounting them.

The Bible Itself.

The American Bible Society has rently undertaken the fourth general supply of the United States with the Holy Scriptures. In an address to the people of the United States the Board of Managers urge powerful motives to this work in the following language: "Patriotism demands it for the preservation of the liberty, union, and Government of this Republic, which owes its existence and prosperity to the open Bible and tolerant Christianity. Humanity requires it lest the ignorant, neglected, ungodly and degraded multitudes lapse into barbarism, and fill the land with disorder, vice, and crime. Society needs it to purify its fountains and its streams; to protect the family and the community; to keep the public morals from decay, and to prevent the physical and spiritual deterioration that is the certain penalty of the broken laws of nature and of God. The time is propitious. The country is at peace, united, and prosperous. It is a transition period, a juncture of eras, in which Providence seems to be preparing our country and the world for a future whose portents already weigh upon our wisest and best men, as "the burden of the Lord" rested upon the prophets. The blessing that we seek for this great nation is the Bible for every family and every person who will receive it; the open Bible, "without note or comment," in the languages of the people, and accompanied by the promised power of the Holy Spirit, who has revealed, inspired, and preserved it; the Bible itself, in answer to the assaults made upon it; the Bible as the divine charter of our liberties, the anchor of our hope, and the testimony of our faith.

The Bible, without note or comment, is the mighty evangelizing agent upon which we must rely. Personal consciousness, personal observation, human history, and the Divine declaration all unite in supporting this truth. The absurdity of the attempt to evangelize society without God's revelation lies upon the very surface. True evangelization aims to bring in the blessed era of the supreme love of God, and the sincere love of our neighbor. This can only be accomplished by the Bible itself, the living word of God brought into the individual experience of souls. Other printed books have their place. Treatises on philosophy, astronomy, chemistry, and geology may, and no doubt do, contribute much toward the enlargement of mind, increasing our enjoyment, and in many respects our usefulness. But the study of mere science does not necessarily tend to the purification of the individual conscience. Another class of facts must be introduced, and these facts are made known to us only in God's word.

What higher duty can be imposed than to distribute that book? Here man's relation to his Maker is disclosed, his relation to his associates, his obligation to love Christ, his natural impurity and helplessness, the certainty of ultimate rewards and punishments, the ability and willingness of Christ to save. The knowledge of these things cannot be dispensed with; in this sense we cannot speak of human kowledge as necessary.

We, therefore, bid every Bible distributor Godspeed! Surely, if there is a Christian worker upon whom the smile of God shall rest, he is that chosen one. His quiet, onward way is the highway of the Lord. The truth he deposits in the homes carries in itself an indestructible germ of life; it is quick and powerful; it is, by the energy of the Holy Ghost, adapted to awaken the conscience, to pierce the diseased members of unholy natures in such a manner that genuine repentance will follow.

Missionary Concert Notes—February, 1883.

SUBJECT—What the Church at Home can do for Missions abroad.—The Mexico Mission.

(It will be seen that the subject here given corresponds to that suggested in the Berean Question Book for the Sunday-school monthly Missionary meeting. It is well to bring this and the church prayer meetings for missions on the same Sunday. The same subject might then be treated in church and Sunday-school.)

I. THE CHURCH WORK AT HOME FOR MISSIONS ABROAD.

This is an interesting and profitable theme for remark and illustration in the meeting. We merely outline some thoughts. (1) Study of the different mission fields through all sources of information accessible. The work is worth the study and without that it cannot be appreciated. Effect of this study upon the liberality of the people. (2) Cultivate a spirit of personal sympathy for the missionaries in their labors, difficulties and successes. (3) Work of the pastor and missionary commiitee of each church in diffusing intelligence and stimulating an interest in the subject. Disc. p. 270. (4) The Sunday-school can be alive with the missionary spirit. The monthly missionary Sunday will vary the exercises of the school in a pleasing and profitable manner. The children educated to sympathy and liberality. Disc. p. 265. (5) The church can be regular and increasingly liberal in its contributions to missions. Regular, that there may be no necessity for retrenchment; increasingly liberal, because opportunities for expansion are growing beyond all measure in these days. The whole heathen world is asking for more light. (6) With so much support at home, above all definite prayer for the different mission fields and forms of work. Recall the subject ("prayer") of last month. This is all important. (7) With a spirit of study and prayer for missions on the part of both pastor and people the monthly Missionary Concert for the Church can be easily maintained, and will be of increasing interest. Disc. p. 274. Once a month is none too often to consider particularly and earnestly the way and means of effecting the conquest of the world (two-thirds or three-fourths of it being yet non-christian) for Christ. Different individuals can be appointed to inform themselves throughout the year such about a particular field, being thus ready to communicate facts to the church. (8) Culture in the local church on the subject of missions can be well supplemented by district meetings, co-operative platform meetings, annually or quarterly, and by the special effort of the presiding elders.

1. The vigorous prosecution of railroad enterprises in Mexico imposes upon the Church increased obligation to the Mission. Naturally, we are brought into closer communication; within and just beyond the field of our Mission new places are thus made readily accessible. The Central road, under the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Company, has made great progress at both ends of the line from Mexico City to El Paso del Norte. This line passes through Queretaro, has a short branch to Guanajuato and passes through Leon, our outpost in that direction. The Sonora Company is rapidly extending its line to Puebla, one of our chief stations. The National Construction Company has pushed its road from the Rio Grande as far as Monterey and, in the heart of the country, from Mexico to Toluca. Other companies have more than fulfilled their contract with the Government. The late message of President Gonzales says there are over 3,000 kilometres (the kilometre being about ⅝ of a mile) of railroad in operation. The message referred to also m[illegible] a general exhibit of pro[illegible]y. There are nearly 10,0[illegible] telegraph lines. The average receipts of the Government during ten years, from 1867 to 1877, were $17,000,000. They reached $24,000,000 from 1878 to 1881; but during the year ending with June 30, 1882, the receipts were $30,000,000. There are important schemes proposed for a National Bureau of Agriculture, a Bureau of Mining, etc., and altogether the prospects of the Republic were never so hopeful.

2. The territory occupied by our Mission will be found clearly exhibited in the Annual Report for 1881 (see pp. 217-218). See also there, on page 217, a full statement of the difficulties in the way of our work. Such difficulties in case of all mission fields should be well understood and engage the special sympathy and prayers of the church.

2. The Present state of the Mission is exhibited in the forthcoming Annual Report, a portion of which is here given.

Rev. C. W. Drees, the Superintendent of the Mission says: "That the Mexican church is developing the elements of devotion, self-sacrifice and self dependence, is placed beyond doubt by the fact that its contributions for self support, that is, the pastors support and current expenses of worship, during the year have aggregated $1,119 97, while the collections for all purposes and from all sources, apart from the appropriations of the Missionary Society, have reached the sum of $3937 43.

"A fuller statement of individual labors than can be here given would show to the praise of grace divine, that nearly all the laborers raised up in Mexico to share in the work are giving clear evidence that their calling is of God and not of men, that they are developing devotion, activity and capacities which will enable them to make full proof of their ministry.

"The Mission Press.—The year past has witnessed great improvement in the financial condition of our Mission press. At the same time the influence of our publications is rapidly extending. Of the year's work in this department Rev. J. W Butler, agent, says: "The statistics show that we have issued four books, and ten volumes of periodicals and tracts. The circulation of our paper, El Abogado Crestiano, has now reached two thousand five hundred monthly. With the aid of the advertising department, this publication will this year pay all its expenses. The total number of pages issued the past year is 2,460,545. Special mention should be made of the completion of our new hymn book without music. This supplies a long felt want in our mission. By the aid received from Christian friends in England and the United States our committee has been able to fix the retail price of the book within reach of the poor.

Early in the year we published 5,000 copies of a translation of Mr. Moody's excellent little work on "Heaven." The cost of this publication was provided for by a Christian merchant of Boston, member of a sister church. He was converted through Mr. Moody's instrumentality. Already we have circulated 3,000 copies of the edition, and from many quarters we hear of the good work it is accomplishing. Among other publications of the year are, the Methodist Discipline, a large edition of Rev. Wm. Arthur's tract, "Free, Full and Present Salvation," a Methodist almanac and calendar.

Mexico City.—Rev. J. W. Butler reports in part as follows from the capital: "I am glad to add that inquiries after the truth are many. Even here, in this City of Mexico, where the novelty of a new religion has somewhat abated, we have constant visits from those who wish to learn something about this new way. Three days since a young man called and inquired for the 'Bishop.' I told him we had no Bishop at present in Mexico. He then replied that he was looking for the person in charge of the 'temple.' I led him into my study, and found that he was a medical student in the government school. He said that he had often passed by the Protestant churches and felt drawn towards them, but had never had courage enough to go in. A most interesting conversation ensued. He left me with the promise to attend our services."

"On a recent Sabbath morning I received a call from a young man, who proved to be a school teacher in a small town some twenty miles from the city. From some friend Truthfulness.

The Bible describes the useful, healthy Christian as an "olive tree." The most striking feature of the olive was its fixed habits of yielding fruits. "The tough generous old tree bore olive-berries with all its might;" whether on rich bottoms or upon some rocky cliffs—the same beautiful and bountiful crops come, always prompt and on time. This is no fancy sketch. A real Christian has the habit of loving God with all his heart and his neighbor as himself. It is his way. We can count on him for a favor, for a gift, for a prayer, for a visit to the sick and needy, for a helping hand in any good cause just as confidently as we go to the olive tree for fruit in its season. Is he rich, he gives Christ the key of his safe, so it is never locked when the Master sends or calls for a donation. In serving Jesus some who have more propriety than grace frequently tell us not to put too many irons in the fire. He knows nothing of this policy; his way is to clap in tongs, shovel, poker, iron and all. The more he gets in, the better he feels, the faster he grows, and the stronger he becomes. There is just now need of men who abound in alms, deeds, kind words, Bible giving, ministrations of mercy, beside sick beds, in drunkard's houses, in pauper hovels and garrets; who drop their benign influences on the bleakest spots sin ever cursed, who love to do good and somehow cannot help chafing and worrying if they are kept from doing good. We must acquire on earth that character that will fit us for the "new song" and the worship of the heavenly hosts.

The Abolition of High Schools.

Not content with the impoverishment of the public school system, by depriving it of an executive and intelligent adviser, in the office of State Superintendent, the foes of the schools in Louisiana, are now preparing the public mind for the abolition of the high schools. This may be an object desired by the institutions of learning of the Roman Catholic church, and by others who believe the education of the negro will unfit him for his proper sphere, but none can truthfully say that it is demanded by the popular will or any correct principle of economy or reform. It is another proposed abuse of the ill-gotten powers of the minority now in possession of the State government.

The Philadelphia Inquirer recently referred to the high school question, as follows:

No American journal is more ready than The Inquirer to admit that the cramming policy is carried to undue lengths in the public schools, but the text book worshipers are not the only persons who have a false idea of what a popular system of education really should be. Those who honestly believe that high schools should be abolished and that only the simplest elementary instruction should be furnished by State or municipal governments are not few. Well meant, as it undoubtedly is, their recommendation should be disregarded. The high school is essentially a Democratic institution. Its existence enables the children of the poor to enjoy educational advantages of great value, and its abolition would help to raise an unrepublican barrier between poverty and wealth. The ... High School of Philadelphia is an institution of which we ... well be proud, and its loss would be severely felt. A poor boy who strives to take a college course can only do so by performing an ... labor, independent of his studies. His constitution may be unable to bear the strain, and ... is then forced to give up his cherished plans. 6. Do not seek a city appointment, it will surely kill you.

7. Provided you join conference, do not go and talk with the Bishop about your appointment, but go where he sends you, and do your work without fretting.

Because 3,369 Presbyterian churches gave nothing last year for work among the freedmen the General Assembly at Springfield, Illinois, passed a resolution urging pastors to exhort their congregations, at least once annually to contribute to that great and important cause; and also advising its committee to extend its missions and churches in the Gulf States as soon as means at their disposal would allow. R. H. Allen in the Philadelphia Presbyterian Journal says:

To carry out the second resolution the Board will need largely increased funds. There are over six and a half millions of freedmen, and we have only 170 missionaries, male and female, all told among them. Think of it, only one missionary furnished by the Presbyterian Church to every 37,370, and one ordained minister to every 93,959 of them. With this small force how can we enter "the regions beyond?" We have a list of more than thirty good men and women, white and colored, who have offered themselves to the Board to go as missionaries into this great harvest field so ripe for the Lord's reapers, but we have not the means to send them. To hold the ground already occupied more than consumes every dollar of our present income.

The President of the Board of Assessors of Orleans parish, embarrassed by differences of opinion upon the subject, asked the Attorney General for his opinion, and he decided that city bonds and obligations are subject to taxation by the State, and the Board of Assessors should place them upon the rolls. State obligations, in his opinion, were not subject to taxation, but under Act 96 of 1882, "the moneys of corporations and individuals, whether found in bank or elsewhere, are subject to taxation, and should be placed on the assessment rolls." Of course this is a ruinious policy, and incidental feature of repudiation. City bonds were issued under State authority, and assessors cannot compel banks to give an account of their deposits. President Phelps, of the Cotton Exchange, says the State might as well attempt to tax the produce in the port as the money in banks, mainly the result of its moving through, not bearing interest, and put there for safe keeping. The tax would exceed the commissions of a merchant. An early test case should be made before the courts, to nullify the dishonest Act No. 96.

Gov. Waller, Democrat, of Conn., advised the Legislature not to approve the proposed amendment to the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. Such a law, he asserted cannot further the cause of temperance or morality. Governor Glick, Democrat, of Kansas, incorporated in his message the unfounded assertions of the liquor dealers, made in the heat of the last campaign. The Boston Watchman sharply criticizes Gov. Butler's fulmination: "Our new 'reform' Governor, while he would mercilessly scale down public expenditures, inclusive of schools, and institutions in the interest of the masses, has yet not a word to say about the liquor trade and traffic, which as a maelstrom swallows up more money along with untold crime and suffering than all else."

... Kansas Advocate remarks: "Those who think that temperance in Kansas is a thing of the past should have been in attendance upon the convention this week. A grander representative body of men never assembled on Kansas soil. We opine that a few Republican politicians are not very comfortable at this time."

The London Methodist says the Irish Christian Advocate will very soon appear, and when it does a reproach will be removed from Irish Methodism. It will then have its weekly representative in the religious press which it ought to have had years ago.

—In the death of Joseph Slack, last week, Methodism in Allegheny county lost one of its veterans. Bro. Slack was in his 97th year. He saw John Wesley, and heard him preach, shortly before the latter's death, often speaking of him with affection and reverence. The deceased was a consistent member of North Avenue M. E. Church.—Pittsburgh Advocate.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

D. Shelby, Allen: The brethren and sisters have worked nobly and got the church out of debt. They subscribed liberally. Hayson is free at last. Bros. D. J. Price and C. Mack, will now work for the bell, and expect to have it here the middle of February.

The church at Fairfield last year paid pastor $251.50, elder $30, sexton $13.55, traveling expenses $6, for benevolent purposes $10.30, missionary $20, extension $20. Total conversions were 100. There are four local preachers and three Sunday-schools on the circuit.

J. F. Marshall, Mount Zion M. E. Chuch, New Orleans: "Closing the year we rejoice in Divine Providence. To Him whose hand has led us be the praise. The year has been one of reverses, but hitherto the Lord has led us. Pastor and people unite in grateful praise. Much could be said, but little will suffice. Our fourth quarterly conference took place on the 15th inst., and while a consciousness of the fact that a better report would have been the result of one year's toil under more favorable circumstances, saddens the heart, yet there is room to be merry. Reports are encouraging, brethren in good spirits, friends increasing, outlook bright. All we need is money, more than can be found among our membership and congregation, to furnish our beautiful church edifice and make it an ornament to the city and a blessing to the cause of Christ. We are grateful to Dr. J. C. Hartzell, of the Freedman's Aid Society, for $2; also Mr. and Mrs. Armstead, of Alexandria, La., for $1 each."

Donaldsonville: By appointment a number of ladies assembled at St. Peter's M. E. church on the night of January 3d, at half-past seven o'clock. Mrs. M. L. Dale being present, was called to the chair; Mr. C. D. C. Bryant was elected secretary. After prayer by Rev. Wm. Smith, Mrs. M. L. Dale president of the Woman's Home Mission work, on the N. N. O. District, stated the object of the meeting; after which, Rev. M. Dale, by request, delivered a short address setting-forth the aims and needs of the work; after which the invitation to join was given, and thirty ladies enrolled their names. Three dollars and ninety cants was collected as dues. The following ladies were elected officers of the W. H. M. Society of Donaldsonville; Mrs. Francis Smith, president; Mrs. Louisa Ross, first vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Thomas, second-vice president; Mrs. Mary Turner, third-vice president; Mrs. A. E. Bryant, recording secretary; Mrs. Lucy Shallowhorne, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charlotte Williams, treasurer.

TEXAS.

H. Swann, Austin: "On my arrival at my appointment at Wesley Chapel, I found in the way of erection a magnificent two-story stone building, which will be an ornament to this city when completed. The walls are not quite finished, and all of the money having been expended except $1 the building has stopped. I am very glad to say, by the aid of our beloved presiding elder, C. L. The friends of Rev. J. Marbrey, of Martin Station, gave him a beautiful New Year's present.

To the Louisiana Conference.

Members of Louisiana Annual Conference will please make note of the places and inquire for same, on arrival at Alexandria by boat, rail or otherwise. There will be a committee of entertainment to meet them on arrival, and conduct them to their respective places of abode. Their names are respectively: Edward Powell, Asa Garrett, Peter Stephen, John Parker, Alto Mitchell, Warren Ezel, Susan Boxdale, Wm. Taylor, Ben Hall, James Madison, Watkin Ambler. If failing to meet any of them, proceed to the Murray Street M. E. Church, and they will be cared for. Also let it be borne in mind, that there is positively no room for entertainment of wives of our preachers wishing to visit this session of the Louisiana conference, unless they have made special arrangements. The Bishop and visiting General Conference officers are provided for.

At Mrs. Ambler's and Slevens, 7 preachers: G. W. Wells, P. Landry, Wm. Smith, J. W. Hudson, T. G. Montgomery, P. King, W. P. Forest.

he had procured my address. The substance of his conversation was this: 'I have between sixty and seventy children in my school, and desire to procure some evangelical books and tracts. We can use the first as readers and the second we can send home to the parents. We will do this prudently, and thus, little by little, disarm prejudice and prepare the ground for evangelical work.' We gave him as good a supply as we could make up at the moment. In a few days he returned for more."

"I would like to call special attention to another matter. You will see that we have raised for all purposes here in this city this year the sum of $1,397.55. Of this $592.55 was collected for the different charitable objects connected with our church, $245.68 being gathered by the Woman's Mutual Aid Society. For self-support proper was collected $380.57. The total exceeds the results of any previous year by a considerable sum."

"It may be of interest to mention the fact that a great number of Cuban exiles are coming to this country. The majority of these are favorably disposed toward Protestantism. During the past year some twenty of them have been attending our services, part of those have joined the church on probation. We now have fifteen subscribers to El Abogado in Cuba. This is an opening which should be carefully watched and encouraged. The immortal souls of that long distracted island wait for the day of their redemption."

We quote still further from the report:

ORIZABA CIRCUIT.—This mission, under the care of Rev. G. S. Umpleby is situated in a tropical region, intermediate between the hot belt of coast lands and the elevated plateau of the interior. It comprises the two important cities of Orizaba and Cordova, where our church has long maintained services; Santa Ana, where regular meetings have been held during the year with a good degree of interest, and several other places, such as Huatusco, Ingencio and Nicostla, which have been visited by the missionaries, colporteurs or by select eloquent messengers in the power of our tracts, periodicals and Bibles. Our missionaries, though deeply afflicted in the loss of their only child, a little boy, and for mouths under the stress of ill health, have done much faithful work, aided efficiently by one of our youngest but most devoted preachers, Severo Lopez. The acquisition of a suitable property for a permanent home for our mission will give a new impulse to this important work.

PACHUCA CIRCUIT.—Rev. J. M. Barker, missionary thus reports—"The year just closing has been attended with a reasonable degree of prosperity. There are two points of special interest connected with the year's record.

"The first is the opening of our work in Zalancingo, the second city of importance in the State and the most fanatical. The work was formally inaugurated on the 9th of last July. We have been threatened and opposed at every step. In all our embarrassments we have succeeded, and our work may now be said to be a fixed fact at Talancingo.

"The second point to be noticed is that our new church building, began and continued under so many difficulties in Real del Monte, was completed and dedicated on the 2d of November. Real del Monte has a mining population of about 5000 inhabitants and is situated on a high mountain between nine and ten thousand feet above the level of the sea. It is said to be the highest point in Mexico on which a Protestant church is built. During the building of the church we encountered considerable opposition. Our friends helped us in every way possible. We had to buy most of our building material from Catholics, who refused to sell us anything. We were forced to adopt the indirect method to succeed. Most of our workmen were brought from adjoining towns and villages, which increased the expense. The peaceful and successful colporteur of the church is a great victory for our cause. A few years ago it would have been impossible. We have preaching service in Spanish every Sabbath. We have also established an English congregation and Sunday school which are very promising.

"During the year we have had 176 children enrolled in our day school. As our school fund was cut off this year we have started a self-supporting school at Talancingo. Our Bible agent has had a steady sale of Bibles and Testaments during the year. The sale of our publications has largely increased this year. We have now on this circuit over 400 paying subscribers to El Abogado Cristiano.

The matter of self-support has been brought to the attention of our people and during the year more than $1200 has been raised for local church work of various kinds.

"The cause is everywhere making steady progress. Throughout the State of Hidalgo those who understand our work recognize the good we are doing. In nearly every city and town we have the sympathy and support of some of the best and truest men in the community. It is impossible to sum up the fruits of the spiritual harvest. We have had several accessions to our churches and in our services there are hopeful signs of a deeper spirituality."

QUERETARO.—Rev. A. W. Greenman is stationed here, a place but recently of bitter persecution and peril. The general outlook here and in the circuit is much more encouraging than a year ago. Yet there is a silent and persistent opposition. The completion of the Mexican Central railroad to this city in February, 1882, together with an industrial exposition held here, served to draw popular attention from our mission work; but the priests have striven as usual by means of sermons and the confessional, to prevent the people from trading with or even speaking to Protestants. The fanatical Romish opposition seemed as an iron wall about us, through which neither we nor our Protestant friends could penetrate till very recently, when our native helpers have found access to several families who, though not daring to be seen in our public services have gladly welcomed the private preaching of the Word.

SAN JUAN DEL RIO.—This place, with a population of 13,000 souls, is situated 35 miles southeast from Queretaro, on the Central railroad. Here we have recently organized a society connected with the Queretaro circuit, regular services having been held for nearly a year, in a private house, as no one would rent us a house for public services. We hope soon, with contributions from the friends in San Juan, and some aid from the missionary society, to be able to purchase a small property that will ensure us a permanent place for worship as well as a home for the Mexican preacher. Our people there are not so severely persecuted as formerly.

CALAYA, thirty miles west of Queretaro, also on the Central railroad, has 15,000 inhabitants. The place has been visited during the year by the missionaries from Guanajuato and Queretaro, but it is connected with the latter circuit and regular services are held in a private house. It promises to be a place of some difficulty, but we have several stanch friends there to serve as the nucleus of a congregation. Other places have been visited during the year, and the completion of the National railroad to Celaya at an early day will open up a still wider field for usefulness in this populous region.

Rev. S. P. Cravers who was apparently so near death, but whose health we are happy to say is measurably restored, is in charge of the Guanajuato circuit and reports progress in the year. Rev. Dustin Kemble is at Leon. At Ayapango on the Miraflores circuit a pretty church was dedicated by Bishop Andrews on his late visit. The building was erected under the labors of Rev. S. W. Siberts, nobly helped by the poor people. They contributed liberally of their time and means. The Cyapango school has developed rapidly during the year, having now more than 70 pupils.

In the mission at large there are 8 circuits with an aggregate of 356 full members and 471 probationers. The average attendance at worship is 1139. There are 579 day scholars and 661 Sunday school scholars.

The subject proposed for the March Missionary concert is, "The Work of the Holy Spirit in Missions.—Our South American Mission."

Gen. Eaton's Lecture on the Propriety of Additional Appropriations by Congress.

Last evening, in the assembly room of the Union League, General John Eaton, Commissioner of Education, delivered a lecture on the "Propriety of Congress making additional appropriations for educational purposes throughout the country."

Hon. George H. Boker occupied the chair, and introduced the speaker in a few appropriate remarks.

General Eaton began by referring to the evils threatened by illiteracy. Twenty years have passed since Lincoln's immortal proclamation, and yet the slavery of ignorance remains. The colored persons, ten years of age and upwards, unable to read and write according to the last ...

There are 9,000,000 children in attendance at the public scools, at an expenditure of $80,000,000. There is a non-attendance at schools, however, of at least 5,000,000 children, which would require an expense the first year of $110,000,000. These deficiencies are mainly concentrated in the Southern States, and the setting up of public schools there after the war was most obnoxious to the whites. Were the illiterate people of the country educated there would be an increase in the product of their labors of over $436,000,000. There is an army of 1,800,000 adult voters who cannot read or write.

General Eaton next referred to the necessity for educating the children of the Indians and the 150,000 polygamists. The National Congress need not only as a po[illegible], and, by a reasonable dis[illegible], have the large number of illiterate persons educated.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON IV. January 28, 1883.

THE HEALING POWER. (Acts iii, 1-11)

One day Peter and John came to the temple, and as they came to "The Beautiful Gate" they saw a poor man lying beside it. He was lame, born so. He could not work to earn a living, and his friends were too poor to help him or did not want to, so they carried him to the Gate, laid him down, and let him beg of the people going into the temple. When the beggar saw Peter and John, he asked charity of them. Did they pass him by? They were poor, and had not much money, but they had been with Jesus, and he never passed the poor by without helping them. Peter said: "Silver and gold I have not, but what I have I will give. In the name of Jesus rise up and walk."

The man heard. It was something new, he never had taken a step, but he tried, and behold he walked. Then he went into the temple and leaped for joy, and thanked God. Silver and gold were nothing to this. He praised God. The people saw him, and knew he was born lame, so they saw what our lesson calls "The healing power."

It made our text true: "Then shall the lame man leap as a hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing." Isaiah wrote this hundreds of years before, and now it comes true. The lame man did all he could; he obeyed Peter, and God did the rest. Does Jesus change people so now? Yes, indeed. When the heart is full of sin, sin binds us like lame people, and we can not walk the road that leads to heaven. Jesus calls us to rise; ask him for a new heart. If we obey, the sin that made our hearts lame and dumb is conquered; we can talk of Jesus and go the way that leads to him.—Western.

of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is simply this: It is the best Iron preparation ever made; is compounded on thoroughly scientific, chemical and medicinal principles, and does just what is claimed for it—no more and no less.

By thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood, it reaches every part of the system, healing, purifying and strengthening. Commencing at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health—in no other way can lasting benefit be obtained.

79 Dearborn Ave., Chicago, Nov. 7. I have been a great sufferer from a very weak stomach, heartburn, and dyspepsia in its worst form. Nearly everything I ate gave me distress, and I could eat but little. I have tried everything recommended, have taken the prescriptions of a dozen physicians, but got no relief until I took Brown's Iron Bitters. I feel none of the old troubles, and am a new man. I am getting much stronger, and feel first-rate. I am a railroad engineer, and now make my trips regularly. I can not say too much in praise of your wonderful medicine. D. C. MACK.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not contain whiskey or alcohol, and will not blacken the teeth, or cause headache and constipation. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervous debility, weakness, &c.

The Patter of the Shingle.

When the angry passion gathering in mother's face I see,
And she leads me to the bed-room—gently lays me on her knee,
Then I know that I will catch it, and my flesh, in fancy, itches,
As I listen to the patter of the shingle on my breeches.

Every tinkle of the shingle has an echo and a sting,
And a thousand burning fancies into active being spring;
And a thousand bees and hornets 'neath
my coat-tail seem to swarm,
As I listen to the patter of the shingle, oh,
so warm.

In a sudden intermission which appears my only chance,
I say "Strike gently, mother, or you'll ruin my Sunday pants;"
She stops a moment, draws her breath,
the shingle holds aloft,
And says "I had not thought of that—my son, just take them off."

O Respect and the angels! cast thy pitying glances down,
And thou, O family doctor, put a good soft poultice on;
And may I with fools and dunces everlastingly mingle,
If I ever say another word, when my mother wields the shingle.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

P. B McDonald, Scott circuit: "When I came on the circuit I had to open a fight on the use of alcoholic liquors, to which nearly all were addicted. I have made headway. In April I brought my family into a half covered log hut. The owner of the place offered me the use of it for a year. Soon after $25 was raised for a parsonage. Mr. Winbush let me have the use of his wagon and four mules to haul the lumber free, and after a long struggle the building is nearly finished. It will cost $75.55, all paid but a few dollars. Have raised for all purposes $242.30, only a portion of which was on my salary on which to support a wife and four children. We lost a babe December 1, which makes us feel desolate. Elder Duncan has done all in his power for me. The whisky men tell me I would have a better support if I would not say so much against the drinking habit, but I cannot consent to it. I am trying to get up a temperance society. The times are hard; all but a few came out behind with their crops. Pray for my success."

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

DEAR EDITOR—The more I have to do with you, and the oftener you mingle with us at Conferences the more we learn to love you. We know you were a little vexed at us because of certain positions taken by some of us at the Texas Conference, but after you had time to think your goodness of heart made excuse for the imperfections of fallen humanity, and you said, "I forgive."

I confess my sins, and one of those sins I promise not to be guilty of again, as far as possible; that is my want of interest in the SOUTHWESTERN. My work last year was so heavy, and having some difficulties of a peculiar nature to our cause, I lost sight, for a time, of interests outside of that which had to be attended to. You will understand what I mean by these difficulties, for I have told you all. We have had several days of very cold weather for Texas, but warmer and clearer to-day. We have a large district and plenty of work before us for this year, and, let me say here, I thank God for the privilege of working for Jesus, the Church and poor, suffering, fallen humanity. Wiley University never showed so many signs of prosperity as now. The last room is full, and still they come. About forty young men have come in since our Conference, Dec. 14th. God only knows what an influence for good Wiley University is having in this country; between one and two hundred young men are here preparing for the future; what a power it is putting into their hands for the elevation and purification of the ignorant masses. The victory comes slow but sure. God is in this thing, and it matters not who may go or gets in the way. God, who is above and able, will [illegible] difficulties and demonstrate to the world that He can bring victory out of defeat. The men and women in charge of Wiley University can not be surpassed for their integrity and love for the school and people. The preachers, so far as I have learned, are at their stations and [illegible] the work of 1883 with [illegible] to succeed, and do something for Christ and the Church. Cause for Apprehension.

WHY MYSTERIOUS PHYSICAL TROUBLES AROUSE SPECIAL DREAD—A PROFESIONAL EXPERIENCE.

Few things give more pain than dread or apprehension. Most people are able to face apparent danger heroically, but the sudden and unexpected coming of some indefinite calamity very naturally strikes terror to even the bravest. For this reason lightning and tornadoes are considered terrible; their coming and going are so sudden, unannounced and unknown. For his same reason an unknown disease, some poison in the blood, some malady that is gradually undermining the life, is specially dreaded by all thinking people. And, indeed, there are good reasons for such dread, for modern science has discovered that some virulent disorders show the least signs in their beginnings, while they have the worst possible symptoms. We know of many persons who have dull and uncertain pains in various portions of the body; who are unnaturally tired one day and apparently well the next; who have an enormous appetite at times and a loathing of food soon thereafter. Such persons are really in a dangerous condition, even though they may not realize it. The following statement of a most prominent physician, who has had unusual opportunities for investigation is of so striking and important a nature that it will be read with interest by all:

OFFICE: No. 27½ West Eighth Street, O. Anderson, M. D., Superintendent, Cincinnati, O., Dec. 2, 1882.

Messrs. Editors:

I have, during my professional career of many years' practice, treated a large number of various disorders, of which, perhaps, none have given me more trouble than the mysterious disease known as acute nephritis; and while it may seem strange, it is, nevertheless, true, that the physician is generally greatly annoyed by this mysterious trouble, especially when the case is of hereditary origin. It is, doubtless, the first stage of the well-known, but terrible Bright's disease, as the kidneys contain large quantities of albumen; and while children and young people are especially liable to its attacks, it is prevalent with all classes, and usually continues until late in life.

One obstinate case which came under my observation, was that of a fireman of this city who applied to me for treatment. The case was diagnosed parenchymatous nephritis. The man was twenty-four years of age; plethoric and light complected. He states that he had suffered from urinary troubles from childhood, and that he had "doctored" a hundred times, each time improving some; after which, in a short while, he would relapse into his former state of misery. I prescribed the usual therapeutics known to the profession with the same result that my colleagues had obtained. He got better for a while and then worse again; in fact, so bad that he had to lay off for some time. He suffered intense pain; so much so that I confess I had to resort to hypodermic injections of morphia. My druggist who knew how disgusted I was with the case, although not willing to desert the man, advised me to try a remedy from which he (the druggist) himself, had derived great benefit. As a drowning man catches a straw, I prescribed this remedy, not letting my patient, however, know what I was giving him and, although not a believer in nor a patron of "patent medicines," I must confess that after my fireman had taken one bottle he grew much better. I made him continue its use for a period of two months, with the most gratifying results; it really worked wonders and he owes his cure and present perfect health solely to the remarkable power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the remedy which I prescribed, and he used.

Since the recovery of the man above mentioned, I have given considerable thought to the subject of acute nephritis, or kidney difficulty, and I find that its manifestations are most remarkable. It often appears without any special symptoms of its own, or possibly as a sequel to some other disease. It may be a sequel to scarlatina, diphtheria, and other illnesses, and even arise from pregnancy. The first symptoms frequently show themselves in the form of high, fierce and intense pains in the lumbar region, "the small of the back," troublesome micturitions and frequent changes in the color of the urine which at times diminishes perceptibly. If the urine is entirely suppressed, the case, probably, will terminate fatally in a very few days. Dropsy is a consequence of the suppression of urine and the severeness of it is governed by the proportion of retention. The nervous system becomes prostrated with subsequent convulsions and irregular circulation of the blood which, in my estimation, eventually might cause a diseased heart to give out. As I have remarked, in many kidney diseases—yes even in Bright's disease itself—there is no perceptible pain in the back, and these troubles often assert themselves in various symptoms—for instance, in troublesome diarrhea, blood poison, impaired eyesight, nausea, loss of appetite, [illegible] digestion, loss of constitution, husky voice and many [illegible] too numerous to [illegible] of [illegible] the first [illegible] to-day.

state that I have, since my success with the fireman, repeatedly prescribed Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if my professional brethren could only be brought so far as to overcome their prejudice against proprietary medicines they would, undoubtedly, find themselves recompensed for their supposed sacrifice of liberty, as well as by the great benefits that would accrue to the world.

Most sincerely,
O. ANDERSON, M.D.
Superintendent.

MOTHERS READ.

GENTS:—About nine years ago I had a child two years old and almost dead. The doctor I had attending her could not tell what ailed her. I asked him if he did not think it was worms. He said no. However, this did not satisfy me, as I felt convinced in my own mind that she had. I obtained a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE (genuine). I gave her a teaspoonful in the morning and another at night, after which she passed seventy-two worms and was a well child. Since then I have never been without it in my family. The health of my children remained so good that I had neglected watching their actions until about three weeks ago, when two of them presented the same sickly appearance that Fanny did nine years ago. So I thought it must be worms, and went to work at once with a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE between four of my children, their ages being as follows: Alice, 8 years; Charley, 4 years; Emma, 6 years; John, 9 years. Now comes the result: Alice and Emma came out all right, but Charley passed forty-five and Johnny about sixty worms. The result was so gratifying that I spent two days in showing the wonderful effect of your Vermifuge around Utica, and now have the worms on exhibition in my store.

Yours truly, JOHN PIPER.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER.

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION

By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. The few songs and melodies first introduced and sung by the "Jubilee Singers" and "Tennesseeans" were every where received with enthusiastic applause, and soon attained immense popularity. They are now familiar to almost every one, and have created an earnest and very general desire that every song and melody which has been popular among the negroes of the South during their days of slavery should be gathered together and published in a form and style which would give them the widest circulation and insure their preservation. This wide-felt want is now supplied in this complete and valuable collection, which comprises the best of the many variations of these songs and melodies, giving all that have seemed worthy of preservation. The author, Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., who is presiding elder of the Ohio District of the Lexington Conference, is peculiarly well qualified for the preparation of a work of this kind, requiring as it does, a thorough knowledge of the subject, good judgment and much careful, painstaking labor; and the thorough and systematic manner in which the work has been completed, leaves nothing to be desired. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. They include, therefore, very many songs entirely new which are as meritorious as those so well known, and which will probably become equally popular. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. Read the few following testimonials:

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley.

"Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley.

"It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust.

"We take pleasure in giving to this timely publication our hearty commendation."—Dr. F. S. Hoyt.

"It is just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel.

"I most heartily commend it as brimful of the plaintive, quaint melody and song spirit, or which our race is so truly celebrated."—Rev. Daniel Jones.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

POP OVERS.—Pop-overs for tea, when the bread is out and there is not time for biscuit, may be made in this way: One cup of sweet milk, one egg, a bit of melted butter, flour enough to make a stiff batter, and a little salt. Have the oven hot, and the gem-pans warm, and the tea cakes will be light and tender.

BRIGHTS Disease of the Kidneys, Diabetes and other Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver, which you are being so frightened about, Hop Bitters is the only thing that will surely and permanently prevent and cure. All other pretended cures only relieve for a time and then make you many times worse.

MUSTARD PLASTER.—By using syrup or molasses for mustard plaster, they will keep soft and flexible, and not dry up and become hard, as when mixed with water. A thin paper or fine cloth should come between the plaster and the skin. The strength of the plaster is varied by the addition of more or less flour.

The world-wide reputation of Ayer's Hair Vigor is due to its healthy action on the hair and scalp, through which it restores gray hair to its original color and imparts a gloss and freshness which makes it so much desired by all classes and conditions of people.

"Lenny, you're a pig," said a father to his little five-year-old boy. "Now do you know what a pig is, Lenny?" "Yes, sir, a pig's a hog's little boy."

Oscar Wilde says people all over the South sang in his ears the old, melancholy refrain: "You ought to have seen it before the war." "I was once sitting on the portico of a country house," he said, "with a young lady, admiring the beauty of a limpid stream under the rays of the moon, and I said to the young lady, 'How beautiful is the moonlight falling on the water!'" "It is beautiful, indeed," she replied, "but, ah! Mr. Wilde, you ought to have seen it before the war."—Christian at Work.

USE THE

TRADE MARK

A WONDERFUL And SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

HUMBLE LIFE.

Tell me not that he's a poor man,
That his dress is coarse and bare;
Tell me not his daily pittance
Is a workman's scanty fare;
Tell me not his birth is humble,
That his parentage is low;
Is he honest in his action?
That is all I want to know.

Is his word to be relied on?
Has his character no stain?
Then I care not if he's low born—
Then I care not whence his name.
Would he from an unjust action
Turn away with [illegible] eye?
Would he, than defraud another,
Sooner on the scaffold die?

Would he spend his hard-gained earnings
On a brother in distress?
Would he succor the afflicted,
And the weak one's wrong redress?
Then he is a man deserving
Of my love and my esteem,
And I care not what his birthplace
In the eyes of man may seem.

Let it be a low, thatched hovel—
Let it be a clay-built cot,
Let it be the parish workhouse—
In my eye it matters not.
And if others will disown him
As an inferior to their caste,
Let them do it—I'll befriend him
As a brother, to the last.

Dedication of Trinity M. E. Church, Houston, Texas.

REV. L. B. SCOTT, B. A., PASTOR.

Dear Editor:—I have triumphed at last. Our new church, the corner stone for which was laid in 1879, was solemnly dedicated to the service of God Feb. 20, 1882, by Bishop Thomas Bowman, D. D. The spacious and elegant audience room was crowded with members and friends of the church. Among those seated in and about the pulpit were the following: Rev. H. Stewart and H. Watts, of the Baptist church; Revs. Elias Dibble, S. Hardwell and Paul Douglas, former pastors, and Revs. M. H. Nichols and W. L. Motley, presiding elders of Texas conference. It is impossible for me to speak too highly of Bishop Bowman's sermon. Not that it was profound or was in any way an exhibition of scholarly attainments, but a practical sermon; so simplified that a child could comprehend it—a real spiritual feast. Our desire to be brief forbids that we should give anything like a synopsis of the discourse, but it was just the kind our people delight to hear; and as he illustrated why "The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former," as spoken of in [illegible], truly our hearts did [illegible] us. The Bishop's visit and [illegible] will be of incalculable [illegible] to our cause in these parts. The sermon over, we took the collection and realized quite a handsome [illegible] in [illegible] done, [illegible] by Rev. [illegible] pastor, officiating in God's service. [illegible] during [illegible] Long, [illegible] Rev. [illegible]

[illegible] Central [illegible] The funeral [illegible] by J. Braden D.D., [illegible] The Sisters [illegible] of [illegible] church [illegible] clothes; Sisters F. Freeman and E. Vance collected money for a carpet for the pulpit; sisters E. Scott, E. Kyles and B. Lenard a marble top table for the altar; sister H. Remaker presented a velvet cushion for pulpit desk; sister P. Haley water pitcher and two goblets; sisters P. Edwards and S. Crawford a morocco bound hymn book, and sister P. Taylor a kneeling stool, all of which came just at the right time and are much appreciated.

When the building was begun many whose bodies to-day are in the cold and silent tomb, looked forward with joyful anticipation to the time when they should occupy seats in it. But, thank the Lord, not a few of those who have gone left the glorious evidence that they were transferring to that building of God the house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. They are far happier than were they seated in any earthly sanctuary. The completion of the building marks a new era in the history of the congregation of Trinity M. E. Church. It is an event long looked, labored and waited for, and since a portion of the congregation have labored so hard we rejoice the more with them that they have lived to reap the reward, at least in part, for their untiring energy. Finally, for the gift of a Savior, Christ the Lord, for the spread of his kingdom among men and for the building of this house in which to worship Him, we all join in saying: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Central Tennessee College.

EDITOR ADVOCATE—Dear Sir—The faculty and students of Central Tennessee College humbly ask space in the columns of the ADVOCATE to speak of the life, death and labors of a pure and good woman who has recently taken passage on angelic wings to occupy her mansion in heaven prepared by our dear Redeemer.

We refer to Miss Areminta P. Martin who, after an illness of about nine weeks, quietly and peacefully passed away from dear and loved ones on earth to dearer and loving ones in Heaven, on Saturday night, January 13, 1883. When at the beginning of November last Miss Martin complained of being unwell and bade her loving students good afternoon, none thought it had the significance of an overlasting adieu from her and all she held dear in and about her alma mater. When, on Sunday morning, the sad intelligence of her death reached the college and grounds, nature seemed to have instantly drawn about her a sadder air, a mantle of mourning, in sympathy and in keeping with the sorrow and stricken state of every teacher and student. At the foot of every stairway in each building was written in large letters "Quiret." This was hardly necessary, for the occasion had stamped it on the countenance, in the heart, the footstep of every student and on the face of nature. School was suspended on Monday at the earnest request of the students. At the usual morning chapel devotion the students were allowed to make such remarks in reference to the life and character of the deceased as they desired; soon followed some of the most appropriate, pathetic and truthful speeches that your correspondent has ever had the pleasure of hearing. Resolutions were read from both faculty and students reviewing the life, character and labors of the deceased from childhood, and her long and useful connection with this school to her death. Her funeral took place at St. Paul A. M. E. Church, Monday, Jan. 15th, at 9 o'clock. Though the church is unusually large, on this occasion it was densely crowded with a sorrowing and sympathetic mass of humanity. The entire corps of teachers of the Central [illegible] The funeral [illegible] by J. Braden D.D., [illegible] The Sisters [illegible] of [illegible] church [illegible] ing her a little over twenty-five years of age. She joined this school when about eleven years old and and continued regularly until she graduated at the head of her class in full college course in 1878. Was elected teacher in the college in September of the same year, and labored earnestly and successfully for four years or up to two months before her death. Miss Martin was kind to all, was an earnest and untiring laborer for the good of her race, and the improving and bettering of those around her, was zealously virtuous and purely pious and religious, full of sunshine at heart, which ever painted her countenance with loving and pleasant smiles for all, was quiet and altogether unassuming. She had a finished education, reading with ease and fluence the dead languages, and understood science and higher mathematics. Carefully educated, she was eminently qualified in every respect for a teacher and for the moulding the character of fluctuating youth by her own life, perfumed by virtue and engrafted by everything that it takes to make one pure and noble. Though

"Death lies on like an untimely frost
Upon the sweetest flower of the field."
"Yet why should death be linked with fear?
A single breath—a low-drawn sigh—
Can break the ties that bind us here,
And waft the spirit to the skies."

Respectfully, yours in Christ,
J. W. KIZER.

Sunday - School Superintendents.

BRETHREN—Some of you have secondhand library books out of which you could select twenty-five, fifty, and even one hundred volumes, which would be of real service in some of our mission schools. North, West, and South there is a great demand for every thing of this kind, and our work can be substantially aided by donations of such books to the needy fields. Will you not look over your libraries, select such as you can spare, ask the members of your school to add such as they would willingly spare from their homes, put them up in a neat package, and write me saying how many, and what kinds you have, and I will inform you where they can be sent to the best advantage? Sunday-school singing books as well as library books would be acceptable. The Sunday school Union is doing all it can to supply the new and needy schools of our church, but when we think how large the field is, and how much it requires to supply not only schools but homes in the new settlements and destitute regions with wholesome and helpful literature, we can readily understand how every help is eagerly used in the accomplishment of this great object.

Your Sunday-school could be instrumental in starting and maintaining a new Sunday-school in the West or South by simply taking every year a supplemental collection in the school for the Sunday-school Union, and reporting the amount to me, and I will undertake to see the school started and inform you as to its location and prospects. More than six thousand new Sunday-school pupils were enrolled in the State of Michigan alone last year, and there is a prospect that the number will be more than doubled the coming year. You can easily spare one collection each year for this purpose, and I trust I may receive notice that you will engage to do it at an early day. Write me about it and I will gladly give you further information.

Sincerely yours, A. H. GILLET.

Letter from Forest City.

MR. EDITOR.—We left Galway, Tenn., at 7 A. M., Dec. 3d, 1882, for Forest City, Ark., on Little Rock and Memphis Railway, 9½ P. M. found us at the above place. Our very kind and beloved Elder, L. G Pollard and Rev. B. McCain, met us at the depot with a welcome grasp of the hand, and accompanied us to a hotel near by where we were carefully cared for until morning. The greater part of Forest City sits on a hill. It is about seventy-three miles from Little Rock. The people appear kind and sociable, and welcomed [illegible] their midst. The future looks [illegible] hopeful. We have several [illegible] of color owning stores, [illegible] Wil- [illegible] E.) was inclosed on the 23d of Dec. 1882, and on Sunday, 24th, at eleven o'clock Elder Pollard preached an able and grand sermon to an intelligent congregation, and at 3 P. M., a sermon was delivered by Rev. G. N. Johnson, pastor in charge. On Monday the 25th, at 3 P. M., the corner stone was laid by Elder L. G. Pollard. Many people gathered to witness the service. Elder Pollard preached from the sixteenth chapter and eighteenth verse of St Matthew: "And I say also unto thee that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The sermon was excellent and forcibly delivered. The congregation listened to it very attentively, and doubtlessly will be long remembered. The church is 30 by 40 and is situated in the most beautiful part of the city. The field is new, but encouraging. There is a plenty of work to be done. May the Lord help us to do all we can. Brethren, pray that we may succeed, and win many to the fold of Jesus.

Yours in Christ,
LUCY J. JOHNSON.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

From San Antonio.

MR. EDITOR:—I arrived at my appointment a few days after conference adjourned, and found the people anxiously waiting for me. Shortly after we began work on the parsonage and have ceiled it. The trustees have purchased a splendid meeting stove. At an entertainment given by them, they raised money enough to finish paying for the parsonage—$43.48 being now due. Before this, sisters Matilda Vaughn, Mrs. Lucy Logwood, Mrs. Emelino Demand, and others, gave a three days fair and raised $57, clear of expenses. While I was away attending conference, Mr. William Logwood, a prominent colored gentlemen and friend of the cause of Christ, as maintained by Methodists, also a liberal contributor to the various benevolent purposes of our church, had several loads of gravel hauled and placed in front of the church and parsonage at his own expense. He now stands ready to help whenever the word is given to repair the church.

Our Sunday-school is growing. We have nearly all the Methodist lesson helps. Our superintendent is trying to make himself active and beneficial to the school in every way possible. Pray that we may have a prosperous year. You will continue the papers of old subscribers. We shall commence work on our church as soon as the weather moderates, Yours,

J. R. CARNES.

WEST CHINA.—A note from Dr. L. N. Wheeler dated Nov. 13, at Kiai-chow-fu, announced his arrival with his friends at that point, two weeks above Ichang on the Yangtze Kiang. The party had [illegible] the journey thus far in [illegible] and with [illegible] generally good [illegible] Two-thirds of the journey to Chungking yet remained to be made which would be comparatively easy and safe. It was anticipated that three weeks would accomplish it, so that now we may well assume that our missionaries have been some weeks established at Chungking.

DR. REID IN INDIA.—Dr. Reid was at Bareilly attending the closing service of the Theological Seminary, Dec. 9. Remington Hall was full, and several government officials were among the lecturers. The graduates did their part well. Dr. Reid says that what he said that day gave him such faith in India's redemption as he had never before had. He had visited Cawnpore, Lucknow and Seetafore, and was about startling for Nynee Tal.

Rev. E. W. Parker writes from Bareilly: "Dr. Reid is just now making his speech to the graduating class, with M. L. Banerjee, former student of Drew Seminary, as his interpreter. It is a great pleasure to have Dr. Reid with us. He is carefully looking into all our work and doing us much good."

ROHICUND DISTRICT CONFERENCE AND CAMP MEETING.—This was held at Chandause the second week in December. Rev. E. W. Parker writes on Dec. 12: "We have a lot of people here, and the best of all is, we have about 350 Christian school children, who are old enough to enjoy the meetings. These children are good singers and they help to make our meetings lively. All reports show progress. Dr. Reid is to be here in three days from Nynee Tal. Bishop Foster is in South India."

A Great Crime.

The diabolical work of a party of masked men in Faulkner county in driving from their home a family of inoffensive, industrious, colored people in the dead of night is a great crime against civilization and the criminals should be hunted down and punished with the "severest" penalties known to our laws. Every honest, patriotic citizen must condemn this outrage, which brings such a stigma to the State. We must get rid of these masked night riders, who plot murder, or we must give the state over to barbarism. We call upon the peace officers of Faulkner and Van Buren counties to hunt down these midnight murderers and bring them to justice. We call upon Gov. Berry to use all the power which the constitution and the laws give him to stop this savagery. We believe he will be equal to the emergency. There is no time to be lost in righting this great wrong against society, and in giving the protection of the laws to the humblest as well as the most exalted citizen. The case calls for action—immediate, prompt, vigorous action.—Little Rock Democrat.

A Negro Revolutionary Hero.

In accordance with a vote of the town of Farmingham last April, the committee in charge of the matter has placed a neat granite memorial over the grave of Peter Salem, bearing the following inscription: "Peter Salem, a Soldier of the Revolution. Died Aug. 16, 1816. Concord, Bunker Hill, Saratoga. Erected by the town, 1882." Peter Salem was the colored man who particularly distinguished himself in the Revolutionary War by shooting down Major Pitcairn at the battle of Bunker Hill as he was mounting a redoubt and shouting, "The day is ours!" Pitcairn fell back into the arms of his son. Peter Salem served faithfully in the war for several years in the companies of minute men under the command of Capt. John Nixon and Capt. Simon Edgell, of Farmingham, and came out of it unharmed. He was a slave and was owned, originally by Capt Jeremiah Belknap, of Farmingham, being sold by him to Major Lawson Buckminster, of that town, he becoming a free man when he joined the army.—Boston Journal.

The word "book" is derived from the Saxon language. Before the invention of paper the Saxons used to write on blocks of wood. The wood of the beech tree, called in the Saxon language bok, being close-grained and hard, was mostly used for that purpose, and hence the word book.

The Liberty of the Subject.

It is frequently alleged against the application of restrictive and prohibitive legislation to the liquor traffic that it is an infringement of the liberty of the subject. Smith, Brown, and Robinson, being of bibulous tastes, demand that their opportunities of purchasing their liquor be not curtailed. They resent such interference. Close public-houses on a Sunday or any other day, and they complain that you are infringing the liberty of the subject.

Now this argument proves too much. The law of the land already restricts the liberty of the subject in multifarious ways. Smith takes an interest in pigs, but the law forbids him to keep them if they are a nuisance to his neigobors. Brown is a butcher, but woe betide him if he unwittingly expose a piece of diseased meat for sale. Robinson has a conscientious objection to the vaccination of his children, yet the law compels them to undergo the operation, or mulcts him in repeated fines. And so on, in ways too numerous to mention, the law will not permit men to act from pure self-interest (or selfishness), but enacts that they pay a just regard to the interests of the community. The law then assumes the right to invade the liberty of the subject. Among other things, it assumes the right to dictate to Smith, Brown, and Robinson, when and where they shall buy their beer. They may not purchase the exhilarating draught before six a. m. or after eleven p. m. They can purchase it only of of authorised venders. Now we cannot understand how it is, per se, a virtuous proceeding to purchase beer at eleven p. m., and a criminal act to buy it at half-past. Yet the law says it is. We presume the law feels it "must draw the line somewhere." But in drawing the line at six a.m. and eleven p. m., or at any other hour, it limits the liberty of the subject. And if that liberty ought not to be infringed, as our friends Smith and Co. affirm, the only logical course is to repeal all the licensing laws, and allow as free a trade in gin, wine, and beer as in boots, beef, and bread. But what sane man would advocate such a policy? And where is the responsible statesman who would carry it into effect?

Nor is the reason of this infringement difficult to find. The law assumes the right to limit the liberty of the subject, whenever that liberty is so used as to prove inimical to the public weal. And the common sentiment of men sustains the law in this assumption. The only question, then, to be decided is this:—"Is the liquor traffic as at present conducted inimical to the public weal?" If it be not, the contention of Smith, Brown, and Robinson is a sound one. And it should be carried to its logical conclusion. There should be free trade in drink. If it be, their contention is a pure fallacy. What are the fruits of the liquor traffic? Witness them in the sacrifice of tens of thousands of lives year by year, many of them with every circumstance of horror. Witness them in the ghastly gallows, the thickly-peopled prisons, the crowded workhouses, the enlarged lunatic asylums. But for this traffic three-fourths of them would be empty, and the ratepayers relieved of the financial burdens caused thereby. The traffic stands convicted as the guilty author of an enormous amount of crime, pauperism, disease, and lunacy which afflict our country. Therefore, it being inimical to the public weal, the law, proceeding on the same principle as at present, has the right to limit or prohibit it. If the law has the abstract right to limit the subject's liberty for the public good—a right which it assumes and exercises—it can apply the principle to the curtailment of the liquor traffic. If it has the right to license a man or any number of men to sell intoxicating liquors, it has the right to with-hold the license and prohibit any traffic for the good of the community.—London Methodist.

If the Georgia Legislature will allow the people of the State to vote on the question of the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and establish the training-school, they will do two good things, and by the economy of prohibition money enough will be saved in the State to support the training-school and leave a large surplus.—Wesleyan Advocate.

The Future of Politics.

BY JESSE T. PECK, D. D.

I have recently said a few plain words on this subject, through the columns of the Albany Evening Journal; and I offer the same and other similar words to the public through The American Reformer.

It requires but little political sagacity to see that the next "uprising of a great people" in this country will be against the traffic in intoxicating liquors. The people are carefully measuring the dimensions and strength of their foes and preparing against them a war of extermination. It will be no child's play. It will probably be the most terrific struggle ever seen on this continent. The people have waited for one crisis after another to pass, and have been put off and defrauded upon one pretext or another; but at length they have determined to wait no longer. The true patriots of this great republic will now pass to the front, and take the control of their own affairs.

Our most virtuous citizens understand that all formidable conspiracies against their liberties rally around the liquor traffic. They will therefore decree the destruction of this destroyer. They will give due consideration to every reform involved in this. They will, let us trust, know their men. Every one of them will be of "the stuff of which martyrs are made."

I feel myself to be in a position to assure old political leaders that they will be compelled to choose between giving places to the moral element in politics, or being swept away by it. Whether it is to be by organization or reorganization, under an old or a new name, it will not be a third party. There will be but two great parties, one the National party, the other will be the rest. When the true patriotic reformers are thoroughly organized, they will, we believe, be a large and irresistible majority.

The first condition of success will be definiteness of aim and breadth of view. Active reforms will certainly avow their purpose in words and acts which cannot be misunderstood. Straightforward honesty in the affairs of government express the whole. There is need of re-formation to break down fossilized selfishness, to dash to pieces the rings which defraud the people of untold millions. Active, energetic justice must administer this government. The people must set aside the party and party measures which hold the country subject to personal ends and to the demands of mad ambition. They must make themselves superior to the organized systems of spoil and plunder, of corrupt dissipation and of overwhelming monopolies, and revive a loyalty to the Republic stronger than the menacing millions combined against their liberties. This will be definiteness of aim and breadth of view.

True reformers will peacefully assemble for comparison of opinions, principles and plans. They will be calm, but terribly in earnest. They will claim and exercise the full rights of citizens. They will take their place on committees, attend caucuses, primary elections, and take due part in naming candidates and constructing platforms. They will be courteous and respectful to managers of politics, old and new, but they will on no account allow old party measures to stand in the way of reform, nor permit the great right to be pushed into a secondary place.

I am speaking of citizenship and to citizens. I should deprecate the slightest attempt to organize a Church party. Every man will act as a citizen. The church as such has no politics. But Christian men are citizens, and their religion does not relieve them from the duties of citizenship. At all times, and especially in perilous times like these, they should be the brave defenders of liberty. No party spirit should bribe them, no menace should terrify them. Not by churchship, but by patriotic citizenship they hold their inalienable rights to a commanding place in reform measures, as in the affairs of state.

If such men as are needed at the front cannot now be found to assert their independence, they never can be. God calls them to action, and the pleadings of oppressed millions demand their help.

Mississippi Conference.

The fifteenth session of the Mississippi conference was held at Meridian, Miss., Jan. 17, Bishop John F. Hurst, D. D., presiding; Bro. J. W. Dunn, conducting the religious services. The secretary of the last session called the roll and fifty-seven of the members were present to answer to their names. J. M. Shumpert was elected secretary. The usual committees were ordered. The 20th question was taken up, and L. Bradford, presiding elder of Holly Springs district, represented his work; he had enjoyed a year of health, hard work and a good degree of prosperity; three new churches had been erected, others repaired, old debts paid, and full five hundred had been converted to God, nearly all of whom had joined the Methodist Episcopal church. There has also been a good increase in the benevolent collections.

J. M. Shumpert, presiding elder of Okolona district, reported thirteen new churches; over 950 had been converted to God, and nearly as many had joined the church. This certainly shows elevation and elevated Christian labor.

G. W. Barney, presiding elder of Greenwood district, reported a year of great peace and prosperity. Jas. A. Godfrey, D. D., presiding elder of the Meridian district, Mississippi conference M. E. church South, was introduced, and in a most happy and fraternal manner addressed the conference. Rev. M. Norsworthy, pastor of the M. E. church South of Meridian, was also introduced. In the evening, Dr. Godfrey, by special invitation, preached, and gave us an excellent sermon, full of Gospel truth from beginning to end.

Thursday, Jan. 18—Conference opened at nine o'clock, Bishop Hurst in the chair. N. Cannon conducting the religious services.

J. W. Dunn, presiding elder of Meridian district, gave a report of his district. Seven new churches had been built, a number of others had been repaired, church debts had been paid, and over 1200 sinners had been converted to God; nearly all of whom had joined the Methodist Episcopal church. Bro. Dunn is one of the fathers of the conference, but this year's work shows that he has lost none of his effectiveness. He has been one of the famous, energetic warriors of the Mississippi conference. This year, at his own request, the conference granted him a superannuated relation.

D. A. Williams, presiding elder of the Jackson district, in reporting, said that three new churches had been erected, a number of others had been improved, debts of long standing had been paid, 491 had been converted to God and joined the church; and in the benevolent collections there had been an increase of fifty per cent.

J. Campbell, presiding elder of the Gulf district, reported his work. In his family Bro. Campbell had been greatly afflicted during the year. Two of his children have died, and gone on before him. For some weeks he himself was laid aside by sickness. But on the district God had displayed his power in the salvation of our six hundred souls. New churches have been built and old ones repaired. He leaves the district in a good state of prosperity.

Dr. Young, the Bishop's traveling companion, and Gillett, the agent of the Sunday-school Union of the Methodist Episcopal church, and the editors of the SOUTHWESTERN were introduced. Dr. Young, at the special request of Dr. Kynett, who could not be present, in a very happy manner represented the interest of the Church Extension Society, for which he received a vote of thanks. Bro. Gillett is a model of simplicity. The children will love him when he talks, they will never be confronted with any of those [illegible] large, ponderous [illegible] can [illegible] but few [illegible] We have no fault to find with Bro. Ford, the former agent of the Sunday-school Union South, but we were pleased with Rev. Gillett. A good Sunday-school agent is always acceptable; [illegible] for some cause some are more [illegible] than others. Bro. Gillett captured the Mississippi conference. All were delighted with the manner in which he did his work.

[illegible]day, Jan. 20—Conference [illegible] at the usual hour. Bishop [illegible] in the chair; religious services were conducted by L. Bradford. The candidates for deacon's [illegible] number, were called [illegible] disciplinary questions [illegible] asked, and the Bishop [illegible] full of sterling [illegible] truth.

[illegible] SESSION.

[illegible] The [illegible] in and took the chair. Jackson was selected as the place for holding the next conference. The committee on periodicals made their report; when the editors of the SOUTHWESTERN and Bishop Hurst addressed the conference in the interest of that paper. We thank the Bishop for his hearty endorsement of the SOUTHWESTERN and words of exhortation to the conference. The committee on temperance presented their report. The paper deprecated the manufacture, sale and use of ardent spirits as a beverage, and committed the conference fully and heartily to the local option movement. After some discussion the paper was unanimously adopted. Mississippi, like most all the States of the Union, is awfully cursed with whiskey shops and whiskey sellers. These two are doing more to populate hell than all of her churches and preachers to save men.

The report of the statistical committee showed 3320 on probation, 22867 members, 344 local preachers, 1223 children baptized, 4100 adults, 315 churches valued at $42,582, 34 parsonages valued at $31,901. Paid on building and repairing churches and parsonages $4,213.90. Paid on old indebtedness $666.10. Present indebtedness $14,670. 336 Sunday-schools; 1634 officers and teachers, with 14217 Sunday-school scholars.

The benevolent collections for the year are as follows: Freedmen's Aid, $1,700; Foreign Missions, $239,45; Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, $28,55; Church Extension $70.40; Tract Cause, $13.35; Sunday-school Union, $49.85; Education, $31.50; American Bible Society, $11.85; Episcopal Fund, $75.75.

The business of the conference being nearly finished, it was voted that when they adjourned, they adjourn to meet Sabbath at seven o'clock, P. M., to receive the appointments.

Conference Sabbath is usually a day of refreshing and rest to most of the preachers. It was so at Meridian. The love feast in the morning was a season of religious joy and rejoicing. The sermon of Bishop Hurst was a clear presentation of obedience and its rewards as suggested by Rev. 22,14. Memories of former years came back, and touched the heart of the writer and filled it with a joy that is said to be "unspeakable and full of glory." He felt that it was good to be there. At the close of the sermon, fifteen were ordained deacons. At 3 o'clock, Dr. Revels told us about the angels; how and why they desire to be acquainted with the plan of redemption. At the close of the sermon, five were ordained elders.

At seven, P. M., conference assembled for the last services. The assistant editor of the SOUTHWESTERN gave us an excellent sermon on the frailty and changeableness of men and things, as seen in contrast with the unchangeableness of the word of the Lord. After the sermon, the Bishop made a few remarks, opened the book of fate, announced the appointments. We saw the men as the Bishop read their destination; some of them were sent to hard places, where the people are thin in population and poor in purse, but they heard their destiny with calmness, shook hands, said good bye, and with smiles on their faces, with a firm and and strong step like a noble hand of heroes, they went to their work. God be praised for men who give him a loving service.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF PERIODICALS.

We, your committee, beg leave to report: Whereas, we are gratified to be able to report that the SOUTHWESTERN is, as heretofore, taken and regarded by a great number of our people every year; that it is worthy and outspoken in all matters involving the interests of church, of society and education. And for these reasons we recommend the adoption of the following:

Resolved, That we ask our editors to make a better paper of the SOUTHWESTERN than ever before.

Resolved, That we welcome Rev. L. P. Cushman, editor, and A. E. P. Albert, B. D., assistant editor, in our midst, and hereby thank them for their addresses and sermons, and commend their editorial management heartily.

Resolved, That all the preachers present subscribe for the SOUTHWESTERN, and if possible pay for it before leaving the conference. And that the publishers are requested to send the paper to all preachers receiving appointments. The presiding elders are hereby requested to inform those that are not present of the fact and advise them to forward the pay immediately.

Resolved, That each presiding elder or preacher shall, at the quarterly or district conference, ask all local preachers and officers of the church to subscribe for the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE, and pay for it as soon as possible.

Resolved, That the preachers and Sunday-school superintendents place the beginners and Bureau Leaf and Sunday-school Journal and other Sunday-school literature in every Sunday-school as far as possible.

Resolved, That we hereby appoint the second or third Sunday, February, as SOUTHWESTERN day, on which to make a special effort to raise subscribers in each congregation for 1883.

J. M. NEVILS, Chairman.

President A. M. Fairbairn, D.D., of Airedale College, Bradford, England, has accepted the invitation of Chautauqua to deliver a course of six lectures during the Assembly next August. He will discuss the History and Problem of English Philosophy under the following topics: 1. Locke and Berkeley. 2. David Hume. 3. The Mills, father and son. 4. Positivism. 5. Herbert Spencer. 6. Science and the problem of Philosophy. The lectures will be both historical and philosophical. Dr. Fairbairn will lecture only at Chautauqua and Andover during his stay in the United States. He writes Dr. Wm. M. Taylor, of New York, as follows: "I have pleasure in accepting Dr. Vincent's invitation on the condition that matters can be arranged, as regar[illegible] time as to allowing [illegible] Chautauqua and [illegible] specified for [illegible] [illegible] 1-24 shall [illegible]

Distinguished Visitors.

Our city has, during the past few days, been favored with the presence and ministrations of several distinguished men of the church. Chief of these is Bishop J. F. Hurst, L.L.D., who presides at the Louisiana Conference this week at Alexandria. He spent several days in New Orleans studying the condition and needs of the work. He preached in Ames church Sunday morning, worshipped at Mt. Zion at 3 P. M., and preached in Wesley Chapel at night, and on Monday evening in German in the First German Church, to a congregation composed of our three German churches in this city.

Dr. J. C. Hartzell, our predecessor in the editorship of the SOUTHWESTERN, who can hardly be called a visitor, comes to attend his conference, and officially represent the Freedmen's Aid Society, of which he is the Assistant Corresponding Secretary. He spent a busy day among the churches lecturing on the Southern Educational Problem Sunday night in Ames church.

Rev. Dr. A. S. Hunt, Secretary of the American Bible Society, comes here from our Mississippi Conference, and has given several days to his important work, of providing for a larger circulation of the Bible in the South. He preached in Mt. Zion M. E. Church Sunday afternoon, and spoke at the Anniversary of the Southwestern Bible Society Sunday night.

Rev. A. H. Gillett, agent of the Sunday School Union for the South and West, has spent a busy week among the churches and Sunday schools of the city. His plans include a month's work here in the near future holding Sunday school institutes.

Rev. E. K. Young, of DesMoines, Iowa, is making the tour of the Southwestern Conferences with Bishop Hurst, and representing the interests of the Church Extension Society. He preached in Union Chapel, Sunday afternoon.

The visits and ministrations of all these brethren have greatly blest our people, and they will be followed as individuals and in their official work by the prayers of many of God's faithful ones in this city.

At the University.

Last Friday was a grand day at the New Orleans University. It was the time fixed for the visit of our visiting brethren. The school under Dr Dean and his helpers was never more prosperous. Two hundred students are enrolled. No one room in the buildings is large enough to contain all, so the school was divided into two sections, in the two larger rooms, and met at different times.

After singing, led by Miss Clifford, who presided at the organ, Bishop Hurst was introduced and gave an excellent address of advice and encouragement. His long experience as an educator has made him familiar with every phase and want of student life, his grasp of the educational demands of our work, inspired him to give good words of hope that he would do all in his power to aid the University.

Dr. A. S. Hunt followed in a talk of a few moments, replete with good instruction and encouragement.

Dr. Dean introduced Dr. Hartzell as one of the "Fathers" of the University. Dr. Hartzell gave some interesting facts connected with the first school established on that spot, and about securing the charter from the legislature for the University, and contrasted those days of beginning with the present condition and future prospects of the school. He spoke especially of the great want of a new building, and said it must be, and in God's name it should be, and that by faith he now saw the splendid structures and heard the songs of joy at the dedication.

Revs. E. K. Young and A. H. Gillett spoke briefly and pointedly to the students, and the interesting services were closed.

In the matter of location, our University, corner of Camp and Race streets, is superb. The lots 90 by 150 feet front on Coliseum Square, is one of the finest in the city. The square is lighted every night with electric lights, and has lately been greatly improved, through the gifts of a prominent citizen. What we want is a new building, one that will cost at least $40,000, to give accommodations for the multitudes of young men and women who want to come to us for Christian education.

Who with with the money will hear the voice of God in this matter?

It is stated there are nearly 21,000 Sunday schools connected with the Methodist Episcopal church; also that an aver[illegible] of four new schools are organ[illegible] every week.

Mississippi Notes.

Never have we seen a Conference of Methodist preachers more delighted with their presiding officers than the Mississippi Conference with Bishop Hurst. This was his first visit, and while he made no loud proclamation of his love and deep interest in their welfare, the brethren all saw at once that his heart was with them. In his addresses and sermons the Bishop used no smearing brush, his words were not mere gum drops, but meat and juice. As a bishop it looked like he was predestinated to do all things well.

While at Meridian we had the pleasure of meeting James A. Godfrey D.D., presiding elder of the Meridian District, Mississippi Conference M. E. Church South. The Doctor took us by the hand at first as though we were kin. His gray hair indicates sixty and over, but his heart is young, tender and loving. He is a prodigious worker, holds himself all his quarterly conferences, and is honored for his industry, genius and high moral and Christian character.

As the fitness of things demanded, the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN while at Meridian had a pleasant home with Dr. Henry Izard. The Doctor and his excellent wife are both members of the M. E. Church South, and by their sweet and unstudied courtesies made us feel that in Christ Jesus we were one. The voice of their little Irene was as the merry sound around our own hearthstone in bygone days. We felt no frozen or chilling atmosphere in this home. We have reason never to forget the Christian hospitality of this dear family. Its memory will be a joy forever and more precious than fine gold.

A. S. Hunt, D.D., Agent of the American Bible Society was at the Mississippi Conference, and made one of the most appropriate speeches on the circulation of the Scriptures we have heard for a long season. Dr. Hunt does not orate. He talks and talks grandly. He knows how to present the Bible cause.

During our visit to the Mississippi Conference at Meridian, we availed ourself of the privilege of "dropping in" at the Meridian Academy. It is a large, two-story building, beautifully located upon an eminence overlooking the whole city. The deportment, recitations and the penmanship exhibited by many of the bright-eyed boys and girls, readily convinced us of the thoroughness of the work being done here. Under the direction of Mrs. Keever, its very efficient principal, this school is doing an excellent work, and, stimulated in its growth by the fostering care of the Freedmen's Aid Society and the help and encouragement of the Mississippi Conference, it promises still grander results.

While at Meridian our Assistant, together with Rev. A. K. Davis, ex-Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi, were the guests of C. Simmons, Esq., U. S. Mail Agent on the Mobile & Ohio Railroad. Bro. Simmons, his excellent wife and their gentle little daughter spared no pains to make everything pleasant and agreeable. They succeeded grandly, and their generous hospitalities are all as heartily appreciated.

An Outrage.

"Special to the Times-Democrat, Corsicana, Texas, Jan. 24.—Jim Mulgrove was sentenced to-day to four years imprisonment for marrying a negro"

This is a perfect outrage. A disgrace to the State of Texas. Any State that keeps and seeks to perpetuate such a relic of unchristian barbarism upon its statute books is sadly in need of primitive Christian missionaries. India with its caste distinctions, China with its Confucian philosophy, and even Africa itself with its fetish superstitions, do not need Christian missionaries any more than such an unhallowed State. White men throughout the South can and do live in secret and open concubinage with Negro women with perfect impunity. There is nothing said, nothing done by State authority. A few years ago a member of the Louisiana Legislature sought to pass a bill in the Legislature defining and punishing the crime of adultery and concubinage. He was laughed down, because it was agreed by the majority in that Democratic Legislature that such a law would implicate too many of the most respected and prominent gentlemen in nearly every parish in this State. Men who were known to have colored mistresses and children, and in many instances had them in addition to their white families. In Texas as well as in other portions of the South such persons can continue to live in shame and dishonor together, but if they decide to act perfectly honorable in the matter, the walls of the penitentiary, or a rope and noose thrown over the limbs of a tree looms up before them in the distance. Jim Mulgrove ought to appeal to higher authority. Two such cases are now pending before the United States Supreme Court, one from Virginia and the other from Alabama. This is a grave question; one involving the very essence of natural and civil rights. Let justice be done though the heavens fall.

A negro named Roberts, alleged to be a cotton thief, was forcibly taken from the jail at Abbeville, S. C., on the night of Dec. 31st, and hung, by parties unknown. He was left hanging to a tree, with the words "cotton thief" placarded on his bosom. The Abbeville Press and Banner denounces the outrage and asserts that "with proper exertion the perpetrators of this deed may be brought to the bar of justice and forced to shoulder the odium which they would put upon the good people of Abbeville county." The Charleston Christian Advocate points out the blindness to justice, and the extreme peril to society of lynching parties. The public awaits the arrest of the lynchers.

During an administration of nearly four years Gov. Blackburn, of Kentucky, has pardoned more than 1500 criminals, remitted fines of more than $2,000,000, and granted respite to other fines to the amount of about $1,000,000.—T.-D. With such a wholesale setting aside, and annihilation of the penalties of the law, is it to be wondered that lawlessness and crime continue to increase in Kentucky? What criticism would be too severe for the Democratic press to make if Gov. Blackburn was a carpetbag governor of a Republican State? Let justice prevail without an "if"—no matter whose ox is gored.

We believe it to be our duty as Methodist preachers to do all we can to counteract the demoralizing influence of the cheap, trashy literature that is flooding our land and corrupting the morals of the rising generation. We know of no more effectual way of doing this than by making an earnest systematic effort to introduce one of our most excellent Advocates into every Methodist family. We therefore pledge ourselves, as pastors, to make a careful canvass of all our charges for this purpose at the beginning of the Conference year.—From report of Committee on Periodicals, DesMoines Conference.

Commissioner Pettigrew, of the Utah Commission, thinks that the evil of polygamy will cure itself; the educated young men are opposed to it and only the old fellows cling to it. The young, educated men, he says, prefer their political rights to a plurality of wives. This is exactly in keeping with our experience. We believe in the exalting and purifying power of education. Instill the silent, but active influences of the spelling book and the Holy Bible in the heads and hearts of Utah, and if this nation and the country is safe. What this nation needs is, "more light."

A Baptist D.D., who ignorantly believes that Baptist and Christianity are synonymous terms, delivered an address recently upon the "Modern Progress of the Baptists." Of the early history of the Baptist denomination he said: "The ancient progress of the Baptists is recorded in the New Testament, in the histories of John the Baptist our Lord Jesus Christ and his Apostles." Who ever heard of such presumptous nonsense? Verily the words of a sectarian bigot, even though he be a Doctor of Divinity, must alwys be credited with a few grains of allowance.

The Shreveport Cotton Exchange has forwarded resolutions to their representative in Congress, Hon. N. C. Blanchard, protesting against an increase of the duties on cotton ties. They represent that an increase of the duties on cotton ties under the discouragements that surround the planting interests at this time, would be unwise and unjust, and tend to discourage the production of a large cotton crop the present year.

The People's Weekly Informer, of Paris, Texas, published by colored men, has become a weekly paper. It says: "As yet we have no public schools within our city limits for this year. When we are to have any we have been unable to find out, but hope it will not be long."

PERSONAL.

—Rev. B. L. Nevils, wishes his correspondents to address him at Okolona, Miss.

—Bishop Joseph C. Tabot, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Indiana, died at Indianapolis, June 15th.

—Hon. Sumner Howard, elected Speaker of the House in the [illegible]igan Legislature, is [illegible] and a strong temperance man.

—The report that Dr. McC[illegible] president of Princeton college, [illegible] to be retired upon his own [illegible]quest is said to be without foundation.

—Bishop Hurst, dedicated our church at Moberly, Mo. Jan. 14th. He preached a grand sermon in the morning, and raised $693 during the day.

—A biography of the late Bishop Edward Thomson, is in process of preparation by his son Dr. Edward Thomson, President of Nebraska Conference Seminary.

—Lieut. Flipper, the colored officer who joined the Mexican army after his discharge from that of the United States, has been promoted to a brigadier.

—Hon. Wm. Preston Johnston has resigned the presidency of the Louisiana State University and A. & M. College, to accept the presidency of the Tulane University in this city.

—Rev. Joel Burlingame, father of Hon. Anson Burlingame, who negotiated the treaty of 1858 with China, died recently near Chicago. He was a local preacher in the M. E. Church, and a man distinguished for honesty and moral rectitude.

—Dr. Jabez Seegar, father of Mrs. Bishop Wiley, died at his residence at Fairmount, in this city, on Monday morning last, aged seventy-eight years. He was an old-time Methodist, a class leader of many years' standing, and an official member.—Western 24th.

—Hon. George Essex, for several years a prominent colored Republican leader in the parish of St. Charles, died of pneumenia at his home in Hahnville on the 24th instant. Mr. Essex was for a number of years sheriff of his parish, and at the time of his death a Representative in the Legislature.

—Honors are being crowded rapidly upon Hon. Alexander H. Stephens. Scarcely had he been inaugurated Governor of Georgia ere an exchange credits him with being the author of our present system of weather reports, and the Phrenological Journal attributes to him a new and important medical discovery. Orator, statesman, historian, weather prophet and doctor—what next, Gov. Stephens?—Southern World.

—Bishop Bowman, remained in St. Louis last week, detained during the first part of it by the death of his little grand-daughter, the oldest and greatly-beloved child of Mr. C. G. Bowman. Later in the week a severe cold, increased by the severity of the weather made it prudent—necessary indeed we may say—to remain at home. He has this week engagements in Indiana which he hopes to be able to fill.—Central, Jan. 24.

—Last week, the sad intelligence reached us, of the foul and brutal murder of Hon. J. W. Board, near Houma, in the parish of Terrebone. Mr. Board was for many years a staunch, tried and true friend of the colored people in his parish. He held several official positions during Republican supremacy in this State, was a member of the Lesislature of 1878 and 1879, and at the time of his death a member of the town council of Houma. We extend our sympathies to his bereaved family.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON V., February 4.
THE PRINCE OF LIFE. (Acts iii, 12-21.)

After the lame man was cured great crowds came to see him. They saw a wonderful sight—a man who had never walked was now walking as well as the strongest man. The crowd thought Peter and John had cured him, but Peter stood up and told them it was not their work at all. It was Jesus who did it, the very Jesus they had killed. Peter was bold and true; he brought all their sin before them. He told them they had chosen a robber and murderer and killed the Prince of life; but he was risen, and they were his witnesses.

Then he told them it was faith in the name of Jesus had made the lame man well. Then Peter said to him, "In the name of Jesus rise up and walk." The man had faith, obeyed, and God cured him. So Peter told them all to repent, be converted, and have their sins blotted out. These men were sinners; they needed Christ to forgive them and blot out their sins.

Peter's sermon means you. Unless you have repented and asked Jesus to forgive you, your sin is not blotted out. You can not see heaven unless your sins are blotted out. Sin never can enter heaven. Jesus only can blot sin out, and he wants to save the whole world. He died to save us; but even Jesus, the Prince of life, can not save you unless you ask him. LOUISIANA.

The prayer meeting at Ames church last Wednesday was a gracious season. The attendance was large. Bishop Hurst, Dr. Hartzell, Dr. A. S. Hunt, Rev. E. Young of Des Moines, Iowa, Rev. A. H. Gillett of Michigan, Dr. Dean, Prof. Clifford, and the presiding elder, were all present, and took part in the services. The pastor, Brother Vaughan, and his people, were greatly encouraged by the presence and manifest interest of so many representatives of the church. The best of all was the evident presence of the Holy Spirit manifested in words of counsel and experience, and songs of joy and praise.

The Lord give grace to the stricken ones to humbly say with Job: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." A.

New Orleans, La.

Sister Missouri Yancy departed this life Dec. 5th 1882, aged 27 years, 10 months and 5 days, in full triumph of faith. She was a member of the M. E. Church for 10 years. She leaves a husband and two children, a mother, two sister, and three brothers to mourn his loss.

Benton, Miss. REV. J. C. CLEMON.

Areminta P. Martin.

The subject of this sketch was born in Florence, Alabama, Dec. 8, 1858, and died in Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 13, 1883. In complexion she was quite light, flaxen hair, dark eyes and rounded features, with a very pleasing expression of countenance. She was born a slave; after the war which knocked the shackles off her and the millions of her people, she removed to Nashville with her family and attended a primary school kept by one of her own people, for two or three years, and on the 23rd of September, 1867, entered the Central Tennessee College, being in her ninth year. She passed through the several course of study from the primary to the collegiate and graduated on the 16th of May, 1878, the first who had completed the classical course in this institution. Such was the estimation in which she was held, that she was at once employed as a teacher and hold the position over four years with increasing usefulness and popularity, till the close of last November when she was stricken with her last sickness. The eleven years of her life were passed without any needed rebuke from her instructors, either for misconduct or poor lessons. She acquired her lessons readily, retained them firmly and recited with facility. Her scholarship was rather remarkable for the time she had to study and the limited advantages her home afforded. She was remarkable for her high sense of respect for herself and her character as a woman, although she belonged to a race which had long been subjected to the vilest abuses. She was a Sunday-school teacher nearly her whole life. Few of the colored people could read at the close of the war, and the children who had learned were collected to teach the alphabet, spelling and reading in Sunday-school. She was early converted and united with the African M. E. Church, and continued a consistant member until her death. The writer has been associated with her either as a teacher or as a member of the College Faculty for 15 years. In all this time she has won only increasing respect for her many excellent qualities. She had exalted ideas of a true woman, and was faithful to them. Her great desire for the welfare and progress of her pupils led her to unremitting labors for them, and amid her toils, her cheerfulness that made her a sunbeam, never forsook her. Her Christian spirit and kindness endeared her to her pupils and commanded respect from all who knew her. Her sickness was such as to affect her mind, so that after she was considered really dangerous; she only had short intervals when she was conscious. During these intervals she spoke of her "home," her eternal home. She told her friends that she was going home to the beautiful city, that she had a precious Savior; and on the day of her death she bade the writer "good bye," saying, "we will meet again in the morning." These were about the last words she uttered. She has left in her life a rich legacy to her people, for its devotion to duty, for her kindness and her Christian activity. The large congregation which assembled at her funeral showed how deeply her death was felt and how high was the esteem in which she was held.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Faculty:

WHEREAS, In the wise providence of God our sister and co-worker, Miss Araminta P. Martin, has been taken from our midst, in comparative youth, and her successful labors thus suddenly terminated; therefore,

Resolved, As we review the life of our departed sister we are reminded of her childhood and early school days when, as a pupil of the college, she possessed a mind of unusual quickness and an ability to grasp the subjects studied with clearness. With patience, perseverance and determination she pursued her course of study, faithfully discharging all duties imposed upon her, till her graduation in the spring of 1878 with the highest honors of the College, she being the first to receive a degree from the College department.

Resolved, That her life as a teacher was characterized by earnestness and fidelity, and the highest tribute to her memory is the love of her pupils. Her Christian character and great heart of kindness, exemplified in her daily walks and permeating all her labors will continue a living memorial to teach her pupils the value of the Christian life.

Resolved, That we tender to her bereaved mother and friends our most sincere sympathy and pray that the blessing of Him who alone can comfort may rest richly upon them.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the mother and to the city and Church papers. J. BRADEN.

SEEK

health and avoid sickness. Instead of feeling tired and worn out, instead of aches and pains, wouldn't you rather feel fresh and strong?

You can continue feeling miserable and good for nothing, and no one but yourself can find fault, but if you are tired of that kind of life, you can change it if you choose.

How? By getting one bottle of BROWN' IRON BITTERS, and taking it regularly according to directions.

Mansfield, Ohio, Nov. 26, 1881.

Gentlemen:—I have suffered with pain in my side and back, and great soreness on my breast, with shooting pains all through my body, attended with great weakness, depression of spirits, and loss of appetite. I have taken several different medicines, and was treated by prominent physicians for my liver, kidneys, and spleen, but I got no relief. I thought I would try Brown's Iron Bitters; I have now taken one bottle and a half and am about well—pain in side and back all gone—soreness all out of my breast, and I have a good appetite, and am gaining in strength and flesh. It can justly be called the king of medicines.

JOHN K. ALLENDER.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is composed of Iron in soluble form; Cinchona the great tonic, together with other standard remedies, making a remarkable non-alcoholic tonic, which will cure Dys[illegible] Indigestion, Malaria, [illegible]d relieve all [illegible]y diseases.

Every Lady Should Read. LOUISVILLE LADIES' PURCHASING AGENCY.

The undersigned, with additional facilities and after a long and successful experience in the purchasing business, desires to again call especial attention to her arrangements for filling orders from a distance, for every article, to the complete satisfaction of those who may honor her with their patronage.

A specialty is made of buying and superintending the manufacture of TROSSEAU, and the ordering and trimming of BONNETS and HATS. Children's suits will be made to order, and Patterns, Dresses and Cloaks cut and basted. A mistake has never been made in fitting any article of dress and no charge will be made if complete satisfaction is not given.

Hundreds of patrons can be referred to who will certify as to successful operation of Agency. Every manufactured article will be prepared by a leading artist in their particular line.

Hats, Cloaks, Gloves, Hosiery, Jewelry, Cuffs, Collars, Lace, Ribbons, Carpets, Furniture, and Furnishing Goods, and every article of wear or Domestic use bought upon the most favorable terms. Feathers and Gloves cleaned and dyed. Private arrangements with the most skillful modistes and leading wholesale and retail merchants in every line enable her to hold out rare inducements by which from 10 to 50 per cent. can be saved by buying through this Agency.

Every article sent out will be chosen with the greatest care. Everything manufactured is made under personal supervision and will be of the best material, finest finish, and to the latest modes. If more elegance in style, more beauty of material, and more complete work for the same money can be obtained through this Agency, it is to the interest of ladies desiring to dress well, to patronize it.

The large clearing and bankrupt sales in the city continually present magnificent opportunities for getting great bargains. Samples sent free upon receipt of stamp, and full information as to style and mode. Correspondence solicited. It costs little to mail a letter, and it will be promptly and satisfactorily answered.

The Louisville Market is especially adapted to the Southern taste, and it will be found to give better satisfaction than either Philadelphia or New York, while prices are really less. There is no elegance, conservatism and grace in the dressing of Southern Ladies which cannot be imitated, and which is one of their highest charms. To maintain this is one of the chief efforts of the Manager of this Agency. Any article made or purchased East, will be duplicated with 10 per cent. off. Refers by permission to Rev. Stuart Robinson, D. D., W. N. Haldeman, Manager Courier-Journal, and Col. Bennett H. Young.

TERMS—5 per cent. on all purchases. Money can be sent by Check, Registered Letter, or Post-office Order, or will send C. O. D. Address,

A LITTLE PHILOSOPHER.

The days are short and the nights are long,
And the wind is nipping cold;
The tasks are hard and the sums are wrong,
And the teachers often scold.
But Johnny McCree,
Oh, what cares he,
As he whistles along the way?
"It will all come right
By to-morrow night,"
Says Johnny McCree to-day.

... are few and the cake is plain,
... are out at the toe;

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

TEXAS.

D. W. Tucker, Lavernia: "At Stevenson colony the people were glad to see me and to hear that I was sent back again. The officers propose to send for the lumber to build the church at once. Rain interferes with my work."

A Culbreath, Huntsville: "Our first quarterly conference was an interesting occasion, held by Elder Pullam, who preached for us. Communion was administered to 87; collection $12."

LOUISIANA.

C. D. Bryan submitted to the 4th quarterly conference of St. Peter's M. E. Church, Donaldsonville, Dec. 31, 1882, the following report: Members enrolled up to date, 304; probationers, 52; for pastor this quarter, $265 50; for fuel purposes; $10 95; sacrament, $3; sexton $9 85; benevolent purposes, $15 30; church debt, $103 35; house rent, $7 00; Presiding Elder's quarterage, $10; total church expenses, $424 95. All money raised on parsonage up to date $975 90. We have received for the year 175 members. We have lost 4 members, all of them old soldiers of the cross except Sister Rose Johnson, who lately enlisted in the army of the Lord. After all business of the conference was finished, the Elder, Marcus Dale, gave a lecture to the local preachers which was very much needed.

TENNESSEE.

A. Phillips, Murfreesboro: "Our first quarterly conference was held by Elder Key, Dec. 23d and 24th in the basement of our new church. We had a good meeting, over 150 persons participated in the sacrament. The collection was $16 15. The district conference will be held in the same place on the 17th, Rev. O. Green will preach the opening sermon."

H. W. Simmons, Gallatin: "The prospects of my work are good. Owing to the unfavorable weather our congregations have been small, but I think after the weather moderates our churches will be filled. We anticipate a pleasant time at our first quarterly conference.

MISSISSIPPI.

The Rev. J. D. Walden, of our church at Brandon, was presented with a nice suit of clothes by members of his congregation.

A VALUABLE RECIPE.—A Leipsic journal, which makes a specialty of matters relating to glass, gives a method which it asserts will prevent chimneys from cracking. The treatment will not only render lamp chimneys, tumblers and like articles more durable, but may be applied with advantage to crockery, stone ware, porcelain, etc. The chimneys, tumblers, etc., are put into a pot filled with cold water, to which some common table salt has been added. The water is well boiled over a fire and then allowed to cool slowly, when the articles are taken out and washed they will be found to resist afterward, any sudden changes of annealing, and the slower the cooling part of it is conducted the more effective will be the work.

BUNS.—Take one ounce of yeast and mix it with one pint of warm milk; and sufficient flour and a little salt to make a thick batter; cover up the basin, and leave it to rise in a warm place; when it has risen, take one pound of flour, stir it into a sponge, and knead it well; add three ounces of sifted sugar, some powdered cinnamon, six ounces of fresh butter beaten to a cream and two fresh eggs, also well beaten. Let it rise again, divide it into buns, sprinkle the top with comfits and sifted sugar, and bake in a tolerably quick oven.

NICE PLAIN CAKE.—Break an egg into a teacup, add a piece of butter as large as the egg, fill up the cup with good buttermilk, one cup of sugar, six heaping tablespoonfuls of flour, one scant teaspoonful of soda, spice to taste; unite the ingredients and beat thoroughly. If you wish to change, add a teacupful of chopped raisins, or bake in layers for jelly.

The True Education.

It is a common mistake to suppose that a fine education unfits for the common walks of life; it is certainly a great mistake. You cannot educate one faculty without developing them all. Many a young girl without household training has, after her marriage, at once mastered the art of housekeeping; her college did not teach her how to cook, but it taught her to think, and the cooking followed as a matter of course. Intellectual development is physical development; by refining and strengthening the nervous system, it gives power of recuperation to the body. The war statistics show that delicate bred college boys stood the hardships of camp and field and hospital far better than roughs, whether from the wild woods or great cities.—Church Union.

The biter is bit in Tennessee. That State which is determined to cheat its creditors, has been itself cheated. What else can Readjusters expect anywhere than faithless plundering officers? Now let Tennessee profit by this lesson, and firmly resolve to be honest itself, and then to employ only thoroughly honest public servants. The Sate stands very low in point of reputation now. Let it resolve to stand very high.—N. Y. Witness.

Baron von Humboldt, in his travels and explorations in South America, became deeply interested in the wonderful properties of the Coca plant. Consumption and asthma, he says, are unknown among the natives who use it, and it is furthermore conducive to longevity. The Coca forms one of the ingredients of the Liebig Co's celebrated Coca Beef Tonic. "It is conducive to health and longevity. Its use is very beneficial. Examples of longevity are numerous among the Indians who from boyhood up have used it. Cases are not unfrequent of Indians attaining the great age of 130 years," says Professor VAN THUDI, (Travels in Peru). Be sure to get Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic, as there are counterfeits. Invaluable in dispepsia, liver complaints, debility, biliousness.

Ex-Gov. Jewell, of Connecticut, in a recent "interview" said: "The great bulk of the temperance men are in the Republican party, and they form an element very hard to manage, as they are neither to be bought, cajoled, nor bullied."

I feel myself to be in a position to assure old political leaders that they will be compelled to choose between giving place to the moral element in politics or being swept away by it.—Bishop Peck.

KIDNEY-WORT FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

Corea, in itself, though interesting, is not peculiarly so, either from its history or the character of its people. It owes the retention of its nationality through so long a period mainly to its peculiar situation on an isolated peninsula, partly to the indifference of China, which preferred to leave it independent as a buffer against Japan, and in a less degree to a quality of patient endurance in its people, rather than active courage, which saved it at various epochs from the attacks of the fierce warriors of Japan. The principal invasion from that country, however, which happened in 1592–1598, and which reminds one in many of its details of the invasion of Mexico by Cortes, would probably have been successful but for the help given by China. One singular circumstance connected with that expedition is that one of its two leaders was a Christian, and an ardent one at that, much given to proselytizing; and as the other was an equally ardent Buddhist, there was no love lost between them, and to their mutual ill-will are ascribed many of the misfortunes which befell the Japanese. One learns with some surprise that Corea was the nursery of Japan in the arts and sciences and in religion, in such early times as the ninth century, conveying the learning of India and China across the narrow seas to her then more barbarous neighbor.—Nation.

The female suffragists claimed to have been a part of the force that lifted Gen. Butler into the chief magistracy of the State, and his recommendation of an act extending to woman the full municipal suffrage is rejoiced in accordingly as marking an advance. But their joy is dashed by one or two things per contra. They do not relish his contemptuous remark on the women who have places in the charity and prison boards, that they represent "the sentimentality of the State." The gibe is unjust as well as contemptuous. Those women have rendered as good service, to say the least, as their masculine colleagues.—Boston Watchman.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Pain in the right side, under edge of ribs, increasing on pressure; sometimes the pain is on the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder and is sometimes taken for Rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with laxity; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled; his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low, and, although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it.

If you have any of the above symptoms, you can certainly be cured by the use of the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS. When you buy McLane's Pills, insist on having DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, made by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev. C. H. Collins.

Lost Friends.

[We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.]

DEAR EDITOR: I desire information of my people. I was taken from them when very small. Mother was Sarah Ives; father, Benjamin Whitis; sisters, Julia, Eliza, and Bettie; brothers, Boston, and Abram. I belonged to Wm. Tunnel, and was born in Craven co., North Carolina. I was sold during the war. We were brought together to Richmond, Virginia, and then were sold and scattered. I was brought to Texas, and have never heard of or seen my people since. ROSA WILLS.
Columbus, Texas.

DEAR EDITOR:—I wish to see if my relatives can be found. My father and mother were named Thomas and Clarisey Jones. My mother is dead; father belonged to John Ebert; but they were sold to Mr. Walker. He set them free and they went to Tennessee and left me in Vicksburg, Miss., with John Ebert. I had three brothers that I know, Charles and Drury Richard, and Robt. Jones. My sisters' names were Jennie and Julia Francis Jones, and they are married now and go by their husbands' names: Jennie Ales, wife of Scott Ales; Julia Anderson, wife of Claiborne Anderson; Francis Hicks, wife of Willis Hicks. Francis is dead—she left a son named Richard. My name was Annetta Jones, and the next sisters to me were Kinnie Johnson, Cornelius Johnson's wife; Susan Jones; Leanna Bald, wife of Louis Bald, he went to Canada. I had two daughters, Missouri and Emily—Emily died with me. After the death of John Ebert I was sold to Dr. Meade, in St. Mary's parish, La., and my daughter. Missouri was sold on Red River. Had one granddaughter, I left her in Vicksburg, Miss., Address me at Pass Christian, Harrison county, Miss. I now go by the name of Annetta Goodwin. Direct in care of Joseph Shotter.

DEAR EDITOR: I would like to find my nephew, Robert Brown, who left New Orleans, Oct. 20, 1877, for Louisville, Ky. He stopped at Plaquemines, La., and wrote me two letters, but as I was out of the city teaching school at the time, they were not answered until my return home. I wrote but did not receive a reply. I have not heard from him since, although I have traveled and made inquiries at river cities. Address me at Allen, La. D. J. PRICE.

TRADE MARK

A WONDERFUL and SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:
1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

IMMORTALITY.

A solemn murmur of the soul
Tells of a world to be;
As travellers hear the billows roll
Before they reach the sea.

Tells that this anxious, yearning soul,
Heir of the world to be,
Beyond the grave's dark, silent goal
Shall live eternally.

Tells that as after winter's storms,
Come life and joy and bloom,
So life anew shall clothe the forms
That slumber in the tomb.

Tells of a dread, impending hour,
Of solemn, final doom,
When at the call of sovereign power
All shall to judgment come.

Tells of a purer, better sphere,
A vernal, tranquil shore,
Where those who love and worship here
Shall worship evermore.

O solemn murmur of the soul!
O solemn world to be!
To live while endless ages roll,
'Tis immortality!

"The Alabama Leprosy."

BY REV. [illegible] HAYGOOD.

The Birmingham affair, I understand, was in the State of Alabama, [illegible] to be contagious. Dr. Curry's [illegible] on the "color line," coupled with the "Alabama leprosy," has seemingly aroused the [illegible] bound from his lair and now he stands erect, and from his horrid hair shakes pestilence and war." St. James' epistle tells us that every kind of beast has been tamed by man; and this one will [illegible] to the rule, for [illegible] respecter of persons," [illegible] worketh righteous[illegible] Him." Dr. Curry [illegible] for any one to [illegible] favoring the "Alabama [illegible] that he, by any [illegible] has become stained [illegible] is a thrust at [illegible] mother church, or [illegible] favor of abandoning [illegible] work" in the South. [illegible] glance of his article [illegible] to the conclusion [illegible] to the way he [illegible] himself before on the [illegible], but never that he is in favor of "caste prejudice" or in any way trying to shield the Rev. Mr. King. It will be a difficult matter [illegible] to defend such actions [illegible] of the "First M. E. Church at Birmingham" is charged with, when Dr Curry, in 1878, at the [illegible] of the Freedmen's [illegible] the following [illegible] of the [illegible]: "Nearly one [illegible] was only the least degree ele[illegible] in intelligence and charac[illegible] themselves. [illegible] crying, "here, this is the way," but "Christian" like her ears were stopped.

Many have objected to the church because it was not more radical, others because it was too radical, but she has, from the beginning, discouraged slavery, and in the discipline, to-day, can be found among her "articles of religion" one, as strong as language can make, against the accursed institution. Not only this, but she has and does frown down everything like "caste prejudice." She has done more to elevate the American Negro than any other church in North America. I know of no instance where she has ever driven any one from her ranks, pews or pulpits by an official act, or endorsed such. As early in her history as the Christmas Conference in 1784, rules prohibiting slavery were enacted. These rules prohibited any member from holding slaves, where it was possible to manumit them. If members did not want to abide by the rules, the following remedy was provided: "Every person concerned who will not comply with these rules shall have liberty to quietly withdraw." I should think them good rules yet. The record of the church on this point is clear, but not more so than on the subject of opposition to "caste prejudice." In 1844 the church could have remained as before had it not been that her soul went forth to ameliorate the condition of the despised Negro. On every side, methinks, she heard the voice of God, "what God hath cleansed call not thou common or unclean." On this question she has been tried, and every time she has had an opportunity, she has, to my mind, proved true. If in antibellum days it was unlawful to clothe a Negro with the highest honors in the gift of the church, and let him remain in America, she did the nearest and best thing possible; she consecrated Francis Burns, an ebony black negro, Bishop in New York, in the Genessee Conference, and then hied him away where he could enjoy his prerogatives. And that she did October 14, 1858, when a Negro was nothing more than a chattel to some men. It is true that among her "ennobling acts" she made arrangements so that "mixed conferences might divide," provided a majority of both parties voted affirmatively and the presiding bishop concurred. Does this look like "caste prejudice or color line?" The very wording of the act shows the contrary. At another time, when asked if she endorsed caste prejudice, she replied by saying, "there is nothing in race, color or previous condition of servitude a bar to the Bishopric."

And that the church might not be understood as giving an "uncertain sound" she elected a Negro editor of one of the church papers. Every man elected to the General Conference has equal show and opportunities. Now, I think any one charging the church of being guilty not only of tolerating but engendering "color lines," and "caste prejudice," in the face of these and other facts, must surely be biased and prejudiced. The Legislature of Tennessee repudiated the State debt and their constituents are held responsible. This is as it should be. So when the church, by her representatives in General Conference, decide that "caste prejudice" must and shall exist, or if it does it shall be tolerated in the church, then will be time enough to give the alarm. "It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," and a few more upheavings and we will find all the drifts along the course of the mighty stream of Methodism which flows grandly on, carrying on her bosom all who will come with her to the haven of repose. There can be no trouble about such matters that will materially change the face of Methodism in this country as long as the members of the M. E. Church are so stupid (?) as [illegible] to the General Conference [illegible] of preachers who [illegible] them to preach the [illegible] gospel of the Son of [illegible] "white members" of His [illegible] stained with the [illegible] next [illegible]

The "Color Line" Again.

BY REV. D. W. HAYS.

The outcome of the Birmingham affair promises to be something remarkable. I do not say the church will lose by it, but that it will gain purity and strength because of it. Agitation, dreaded by the timid, is welcomed by the courageous as an harbinger of reform. Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, of the Lexington Conference, has told us recently, in his characteristic manner, through the columns of the SOUTHWESTERN, what he knows about a color line in the M. E. Church.

I have read his lengthy article with much care, being eager to avail myself of every proffered ray of light that will help to a clearer understanding of so dark a subject. It would have afforded me considerable relief had the writer succeeded in establishing his main point, namely, that there does not exist in the church an aversion to certain persons because of their color or previous condition. I admit that there may be some favored localities where few or no traces of such an aversion or color-prejudice can be found, but I cannot believe that they are not to be discovered anywhere inside the pale of the church. I have sufficient warrant for saying that such traces do exist to an extent to cause uneasiness, if not alarm. The testimony of both white and colored ministers and laymen could be produced, if necessary, in support of the assertion. This is a fact that may be deplored, but cannot be overlooked or successfully contradicted. I fail to comprehend with the writer that character, or better, the absence of it, keeps up the barrier against which many very bitterly and justly complain. Is it lack of character in colored preachers that causes such a desperate struggle for separate conferences? Is it lack of character in the colored laity that calls forth the declaration from some of our pulpits that they are neither invited nor expected to worship with white congregations? Is it lack of character on our part that prevents all social commingling between the two classes of members in many portions of the North as well in the South? It is not lack of character, but the presence of a despised color. Whoever doubts the truth of this has studied the trend of current events to very little purpose. The instances cited by Dr. Taylor, considering the latitude from which they were drawn and the circumstances under which they transpired, have but a small bearing upon the question. A few isolated facts do not establish a general principle. If the writer should exchange Ohio for Georgia he would, no doubt, find it desirable to modify his views before attempting to tell us again what he knows about a color-line in the church. As the case now stands we may excuse his ignorance of the situation. The Doctor strives to create the impression that somebody has been wasting ammunition in the attempt to demolish a man of straw. I do not think so. Color-caste, in horrid form is known to dwell in our beloved Zion. Good and true men see it and would strike it down. They want a clean church, where prejudice against color shall be regarded as a sin against God. Let not a mistaken zeal cause us to throw impediments in their way. The SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, in which the bold uncompromising spirit of Gilbert Haven still lives and breathes, has not gone forth hoodwinked. It never strikes at a shadow. That grand paper does not teach that silence respecting an existing evil is to be required as a proof our loyalty to the church, but on the contrary that we may speak out, yea, contend earnestly, without the least fear of having our loyalty once called in question. It rightly holds that we may point out a blemish and do our best toward its removal without being suspected of entertaining a purpose either to wreck the ship or to take a leap into the sea. Because of its bold advocacy, in line with Zion's Herald, its right-hand helper in the good work, together with the united strength of good men and good women, not a [illegible] under the power of [illegible] as it is in Jesus, I expect [illegible] of this hateful prejudice [illegible] church in the fu[illegible] man will stand in its regard next to the fatherhood of God. Then there will be no reason left for wicked aversion to color. Let the day hasten.

Letter from Little Rock.

Near eighty students have enrolled for the winter term of the Walden Seminary. They are here from different states as well as from different parts of this state.

Short addresses were delivered by Prof. Mason, the Principal, Prof. H. B. Fry, who has charge of the primary department, Rev. G. W. Sams, and the writer.

Such an expression of cheerfulness, we suppose, was never never more manifest in the faces of a class of students than was seen that bright and blessed morning. They were all poor: but few of them able to pay board for a month in advance. But what they lack in cash they are and will make up in courage. Many of them came expecting to work their way through. And what we say about them may be taken as an answer to many letters of inquiry in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Tennessee, which is that they are succeeding.

We work for our students, and so far as we know there has not been one who has had to leave for the want of a place where he could do work morning and evening for board, etc. In fact, we have more places usually than we have students to take them.

As we looked into the faces of those poor despised children of our Father, peculiar feelings ran through the soul. Some of them, yes, many of them were from their parents lowly cabin or some plantation. We thought of the places where we first saw them, how their parents had been labored with to send them. How anxious these same parents were about them. How these parents had been robbed of all of life's privileges and how now their children were being robbed by the State of their rights to the public school funds and schools. How a large class of white people who called themselves the followers of the meek and lowly Jesus, cast these poor children out on account of color, a thing they cannot help. How these same white Christians help to foster this public sentiment of caste, which in its application robes these their own blood kin of their money, their liberty and of their rights, and blunts and brutalizes every holy and worthy aspiration which God has given them to enoble and build them up. As we dwelt on these things our heart filled up with sympathy and the tears came because they could not be kept back. Then we thought along this line again, and asked how our ministry could favor caste and keep a clear conscience, and why did our Bishops, who ought to be above, (and we believe are), such a low and inhuman feeling as that of caste, appoint to leading places in the white conferences the most bitter and uncompromising color line preachers.

But thank God there is a fair sprinkle of white students in this school.

Prof. H: B. Fry is a graduate of Lincoln-University, and brings like Prof. Mason, to the school the blessings of a classical education. He is a first-class teacher and we are safe in saying we have in these brethren two as good scholars and as able and efficient teachers as there are in the State. One wise thing will be done in our school, which is that no student shall be advanced until he has mastered the studies he has gone over. We do not propose sending out a class of students to tell how they have been for years in Walden. Seminary studying Greek, Latin, Algebra, etc., and as they make their baste, murder the king's English.

Short hand writing is taught without additional cost, in the school.

This is an advantage that no other school has in the South so far as we know. The simple or corresponding style is free, but the contracted or reporting style with the type writer will cost for a full course some ten to twenty dollars extra. We hope by the opening of the spring term or by March, to be ready for the higher grade. The [illegible] of phonography, called tak[illegible], which is taught here, is the [illegible] practical now in use.

Some of our primary students [illegible] in two weeks far [illegible] enough for corresponding purposes.

We say to all who desire an education, come. Come day or night. Call at my house, 1100, State street, and you shall share our shelter till you get in school. I. G. POLLARD.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 15, 1883.

Report of Committee on State of the Church, Mississippi Conference, in session at Meridian.

Looking over this wide field we see things to make our hearts glad. The financial report, so remarkably good for such a season, surely betokens an increase in practical interest in religious zeal for the cause, and efficiency among official boards.

Class meeting, Bible reading and other social means of similar character and effect, have increased in number. We trust that the dawn of a new day of spiritual life and prayerful watching and self-examination is thus heralded to our people.

Some of our protracted and camp meetings have been attended by special manifestation of life-giving power, though, on the whole, there has has not been so large a number reported as converted and received into the church as last year. We base most of our encouragement on the belief that a more determined effort is being made to establish our people in the faith they profess, when the solemn vows of reception are taken. In this connection, we call attention to a laxity in the manner of receiving members into the church. Our discipline is explicit on this point, needs no interpretation from us, but calls loudly for due observance. During the protracted meetings, and other times, some of our pastors violate the law by receiving members immediately on application, without examining whether the candidate knows what is the ground of his hope or the meaning of the rules he obligates himself to keep. We believe this to be one leading cause of the leaven of worldliness that is robbing our church of its title to be called "Christianity in earnest."

Another potent influence in the same direction is the neglect in many cases of parents to fulfill their voluntarily assumed vows to instruct their baptized children in the way of righteousness, and in the necessity early to assume for themselves, their proper attention toward God and man. We deplore this neglect. We exhort to reformation. May God help all the parents in the land to do their duty more faithfully at home and in the Sunday-school.

The various forms of frivolity indulged in by many of our members in certain localities is not sufficiently rebuked by private admonition.

We believe this to be the better way in most cases; open rebuke sometimes induces greater opposition when wise and loving counsel would effect a cure. We need, the cause of Christ demands, that other denominations should be more pronounced and active in opposing these insidious snares of the Devil.

We, ourselves, need deeper conviction and stronger purposes to meet the enemy at the threshold, that he may not intrench himself within the walls of our Zion. Our position on the strict observance of the Christian Sabbath is well defined. We need revivals and a wakening on this point. In direct proportion to the proper use of this gift to man, will the progress of religion be marked among us. We call upon our preachers in charge to see that all their members are supplied with the Discipline of our church. We call upon our preachers and presiding elders to be more regular and faithful in offering the sacraments and urging, when necessary, our people to prepare for and receive these ordinances with greater regularity and thoughtfulnes.

Resolved, That we, as ministers, and official members of the church, pledge ourselves to uphold each other in the kind, firm and faithful administration of our Discipline in all its parts, not for wrath but for conscience's sake.

A. M. TROTTER, Chairman.
P. E. BARDWELL, Secretary.

Brethren of the Church South on Organic Union.

The Central Methodist, of Jan. 17th, published three communications on the subject of organic union from members of the M. E. Church South. They are enjoyable, and we make extracts as follows:

T. B. Head, Jr., Lawrenceburg, Ky: "I think that the late articles in the Central pro and con, for and against organic union of Methodism are, if not inexpedient, at least a little premature. For as God and Christ are in Methodism, even so shall the gracious purposes of the Divine mind concerning Methodism be accomplished in His own good time. And I for one am content to abide His time, believing that organic union must result in the end, for there is no power in hell or on earth that can keep them twain that God has declared one. It may not be accomplished in my way, nor in your way; it may not be done in my time, nor in your time; yet, in God's own way, and in God's own time, the union will be affected and crowned with the most choicest blessings of God's love, the benediction of a Savior's sanctifying grace, and the plaudits of the Christian world. Then when the "organic cap-stone" is brought forth and fitted in its legitimate place in the grand and glorious superstructure of our common Methodism, binding and blending both branches into one common whole, earth and heaven will vie with each other in reverberating the glad shouts of "grace, grace unto it." But, alas! this bright consummation of our hopes will not be brought about by newspaper criminations or re-criminations, for prejudices can never cement or bind together; only love can do that. And then perhaps God is saying to our leaders of both branches of Methodism as He said to Moses the leader of Israel of old, "Thou shalt not enter into the land of 'organic union,' the land flowing with milk and honey' the promised Canaan; because thou hast sinned, but thy children shall come in to possess the inheritance." Hence we continue our forty-years journeyings to and fro through the wilderness of separaration"—carcasses left here and there upon the burning sands of prejudice to bleach and to rot, until all the older ones of Methodism shall go the way of all the earth, and a Joshua filled with the the Spirit of the loving Christ shall be raised up to lead our children into the green pastures, and by the side of the still waters of organic union. Until then let us continue to strengthen the "tie" that binds our hearts in Christian love."

"J. W. Mitchell, Winchester, Ky.: The fact is the question ought not to be agitated. It is a disturbing element, and can do no possible good to anybody. To say the very least, the whole thing belongs to the next century. As Dr. Ridgeway, in his fraternal address before the last session of our General Conference, said: "When the apple of organic union is ripe it will fall of itself." I am not sure that there is any apple there, but if there is, the eating of it in its green state would produce gripings that will not succumb to Mrs. Winlow's antidote for all such troubles. Let us be done with this matter. As a living issue it is utopian, and hence unprofitable. No, no;—it is not organic union—not a change of church name—not the episcopacy—not the presiding eldership—nor yet the pastorate, that causes reproach, but our poverty of spiritual power. A baptism of fire from heaven, all along our ranks, would do more to hush our fault findings and hasten the conquest of the world to Christ than all the tinkering of the ages with our church polity.

B. F. Orr Owensboro, Ky: "I do not know whether organic union would be best or not; certainly we are not ready for it yet while we are finding fault with each other. And if nothing better can be said in its favor than what those brethern have said against it, I do not blame them for not being in favor of it. But whether we ever have organic union or not, one thing we can have, peace and fraternity, and an interchange of fraternal feeling, by frequent interchange of ministerial courtesy, by visits from the South to the North. We will learn to know each other better, and as we know each other, love each other better. The Methodist Episcopal Church has long ago given up her policy of "disintegration and absorption," and while there are a few in the North who think nothing "good can come out of Nazareth," who see nothing but ignorance and barbarism in the South, yet I happen to know that they are the exceptional few, and by no means the leaders, but the adventurers and the soreheads. The great heart of the Methodist Episcopal Church and of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, I believe fully recognize in each other, legitimate branches of Methodism, and are content to so recognize each other, and to each let the other follow her God-appointed mission of evangelizing the people in their respective fields. True, the Methodist Episcopal Church is expending hundreds of thousands of dollars in mission work in the South, but it is principally among the freedmen, and ought to be so, and the work done among the freedmen is a work the Methodist Episcopal Church ought to do: First, because they have been the especial champion of the freedmen. Second, because the Southern Church has neither had the ability or the disposition until recently to do it, and they are doing a great work for freedmen in the South, which the South and the Southern Church are beginning to fully appreciate. Then let us cease using our microscopes to find grounds of difference, and reasons why we should not love each other, and let organic union alone. If the Lord wants it, and intends it, it will come in due time, it will grow upon us, like our whole economy has; we cannot make it, we cannot force it. Whenever it is ready to be born it will be brought forth by the church, by the vigor and strength of her inner spiritual life. In the meantime, "Let us have peace."

From Our Board of Education. —Statistics.

In the January number of The Manual will be found a laboriously compiled exhibit of the educational statistics of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is much more full and complete than any exhibit of the kind ever before published.

It gives the names, locations, chief officers, and principal facts of 67 classical seminaries, 25 female seminaries and colleges, 43 colleges and universities, and 8 theological schools. It shows that in these 143 institutions, the Church has an investment in buildings, grounds, and endowments of $12,628,100, encumbered, however, by debts to the amount of $701,440. In the same institutions 1,148 teachers are employed for the instruction of 25,943 students, while from the beginning 390,650 different students have been taught.

It is to be hoped that all persons interested in the educational enterprises of the Church will give early and careful attention to the statistics referred to, and the matter printed in connection with them. The facts therein embodied will be found suggestive of numerous important topics of thought and action. They especially challenge the interested attention of all intelligent educators among us, who will by them be more than ever impressed with the grandeur and far reaching power of the enterprise in which they are permitted to co-operate with an active and growing Christian Church. Hitherto the opportunities of studying this subject in its broadest connectional aspects have been limited. For that reason it may be feared that too many of those to whom the office of instruction has been committed have contented themselves with limited views of their work, looking too much on their own things, and not enough on "the things of others."

But from this time forward, if the request of the Corresponding Secretary is complied with, the Church will be supplied with full and annually corrected exhibits of all her educational institutions in all parts of the world.

With all that may be said in commendation of the statistics now secured, and of the wisdom of the Church in ordering their publication, it is difficult to disguise regret that they are less complete than they would have been but for the failure of several institutions to report as they were requested to do. It is to be hoped that all failures of that kind will be remedied at the close of the current school year, so that the Board of Education may furnish to the General Conference of 1884—our Centenary Year—an exhibit of the educational work of the Church that shall be complete in every particular. That this may be the case, all chief officers of institutions, and in fact all practical educators in the Church who may not receive the Manual, or who would additionally desire the forthcoming report of the Board of Education containing the matter referred to, are invited to send a request for the latter to the Rev. D. P. Kidder, Corresponding Secretary, 805 Broadway New York.

The New York Christian Advocate shows at length "how the fathers' disposed of secular or inefficient traveling preachers." It says: "Instances are recorded of men who neglected to visit the people; of others who allowed their families to violate the Discipline in dress and amusements; of others who were of a sour and morose disposition, so that the people did not desire their society, because they were not treated with courtesy; of others who neglected their work for farming; of one who neglected his appointments while he went hunting. Some of these confessed and promised amendment, others were located against their will."

The total value of goods imported into this country from Mexico the last fiscal year was a little more than $15,000,000, of which about $6,500,00 was specie, and about $8,500,000 merchandise. Of this amount about $5,250,000 of goods came in free of duty. We imported 7,000,000 pounds of coffee, valued at $1,800,000, and $1,500,000 worth of hides and skins on the free list. The value of goods imported upon which duty was paid was a little less than $3,250,000. The imports of jute—20,000 tons—cover more that two-thirds of this sum, while the value of the sugar and molasses imported (about 3,000,000 pounds) was only a little more than $100,000. Other imports were tobacco, about $60,000; living animals, nearly $500,000; breadstuffs, $100,000; nuts, $50,000; precious stones, $75,000; fruit, $50,000, and lead, $45,000. The value of our exports into Mexico was $15,500,000, and this list is much larger than our imports from that country. Iron, steel and lead, value, nearly $4,000,000. Cotton, manufactured and unmanufactured, comes next; value, $2,500,000. Breadstuffs and provisions, $800,000. Wood, lumber and furniture, about $1,500,000. The value of living animals sent into Mexico was $180,000. We sent to Mexico about as much sugar as we took away, and almost three times as much tobacco. The value of sewing machines and railway cars exported from this country was nearly $600,000, and of kerosene oil, about $250,000, while gunpowder amounted to about the same value. The Mexicans took $175,000 worth of paper and stationery from us, and $150,000 worth of boots, shoes and harness. The balance of trade is against Mexico in fruits. The carriage makers of this country sold $170,000 worth of goods in Mexico last year, and drugs, chemicals, medicines and fancy articles to the value of $400,000 went over the line. The treaty will greatly develop the trade in agricultural implements, for the value of such implements sent into Mexico [illegible] was less than $60,000.—N. Y. Times.

Untuning.

We once read of a little girl who had more of a desire to sing than she had knowledge of singing. She was always troubled when her brother, three years older than herself, attempted to sing the tune on which she was at work, and would always say to him, "Don't you sing, you untune me." The truth was, that the correctness of her brother's singing disclosed to her her lack. If she had only been in tune, the accuracy of her brother's singing would have helped instead of untuning her. Most of the trouble in this world is much like this little girl's. Being ourselves out of tune, having wrong views of truth and duty, we think that those whose opinions and practices are correct are untuning us by urging conformity to another standard than our own. This being untuned is to most persons both humiliating and irritating. There is not the least trouble in agreeing with other people so long as they agree with us. And we always take pleasure in doing as other people do, provided, they do as we want to have them. This never untunes us; but sometimes the correct opinions and practices of a brother fill us with discordant sentiments and impulses. The deep spirituality of Brother A.—the life flowing on in endless song—discloses to Brother B. his lack of spiritual life, the real barrenness of his soul, and untunes him. We deprecate all uncharitableness and censorious denunciation. To us they are uniformly unbecoming; we like rather the charity that "thinketh no evil," "doth not behave itself unseemly," and is "not easily provoked." There is, however, a glow of satisfaction in seeing people whose theories and lives are bad—untuned.

What We Need.

We wish that during the coming months we might have in New Orleans a general attack upon the work of the devil, led on by all the great leaders of religious thought and feeling. There has been here and there a little harmless skirmishing; but what we want and need is a general engagement. Take New Orleans and its surroundings for God, and it will be an easy matter to take Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. Let the bishops and pastors of these churches lead on this attack, and press the battle, and we believe that this city will surrender to Christ. Not only the city but the whole land needs to be washed of its pollution. We need more religion, a real baptism of the Holy Ghost, enough to save the ministers as well as the laity. The churches of this city need more a change in the quality than in the quantity of their members. Nearly one-half of the so-called Christians amount to nothing. They may go to church; they may help to pay the pastor; but as to any self-denial, any power in prayer, any capacity to strike hard blows for God, they are a failure. We do not advise these to leave the church, but we do want them to get as near the fire as to get warm. We need have more of that old style fire, the kind they had in old Virginia, New Jersey and New England before railroads and steamboats ruled in fashion.

> "O for that flame of living fire,
> Which shone so bright in saints of old."

Louisiana Conference.

The fifteenth session of the Louisiana Conference, began at Alexandria, February 1, Bishop John F. Hurst, D.D., LL.D., conducted the opening religious exercises and took the chair as president. The secretary of the last session at the request of the Bishop called the roll. J. C. H[illegible] D., was [illegible] secretary [illegible] following [illegible] P. Al[illegible] Stephen [illegible]nce trea-surer.

The usual standing committees were ordered.

The 20th question "Was the character of each preacher examined?" was taken up. L. P. Cushman, presiding elder of the South New Orleans district, was called; his [illegible] passed, and he represented [illegible] of his district. He said [illegible] in the early part of the conference year the [illegible] horrors of [illegible] swept a large portion of [illegible] district, [illegible] untold [illegible] many [illegible] and [illegible] con- [illegible] had [illegible] year. [illegible] the preachers and the people almost perfect harmony.

There had been a decided improvement in most of the Sunday schools, but still we are suffering for the want of competent teachers and suitable literature. With three or four exceptions the rules respecting the religious instruction of children are observed. Men are coming to realize the peril; and the great need of doing more to save our children.

We have within the bounds of the South New Orleans district the three educational institutions of our church. The New Orleans University, under Dr. Dean and his helpers, was never more prosperous. Two hundred of our young people are enrolled as students. The one great need of this school is new and suitable buildings, to give accommodation to our young men and women who are looking to the Methodist Episcopal Church for a Christian education.

La Teche Seminary, under the care of W. D. Godman, D.D., is beautiful for situation. It has enrolled over one hundred and fifty students. Here the most pressing need is better buildings for the accommodation of its students.

Baldwin Seminary is the gift of Hon. John Baldwin, and includes a property valued at nearly thirty thousand dollars. President Fitch, a transfer from the North Ohio conference, has charge of this school and is doing good work.

One church and two parsonages have been built during the year, and five others considerably improved. The benevolent collections will be nearly double those of last year. Most of the preachers have been favored with gracious visitations of the Holy Spirit, and the churches had not only been quickened but a large number converted to God.

Marcus Dale, presiding elder of the North New Orleans district, reported his district in a prosperous condition. At nearly all points there had been a healthy increase. A good work of grace had been going on all over the district, and the new lives of men and women gave evidences of its reality.

A. E. P. Albert, presiding elder of La Teche district, reported his district. He felt that one of the great needs of his district was more money, not merely for better homes with carpets on the floor, not for pictures on the wall or better clothes in the wardrobe, not for display on the streets or extravagance in any department of social life, but to be used in carrying the gospel to the unsaved thousands within the bounds of our own conference. The year had been one of earnest labor on the part of preachers, and of real religious growth in nearly all of the churches.

The Bishop stated the conference was authorized to draw on the Book Concern at New York for $87, as a dividend from profits of the Book Concern, being the amount coming to this conference from the $15,000 distributed for 1883. The draft was ordered.

SECOND DAY.

Friday, February 2.—Conference opened at 9 a. m., the first fifteen minutes were given to religious exercises conducted by Stephen Duncan. The fifteen minutes spent in song and prayer was a season when all hearts blended in mutual joy. The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

S. Duncan, presiding elder of Shreveport district, reported his district. Bro. Duncan believes that the commission "go ye into all the world" must be obeyed, and if the "Great Captain" calls men from genial homes to the pine woods of Northern Louisiana, they should cheerfully and joyfully gather up their household and household goods and go. The year had been [illegible] of hard work, some sacrifice, [illegible] of great prosperity. Most of [illegible] time he had spent with the [illegible]chers and people on the dis[illegible].

F. Laundry, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge district, reported his work. From the effects of the great flood in the fore part of the year the people had not fully recovered. So much property was destroyed, and so many people were driven from their homes, that the work had been hindered. Still, the preachers in the midst of all these hardships and privations, had faithfully attended to their work, and thought that the statistics would show a good increase. Bro. Laudry has no desire to get away from duty and labor; he rather embraces the pleasing toil, if so he may win souls to Christ.

Friday night the anniversary of the Church Extension Society was held, and all the preachers pronounced it the best we had ever [illegible]. Dr. Young, the bishop's [illegible] made the [illegible] fluent in speech, with a clear brain and good heart. A few such men annexed to some of our Southern Conferences would be a benediction. Who will hear the cry and come down and help us?

Saturday, February 3, Conference assembled at 9 o'clock, Bishop Hurst in the chair. Religious services conducted by A. Ross. The young men who had been two years on trial and had been well recommended by the presiding elders and the committee who had examined them in their studies, were called, the usual disciplinary questioned asked. Bishop Hurst is no cross-eyed thinker or talker, nor does he speak in circumlocutions, he talks square and lovingly but hits hard. No man follows Wesley's motto better, and

> "Hates the sin with all his heart,
> "And still the sinner love."

His address to the class was full of good practical common sense.

CONFERENCE SABBATH.

This was a gala day. Love feast, conducted by Stephen Priestley, was a season of the wonderful outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Fathers Green and Ross seemed almost ready to cross over. All hearts were glad.

The sermon of the Bishop was clear and strong.

The anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, at three in the afternoon, was one of the best we have ever attended. Good speeches were made by Bro. Albert, Dr. Hartzell and Bishop Hurst. Dr. Hartzell gave us an array of facts and figures, as to the illiteracy of some of our Southern States, that is fearful to contemplate.

In the evening the Church was filled to its utmost capacity to listen to Dr. Fowler, Corresponding Secretary of the Missionary Society. Few men see more clearly the future of our Church. He seems to catch the beams on the mountain top or ere they touch the populous valley. There is no fanaticism in his make-up. Progressive, bold and careful, one would take him to be a native of New England. He has a mouth made for talking and knows how to use it.

Monday, February 5, conference assembled at nine o'clock, Bishop Hurst in the chair. Religious services conducted by S. Duncan. J. Gould was located at his own request, but the church moves on in her work. Some eight or ten young men of special promise were received on trial.

Several committees reported. Memorial services of the four men who had died during the past year were held. Short and appropriate addresses were made by Fathers Ross, Green, and the Bishop. The minutes were read and approved. The appointments were read and the conference adjourned. If we mistake not this conference has done much for the strengthening of Methodism and an earnest Christianity, not only in Alexandria, but through the State of Louisiana. We most confidently expect excellent fruit in every department of Church work. May the going forth from this session be more glorious than any former conference.

To the church, as to the individual Christian, it must be said, "Have salt in yourselves." Says Joseph Cook, "Show me the church that is willing to wash the feet of the degraded; show me the church that goes about from house to house doing good; show me the church organized for permanent, aggressive, audacious, moral effort; show me the church that has not lost its Master's whip of small cords, and I will show you the church and the only church that can save America when it has two hundred inhabitants to the square mile." Dr. Hartzell in New Orleans.

Just preceding the session of the Louisiana Conference, which he attended in his official capacity as assistant corresponding secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, Dr. Hartzell passed several days very pleasantly among his numerous friends in this city. He was warmly welcomed by them, and occupied several pulpits on their earnest invitation. On Sunday evening, January 28, at Ames' Church, he lectured on the Southern educational problem, and interested his audience with an outline of the national movement to secure national aid for education in the South on the basis of illiteracy. Facts and figures of the late census were arrayed in an apt and telling manner, and it no doubt gave his hearers a better understanding of the practical bearing of the national aid movement than they had acquired from any previous source.

The New Orleans Picayune, of February 1, publishes some of those facts as given to a representative of that paper. From it may be learned that an assembly of leading educators, co-operated with by Gen. Eaton, commissioner of education, was held last summer, and a committee was organized, of which Bishop Simpson was chairman, with a view of arousing public sentiment in favor of the measure. Dr. Curry, agent of the Peabody Fund, of Virginia; Dr. A. G. Haygood, of Georgia, and Dr. Hartzell, of Louisiana, are among the prominent Southern members of the committee. Senators Blair, of New Hampshire; Hoar, of Massachusetts, and Saunders of Nebraska, are leading members of Congress. We quote from the Picayune:

"Does this measure propose to interfere with the State public school system?" the reporter asked.

"Not at all," replied the Doctor; only to supplement them with more money. No proposition before Congress proposes to supplant but only to supplement what the States do for themselves."

"How about the supervision of this sum, if given; will the State control it, or the General Government, or both?"

"It is probable that here will be the greatest difficulty. Those who fear Federal encroachments upon State prerogatives will want the gift to be absolute and without any Federal supervision whatever. A medium ground will probably prevail, so that the States will have full control practically, and still the General Government have sufficient protective power to see that the money is properly used."

"Where would most of the money go, if it is given?"

"The South would get the lion's share. Of the 36,761,607 people in the United States ten years of age and over, 6,239,958 cannot write; that is, 17 per cent., or nearly one-fifth. Of this number nearly three-fourths are in the Southern States; so that three-fourths of the money given would come South. Louisiana, for example, has 318,380 persons ten years of age and over who cannot write. That is just about one-half of all the persons in the State ten years of age and over. Of these, 58,951 are whites, and 259,429 are colored. Out of $15,000,000, Louisiana would be entitled to perhaps $700,000 a year. The Blair bill, which is the most popular, provides that the States must do at least as much for themselves as they would get from Washington."

"What are the principal arguments used in favor of the measure?"

"1. In a Republic, where every man votes, so vast a mass of ignorance, including nearly 2,000,000 voters who cannot read their ballots, is a tremendous menace to the nation's safety. The nation ought, therefore, help educate all her citizens.

"2. The great bulk of our illiterate masses are in the South, where the devastations of the late war were terrible, and where a vast proportion of the people are poor.

"3. In the South are 6,500,000 of the 7,000,000 colored people or the nation, nearly eighty per cent. of which are still in ignorance. It is felt that the whole nation should help to educate them.

"4. Such notional sympathy and aid to those who need it the most, would have a powerful influence in bringing about perfect unity of sentiment and feeling throughout the nation. Gov. Orr, of Georgia, in writing to me on this point, says: 'Nothing has so touched the hearts of thousands in the South, as this effort of so many prominent men in the North to secure national aid, when three-fourths of the money would come South.'

"5. Then, again, the policy of the General Government has always been to aid public school education. Millions of acres of land, representing vast sums of money, went years ago to many Northern States, by the setting apart of certain proportions of the public domain in the Western Territories. The distribution of the agricultural funds a few years ago to all the States is an illustration. The policy is therefore a fixed one, and has had the support of all the Presidents from Washington to Arthur, and also of our best statesmen. Every sentiment of patriotic statesmanship must favor the education of our ignorant voters. Where for any reason the States can only do a part of this work, surely the National Government ought to supplement what the States do.

'The great churches in the North have done much in [illegible] South since and th[illegible] that the sentiment of the North would sustain a large appropriation from the National Treasury for this work."

"What has the benevolence of the North done in educational works in the South since the war?"

"A good deal. The Freedmen's Bureau was a national benevolence of $5,250,000, perhaps not always spent wisely, in help for the freedmen at first. Many individuals have given largely. Peabody gave $3,000,000; Vanderbilt $1,000,000 for a Southern Methodist University at Nashville; Tulane's million comes to New Orleans; Slater gives $1,000,000 to help educate the colored people, and a Southern man, Dr. Haygood, of Georgia, has become its agent. Many others have given a hundred thousand dollars and less. Then the great churches of the North have poured in money and sent hundreds of their best men and women in the South to plant schools and churches.

"The Methodist Episcopal church alone has spent more than $4,000,000 in the South since the war.—This church has built in the Southern States 6,385 new churches in that time, and has had a growth in membership of 325,000 communicants in the same time and on the same territory. The Southern School work of this church has grown to include forty-three seminaries and colleges with 6,500 advanced students. These churches and schools are about equally divided between white and colored people. Other churches have done much, until more than $10,000,000 have been expended in the South by educational societies of Northern churches. Add together what individuals and church organizations have done in this work since 1864, and the amount is fully $25,000,000. This is a magnificent expression from the heart of the nation toward the South, in her time of special need since the war.

"In an address before the Senate Committee at Washington last summer, I referred to these facts, and several Southern Senators and others, recognized their vast significance in preparing the way for this national movement for aid from the national treasury."

"Are many Southern men joining this movement?"

"Yes; Senator Bown, of Georgia; Gov. Colquitt, of the same State, and many others are heartily committed to the matter. Three Southern Legislatures have instructed their Senators and Representatives to support the measure. The names of 30,000 petitioners from the South are already before Congress. Still after all, the South is not yet thoroughly waked up on this subject. It is not a political movement. Men of all parties support it. A few Southern papers like the Picayune have discussed the matter to good effect. But if more of the leading papers and men in the Southern States would bring their influence to bear directly upon Congress at once, it would have great weight.

"The correspondence of our committee shows that the North is ready with a hearty amen to approve the measure. If the Southern States want this aid they can have it, in my judgment. The bills are now on the calendar at Washington, and time for their consideration in both the Senate and House fixed."

"Do you know President Arthur's views on this subject?"

"He is understood to favor the movement. I have had two interviews with him on the subject, and his words in his last message indicate his views."

Taking a Church Paper.

The following is from an exchange, and it reads just as well after we insert the name of our paper: "Do you take a church paper?" "No. I'm too poor, or the boys don't like it. I take a paper that publishes murders, thefts, robberies, swindles, forgeries, prize fights, executions, the details of adulteries and divorce suits, political abuse, and often makes fun of religion. These things are news. But the SOUTHWESTERN is dry. It only publishes about religion, and my duty to God and my duty to man. It tells about revivals and church dedications, and repairs, with some notices of those who die happy in the Lord. It is very urgent on the temperance matter, and tells how that matter stands. It tells about missionary work in Europe, Asia and Africa. It tells about the movements of conferences, bishops, presiding elders, preachers, and church work generally. It has fine literary contributions that benefit all who read them; but, then, that kind of reading is dry." "And you expect your children to grow up Christians, interested in church work? Mystery of mysteries! What a man soweth he shall also reap."

Take Our Church Manual.

For fifty cents a year any one can keep himself fully informed as to the benevolent and publishing work of the Methodist Episcopal church through this admirable little quarterly. The January number is just out and is worth more than the cost for a full year. The first article on "Our Southern Work," by Dr. Hartzell, should be carefully read by every Methodist. The missionary department includes "The Progress of Christianity," illustrated by colored diagrams from Dr. Dorchester's great work, a refutation of the idle vaporings of infidelity on that subject, which the eye can take in at a glance and the memory retain forever. The little map in the church extension department, [illegible] red crosses, shows eleven months' work, given more in detail in the summary of the report for the fiscal year 1882, (11 mos.) while the tabulated report of frontier churches is an argument none can resist. You will involuntarily turn the map over and from the reverse side sing the new church-extension song,

> "All hail the power of Jesus name;
> "We're building two a day."

Our space will not permit special notice of each department. All are well sustained; we do not see how any Methodist, who cares to know what his church is doing, can afford to be without this publication. Of course every preacher will have it and will know its contents. Let every layman who reads this immediately send fifty cents to his pastor and ask him to order the manual, or order it direct of Phelps & Hunt, 805 Broadway, New York.

We have heard and read many good things, but we seldom come across a galaxy of words—pictures that reveal to us so much of truth and beauty, and that bring to the mind so forcibly, the adage that "the world is just what we make it," than the following from an exchange: "The world is a looking-glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face.—Frown at it and it will turn and look sourly upon you, laugh at it and with it, and it is a pleasant, kind companion."

State treasurer J. H. Vincent, of Alabama, had not filed a bond acceptable to Gov. O'Neil, and fearing an investigation, hurriedly departed, leaving a note for his chief clerk in which he announced that treasury funds were short, and he was going to New York to raise the money to cover the deficit. A hurried investigation disclosed the fact that near $300,000 were missing, used in general speculation. This is the third State heard from. Here is the record: Arkansas $115,000; Tennessee $400,000; Alabama $300,000. Total $815,000. The present General Assembly of Arkansas is in no hurry to prosecute Churchill; a generous Tennessee judge reduced Polk's bail to $50,000, and a "friend" chatted with Vincent in Nashville a short time after his leave-taking. The air is full of reports of copartners in these crimes implicating prominent political leaders. The old Bourbon cry against the "corruption" of Radical rule, mainly due (so far as it is supported by truth) to Bourbon purchase of the votes, and division of spoils with ignorant and guilty legislators, will not, we presume, be heard so loudly in this Southland for some time. The governments reared up on fraudulent issues, and largely by fraudulent ballots, are bearing their legitimate fruit. Pure government cannot be expected from apostles of either sectional or financial dishonesty.

—Prof. Alexander Dimitry, born in New Orleans, February 7, 1805, died January 30th in the seventy-eighth year of his age. He was educated at Georgetown University, D. C., and founded the New Orleans Bee. In 1839 he was appointed secretary of a board of commissioners to adjust claims between citizens of the United States and Mexico, by President Van Buren. Soon after the Louisiana Legislature elected him president of Franklin College. In 1845 he was elected State Superintendent of Education by the Legislature, and assisted in drafting the system then adopted. In 1854 he was selected by W. L. Marcy, Secretary of State, to take charge of the foreign correspondence and translation in the State Department. In this position he remained until in 1858 he was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Central America to adjust transit and claims questions. Coming South after war commenced he became Chief of the Finance Bureau of the Confederate Postoffice department. He was a fine linguist, thoroughly conversant with many ancient and modern languages, and also deeply read in European politics and history. He was highly esteemed by a very large circle of friends, and passed away peacefully, after receiving the last rites from his esteemed church, the Roman Catholic.

TEXAS.

W. H. Jackson, San Felipe: "I came to my work Dec. 28, and found the members very poor, and influenced by the M. E. church. Pray for us.

A. Brown, Mexia: "The people are poor but willing. We have a good Sunday-school and are going to build a church. We have two places of worship. The people want a church, and I feel encouraged to help them."

ARKANSAS.

Rev. G. E. Cunningham, pastor at Texarkana, Ark. conference, writes to the Central: "We have a most comfortable church, built after the plan No. 5.C, in Church Extension catalogue. Including the lot, it is worth $2,400; and when the tower is finished and some furnishing put inside it will be worth $3000. It is called a model church. Our growth has been gradual and permanent. We now have an acknowledged foothold and our work is a recognized need in this town. Our Sundy-school numbering 400, is doing a grand work. In every particular our Methodism is making itself felt in this town. A branch school of the Little Rock University has been established here and it is doing successful work under Prof. Eaton."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON VI. February 11. NONE OTHER NAME. (Acts iv, 1-14)

Peter and John talked to the people about Jesus, and many heard them gladly. So many believed that the priests had put them in prison. Peter and John were in prison all night. In the morning they brought them before the Jewish court, and asked by what power they did these great things. Peter stood before them bold and strong, and said, "By the power of Jesus whom ye crucified." All the honor and praise Peter gave to Jesus. He had been a coward once when he denied Jesus, but he is brave enough now. These men can kill him, but he stands before them and is not afraid to speak the truth.

Then Peter said the words of the text, "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." The Jews heard, and could not speak one word against all he said. They could not deny it because the lame man was there, no longer lame, but well and strong. All they could do was to let Peter and John go free, telling them not to preach about Jesus any more.

This is the first time since Jesus died that his disciples were persecuted, but we know it was not the last.

Peter preached so well because he loved Jesus so well. The very sermon he preached is that every one who loves Jesus must preach. None other name. Nothing can save us but the name of Jesus written on our hearts. No matter how good you can be, kind to the poor and kind to all, it will not help you unless you ask Jesus to forgive your sins and take you for his child.

The more you love Jesus the better work you can do for him. Jesus in your heart will make your life beautiful even if you wear a ragged coat and are without shoes.—Western.

Delegate-elect Singiser, of Idaho, says Mormonism is making inroads in his Territory and in the present Legislature there are ten followers of Joseph Smith. Mr. Singiser maintains that radical measures are necessary, as proselyting is carried on openly, and converts are taught to disrespect the laws of the country and offer insult to the American flag. The Mormons number about one-third of the 65,000 inhabitants.

DEATHS.

Sister Lucinda Hayden, wife of Rev. Robt. Hayden, passed to the Heavenly world, January 7, 1883, at her son-in-law's house, Geo. Jordan, one mile from Moores chapel, of the Columbus circuit, while waiting on her sick daughter. She was about 60 years of age; she was converted 40 years ago, and joined the M. E. Church South, in Columbus, Miss., and promptly united herself to the M. E. Church at Moores chapel, 13 years ago, of which she remained a devout, exemplary useful member, thoroughly consecrated to God. Her zeal for his glory, and the salvation of others was accompanied with an uncompromising, and and fearless antagonism toward sin and the follies of the world; and yet her meekness, gentleness, and sacrifice for others; her untiring devotion to the cause of Christ, her patience in suffering and love for all that was good, true and noble, greatly endeared her to all who knew her best. Her last words were, for her children, and grand children to come to her bedside; she told them her work was not to do, it was already done. Her husband, Rev. R. Hayden, preceded her several years. She is gone to join him and several of their children to praise his name together. She leaves three sons, preachers, and five daughters, all of the M. E. Church, several grand children, and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Moores chapel has lost one of her main props; another daughter in Israel.

Sister Mary Priest, a convert of Moores Chapel, departed this life, Jan. 12th, 1883. She was converted in our last protracted meeting, at Moores Chapel, Sept. 1882, and united with said church.

J. J. HARRIS.

Columbus, Miss., Jan. 13.

John Medlock died Jan. 3, aged 59 years. He belonged to the church 32 years, and he leaves a wife and nine children to mourn his loss. God waft his spirit home.
A. BROWN.

Mexia, Texas.

Brother Lit. Mitchell, departed this life Jan. 5th 1883. Brother Mitchell is said to have been a faithful member of the church. He died in full triumph of living faith.

Alfred Vaughn died Jan. 7th, 1883. He leaves several brothers and friends to mourn.

Father Jack Duncan, a local deacon, a member of our church, died Dec. 23, 1882. Father Duncan died in Nashville, and was buried in Murfreesboro, Tenn. He was a preacher before the war; he had done much good in the cause of Christ. He died in full triumph of living faith, and the Lord received him.

Every Lady Should Read.
LOUISVILLE LADIES' PURCHASING AGENCY.
The undersigned, with additional facilities and after a long and successful experience in the purchasing business, desires to again call especial attention to her arrangements for filling orders from a distance, for every article, to the complete satisfaction of those who may honor her with their patronage.
A specialty is made of buying and superintending the manufacture of TROUSSEAU, and the ordering and trimming of BONNETS and HATS. Children's suits will be made to order, and Patterns, Dresses and Cloaks cut and basted. A mistake has never been made in fitting any article of dress and no charge will be made if complete satisfaction is not given.
Hundreds of patrons can be referred to who will certify as to successful operation of Agency. Every manufactured article will be prepared by a leading artist in their particular line.
Hats, Cloaks, Gloves, Hosiery, Jewelry, Cuffs, Collars, Lace, Ribbons, Carpets, Furniture, and Furnishing Goods, and every article of wear or Domestic use bought upon the most favorable terms. Feathers and Gloves cleaned and dyed. Private arrangements with the most skillful modistes and leading wholesale and retail merchants in every line enable her to hold out rare inducements by which from 10 to 50 per cent. can be saved by buying through this Agency.
Every article sent out will be chosen with the greatest care. Everything manufactured is made under personal supervision and will be of the best material, finest finish, and in the latest modes. If more elegance in style, more beauty of material, and more complete work for the same money can be obtained through this Agency, it is to the interest of ladies desiring to dress well, to patronize it.
The large clearing and bankrupt sales in the city continually present magnificent opportunities for getting great bargains. Samples sent free upon receipt of stamp, and full information as to style and mode. Correspondence solicited. It costs little to mail a letter, and it will be promptly and satisfactorily answered.
The Louisville Market is especially adapted to the Southern taste, and it will be found to give better satisfaction than either Philadelphia or New York, while prices are really less. There is an elegance, conservatism and grace in the dressing of Southern Ladies which cannot be imitated, and which is one of their ... charms. To maintain this is one of the chief ... of the Manager of this Agency. Any ... made or purchased East, will be duplicated ... per cent. off. Refers by permission to Rev. ... Robinson, D. D., W. N. OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

B. L. Beal, New Orleans: "On Sunday, January 14, Thomson Chapel received the second visit from the G. G. U. O. B. S. L. C., and $40 was raised for benevolent purposes. This society is doing a heroic work among the churches, under the guidance of their popular leader, Rev. Graham Bell. Conspicuous among the members of the Tabernacle was the loyal Rev. M. Dyer, who gave the first dollar for the missionary cause, and the members of Love and Charity donated $14. May Israel's God grant special favor to the organization, and may hundreds be added to their numbers."

TENNESSEE.

A. Phillips, Murfreesboro: "A sad accident befell one of our Sunday-school scholars, Wiley Anderson. He shot himself in the hand with a toy pistol and afterwards died of lockjaw. He was just 12 years old, and passed away bravely and in full faith."

A. P. Blakemore, Springfield:—"The winter is, in an important sense, the harvest time in our towns and cities, and should therefore be diligently improved. It is also the season for dissipation and revelings. The theatres, concert halls, saloons, and worst places of amusement and sin will all be open and in full blast. Superintendents and teachers should look carefully after the youth in their schools, and warn them to shun the use of whisky and tobacco.

TEXAS.

E. E. Cooper, Oakland: "Please correct a mistake make in your issue of 4th inst. You made me say I had paid $50 out of $240. My friends paid the $50 beside the $240. Toland's chapel with 60 members paid $50."

John L. Smith, Millican: "We are striving for great success this year. Have already raised $18.95 for the personage, which is not quite completed. It was begun by the former pastor, Rev. E. Lee, and we are waiting now for the shingles. I am doing all I can for the SOUTHWESTERN."

D. Edmonds, Pleasanton: "I was taken sick the second day after reaching this work, but was soon up and able to visit it. It is in a prosperous condition. The Sabbath schools are dull at present from not having places to meet in. Our church building is nearly complete and we will soon be able to hold Sabbath-school in it."

G. Norman, Austin: "I found my work just as good as could be expected, considering that three denominations—Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist and Baptist—meet in the same house. We have no church on the whole work, but a live set of people, and we expect to build at two points this year. I feel that I have a good people to work with, and a good presiding elder ... C. L. SORE THROAT.—Sore throats, if they are attended to at the outset, can easily be cured; if neglected, they are liable to cause considerable trouble. One who has tried it communicated the following for the cure of sore throat: Let each one of your readers buy at any drug store one ounce of camphorated oil and five cents worth of chlorate of potash. When any soreness appears in the throat put the potash in a tumbler full of water, add the camphorated oil and with it gargle the throat thoroughly at night before going to bed, and also pin around the throat a small strip of woolen flannel.

SULPHUR FOR PIGS.—It is surprising to those not acquainted to see how much crude sulphur pigs will eat when fattening. It should be given to them every few days; or, what is better yet, be kept in the pens where they can help themselves to it. When pigs are fed a large amount of hearty food their stomach becomes disordered and they need sulphur and charcoal to neutralize the acidity and to correct the condition of the stomach. When it is given to them plentifully they will eat better, digest more and are freer from bowel disorders. These correctives help to keep the blood pure and the skin free from affections.—Rural New Yorker.

In washing lawns or muslins use a little gum arabic water in the starch. It can be prepared by adding two ounces of powdered gum arabic to a pint of boiling water. Let it stand until cold and bottle for use. A spoonful stirred into the starch when made, imparts a new look to the material which can be obtained in no other way. A crumpled muslin or lawn may be lightly sprinkled with very dilute gum arabic water and iron on the wrong side without washing. It makes it quite fresh.

Powdered alum sprinkled under the edges of a carpet is said to keep away moths.

 "Skill and patience succeed where force fails." The quiet skill and patient research which brought forth Kidney-Wort illustrates the truth of the fable. Its grand success everywhere is admitted. Disease never comes to us without a cause. Ask any good physician the reason and he will tell you something interferes with the working of the great organs. Kidney-Wort enables them to overcome all obstructions and preserves perfect health. Try a box or bottle at once.

We did not come into the world to astonish our brethren with dignified manners. Some brethren have the art of repelling people by their astonishing dignity. They are men, and great men, and they let everybody see it. I saw a footman, the other day, decked out with gold all over; and, after a little while, I saw his master, not better dressed than I am. I could not help thinking that there are some ministers that are a deal more important than Jesus Christ was. —Spurgeon.

Folly in Waiting.

It is the height of folly to wait until you are in bed with disease that may last months when you can be cured by a timely use of Parker's Ginger Tonic. We have known sickly families made the healthiest by it.—Observer.

Let us serve God in the sunshine while He makes the sun shine. We shall then serve Him better in the dark when He sends the darkness. It is sure to come. Only let our light be God's light, and our darkness God's darkness, and we shall be safe at home when the great nightfall comes.—F. W. Faber.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

The countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes of a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach; at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

Imagine John the Baptist in the wilderness of Judea, trying to rouse the Jewish nation by preaching to them about book-marks and altar-clothes and geraniums and roses! Imagine Peter, in the Pentecostal sermon, attended by an alto and soprano and tenor—and the best pieces from the repertoire of the Italian Opera! Paul tells us of the justification by faith, of Christ crucified, of a world lying in wickedness; what would we think of the great apostle to the Gentiles if he had written about book-marks and floral decorations, and the color of vestments and table colors, and tenors and contraltos and baritones?—Central Presbyterian.

When one is sick advice is plenty, but not always the best. A good rule is to accept only such medicines as have, after long years of trial, proved worthy of confidence. This is a case where other people's experience may be of great service, and it has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best cough medicine ever used.

A little more of the product of the cow in the shape of beef, milk and butter, and a little less of fried western bacon, would render us a hardier, more energetic and more civilized people than we now are. So much for diversified farming.—Planter's Journal.

The Silver Toned Church Bells made since 1844, at the Old Established Baltimore Bell Foundry, by J. Regester & Sons, are daily being demanded throughout the entire country. A fine descriptive circular and prices of these church bells will be sent free to any one contemplating the purchase or gift of a bell, by addressing the Baltimore Bell Foundry, Baltimore, Md.

In the U. S. Court four of the masked night raiders of Faulkner and Van Buren county have been apprehended and brought to trial before Commissioner Goodrich, and three have been held to appear before the grand jury of the next term of court; in default of $2,000 bail, they were sent to the pen for safe keeping. The ones committed are Samuel McDaniel, Jas. Holland and Dave Wardwell. An example should be made of them.—Arkansas Mansion.

Please do not jerk and whip and pound and abuse that horse or team as you often do. No cowardice is so low as that which abuses dumb animals. To abuse any creature that is helpless is cruel cowardly and indicative of a coarse, brutal nature. Please be merciful to your horses and cattle and you will never regret it.

A man once took a piece of white cloth to a dyer, to have it dyed black. He was so pleased with the result that after a time he went back to the dyer with a piece of black cloth, and asked to have it dyed white. But the dyer answered, "A piece of cloth is like a man's reputation; it can be dyed black, but it cannot be made white again."

Alexander H. Stephens, the newly elected governor of Georgia, is seemingly doing the best he can to turn the sentences of the criminal courts of that State into a farce by his wholesale pardon of outrageous offenders. Since his election he has pardoned or commuted the sentence of forty-nine penitentiary convicts, including twelve murderers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational signing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev. C. H. Collins.

Lost Friends.

[We make no charge for publishing these letter from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.]

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to learn the whereabouts of brother and sister. Brother's named Jacob Winchester—belonged to a man named Winchester; lived in Franklin county, Ala. Mother was born in Marshall county, Ala., in 1830. Sister's named Amanda Brister, belonged to a man named Numore, lived in DeKalb county, Ala.; she was born in 1833 in Marshall county, Ala. My name is Chas. Banks. You will please write me at Curtis, Ark.; or to Rev. B. J. Donnell, Prescott, Ark., Box 107.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire to inquire for my sisters and brothers, named Annette, Rosette, Henriette, James, Florient, Melindy and Davie. They were sold by Tom Charleton, from Eaton, and carried to Savannah, Georgia. Address me at No. 186 St. Philip, between Marais and Treme streets, New Orleans.

JEANETTE CHARLTON.

DEAR EDITOR:—I would like to hear of my brother, Charley Sudbury. He left Dyer county in time of the war. He belonged to John Sudbury. He left mother, three girls and one boy—Nancy, Bithey, Amy and Luke. Mother has been dead about two years. I live in the same neighborhood. Address me at Sharon, Tennessee, care of Rev. J. J. Barr.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zachariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left her in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted in Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette, Mo. She and I went to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address,

What Are Clouds?

Though the clouds are such familiar objects, very little is known about them, and the processes by which they are formed and give back their moisture to the earth are unsolved mysteries.

They cannot be classified as belonging to the solid, fluid or gaseous form of matter. Yet they are defined as being "a collection of watery particles in the state of vapor, suspended in the air." If they are ordinary vapor, they must be governed by the laws which affect vapors. Brande defines vapor thus: "When liquids and certain solids are heated, they become converted into elastic fluids or vapors, which differ from gases in this respect, that they are not under the common circumstances permanently elastic, but resume the liquid or solid form when cooled down to the ordinary temperature." According to this definition, clouds cannot be composed of ordinary vapor, for under all conditions their temperature must be below the condensing point of water vapor.

At the elevations at which clouds are often seen, they are in the regions of perpetual congelation; and as they float above the highest mountains they must be exposed, even in the sunshine, and certainly in the night, when the solar heat is not poured upon them, to temperatures colder than those of the frigid zones.—C. Morfit, in Popular Science Monthly.

The New York Herald says Cornelius Aultman is loudly cried for by Ohio Republicans for Governor. "He is a rich manufacturer of threshing machines. So the machine men have taken another State. Aultman lately gave $25,000 to build a Methodist church at Canton; his partner did nearly as well by the Baptist church there." We add that if the Ohio Republicans would find a better man for governor, they would have to employ a large detective force.—Pittsburg Advocate.

Prayer will make a man cease from sin, or sin will entice a man to cease from prayer.—Bunyan.

DR. HARTER'S ... PURIFIES THE BLOOD ... IRON TONIC.

REV. ... writes:—After a thorough trial of the IRON TONIC, I take pleasure in stating that I have been greatly benefited by its use. Ministers and Public Speakers will find it of the greatest value where a Tonic is necessary. I recommend it as a reliable remedial agent, possessing undoubted nutritive and restorative properties. Louisville, Ky., Oct. 2, 1882.

A WONDERFUL and
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

R. L. Beal, New Orleans: "On Sunday, January 14, Thomson Chapel received the second visit from the G. G. U. O. B. S. L. C., and $40 was raised for benevolent purposes. This society is doing a heroic work among the churches, under the guidance of their popular leader, Rev. Graham Bell. Conspicuous among the members of the Tabernacle was the loyal Rev. M. Dyer, who gave the first dollar for the missionary cause, and the members of Love and Charity donated $14. May Israel's God grant special favor to the organization, and may hundreds be added to their numbers."

TENNESSEE.

A. Phillips, Murfreesboro: "A sad accident befell one of our Sunday-school scholars, Wiley Anderson. He shot himself in the hand with a toy pistol and afterwards died of lockjaw. He was just 12 years old, and passed away bravely and in full faith."

A. P. Blakemore, Springfield:—"The winter is, in an important sense, the harvest time in our towns and cities, and should therefore be diligently improved. It is also the season for dissipation and revelings. The theatres, concert halls, saloons, and worst places of amusement and sin will all be open and in full blast. Superintendents and teachers should look carefully after the youth in their schools, and warn them to shun the use of whisky and tobacco.

TEXAS.

E. E. Cooper, Oakland: "Please correct a mistake make in your issue of 4th inst. You made me say I had paid $50 out of $240. My friends paid the $50 beside the $240. Toland's chapel with 60 members paid $50."

John L. Smith, Millican: "We are striving for great success this year. Have already raised $18.95 for the parsonage, which is not quite completed. It was begun by the former pastor, Rev. E. Lee, and we are waiting now for the shingles. I am doing all I can for the SOUTHWESTERN."

D. Edmonds, Pleasanton: "I was taken sick the second day after reaching this work, but was soon up and able to visit it. It is in a prosperous condition. The Sabbath schools are dull at present from not having places to meet in. Our church building is nearly complete and we will soon be able to hold Sabbath-school in it."

G. Norman, Austin: "I found my work just as good as could be expected, considering that three denominations—Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist and Baptist—meet in the same house. We have no church on the whole work, but a live set of people, and we expect to build at two points this year. I feel that I have a good people to work with, and a good presiding elder in C. L. Stedman. Pray for us."

SORE THROAT.—Sore throats, if they are attended to at the outset, can easily be cured; if neglected, they are liable to cause considerable trouble. One who has tried it communicated the following for the cure of sore throat: Let each one of your readers buy at any drug store one ounce of camphorated oil and five cents worth of chlorate of potash. When any soreness appears in the throat put the potash in a tumbler full of water, add the camphorated oil and with it gargle the throat thoroughly at night before going to bed, and also pin around the throat a small strip of woolen flannel.

SULPHUR FOR PIGS.—It is surprising to those not acquainted to see how much crude sulphur pigs will eat when fattening. It should be given to them every few days; or, what is better yet, be kept in the pens where they can help themselves to it. When pigs are fed a large amount of hearty food their stomach becomes disordered and they need sulphur and charcoal to neutralize the acidity and to correct the condition of the stomach. When it is given to them plentifully they will eat better, digest more and are freer from bowel disorders. These correctives help to keep the blood pure and the skin free from affections.—Rural New Yorker.

In washing lawns or muslins use a little gum arabic water in the starch. It can be prepared by adding two ounces of powdered gum arabic to a pint of boiling water. Let it stand until cold and bottle for use. A spoonful stirred into the starch when made, imparts a new look to the material which can be obtained in no other way. A crumpled muslin or lawn may be lightly sprinkled with very dilute gum arabic water and iron on the wrong side without washing. It makes it quite fresh.

Powdered alum sprinkled under the edges of a carpet is said to keep away moths.

 "Skill and patience succeed where force fails." The quiet skill and patient research which brought forth Kidney-Wort illustrates the truth of the fable. Its grand success everywhere is admitted. Disease never comes to us without a cause. Ask any good physician the reason and he will tell you something interferes with the working of the great organs. Kidney-Wort enables them to overcome all obstructions and preserves perfect health. Try a box or bottle at once.

We did not come into the world to astonish our brethren with dignified manners. Some brethren have the art of repelling people by their astonishing dignity. They are men, and great men, and they let everybody see it. I saw a footman, the other day, decked out with gold all over; and, after a little while, I saw his master, not better dressed than I am. I could not help thinking that there are some ministers that are a deal more important than Jesus Christ was. —Spurgeon.

Folly in Waiting.

It is the height of folly to wait until you are in bed with disease that may last months when you can be cured by a timely use of Parker's Ginger Tonic. We have known sickly families made the healthiest by it.—Observer.

Let us serve God in the sunshine while He makes the sun shine. We shall then serve Him better in the dark when He sends the darkness. It is sure to come. Only let our light be God's light, and our darkness God's darkness, and we shall be safe at home when the great nightfall comes.—F. W. Faber.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

The countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes of a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach; at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist, DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

In buying Vermifuge be sure you get the DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE. Flemming Bros., Sole Proprs., Pittsburgh, Pa. The market is full of worthless vermifuges. If the Fleming Bros. Vermifuge is not in your town, it will be sent by express on receipt of price.

Imagine John the Baptist in the wilderness of Judea, trying to rouse the Jewish nation by preaching to them about book-marks and altar-clothes and geraniums and roses! Imagine Peter, in the Pentecostal sermon, attended by an alto and soprano and tenor—and the best pieces from the repertoire of the Italian Opera! Paul tells us of the justification by faith, of Christ crucified, of a world lying in wickedness; what would we think of the great apostle to the Gentiles if he had written about book-marks and floral decorations, and the color of vestments and table colors, and tenors and contraltos and baritones?—Central Presbyterian.

When one is sick advice is plenty, but not always the best. A good rule is to accept only such medicines as have, after long years of trial, proved worthy of confience. This is a case where other people's experience may be of great service, and it has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best cough medicine ever used.

A little more of the product of the cow in the shape of beef, milk and butter, and a little less of fried western bacon, would render us a hardier, more energetic and more civilized people than we now are. So much for diversified farming.—Planter's Journal.

A man once took a piece of white cloth to a dyer, to have it dyed black. He was so pleased with the result that after a time he went back to the dyer with a piece of black cloth, and asked to have it dyed white. But the dyer answered, "A piece of cloth is like a man's reputation; it can be dyed black, but it cannot be made white again."

Alexander H. Stephens, the newly elected governor of Georgia, is seemingly doing the best he can to turn the sentences of the criminal courts of that State into a farce by his wholesale pardon of outrageous offenders. Since his election he has pardoned or commuted the sentence of forty-nine penitentiary convicts, including twelve murderers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tale. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev. C. H. Collins.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to learn the whereabouts of brother and sister. Brother's named Jacob Winchester—belonged to a man named Winchester; lived in Franklin county, Ala. Mother was born in Marshall county, Ala., in 1830. Sister's named Amanda Brister, belonged to a man named Nnmore, lived in DeKalb connty, Ala.; she was born in 1833 in Marshall county, Ala. My name is Chas. Banks. You will please write me at Curtis, Ark.; or to Rev. B. J. Donnell, Prescott, Ark., Box 107.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire to inquire for my sisters and brothers, named Annette, Rosette, Henriette, James, Florient, Melindy and Davie. They were sold by Tom Charleton, from Eaton, and carried to Savannah, Georgia. Address me at No. 186 St. Philip, between Marais and Treme streets, New Orleans.

JEANETTE CHARLTON.

DEAR EDITOR:—I would like to hear of my brother, Charley Sudbury. He left Dyer county in time of the war. He belonged to John Sudbury. He left mother, three girls and one boy—Nancy, Bithey, Amy and Luke. Mother has been dead about two years. I live in the same neighborhood. Address me at Sharon, Tennessee, care of Rev. J. J. Barr.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zachariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left her in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted in Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette, Mo. She and I went to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address,

What Are Clouds?

Though the clouds are such familiar objects, very little is known about them, and the processes by which they are formed and give back their moisture to the earth are unsolved mysteries.

They cannot be classified as belonging to the solid, fluid or gaseous form of matter. Yet they are defined as being "a collection of watery particles in the state of vapor, suspended in the air." If they are ordinary vapor, they must be governed by the laws which affect vapors. Brande defines vapor thus: "When liquids and certain solids are heated, they become converted into elastic fluids or vapors, which differ from gases in this respect, that they are not under the common circumstances permanently elastic, but resume the liquid or solid form when cooled down to the ordinary temperature." According to this definition, clouds cannot be composed of ordinary vapor, for under all conditions their temperature must be below the condensing point of water vapor.

At the elevations at which clouds are often seen, they are in the regions of perpetual congelation; and as they float above the highest mountains they must be exposed, even in the sunshine, and certainly in the night, when the solar heat is not poured upon them, to temperatures colder than those of the frigid zones.—C. Morfit, in Popular Science Monthly.

The New York Herald says Cornelius Aultman is loudly cried for by Ohio Republicans for Governor. "He is a rich manufacturer of threshing machines. So the machine men have taken another State. Aultman lately gave $25,000 to build a Methodist church at Canton; his partner did nearly as well by the Baptist church there." We add that if the Ohio Republicans would find a better man for governor, they would have to employ a large detective force.—Pittsburg Advocate.

Prayer will make a man cease from sin, or sin will entice a man to cease from prayer.—Bunyan.

A WONDERFUL and
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, so when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUZE, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

Steene, of Cleves, Ohio; T. T. Carpenter, of Watson, and Jesse Mundy of Princeton circuit, all pastors of those respective charges, came up nobly to his help. The result was, the shout of a king in the camp, a sin-killing and soul-reviving season. The slain have been many, and the ranks of the enemy very much thinned; 23 capitulated, who now swear allegiance to King Jesus, and greatly strengthening the little Gibsonville society. Their fourth quarterly meeting takes place the first Sunday in February, and the pastor informs the writer that indebtedness on church property, improvements, repairs, etc., will have been paid up to $150. For them to raise, as they have, $700, during the last few months and pay their preachers, is doing very well indeed. Besides, by conference time—the 25th of March ensuing—he will be able to report his collections taken, as he believes, over the assessments. The improvement to the church is intended as a class-room and study for the pastor; during this winter it has been improvised for a parsonage—Bro. Turner and his wife occupying it, till better quarters may be secured, and for the sake of economy, which is also commendable.

Previous to the revival services—which, by the way, are continued nightly still—a rally was made for voters to sign the petitions on the amendments now before the Indiana Legislature, for the prohibition of the liquor traffic, resulting in large numbers attending church, subscribing their names.

Rev. Hammond, P. E. of the Indiana district, and his compeer, Rev. Dr. Taylor of the Ohio district, are doing a grand work in extending the borders of the Lexington conference, making a record worth the reading, when they "shuck up," as old Dr. Bond used to say at conference. Rev. Thos. L[illegible], who came to us from A. M. E. Zion less than a year since, is accomplishing grand results by the blessing of God, in the new and feeble charge at Springfield, Ohio.

A grand work is going on at old Wall street M. E. church in this city, souls converted every evening and many satisfied, Rev. Dr. G. L. Curties, pastor. More anon.

Traits of a Methodist.

BY REV. JOHN POUCHER.

The Methodist feels called upon to hit at a snake's head wherever and whenever he sees it. He may be guilty of some improprieties and awkwardness in the way he fights the devil, but he manages to make a good score in defense of the right. Occasionally by his zeal he will drive away some of his own communion, but he usually makes up the loss from others who admire his spirit and takes up his cause. Your best Methodist is no time-server. He hardly waits till he is ready to attack the forces of evil, and often [illegible] his friends who are standing close to the way of sinners. [illegible] he is practical in his no[illegible] and you may be sure when [illegible] problem is solved that all will [illegible] judge him to have been ever [illegible] right.

[illegible] that slavery was [illegible] of all villainies," and [illegible] led him many of his [illegible] and best treasure, [illegible] cease the agitation till [illegible] church and the world [illegible] skirts of the crime. [illegible] hundred years he [illegible] for total [illegible] prohibition in [illegible] traffic. He [illegible] when [illegible] the "easy" [illegible] subject. [illegible] Meth[illegible] evil is [illegible] will [illegible] card-playing, and such like. Not that he is opposed to people enjoying themselves, but he does not think that our pleasures should cost more than they are worth, or that one should have all the fun at another's expense. He has learned the consequences of these amusements, and, therefore, he condems them. Even though to some they may be harmless, he insists that nothing must be allowed to cause the weak to stumble. He has felt "the expulsive power of a new affection," and, therefore, believes that a truly regenerated soul sated with heavenly manna will not hunger for any of the devil's fruit.

Our Mission Rooms.

MEXICAN CENTAL RAILROAD.—We give the following extract from the correspondence of the New York Tribune, published awhile ago. This road is designed as a through line from Rio Grande at El Paso del Norte to Mexico City, with branches to numerous towns and agricultural regions. Going out from Mexico City in a northwesterly direction the line passes through a portion of our mission fields. Let the maps and the annual report be consulted.

THE ROAD TO QUERETARO.—The temporary depot of the Mexican Central Railroad is near the Alameda or Park, on the north side of the City of Mexico. Near by a spacious permanent depot is being erected, which promises to be one of the finest structures in the city. The depot which the Mexican Railway Company (Vera Cruz line) is building is within a short distance, so that it may yet be found convenient to run through trains from Vera Cruz to Leon. All tickets except those which the diligence company procures are sold to passengers at the depot, and paper instead of brass checks are used for the baggage. The first-class fare to Queretaro (153 miles) is $7 38.

After leaving the depot the train passes over level ground through the valley of Mexico, the first station being Cuatitlan, which is deemed a type of provincial towns, as Mexicans say with metropolitan pride "everywhere outside of the City of Mexico is like Cuatitlan." The train soon after calling at the station enters the Pass of Nochistongo. Here the track skirts the stupendous canal which was constructed in 1608 by Martines to carry off the surplus waters of Lake Zampango, and thereby save the capital from inundation. This great work in which 15,000 Indians were employed was completed in less than a year. It was at first a tunnel or gallery, but 180 years afterward this was converted into the open cut or canal whose bank affords the Mexican Central Railroad facilities for easy egress from the Valley of Mexico to that of Tula, which is 767 feet lower than the former.

The train halted at Tula, the ancient capital of the Toltecs, or builders, a tribe that preceded the Aztecs and came to this locality from the Pacific coast, some traces of their city remain. The place is now noted only for its grain trade. There is a gradual descent from here to San Juan del Rio, where there are side tracks, and an excellent dining room in a wooden building which seems as well adapted for the purpose as those massive structures of stone or adobe which the Mexicans persist in erecting. There are gardens and fruit trees near the town which has a pleasant aspect. Near here also is the hacienda of Senor Iturbe, who is one of the largest land-owners in the country, and who resides in princely splendor in Paris, having also a spacious house in the national capital. He employs on his San Juan estate 6,00 Indians, and has there a herd of about 4000 cattle.

From San Juan the train proceeds directly to Queretaro, where the depot is within about a half a mile of the city proper, which [illegible] time be built up to it [illegible] which had an Indus[illegible] this year and de[illegible] chiefly from the [illegible] will always be [illegible] the place where the [illegible] was [illegible] the city [illegible] of the largest and oldest in the country, is near this city.

FROM QUERETARO TO LEON.—Between Queretaro and Leon the main line is to be connected by a branch with San Luis Potosi, whence a line about 250 miles in length is to extend to the port of Tampico. This port, which is about a day's sail from Galveston, has a good anchorage inside the bar which will not admit vessels drawing more than twelve feet of water. The removal in port of the bar is deemed practicable, and the Mexican Central Railroad Company has been in negotiation with the Government on the subject. When improved, the harbor will divert some trade from Vera Cruz, Tampico being the port best adapted for commercial intercourse with the central States. About 40 miles of the Tampico line have been built.

From Leon another branch is to extend to the beautiful city of Guadalajara, whence the line will proceed to the Pacific coast, which it will probably touch at Banderas or San Blas.

Between Queretaro and Leon there is also to be a branch road to connect the main line with Guanajuato, which is 28½ miles from Irapuato. Guanajuato produces silver to the value of about $4,000,000 a year, and, in former times, yielded the immense wealth which enriched the families of Ruhl, Perez, Galvez, and Obisgones, enabling them to acquire immense estates and build splendid residences in Guanajuato. In that district, the mining operations were conducted formerly on a vast scale, the shafts, excavations and workings being very extensive.

The main line proceeds in a northwesterly direction from Queretaro to Celaya, Salamanca, Irapuato and Leon, entering on the way the fertile region called the Bario, which produces a large portion of the flour consumed in the large cities.

The Utah Educational Work.

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Woman's Home Missionary Society was held in Cincinnati, August 29, 1881, to consider the work for Utah. It was decided to send another teacher there; thus placing an efficient lady teacher in each of the two important seminaries at Ogden and at Salt Lake City.

Bishop Wiley, by invitation, was present, and spoke at some length of the importance of educational work in Salt Lake City, and of the special needs of our seminary located there. He stated that a portion of our church building has been remodeled, and that it furnishes ample accommodation for school purposes, but that a home and boarding department are indispensable to the success of the school; that the friends of the school have secured a fine lot adjoining the church, which, with much effort, they will pay for; but they are unable to provide for the building, which is necessary for a home and the accommodation of boarders. After due consideration the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

In view of the peril which threatens our free institutions from the spread of Mormonism in this country, we, women of the Methodist Episcopal Church, feel it to be our duty to do all that we can to aid the church in an effort to overthrow this system of wickedness; and believing that Christian education is essential to the protection of the people from this delusion, and that a Christian school, established in the great center of Mormonism, will be a power for good; therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Executive Board of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in addition to obligations already assumed, will enter upon this special work in behalf of Utah, and appeal to the church for $5,000, the sum required to erect a suitable building for a home and boarding department of the Salt Lake Seminary, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Resolved, That we will divide the sum into five hundred shares of ten dollars each, and ask the friends of this cause to aid us by taking one or more of these shares.

Resolved, That we will commence the erection of the building [illegible] sum has been [illegible] we will proceed [illegible] as rapidly as [illegible] permit, [illegible] debt.

presented to the church, in the belief that the amount would be raised, but it has not yet been done; and we now renew the appeal, hoping to inspire fresh zeal, which shall lead to its accomplishment.

Many shares have been taken during the past year, and over one thousand dollars have been sent to the treasurer; but the building cannot be erected until a much larger amount is pledged. The trustees of the seminary, by their energy and perseverance, with the aid of the Missionary Society, have paid for the building lot adjoining the church. They now depend upon the promise of the Woman's Home Missionary Society for means for the erection of the long-needed home and boarding department. Will not the women of our church respond at once to this call for help? Read the following letter, addressed to the society through the corresponding secretary, from Rev. Mr. Iliff, superintendent of missions in Utah:

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 24, '82.

To the Executive Board of the Woman's Home Missionary Society:

I desire to speak of two or three matters of great interest to our Utah work.

1. The necessity of erecting the boarding hall early in the summer; at least so that we may occupy it by the first of September. Will the society reassure me of this being done? If so, it will greatly encourage and aid our work and workers. We ought not to be forced to commence another year's school with this need unsupplied. We must have it met if possible, and the imperative need ought to make it possible.

2. Will or can you support two or more lady teachers in Utah, beginning with February? I believe with five hundred dollars, certainly with six hundred dollars, we can put two new teachers into much needed places; each of the places paying from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars tuition. We have several points in and out of Salt Lake City where [illegible] of the schools could pay from one-fourth to one-half a teacher's salary; but we are unable to support a teacher in full, because most of the pupils, of necessity, must have free tuition.

3. One of the needs of this city, and in some respects greater need than any other, is the right sort of a lady missionary, not a teacher. We need a woman to visit from house to house, for there are hundreds of Mormon families to be reached in this way, forever closed to ministers. She should be a very devout and sweet-spirited woman, with experience and judgment. I repeat, no need is a greater than this in our work among the Mormons in this city, and now is the time to enter this open door. I sincerely and prayerfully trust that the society will realise this need, and feel able to supply it at once with just the person. If such a woman should be sent us, we would gladly receive her into our home, and make no charge, except for the actual outlay.

I am pleased to inform you that the two teachers you are supporting are doing earnest and most satisfactory work. Miss Wheelock has about forty pupils in her department of the Salt Lake Seminary, and while this is all any one teacher ought to care for, she is anxious to receive at least fifteen more, but has no seats or desks for them. I shall watch with care the work you have inaugurated in the long-neglected field; and so far as I may be instructed or expected to supervise and report, shall do so as best I can.

Praying always for the widening success and ability of your noble society, I am very truly,

T. C. ILIFF.

While the Bourbons of Virginia are wondering what they shall do to be saved, and suggesting one plan and an other to keep the party from going to pieces, the Readjusters can point to accomplished facts. Treasurer's Report.

MR. EDITOR:—Please allow me space in the ADVOCATE to make my report of the monies received by me as treasurer of our Conference, Seminary, as follows:

AUSTIN DISTRICT.

Rev. A. R. Norris, $71.10; Rev. C. Hart, 25.00; Rev. S. Smith, 20.50; Rev. I. Smith, 17.00; Rev. G. Norman, 30.00; Rev. E. Henderson, 18.25; Rev. R. P. Brown, 2.50; Rev. D. Mucker, 18.50; Rev. T. Wadkins, 20.30; C. L. Madison, 90.50. Total, $314.15.

SAN ANTONIO DISTRICT.

Rev. M. Henson, $150.00; Rev. P. M. Carmichael, 50.00; Rev. J. T. Gibbons, 25.00; Rev. R. Duko, 14.00; Rev. W. H. Mosby, 40.00; Rev. D. W. Tucker, 10.00; Rev. A. M. Mason, 20.00; Rev. G. W. Brothers, 15.30; Rev. James Henderson, 50.00; Rev. J. T. Jacobs, 18.00; Rev. J. R. Carnes, 30.00; Rev. T. August, 10.00. Total, $432.30.

WACO DISTRICT.

Rev. S. Gates, $20.00; Rev. A. Tayler, 20.00; Rev. A. Jackson, 15.00; Rev. G. Wilson, 10.00; Rev. P. Wilson, 10.00; Rev. P. Gates, 23.00; Rev. W. J. Mitchell, 4.00; Rev. L F. Smith, 30.00; Rev. D. Humphries 50.00; Rev. J. A. Hall, 43.20; Rev. W. Medlock, 10,00; Rev. A. Foster, 50.00; Rev. H. Swann, 70.00. Total, $355.20.

COLUMBUS DISTRICT.

Rev. G. W. Townsend, $60.00; Rev. S. W. Harvey, 10.35; Rev. C. Chase, 37.50; Rev. S. Gibbs, 32.50, Rev. L. Read, 50.00; Rev. L. Carper; 31.00; Rev. E. E. Cooper, 50.00; Rev. N. Axle, 16.50; Rev. H. Haris, 10.35; Mrs. Ann Johnson, 10.00. Total, $389.40.

It will be seen that there are $85.20 more in the footing up than the above names cover, the cause of this is, the presiding elder, Bro. Richardson, paid in the money but the preachers or persons who collected it failed to send in their names. Dear Brethren of the conference, I would have made my report sooner but I have been waiting for some money from some of the preachers who told me they had it and would send it in, but have failed to do so up to this time. To the friends who helped me out with my hundred dollars last year, I would say, please don't expect me to publish all of your names and the little amounts you gave, for Christ says when thou doest thy alms do not sound a trumpet before thee as the hypocrites do. We only did our duty, may the Lord help us to do more this year. The total amount now on hand is $1,598.16 or about that much. Your Brother,

C. L. MADISON.

Austin, January 30th, 1883.

Such is the extent, and such the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, that its present standing can only be represented by a long array of figures. It has 99 Annual Conferences, 11 Bishops, 12,552 itinerant ministers, 12,106 local preachers, 1,551,952 lay members in full connection, and 172,468 on probation; total, 1,724,420. Its churches number 17,935; its Sunday schools 20,894, with 222,883 officers and teachers, and 1,608,836 scholars. The value of the church buildings is placed at $66,405,508, and the value of its 6,150 parsonages at $9,021,034. More than 2,000 adults and children are baptized each week in its churches, the number of infants slightly preponderating. On an average, each week sees four Sunday schools organized, and five church edifices dedicated. The contributions of the whole denomination for a year, of all branches of Church work, are set down at $17,064,016—an average of about $10 per member. These statistics and many other facts of interest are published in the Methodist Year Book for 1883, by Phillips & Hunt, New York.—Guardian.

We have received a copy of The Methodist Herald and West African Educational Times. This literary venture has recently been made in order to supply the Methodists and others of the West African settlements with information in regard to religion and education. The paper is published at Freetown, Sierra Leone, and it will appear fortnightly. We have much pleasure in referring to this new agency for good. It will meet the needs of two classes especially, first, the English who have settled in the country, and secondly, the natives who have been educated in our Day and Sunday-schools. All over the world education creates a demand for intelligence. Indeed, the advancement of Christianity awakens the intellectual as well as the other faculties of man. It is a most encouraging fact that mission work is so advanced among many of the inferior races that the leaders of that work, the missionaries, can now avail themselves of the aid of the press. Popular journals are useful not only to diffuse information, but to create a public opinion, a social conscience. In heathen communities this blessing is wanting. In Western Africa mission work is now done by native agents under the guidance of a general superintendent from England. Thus life and money are saved. It is a matter for congratulation that having raised up both preachers and teachers our church there can dispense with foreign labor. South African missions have commanded much attention of late. They have now a constitution of their own. One advantage of the change will be that we shall be able to give more attention to West African and other missions which will remain under the direct control of the Mission House at home.—London Methodist.

Our Work in the South.

The National Temperance Society has recently secured the services of Rev. C. H. Mead, of New York and Edward Carswell, of Canada, to visit the Southern States and deliver temperance addresses, mainly among the freedmen, to visit schools and institutions of learning, circulate a literature, and seek to advance the cause generally in that section of country. These men are thoroughly posted upon every phase of the question, and are among the most popular and acceptable lecturers in the land. Mr. Mead started the last of January, and Mr. Carswell will follow in a few weeks. The calls for this kind of work are so numerous and pressing that the Society could not refuse to enter the open door of usefulness. The Society is also sending large amounts of literature to different portions of the South for free distribution among churches, schools, [illegible] people generally. A pamphlet is also to be sent to the ministers of colored churches as far and as fast as funds will allow.

Let the friends of the cause and the freedmen send donations for this specific work to the Society, 58 Reade street, every dollar of which will be sacredly devoted to this special object.—From the National Temperance Advocate for February.

Silent Influence.

We are touching our fellow beings on all sides. They are affected for good or for evil by what we are, by what we say and do, even by what we think and feel. The flowers in the parlor breathe their fragrance through the atmosphere. We are each of us silently saturating the atmosphere about us with the sublime aroma of our character. In the family circle, besides and beyond all the teaching, the daily life of each parent and child mysteriously modifies the life of every person in the household. The same process on a wider scale is going on throughout the community. No man liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself. Others are built up and strengthened by our conscious deeds; and others may be wrenched out of their places and thrown down by our unconscious influence.

We suspected that Governor Glick was drawing on untrustworthy sources for the statistics of his message relating to the influence of the prohibitory law on crime in Kansas. The Chaplain of the penitentiary tells quite a different story from the Governor. He says: "The average yearly increase of criminals for the thirteen years preceding the taking effect of prohibition in the State was 46. At the time of taking effect of the Prohibitory Amendment, Dec. 22, 1880, the number of inmates in the penitentiary was greater than at any previous time. Since then the number has decreased to 74; or an average annual increase, after nearly two years of prohibition, of 40 against an annual increase before prohibition of 46." And the warden corroborates the statement, saying: "During the year 1880 (license year), there were received 290 convicts. In 1881, with only eight months of prohibition only 183 were received."—Central.

[illegible] its place in bringing men to call on God. It is all well to talk about an exalted human nature, and of being governed by a sense of right, and of love as drawing men to God, but, after all, never until men are afraid to be without God do they appreciate the preciousness of being with God. The stranger's face that the babe is afraid of, makes it cling with new love and trust to its mother. It is that rough-looking man or the growling of a big dog that the little boy meets on the streets that makes him so anxious to take hold of his father's strong hand. It is the fear of the smiting sun that makes the shade at noonday so precious. The Bible gives the sinner reason to fear that he may have inducements to love. It may not be so high and benevolent a motive as love, it has more influence, however, in bringing men to right action. "By the fear of the Lord," says Solomon, "men depart from evil." The Psalmist recognizes the power of fear in these words, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Fear is not only powerful, but when properly directed is one of the most useful principles in our nature. Thus Noah having faith in the revelation God had made of what he would do was afraid; he dare not disobey; he grappled the gigantic undertaking of preparing an ark according to the divine command. When Jacob was at Bethel there was this pressure of love upon him; then upon the condition that God would go with him and give him bread to eat and raiment to put on, and bring him again to his father's house in peace, he was ready to give God the tenth of all that He should give him. When he was at the brook Jabbak, and Esau with his trained veterans was before him, he was under the pressure of fear—he was afraid and was anxious to put not only himself but all that he had into the hands of the Lord. No doubt perfect love will finally crowd out all fear, but unless we have fear at the start there is but little prospect of love in the end. Men may boast of their magnanimity as they please, but human nature being what it is, it is an unmistakable fact, that fear exerts more influence in restraining men from sin, and prompting them to discharge their obligations both to God and man, than any, or all other con-be terrible indeed if no hope came with it, or shone through it. In the sinner's fear he must think of God as he has shown himself hitherto, and as he has promised to show himself to all who seek him. In the time of Jacob's fear he remembered God's goodness to himself to him and his fathers, and promise to himself. The sinner can do the same. In the time of his greatest fear let him remember God's goodness to those who have found mercy, and the promises that apply to his case.

Louisiana Conference Reports.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

In consideration of the paramount importance of more aggressive and efficient work in the Sunday-schools of our churches, we submit the following for your approval:

Whereas, We have begun an organization, to be known as the Sunday-school Society of the Louisiana Conference, by electing Julius F. Marshall president, and Stephen Priestly, secretary; your committee recommends for the more effective working of said organization, the election of one vice-president from each district, as follows:

South New Orleans District—J. G. Vaughn.

North New Orleans District—R. L. Beal.

La Teche District—S. E. H. Morant.

Baton Rouge District—J. W. Hudson.

Shreveport District—Reese Thompson.

In order that we may create a deeper interest in the work of Sunday-schools now in operation, and that we may extend our borders; and that we may bring each district into intimate relations with the Sunday-school Union.

Resolved, 1. That we hail with delight the visit of Rev. A. H. Gillet, A. M., Sunday-school agent, and have listened with interest and profit to his words of wisdom urging us to advance steps in Sunday-school work.

Resolved, 2. That we, as a Conference, give him our earnest co-operation in the work appertaining to the introduction of the Sunday-school literature as recommended by the Sunday-school Union.

Resolved, 3. That we tender thanks to Dr. J. H. Vincent, D. D., editor-in-chief of our Sunday-school Literature and Sunday-school Union, for various donations of Sunday-school matter; and further, that we urge the necessity of all the pastors to take promptly the collection for this cause.

J. F. MARSHALL, Chairman.

TEMPERANCE.

We, the members of the committee on Temperance, beg to make the following report, to-wit:

We acknowledge that intemperance is one of the most desperate evils with which Christianity has to contend. In all ages of the church its baneful influence has been felt and dreaded. Notwithstanding the various means which have been adopted by churches and Christian Associations as barriers against the rapid strides of this dangerous vice, its power has grown strong, and its influence felt, not only outside the church but within its limits. It is an acknowledged fact that intemperance has slain more men than the sword, and thousands are still falling day by day. The Methodist Episcopal Church is alive to this fact. During the past year she has been up and doing, endeavoring to crush this demon in his den, in order to deliver those who are bound with his slavish chains. Upon many of the charges Temperance societies have been formed and men have taken the pledge to abstain from all that can intoxicate, and to further the cause of temperance.

In view of the prevalence of this vice, and the growing power of this evil, your committee beg to submit the following resolutions for the adoption of the Conference:

Resolved, 1. That we, as ministers of the gospel, desiring to imitate our Lord Jesus Christ in his nature of self-denial, abstain from everything that can intoxicate as an example to our flock.

Resolved, 2. That immediate measures be taken to organize temperance societies on each charge.

Resolved, 3. That at least two lectures be delivered from the pulpit during the year on the evils of intemperance.

PERIODICALS.

Your committee beg leave to publicly recognize the great influence of the Freedman's Aid Society on our educational work in Louisiana Conference.

We also recognize with great pleasure, that our church furnishes us with abundant religious literature, and at reasonable prices.

The results which have been achieved through these advantages are very gratifying.

As our work is steadily increasing, we recognize more than ever the necessity of introducing our standard journals and periodicals among our people. We recognize [illegible] our Quarterly Review, and va- [illegible] weekly papers published [illegible] the North, East and West [illegible] are [illegible] a [illegible] our [illegible]

[illegible] ren. We feel that we are [illegible] of gratitude to Brothers Cushman and Albert for their able and efficient labors as editors of the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE, and in view of these facts we pledge ourselves to use our best and most untiring efforts during this conference year to increase its circulation, and to aid the paper in every possible way.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

At the late session of the Louisiana conference the following action was taken:

The Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, acting under the instructions of the General Conference, have issued an address to the Church, setting forth a plan for the celebration of the Centennial of American Methodism, it being one hundred years on Christmas, 1884, since the Methodist Episcopal Church was organized in America.

The Bishops recommend that the people everywhere be called upon to contribute of their means to build up the educational institutions of the church.

In view of these two facts we resolve as follows:

Resolved, 1. We will hail with joy the one hundredth anniversary of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America, and we regard the proposed celebration as eminently wise.

Resolved, 2. The Louisiana conference has many special reasons to enter heartily into the proposed celebration. In 1866 the old church returned to Louisiana after twenty years' absence. She came with freedom to bless our people, and enter upon the great work of saving the multitudes of our State.

Resolved, 3. Our people are now on the highway to a new and glorious civilization; schools are open to our children; the great church of our choice is gathering in the masses of our people; our churches and schools are being crowded with young men and woman; for all of which we praise God, and feel that this will be a God-given opportunity to make a thank-offering to the Lord for his marvellous goodness unto us and them.

Resolved, 4. With a view of entering properly into this celebration we hereby appoint a centennial committee consisting of the five presiding elders, one additional from each district, and three additional ones; which committee shall prepare a plan of action for our conference, by which all our people and friends in Louisiana shall have an opportunity to contribute money to our institutions of learning in this State. The committee will report at our next session.

Resolved, 5. At the next session of the conference we direct that a public meeting be held at which an address shall be delivered on the centennial of Methodism, and a history given of the organization and growth of our church in this State, and that the Bishop appoint the orator and historian.

In accordance with the above action, Bishop Hurst appointed Dr. Hartzell to deliver the centennial address at the next session, and appointed Rev. A. E. P. Albert to prepare the historical sketch.

The centennial committee is as follows:

President, J. C. Hartzell; Vice-President, P. Landry; Secretary, A. E. P. Albert; Treasurer, J. F. Marshall. And the following: J. A. Dean, L. P. Cuseman, J. F. Marshall, Marcus Dale, Stephen Duncan, R. L. Beal, S. E. H. Morant, R. Thompson,

After the adjournment of conference, Feb. 5, the committee had its first meeting. Dr. Hartzell was appointed a sub-committee to draft a plan for the proposed centennial celebration.

CHURCH EXTENSION REPORT.

We, the undersigned committee on church extension, after carefully examining our work of the Louisiana conference, are grateful to the Board of Church Extension for favors received of it. For Live Oak, $200; Morgan City, $50; Mt. Carmel, $50; Napoleonville, $150; St. James chapel, Shreveport, $250; Pleasant Hill, $100. And we hereby tender our thanks to the Rev. Dr. Kynett for his promptness in granting our favors asked. Also, be it resolved that a vote of thanks be tendered to Dr. Young for his address in behalf of said Board; we also urge the brethren of the Louisiana conference to do more in behalf of the Church Extension society.

Respectfully submitted,

—Rev. L. A. Belt, of Marion, Ohio, a member of the Book Committee, slipped on the icy pavement recently, and fractured one of his legs.

—Presiding Elders Jos. Campbell and W. McDonald, of the Mississippi Conference, dropped in during their recent visit to this city. Few brethren are more earnest or cheerful in the Lord's cause.

—Bishop Wiley and Dr. R. S. Rust, who came South to make a thorough examination of the schools and property of the Freedmen's Aid Society, were in the city last week, and visited the New Orleans University.

—A. J. Bassett, of Anderson, and I. M. Terrell, of Fort Worth, Texas, called last week. The latter will be remembered as a graduate of Straight University, and has just taken unto himself a wife, the daughter of Rev. Pierre Laudry, of the Louisiana Conference.

—The Northern, of February 1st, says: "Bishop Peck's health yet remains very feeble. Last week his suffering increased somewhat, and his general strength was loss. During the last few days, however, his symptoms are much more favorable, and there are indications that his disease is yielding to medical treatment."

—The Rev. S. H. Werlein, pastor of the Methodist Church, South, Houston, Texas, and son of P. H. Werlein, of this city, has secured toward the construction of a new church, $10,350. There is a strong inclination in the church to commence building as soon as possible. The community are making liberal responses.

—We have to announce the death of Rev. Isaac Hayward, a member of the Louisiana Conference, and late pastor of La Harpe street M. E. Church, which occurred in this city early last Monday morning. It appears that last Thursday afternoon, while reading a letter, he was visited by a paralytic stroke, and he suffered greatly until death relieved him.

—The Lowell Sun is not at all surprised that Mr. Blaine has become the father-in-law of a man who is an Irishman and a Catholic; nor is it, it thinks, at all strange that Miss Blaine should become a Roman Catholic, "since Mr. Blaine's father and mother were Catholics (his mother was an Irish woman named Gillespie, his own middle name), and his two sisters are Catholic nuns."

—Bishop Hurst writes from New Orleans, January 27, while the blizzard was in progress in the North, that, "I am writing this with my coat off, in a room without fire, and in a perspiration. The flowers are in full bloom and the oranges blazing on the trees." Of our work there he writes: "Our work here is going bravely on. I have full faith in the black man's future. It will be both Christian and patriotic."—Pittsburgh Advocate.

—Rev. A. E. P. Albert, formerly pastor of one of the M. E. Churches in this city, was some months ago appointed assistant editor of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, an excellent Methodist paper published here. Brother Albert is a graduate of Straight University, and is perfectly competent for the work of his new field. We are all pleased at his appointment, because he is competent and because he is one of our rising colored men.—Baptist Messenger.

—Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D.D., a cultivated Methodist Episcopal preacher of color, now residing in Cincinnati, has an extended and interesting article in the Southwestern Christian Advocate on the theme, "What I know about a Color Line in the M. E. Church." Of this he happily knows little, personally, having been warmly received and respectfully treated in the best Northern and Western pulpits, and by some of the first families of the land. From his elevated position he is inclined to think that there is no color, but simply a character, line in the M. E. Church. Dr. D. H. Wheeler holds to the same view. We trust the outcome of the present discussion will be to secure such a result beyond question. We fear that, as yet, character is not entirely colorless; but we are much pleased with the manly and kindly [illegible] of Dr. Taylor.—Zion's Herald.

H. W. Simmons, Gallatin: "I have had quite a successful time since I entered upon this field of labor, only suffered somewhat from the severity of the weather. Elder Picket held our first quarter Jan. 13. The people are poor but seem willing. I labor under many embarrassments."

TEXAS.

Henry Franklin, Steward, Houston, Trinity charge: "Our church starts off nicely for the new year. We had a glorious time watch meeting night. On Jan. 6 and 7, our new presiding elder, Rev. F. C. Moore was with us. He preached at 3 P. M. and our pastor, Rev. I. B. Scott at night. There were quite a goodly number present at the communion and the Lord manifested his presence. The Love Feast was also a spiritual Feast where many testified for Christ, and resolved to be more faithful in future than they have been in the past. The pastor has all of the committees organized and some have begun work, We are looking up and are hopeful for the year.

D. W. Tucker, Lavernia: "I am sitting at home to-day on account of cold weather, which prevents me from metting my people, and I am thinking of the great work of the Lord to be done. Our ministers should not join ordinary societies, or assist in getting up balls to assist their treasuries."

LOUISIANA.

The fourth Quarterly Conference was held at Union Chapel, January 19. The presiding elder was pleased with the reports. The pastor, officers and members rejoice over the good conduct of the young men and ladies in attendance, who are not only good in deportment, but contribute freely to the Lord's cause. The reports of the class leaders, R. Lincoln, U. Hill, P. Hamilton, A. Dudley, P. Seals, Ed. Dixon, P. Jones, S. A. Mason, T. Polite, D. Winbush, C. Nelson, A. Scott, were most encouraging and are as follows: Class No. 1, 30 members, 4 probationers, 17 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $31.55 collections, 80 visits. Class No. 2, 52 members, 3 probationers, 27 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $51.05 collections, 123 visits. Class No. 3, 18 members, 9 probationers, 13 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $21.25 collections, 29 visits. Class No. 4, 10 members, 5 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $58.05 collections, 83 visits. Class No. 5, 25 members, 4 probationers, 14 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $37.45 collections, 100 visits. Class No. 6, 47 members, 13 probationers, 30 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $67.35 collections, 83 visits. Class No. 7, 50 members, 13 probationers, 31 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $106.15 collections, 170 visits. Class No. 8, 20 members, 7 probationers, 13 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $26.25 collections, 33 visits. Totals—365 members, 91 probations, 219 average attendance, 23 class meetings, $547.20 collections, 1,114 visits.

From Rust University.

The faculty, students and friends of Rust University in Holly Springs have just been favored with a visit from Bishop Wiley and Dr. Rust. They arrived at 2 p. m., on Saturday the 27th, and remained until 8 a. m., on the following Tuesday, Immediately on their arrival they proceeded to inspect our new school building—Rust Hall. The Doctor, whose especial business it was to see that the builder had been faithful to his contract, carefully scrutinized every part of the building both within and without. The verdict of the Bishop and the Doctor was that we have a good building, complete in architecture, convenience and workmanship.

Sunday was a feast day for us. Dr. Rust addressed the Sabbath school in the morning at 10 o'clock, and preached at eleven o'clock. He used as his text St. James [illegible] and called three witnesses, St. James, Paul and Christ, to prove that it is possible for a person once converted to fall from [illegible] the sin [illegible] tacy, showing [illegible] it is to "run [illegible] the [illegible] his sermon we were [illegible] to live close to Christ.

At 3 o'clock [illegible] Wiley gave us such a sermon as it is not often our privilege to listen to. He pointed out the steps by which a man is led from sin to righteousness, how a soul is brought into the kingdom of Grace, and then most clearly and beautifully illustrated what the Scriptures mean when they promise that those who are born of the Spirit become heirs of God. Rarely do we get such a sweet and full foretaste of the wonderful things God has in store for those who love him.

At 7:30 Dr. Rust again expounded the Scriptures to us, using for his theme the parable of Lazarus and the Rich Man. Many important and interesting thoughts were brought prominent to our notice—that although we die we shall live again, in fact there is no cessation of life, no long period of unconsciousness, but only a change of state; that we shall recognize each other in that future state and be able to communicate one with another; that we shall be conscious of our condition and circumstances while on earth; and that memory recalling our thoughts, words, and deeds while here, will constitute a prime element of our happiness or misery in the future state. As we retired to our homes we felt that we had indeed made a Sabbath day's journey toward heaven and immortal glory.

Monday was spent in the school. The Bishop and the Doctor went from class to class listening to the recitations of individual pupils and classes, and observing carefully the manner and methods of the teachers. No extra preparations had been made and there was no effort on the part of the teachers to "show off" their pupils or classes. The regularly daily programme was carried out, and all classes, large and small, smart and dull, most advanced and least advanced were visited. At the close of the day's work the Bishop made a few pointed remarks showing that he had taken in the whole situation. Although we were not flattered over much by his remarks, we were incited to more thorough and persistent effort for the future. Dr. Rust followed the Bishop and comforted us with the thought that, by the right kind of efforts, the students of Rust University would be inferior to none in the South. Bro. J. W. Adams, the contractor and builder of Rust Hall, who was also with us during the visit of the Bishop and Doctor, then arose and complimented the students very highly on their good behavior, gentlemanly and lady-like conduct during the ten months of his work for us and among us.

Our only regret is that this visit to our school was made during the three months when nearly all,—nine tenths of our best students are out teaching, so that it was impossible to form a correct estimate of the true condition and character of the school.

Respectfully,
W. W. HOOPER.
Holly Springs, Miss., Feb. 1st, 1883.

Letter from San Antonio.

MR. EDITOR:—Our first quarterly conference for the year 1883 was held on the 13th inst. Rev. M. Henson presiding. The class teachers reported favorably concerning their classes. The superintendent also reported encouragingly respecting the growth of the Sunday school, showing thereby quite an addition in the way of Sunday school helps. Rev. Jose. Brown of Bracketville, was with us and seemed to enjoy himself, although he could not speak but a few words in English. Bro. Brown is one of our earnest, and pious Christian ministers. On Sunday, the elder met the Sunday school and gave a plain, simple, and instructive address, which filled our young people with joy and gladness, in so much, that each promised to help make the Lord a present of a good house by contributing their little mites. At 3 o'clock the elder met an anxious number who had come together with the general expectation of having a good sermon, and I must say they were not disappointed. Just before the elder concluded his discourse, I was summoned to bury a mother's little infant whom God had been pleased to take from her arms. While absent attending this part of my ministerial duty, the elder was untiringly at work among the congregation; on my return I was informed that he had secured quite a number of subscribers for the purpose of repairing our church so as to be ready to entertain the annual conference next fall. I found that he had secured a subscription of $2[illegible] At night, after listening to a [illegible] sermon, we administered [illegible] to [illegible] hundred and thirteen souls, who [illegible] knelt at the altar to receive [illegible] body and the [illegible] of their Saviour. After this the elder again began to solicit subscriptions for the above mentioned purpose. Here, including the three o'clock subscription, we realized the neat little sum of something over four hundred dollars; the presiding elder's collection was good. Brethren of San Antonio district, with such a presiding elder as Rev. M. Henson, and God to help us, we are sure to win (Let's go forward). My people say, they are going to have a good church and a respectable one. Our people here have been swindled in the building of this church. But now their eyes are open and they are determined to see the next man that attempts to swindle them. Allow me to say that we are united in this movement. The only thing that appears to be standing still is our choir. Will not some one who loves the cause of Christ, and who is anxious to see the cause prosper here in this western part of the moral vineyard, come to our rescue? We will take either a gentleman or a lady, but especially one who loves our church and is willing to labor for the elevation and up-building of the cause of Christ, none but a true and devoted Methodist need apply. There are persons who claim to be members, who, when they are among denominations other than their own, say that they belong to one church as much as another. These are not the persons that we are looking for. We want a good music teacher who will come here full of the Holy Ghost. Such a one when not engaged in teaching the choir, can get a nice little private school to teach, also a good night school; and thus laboring, can make $40 or $50 per month. Any one applying may address me at 203 South Sumter street, San Antonio, Texas. Yours in Christ,

JAMES R. CARNES.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

To the Members of the Louisiana Annual Conference.

DEAR BRETHREN:—At our recent session I, having learned, as I supposed, that the Freedmen's Aid Society would be willing to assume control and support of La Teche Seminary if I should open the way for it, I made formal request therefor. On the ground of my request the Conference requested the Freedmen's Aid Society to assume said control and support. On Monday last, February 5th, I met Bishop Wiley and Dr. Rust at this place, and had a long and full conference with them. Having learned from them that the Freedmen's Aid Society could not, in their judgment, comply with the request of the Conference, I therefore withdraw my request, on the ground of which the Conference acted. This, my final decision, was given to Bishop Wiley in writing, thus terminating the negotiation.

Bishop Wiley expressed the assurance that the F. A. Society would aid the Seminary, as heretofore, in the current expenses. This being the state of things, and the responsibility of the Seminary remaining wholly with me, I shall at once proceed with active measures to raise money for a new Seminary building.

I need say further only this: The request to the Freedmen's Aid Society was owing to my desire to put the Seminary under a control that would assure it a permanent support, inasmuch as I cannot expect to have the health to take care of it more than a series of years. But, in the hands of the Orphan's Home Board, and with the generous and faithful patronage of the Conference, we shall, with God's blessing, get the institution as firmly founded as it is now signally prosperous.

Soliciting your prayers, I am yours cordially,

W. D. GODMAN.

Under the title, "Kentucky's Birthplace," The Continent, Judge Tourgee's admirable illustrated weekly magazine, publishes in its number for February 7th a paper full of special interest for all Kentuckians, and indeed for the whole country. The article is from the pen of Henry Cleveland Wood, of Harrodsburg, and its pages are embellished by a large number of illustrations showing among other scenes of historic interest "The Spouting Spring," "Boone's Cave," and his burialplace with the memorial stone; the old fort at Harrodsburg where the early settlers long defied the surrounding hordes of savages; the old tree, now in the decreptitude of age, in which James Ray discovered and shot an Indian; High Bridge; Daughter's College, and a fine engraving of a stretch of the "Blue Grass Land" to which Kentucky owes so [illegible] of her wealth and fame. The [illegible] illustration presents a view [illegible] first hotel in the State, [illegible] street [illegible] of [illegible] Continent's [illegible]

[illegible] have per- ... and a ... as stout and rugged as I ever was in my life. After escaping the attacks of Indians and half a dozen doctors, I was lying at the mercy of a still more dreadful foe that was about giving me the finishing blow, when that great remedy stepped in, slew my adversary, and placed me firmly on my feet again; for I look upon the circumstances and manner of my cure as a direct interposition of Providence, and to Providence are my services due. This is my story. I think it as good as a romance—and much better, for it is true."

Such is the substance, and very nearly the language of Elder Kite's narrative. Those who read it, and are suffering, may benefit by his experience, if they will follow his example.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON VII. February 18, 1883.

CHRISTIAN COURAGE. (Acts iv. 18-31.)

The rulers told Peter and John they must stop preaching about Jesus. They knew that would be wrong. Jesus left them to work for him. These men could kill them, but they loved Jesus and must work for him. They stood up bold and strong, and said we must obey God rather than men. The rulers were afraid to punish them because so many people saw the lame man walking and praising God, so they let them go. They had a prayer-meeting, and prayed to God for boldness or courage to preach about Jesus. This trouble did not frighten them. They knew that David had written years before that rulers would gather against Christ. God answered their prayers and gave them more of his Spirit. It was courage that made them say they must obey God rather than man. We all like courage and must have it if we fight for Jesus. Do you need it? Yes, indeed. Do boys tease you to play truant or to spend your money for candy on the way to Sunday-school? These things happen often; and are you like Peter, or are you afraid the boys will make fun of you? It takes courage to let boys laugh at you, but always do right, just as you know Jesus would like to see you do, then you are safe.—Western.

Revitalizing a Worn Out System.

An elderly lady in East Orleans, Mass., after a year's use of Compound Oxygen, reports that, through its vitalizing effects, she has been able to keep about in her [illegible], and earn enough for her daily [illegible]. "I commenced," she said, using your Compound Oxygen a year ago last April, have had in all three supplies. For more than a year I have not failed to be able to be in my little store, and, averaging sales, earn enough for the day's needs. This I esteem a very great blessing, and as I believe the ability to do this was due to the use of the Compound Oxygen, I have wished others on the down-hill side of life, and obliged (because unable to work) to depend on others for support, could know, as I do, its power to revive waning abilities of both mind and body." Our treatise on Compound Oxygen, its nature, action, and results, with reports of cases and full information, sent free. Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 and 1111 Girard street, Philadelphia, Pa.

[illegible] Conference [illegible] to [illegible] circuit, on Friday, January 5, 1883, in full triumph of living faith. Bro. Moody joined the Tennessee Conference in the year [illegible], served the people on Lu[illegible], [illegible]ro, Purdy, Henderson and [illegible]bore circuits. He was appointed to the Dickson circuit in 1881, and in the early part of 1882 he was taken down sick and was ill for some time. When he got able he moved to Mansfield circuit among his people, where he was raised. At my fourth quarterly conference, last year, Bro. Moody was with me and traveled around the circuit, at which time he preached his last sermon. In his last remarks he said the Lord revealed to him while sick to come back to Mansfield, his old home, where he could die with his people, and go to heaven from Mansfield Circuit. On Thursday he told the people to tell the elder and brethren not to grieve for him; all was well with him, he would soon be in heaven. Bro. Moody was about 40 years of age when he died. JESSE P. PRICE.

Little Ethie O. B. Summerhill, the infant and only daughter of Rev. J. F. Summerhill, died at Lawrenceburg, Tenn., January 17, 1883. The parents have our sympathy. G. W. MARSH.

Died, at his residence in Brownsville, Haywood county, Tenn., of pneumonia, Jan. 27th, 1882, Stephen Green Estes, in the 37th year of his age. Brother Estes joined the M. E. Church in this place in the year 1870, and was a faithful officer and exemplary member to the day of his death. He was also a member of the Masonic Order and the Mutual Benevolent Society, in both of which he filled, with marked dignity and faithfulness, high official positions for more than ten years. It is indeed a painful duty to record the death of this worthy Christian brother. He was just in the bloom of a bright and promising manhood, was an earnest worker for the good of his race, and it is sad to think that his earnest words will be heard no more in our Society halls and in our sacred church. In his death our community has lost a valuable citizen, our church a useful, faithful member, and his wife a kind and devoted husband. We greatly feel his loss and yet we are assured our loss is his gain. He died peacefully, calmly trusting in our blessed religion, and while his body sleeps in the grave his pure spirit has gone to that beautiful land where "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." STRENGTH to vigorously push a business, strength to study a profession, strength to regulate a household, strength to do a day's labor without physical pain. All this represents what is wanted, in the often heard expression, "Oh! I wish I had the strength!" If you are broken down, have not energy, or feel as if life was hardly worth living, you can be relieved and restored to robust health and strength by taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, which is a true tonic—a medicine universally recommended for all wasting diseases.

During the war I was injured in the stomach by a piece of a shell, and have suffered from it ever since. About four years ago it brought on paralysis, which kept me in bed six months, and the best doctors in the city said I could not live. I suffered fearfully from indigestion, and for over two years could not eat solid food and for a large portion of the time was unable to retain even liquid nourishment. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters and now after taking two bottles I am able to get up and go around and am rapidly improving.

FITS A Leading London Physician establishes an Office in New York for the Cure of EPILEPTIC FITS. From Am. Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Ab. Meserole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

...ragged as I ever was in my life. After escaping the attacks of Indians and half a dozen doctors, I was lying at the mercy of a still more dreadful foe that was about giving me the finishing blow, when that great remedy stepped in, slew my adversary, and placed me firmly on my feet again; for I look upon the circumstances and manner of my cure as a direct interposition of Providence, and to Providence are my services due. That is my story. I think it as good as a romance—and much better, for it is true."

Such is the substance, and very nearly the language of Elder Kite's narrative. Those who read it, and are suffering, may benefit by his experience, if they will follow his example.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

First Quarter. Lesson VII. February 18, 1883.

Christian Courage. (Acts iv. 18-31.)

The rulers told Peter and John they must stop preaching about Jesus. They knew that would be wrong. Jesus left them to work for him. These men could kill them, but they loved Jesus and must work for him. They stood up bold and strong, and said we must obey God rather than men. The rulers were afraid to punish them because so many people saw the lame man walking and praising God, so they let them go. They had a prayer-meeting, and prayed to God for boldness or courage to preach about Jesus. This trouble did not frighten them. They knew that David had written years before that rulers would gather against Christ. God answered their prayers and gave them more of his Spirit. It was courage that made them say they must obey God rather than man. We all like courage and must have it if we fight for Jesus. Do you need it? Yes, indeed. Do boys tease you to play truant or to spend your money for candy on the way to Sunday-school? These things happen often; and are you like Peter, or are you afraid the boys will make fun of you? It takes courage to let boys laugh at you, but always do right, just as you know Jesus would like to see you do, then you are safe.—Western.

Revitalizing a Worn Out System.

An elderly lady in East Orleans, Mass., after a year's use of Compound Oxygen, reports that, through its vitalizing effects, she has been able to keep about in her little store, and earn enough for her daily needs. "I commenced," she said, using your Compound Oxygen a year ago last April, have had in all three supplies. For more than a year I have not failed to be able to be in my little store, and, averaging sales, earn enough for the day's needs. This I esteem a very great blessing, and as I believe the ability to do this was due to the use of the Compound Oxygen, I have wished others on the down-hill side of life, and obliged (because unable to work) to depend on others for support, could know, as I do, its power to revive waning abilities of both mind and body." Our treatise on Compound Oxygen, its nature, action, and results, with reports of cases and full information, sent free. Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 and 1111 Girard street, Philadelphia, Pa.

... Conference ... Tenn., in ... the Mansfield circuit, on Friday, January 5, 1883, in full triumph of living faith. Bro. Moody joined the Tennessee Conference in the year ... and he served the people on ... Waynesboro, Purdy, Henderson and ...esboro circuits. He was appointed on the Dickson circuit in 1881, and in the early part of 1882 he was taken down sick and was ill for some time. When he got able he moved to Mansfield circuit among his people, where he was raised. At my fourth quarterly conference, last year, Bro. Moody was with me and traveled around the circuit, at which time he preached his last sermon. In his last remarks he said the Lord revealed to him while sick to come back to Mansfield, his old home, where he could die with his people, and go to heaven from Mansfield Circuit. On Thursday he told the people to tell the elder and brethren not to grieve for him; all was well with him, he would soon be in heaven. Bro. Moody was about 40 years of age when he died. Jesse P. Died, at his residence in Brownsville, Haywood county, Tenn., of pneumonia, Jan. 27th, 1882, Stephen Green Estes, in the 37th year of his age. Brother Estes joined the M. E. Church in this place in the year 1870, and was a faithful officer and exemplary member to the day of his death. He was also a member of the Masonic Order and the Mutual Benevolent Society, in both of which he filled, with marked dignity and faithfulness, high official positions for more than ten years. It is indeed a painful duty to record the death of this worthy Christian brother. He was just in the bloom of a bright and promising manhood, was an earnest worker for the good of his race, and it is sad to think that his earnest words will be heard no more in our Society halls and in our sacred church. In his death our community has lost a valuable citizen, our church a useful, faithful member, and his wife a kind and devoted husband. We greatly feel his loss and yet we are assured our loss is his gain. He died peacefully, calmly trusting in our blessed religion, and while his body sleeps in the grave his pure spirit has gone to that beautiful land where "the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." R. P. Manson.

to vigorously push a business, strength to study a profession, strength to regulate a household, strength to do a day's labor without physical pain. All this represents what is wanted, in the often heard expression, "Oh! I wish I had the strength!" If you are broken down, have not energy, or feel as if life was hardly worth living, you can be relieved and restored to robust health and strength by taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, which is a true tonic—a medicine universally recommended for all wasting diseases.

501 N. Fremont St., Baltimore

During the war I was injured in the stomach by a piece of a shell, and have suffered from it ever since. About four years ago it brought on paralysis, which kept me in bed six months, and the best doctors in the city said I could not live. I suffered fearfully from indigestion, and for over two years could not eat solid food and for a large portion of the time was unable to retain even liquid nourishment. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters and now after taking two bottles I am able to get up and go around and am rapidly improving. G. Decker.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is a complete and sure remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Weakness and all diseases requiring a true, reliable, non-alcoholic tonic. It enriches the blood, gives new life to the muscles and tone to the nerves.

There sat two glasses filled to the brim,
On a rich man's table, rim to rim;
One was ruddy and red as blood,
And one as clear as the crystal flood.
Said the glass of wine to the paler brother:

hear the hounds tracking women through tangled swamps, and can hear the screams of mothers when their babes were taken from their breasts, and can see the tears as they steal down the cheeks of men when their wives and daughters were outraged in their very sight. Cruelty unspeakable! We can only ask God to forbid that the treatment that has been perpetrated upon us shall never be repeated.

The most startling article upon the subject referred to is the editorial of Dr. Fuller, in the Methodist Advocate, 3d inst. In his great effort to whitewash and defend E. H. King, the pastor of the White People's M. E. Church in Birmingham, Dr. Fuller declares that there is no caste in this United States, and at great length he defines the word caste. By caste is meant, says the Doctor, "None are allowed to break caste by marrying or otherwise. Is there such a condition of things in the South?" "No," says Brother Fuller. But I think the facts in the case are very differently. I have before me now a paper which reads as follows:

Special to the Times-Democrat.

CORSICANA, Texas, Jan. 24—Jim Mulgrove was sentenced to-day four years imprisonment for marrying a negro."

This I claim is caste, and an outrage, and for an editor of an official organ of the M. E. Church (and especially the Methodist Advocate) to say that nothing of the kind exists in this Union is certainly a noticeable change of sentiment.

As to whether it is constitutional or whether it is the law of the M. E. Church for a white pastor to exclude colored people from his congregation is not the question. What the people want to know is whether such a thing really exist under the beautiful banner of the free? The facts will show that it is true—Dr. Fuller to the contrary notwithstanding. May God bless the efforts that are being made to educate the poor whites in the South; but may the facts not be suppressed to the distruction of the colored.

The New York Independent is pleading against caste and the inhuman treatment of the colored people by Rev. Mr. King at Birmingham [illegible] Leprosy;' and wants the colored people to be treated with the same respect as the whites. Doctor Fuller intimates that there is prejudice against the colored people at the North as well as at the South, and asked the Independent the question; "Why then we ask, in the name of all that is sacred, do not you do so in New York, New Jersey and New England?" This is certainly a fair question, and appropriate for the occasion, and the great paper must answer the question. But the most people in this part of the country are under the impression that all people respectable up North could attend any church they desired without being molested; this brings us more light. But what will we do with Dr. M. W. Taylor's article on what he knows about caste in the M. E. church." He told the readers of the SOUTHWESTERN, a few weeks ago, many good things about Methodism. Dr. Taylor informs us in this far off Southern land how he (Dr. Taylor) who lives in the Queen City, 19 Noble Court, in the very heart of Methodism, under the shadow of the great Western Book Concern, and indeed the city in which our Dr. Rust resides, how [illegible] he has been entertained by, [illegible] to white Methodist people [illegible] Ohio and other Northern [illegible], and thus shows that there [illegible] caste or color-line prevalent [illegible] that part of the country. I confess that I was somewhat surprised [illegible] the article but read it with interest, as I always do his writings. There is quite a contrast between [illegible] editorial of Dr. Fuller and the [illegible] of Dr. Taylor, as to caste and [illegible] at the North. But Doc[illegible] will differ on some subjects. [illegible] want more light on the [illegible] will Doctor Taylor please explain through the SOUTHWESTERN, [illegible] or the race prefer[illegible] a great extend [illegible] Methodist [illegible] has been [illegible] Why is [illegible] siding elders from traveling such large districts entire States? If race preferences rule to such an extent there, in my humble opinion it is equal to caste or color-line, not Christ.

Letter from Prairie Plains.

DEAR EDITOR: As minister in charge of Prairie Plains circuit, allow me a space for publication of this letter.

As faithful ministers of Christ we vowed to raise a certain amount of money for the Houston Seminary. I felt doubtful of raising the $100. However, being urged by some of the preachers, I subscribed the amount and did it in good faith, under the expectation of raising it without doubt. My plan was to get up a subscription in the early part of the year, myself taking the lead, to assure them we meant business. The brethren coming up so far behind, in raising their amounts said, "I had sold my cotton to meet my subscription." The friends and members who contributed to this amount are most anxious that it shall be printed in the SOUTHWESTERN, showing that they had taken active part in sustaining the pastor in fulfilling the vow he had made for the required amount. The names of subscribers are as follows:

Rev. F. D. Bookman and wife, $20.00; W. P. Parker and wife, $10.00; G. R. Bookman, $5.00; Ned Magee and wife, $5.00; Sister Gaskin, $4.00; Wm. Fontaine and wife, 5.00; Joshua Cambridge and wife, 10.00; Joshua Williams, 10.00; Anderson Carrington, 5.00; Sister Sarah Williams, a good Baptist sister, 5.00; Sam Gilmore and wife, an old Baptist gentleman and lady, with no children, but trusting in the provision of Providence, also gave 5.00; Beckie Conners, a widow lady, 3.00; Harriett Sam Bookman, 2.25; Sam Bookman, 1.00; Willis Williams, 5.00; Allen Bookman and wife, 3.50; Sister Betsey Carter, a widow, 4.00; Thomas Bookman, 1.50; Green Pace and wife, 2.00; Lucy Pace, 1.00; Mary Ross, 1.00; Sister Galloway, 1.00; Harriett Magee, 5.00; [illegible] 1.00; Sister Ward, 50c.; Sister McCormack, 50c.; Morris Carrington, 1.50; Wm. Blanton, 1.00; Horace Ward, 1.00; the sinning young men of the community each contributed in small sums which amounted to 2.00; Wm. C. Denham, 5.00. The total amount subscribed from all sources was $120.

A good many members of the church put a wrong construction upon it, as we find in all societies, saying "the money would do no good." We allow for those ignorant people, though we endeavor within us to reprove them, that they might practice that which they profess to have. There is a good need for the Home Mission, but whether it could prise those ignorant ones up from the realm of darkness the Lord only knows!

Yours, F. D. BOOKMAN.

Houston Seminary.

Bishop Wiley and Dr. Rust arrived in Houston Saturday, Feb. 3d, and remained till Monday evening. The weather was quite disagreeble, a severe "norther" having also arrived about the same time.

On Sunday Bishop Wiley preached at Trinity M. E. Church in the evening, folowed by Dr. Rust at night. Both addresses were practical and to the point.

Monday morning they found rather a small attendance at the Seminary, as a snow had fallen, and the weather was so cold that many of the students were kept at home. After listening to a few recitations, they addressed the school. Their speeches, as also that of Bro. Scott, pastor of Trinity, were listened to with interest and profit by both teachers and students.

In the prayer meeting on the succeeding Friday, there were five clear conversions of students, only a beginning we hope of the revival that is to follow.

One hundred and sixteen students are enrolled, and more are expected. This indicates greater prosperity than is shown by the re[illegible] of conference collections. [illegible] ordered many repairs to [illegible] immediately, but said the [illegible] take up collections [illegible] expenses. Now, [illegible]

We cannot roof the dining-room and paint the house and repair the foundation without money. We need it now. It will not do, if we are to keep the property and build up a fine school here, to neglect the collections. We can get nothing from Cincinnati for repairs, and if the place is not kept up there is no use to think of getting new buildings or even to retain the property. Trustees have been appointed, and we hope the school will be remembered in the congregations before the close of February. C. W. CAMPBELL.

The Kingdom that Lives.

It is a privilege—is it not? to be a member of the Church of Christ; to constitute one of this mighty and immortal host; to bear the name which it bears; to unite in its songs and be remembered in its prayers; to be identified with its work and to share its rewards; to be counted worthy of its sufferings and to earn the fruit of its heroism; what has life to offer to a good man of lofty aspirations which can bear comparison with this? I never think of a child of God outside of the Church of Christ but with feelings of unutterable compassion. He is losing so much which might be his; he is failing to achieve so much which might swell his reward at his Master's coming!

He reminds me of the story of "The Man without a Country," doomed, in punishment of his momentary treason, never to hear from human lips the name of the land that gave him birth. He crossed oceans in his country's service, but could never hear her glory told. Her insignia were torn from the badge of his uniform. When his companions exulted over the news of her victories, dead silence stopped all voices if he entered their circle. The newspaper from home was not permitted to pass into his hands until it had been reviewed by a censor and the name of his country expurgated from its columns. Though an honest sailor and a gallant officer, his name appeared nowhere on the roll of [illegible] a nameless man, without a country and without a home.

Such a one does a Christian seem, who is trying to serve God and make his way to heaven outside of and out of sympathy with the Church of Christ. What can be done with such a man in heaven? What regrets must mingle with his joys on entering there! "Do this in remembrance of me." That one command given in the parting hour by the loving Savior to loved disciples, he has never in his whole life obeyed.

Oh, thanks to God for his visible church, for her hymns and her prayers, for her ordinances and the promises she inherits, for the fellowship of the saints on earth with saints in heaven, for the history of her sufferings and the future of her triumphs! Thank God for her immortality! While everything else in this world must die and rot, there is one thing that lives, one thing over which death has no power, one thing, that smiles at the grave as it passes on to a life that has no end.—Dr. Austin Phelps.

Cannot Quit!

A great beefy, dirty hard drinker said, "I cannot quit," and he did not until he lay in state at the morgue, having died of the "horrors" in an alley. "I have tried and I cannot quit," said a slave of tobacco. He is buried, now, having kept on to driveling senility chewing, spitting, smoking and smelling bad. He is gone. "I cannot quit," said the small boy with the villainous little cigarette between his teeth. His little grave will soon hold what he has not puffed away. "I can't quit," is the expiring drawl of man-livers, the last gap of will, the self-surrender of a soul to sin. "It would kill me to quit." Well, that is all right. It will be dying in a good cause. No man ought to be a slave to habit. It is unmanly to give up one's self to habit. "Cease to do evil." If a habit injures one, he ought to quit it. If what one does injures another, he must quit it. He cannot safely do anything that injures himself or anybody else. Virtue is courage, manliness, will power exercised in righteousness. What is wrong must be shunned. "Cease to do evil, learn to do well."—California Ad[illegible]

Wiley University.

We were recently favored with a visit from Bishop. I W. Wiley, and Dr. R. S. Rust, the chief officers of our Freedmen's Aid Society. They were pleased with some things in connection with our work. Their visit was short; but examinations thorough, so that the merits and needs of the school are fully before the Society. Their thorough examination is expressed by an inadvertent remark of an observer, "By the life of Pharaoh surely ye are spies." Earnest addresses were delivered to the students by the Bishop and Dr. Rust. We are much pleased to be thus favored, and return cordial thanks. We are encouraged with the prospect of additional accommodation soon. School at present is very full and about all available room occupied. Our school has good prospects before it, and we trust means sufficient can be secured to provide for its increasing wants.

W. H. DAVIS.

Marshall, Texas, Feb. 9th, 1883.

No one has a greater admiration for an education after the old classical model than ourself, we think, when such a course of training can be afforded, and, in other respects, seems in place. Yes, we like to see young men and young women making themselves familiar with Latin, Greek, French, German, music, drawing, and painting too, if they like. But we do not think an educational training is complete if limited to such a curriculum. A certain amount of knowledge which can be made practical use of in the ordinary business of life should also be imparted daily during the entire period of school-life. Young women will need such knowledge, and ought to insist upon acquiring it as much as should young men. They should understand just as well how to collect their rents or dividends, manage a bank account, or a shop, and administer upon an estate, as how to teach children and protect them from scarlet fever and diptheria. We congratulate all institutions upon their making new departures with a view to provide for their pupils a union of mental, [illegible] edge.—W. C. Advocate.

The Courier-Journal thinks the South is perfectly able to take care of itself in the way of educational facilities. It doesn't want any government aid for schools. Without being impertinent might we not ask, why doesn't the South do it? The entire Nation is interested in the intelligence of the voters in each State. The proposition to aid the Southern States with educational facilities has not been made with any show of Northern superiority, but with the knowledge that the peculiar institution of the South had left it wretchedly in the back-ground as regards intelligence. Left to her own resources it will take years for the South to organize effective educational work. Aided temporarily by the General Government she can at once begin honest efforts to take a stand side by side with the States of the North in intelligence.—Inter-Ocean.

The managers of the Woman's Home Missionary Society have pledged themselves, as all our last year's readers know, to the erection of a "home" for the school in Salt Lake City. Contributions have been coming in for this noble object for a year past. But the aggregate is yet too small to justify the managers in commencing to build. The "home" is greatly needed. It is indispensable to the success of our effort to do useful educational work in Utah. The managers are in a very anxious state of mind on the subject. Our workers in Utah are still more anxious. Who will send a handsome donation, in aid of this work? Any sum from $1 to $4,000 will be acceptable.—Western.

The figures from some of the States are astounding, and leave no excuse for further delay in the extension of national aid to education. In six large States half the people are illiterate. This is the solemn fact, and, in the face of it, the wonder of the ages will be that the South has recovered from the war, socially, politically, morally and industrially, as rapidly as it has. What a crime it has been [illegible] the part of the Nation to [illegible] the common school education [illegible] after a social revolution [illegible] magnitude as to unshackle [illegible] million slaves and give them [illegible] ballot.—Springfield Republican.

An Ancient Jewish Parable.

When Noah planted his vineyard, Satan came and asked him what he was doing.

"Planting a vineyard," was the reply.

"What is it for?"

"Its fruits, green or dry, are sweet and pleasant. We make wine of it, which gladdens the heart."

"I should like to have a hand in the planting," said Satan.

"Good," replied Noah.

Satan brought a lamb, a lion, a sow and an ape, killed them in the vineyard, and let their blood run into the roots of the vines. From this it comes that a man before he has taken the wine, is simple as a lamb which knows nothing, and is dumb before its shearers; when he has drunk moderately he grows a lion, and thinks there is not his like; if he drinks too much, he turns a swine and wallows in the mire; if he drinks still more, he becomes a filthy ape, falling hither and thither, and knowing nothing of what he does.—Sel.

It appears that colored babies still have a fixed value down South, although the market price is not so high as it was before the war. A Georgia paper says: "A few decades past a likely darkey sold for big money, and was looked on as valuable property, but it had been our opinion of late years that the average darkey was poor property. We are informed however, that a negro baby 7 months old has been seized for debt down in the Seventh district in this county. The father, represented by T. D. Oliver, Esq., has sued out a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Lovett. The amount of the debt was $7.50." There is a need for a little more civilization down South. In the North if babies could be attached for debt there would be a commotion, as it is the prevailing rule that people who have the least pecuniary responsibility have the most babies.—Inter-Ocean.

A man stopped at an inn over night. He had just left a town where he been living several years. The landlord asked him why he [illegible]cause my neighbors were so disagreeable and disobliging that there was no living with them." The landlord replied, "You will find just such neighbors where you are going." The next night another traveler chanced to come from the same place. He told the landlord that he was obliged to leave the town where he had been living, and that it cost him great pain to part with neighbors who had been so kind and obliging. The landlord replied, "You will find such neighbors where you are going." We ourselves are apt to determine the character of our neighbors.—Ex.

A correspondent writes us that he has made a long tour through the South and West. Wherever he has gone he has attended the services on the Sabbath at the Methodist Episcopal Church. In some places he was surprised to see what seemed a novelty in church service—the collection was taken during the singing of one of the regular hymns. He writes to inquire if this is the common practice, and whether it is approved by the leading church authorities? We will simply say with regard to it that it is not general, and that it has nothing to commend it to the church. To lay aside the book after finding the place and being ready for the most interesting part of the service in which the congregation is expected to join, to hunt for the pocket-book and take out money during the singing, is detrimental to worship and spirituality. It might work well with a quartette choir to do the singing, especially if they pronounce the words so that no one could understand them! But where the people are expected to sing, it is a most unphilosophical arrangement. No better plan could be devised for reducing the amount of the collection, as parsimonious souls—of whom there are not a few—can fix their eyes piously upon their book, and be engaged in making melody when the collector comes round.—N. Y. Advocate.

A Christian is one who loves God and keeps His commandments. Love, then, is not a mere sentiment, a feeling; it is a principle of a new life, which holds the life true to itself, true to duty, true to man, true to God. "If ye love Me, keep My commandments."—Exchange.

In the exercise of its right to rule the people of a Territory Congress may make and unmake both the civil and the criminal laws that govern them. No question of State sovereignty or of the powers reserved by the constitution to the several States can arise in the case of Congressional legislation for a Territory. These are elementary principles of constitutional law which Judge Black ought to know, and doubtless does know as well as any lawyer. About the only serious question that has grown out of the federal legislation touching Utah is whether a law aimed at polygamy is in violation of that part of the constitution which declares that Congress shall make no law "prohibiting the free exercise of religion." But this question has already been settled by the Supreme Court, which recently held that the punishment of polygamy is no interference with religious freedom.—N. Y. Herald.

The Table of Illiteracy in the United States will be studied with deep interest, since it is the first tabular statement from the Census office officially setting forth the relative condition of education in the States and Territories of our Union. As will be seen, Iowa leads the column in literacy, with reading as a test, and Wyoming Territory with writing; while South Carolina among the States, and New Mexico among the Territories, are at the foot of the column.—N. E. Journal of Education.

John Wesley was a small man; his brother Charles was a small man; Dr. Coke was a small man; yet these three little men did three big things.

John Wesley founded one of the largest churches in Christendom.

Charles Wesley wrote seven thousand hymns, some of them the best hymns in the world.

Dr. Coke was the first Bishop of the Methodist Church in America, and was the great founder of modern missions.

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again." True, but it is neither gentlemanly nor decent to crush Truth to the earth in order to give her occasion to rise again. A[illegible] Pine Bluff, Ark., the colored people exercise more of the privileges of citizenship than they do in almost any other part of the State. Several colored men are in the City Council, two or three are Justices of the peace, and all three of the Representatives from the county in the State Legislature are colored men. Mr. Ferdinand Harris, a dignified and cultured young man, is the County Clerk.—The Sheriff, Col. J. M. Clayton, the brother of ex-U. S. Senator Clayton, is a Republican. He has appointed J. H. Borlch, Esq., an intelligent and efficient colored man, as his chief deputy. Two colored men, learned in the law, S. H. Scott and S. J. Hollingsworth, Esqs., practice at the bar here regularly. Under such circumstances it is no wonder that many of our people are prospering and happy in that portion of Arkansas.

The Little Rock Conference.

The Little Rock Conference convened in its fifth annual session, in the city of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, on Thursday, February 8th, instant, at 9 o'clock, A. M., with Rev. Bishop John F. Hurst, D.D., in the chair. The Bishop opened the conference by reading an appropriate Scripture lesson and announcing the old familiar hymn of Charles Wesley, "And are we yet alive and see each other's face." After which he led in a fervent prayer. The secretary of the last conference called the roll, which showed a full attendance, and revealed the exceptional fact that not one had died during the year. Rev. I. G. Pollard was re-elected secretary, with Revs. T. Mason, L. W. Elkins, W. R. R. Duncan and W. O. Emory, as assistant secretaries. The usual committees were appointed, and the two presiding elders, Pollard and Sams, reported their works during the first day's session. Considerable progress was reported from all parts of the field. In the evening, the anniversary of the Church Extension Society was held, when Dr. Young, of Des Moines, Iowa, who accompanied the Bishop, very ably presented the work of the society. During the second day's session the usual conference business of examining the character of the preachers was attended to. The class of probationers, as follows: H. H. McAllister, B. McCain, Foster Wallace and G. G. W. Taylor, were called forward and were very plainly and forcibly addressed by the Bishop, after which they were admitted into full connection; and McAllister and Wallace were elected to deacon's orders—the others being in orders. W. H. Higgins and W. R. R. Duncan were elected to elder's orders. An educational meeting was held on Friday night, when addresses were made by Profs. Mason and Fry, of Walden Seminary; Bishop Hurst and Dr. Young. Saturday's session was occupied in the routine work of the conference, and in receiving reports from committees. On Saturday night, in connection with the report on books and periodicals, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, B. D., assistant editor of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, addressed the conference on the subject in general, and in the interest of the SOUTHWERTERN in particular. The address was heartily received, and greater efforts than ever were cheerfully promised for the SOUTHWESTERN. Bishop Hurst also, on this occasion, took advanced grounds in behalf of our paper, and under the inspiration of his burning words of advice and encouragement, we feel safe in assuming that our list of subscribers in Arkansas for 1883 will be larger than ever before. The committee on education reported. The report elicited able and instructing addresses from Prof. Mason, Bishop Hurst and Rev. Dr. Fowler. Just before adjournment, the statistical secretary, Rev. L. W. Elkins, reported as follows:

The Conference Sabbath was a day of special blessings. At 9:30 o'clock, A. M., the conference love feast was opened, and continued for for over an hour. It was indeed a time of refreshening from the Lord. At 11 o'clock, after singing the hymn, "Jesus the name high over all," and offering a feeling and earnest prayer, Bishop Hurst preached an able and interesting, soul-reviving sermon from Matthew, 20th chapter, 26-27th verses. The Bishop showed in an impressive manner who were the truly great men in the world. Those who, like our blessed Master, suffered the most in ministering to the wants of a suffering world. Such drew the world to them by the attractive force of their sympathy. They were the greatest in this world and in that which is to come. At the close of this sermon the deacons were ordained. At 3 o'clock, P. M., Rev. A. H. Gillet, A. M., Sunday-school agent for the [illegible] and West, addressed the [illegible] and the large congrega[illegible] [illegible] upon the work of [illegible] Gillet and every essential feature of Sunday-school work at his finger ends. He left suggestions and impressions with this conference which can not fail to benefit greatly the Sunday-school interest throughout the State of Arkansas. At the conclusion of this service the ordination of elders took place, when W. R. R. Duncan was ordained elder. W. H. Higgins being absent, will be ordained in the Arkansas conference which meets in Little Rock a few days hence. Rev. C. H. Fowler, LL. D., one of the giants, corresponding secretary of the Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit in the evening in presenting "the missionary idea," "the Christian idea," and the missionary work of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His address was characteristic and able. This was Dr. Fowler's first visit, but he was not a "stranger among strangers." No man occupies a higher station in the hearts of the members of the Little Rock conference. With the close of Dr. Fowler's address, came the last moments of the conference, the hour of parting for scattered fields of labor. The old Methodist conference parting hymn, "And let our bodies part," was sung; the Bishop led in fervent prayer, and after addressing the conference most tenderly and fraternally, he read the appointments, and the conference adjourned, with the benediction by the Bishop.

Educating Colored Voters.

Slowly, but steadily and surely, the South is becoming more and more convinced of the great necessity of educating the colored people. The advance in public sentiment in this matter since immediately after the war, when colored schools were universally despised and often burned down and scattered, has been remarkable. Now nearly the whole South is pleading for education for all classes of her ignorant masses, The Atlanta Constitution of a recent date said:

No matter what the prejudices of a few or many Southern whites may be, the Democrats can neither ignore nor oppose the suggestions of common sense. So far as the South is concerned, there is but one course left for it to pursue with respect to the negro, and that is educate him to the point of realizing the responsibilities of his new condition.—There are occasional protests against the condition of things that makes the policy a necessity, but there is no opposition to the policy itself, in any quarter. It is not only the policy, but the vital necessity of the South—a necessity based on considerations that touch the safety of society.

With a view to sheltering the guilty, and to nullify the prosecution of offenders against the election laws, about to be tried in the U. S. District Court of Opelousas, the political friends of the accused are endeavoring to create the impression that a "great outtage" and a "persecution" is about to be attempted. Complaint is made that the parties accused were not indicted and brought to trial at Monroe, a more convenient point than Opelousas. These appeals are simply disgraceful, and arise from hostility to national authority in the matter. It is notorious that grave frauds were committed in the fifth district; that colored voters are constantly cautioned not to attempt to cast a ballot for the party of their choice—if it be Republican; and that to attempt a trial at Monroe, the headquarters of conspirators against the law, would be a waste of time. The grand jury at Monroe took no action in the matter, as it was in duty bound to do, hence the wisdom of the District Attorney in seeking the [illegible] cution of offenders [illegible]

In all [illegible] there are [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] out of their way.

The California Advocate, on hearing the report that Asbury University was to be changed to DePauw University, as a condition of a donation, and as a memorial name for his daughter, says: "We are accustomed to seeing offices bought, franchises, titles, steamboats and railroads bought, but when colleges begin to put themselves up in the shambles to the highest bidder, woe betide us! God help us! Such mercenariness, such meanness ought to be impossible. We would rather see Asbury University in ashes, the site sowed with salt, the faculty dispersed, and the charter surrendered and burnt, than to see this most ignoble, most disgraceful [illegible] consummated."

PERSONAL.

—Ex-Gov. E. D. [illegible] of New York, died on the [illegible]

—The last surviving son of Wordsworth, the poet, died in London.

—Correspondents will address Rev. W. R. R. Duncan at Fayetteville, Ark.

—Ex-Gov. Wm. E. Smith, of Wisconsin, died in Milwaukee on the 13th.

—Wm. E. Dodge, merchant and philanthropist, died in New York on the 9th.

—Percy H. Smith, one of Chicago's wealthiest citizens has been declared insane.

—Judah P. Benjamin, queen's counsel, has retired from practice because of heart disease.

—Corresdondents of Rev. John L. Smith are requested to address him at Millican Texas.

—Mr. Blaine is now engaged on, and is soon to publish a history of Congress from 1861 to 1881.

—Robert M. Lusher, Esq., suffered the loss of his only child, a daughter, by death, on the 15th.

—Thhe President nominated Emory Speer to be United States Attorney for the Northern District of Georgia.

—The friends of Bishop Hugh Miller Thompson have purchased a residence for him in the suburbs of Natchez.

—Bishop Hunt has appointed Rev. W. D. Godman, D. D., President of La Teche Seminary, and Corresponding Secretary of the Orphan's Home Society.

—Gen. Cyrus Bussey was, in New York recently, the guest of Rev. Dr. Newman. He attended the meeting of the Lincoln Club during his stay, and with Dr. Newman, was one of the speakers of the occasion.

—Ex-Gov. E. J. Davis, of Texas, died in Austin on the 7th, of pneumonia, aged 55 years. During the war he served as a General in the U. S. Army. He was elected Governor in 1871, and at the expiration of his term he returned to the law, and acquired a large practice. He was an active and highly esteemed Republican and a faithful citizen. Business was suspended in all the State departments out of respect to his memory, and the flag on the Capital was put at half-mast.

—Ex-Governor Marshall Jewell, Chairman of the National Republican Committee, died of pneumonia in Hartford, Conn., on the 10th, aged 58 years. At the close of his third term as Governor, in 1873, he received from President Grant the appointment to be United States Minister to Russia. In July, 1874, President Grant appointed him to succeed J. A. Cresswell as Postmaster General, and he resigned his mission to accept that position. After leaving the Postoffice Department Mr. Jewell held no political office, but gave his time to his large business interests. He continued to take an active interest in politics, however, and was called upon frequently as a campaign speaker. During the Garfield campaign he was chairman of the Republican National Committee. At the time of his death Mr. Jewell was President of the Southern New England Telephone Company, of the Hartford Evening Post Association, of the Jewell Pin Company, of the firm of P. Jewell & Sons, tanners, and also held numbers of offices in local companies.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

W. D. Godman, Baldwin: "In my communication to the members of the Louisiana Conference, published in the last issue, Feb. 15th, line 19, the word "withdraw" should be "withdrew."

MISSISSIPPI.

A. M. Trotter, Grenada, Feb. 12: "Please give credit to whom credit is due, Bro. P. E. Bardwell was chairman of the committee on the state of the church, and was author of the report which was published in your paper last week. The report says that I was chairman."

Murfreesboro District Conference.

It convened at Murfreesboro, Tenn., Jan. 17, in the basement of the new church. A funeral being in progress, the preachers were invited to attend. On their return they were called to order by presiding elder H. W. Key. C. L. Seward was elected secretary, and W. C. Miller and S. Knight, assistants. At 7 P. M., the opening sermon was delivered by H. O. Green.

On second day, 8 elders, 4 deacons, and a number of local preachers and exhorters reported their work. The report of Sunday-schools was good, though some of them have taken winters quarters; likewise those of the district stewards and class leaders.

On third day, the committee reports were read and the [illegible] wise ly [illegible] Rev. Ben Anderson, of [illegible] preached [illegible] a rousing sermon.

On Saturday, fourth day, there was a nice turn out of visitors, and many introductions and speeches. The Sunday-school institute was held in the afternoon. The speakers were Dr. J. Braden, of Nashville; Rev. Olden, of First Baptist Church; Rev. Bowman, of the A. M. E. Church. The choir furnished excellent music. The temperance meeting at night was addressed by Dr. Braden, Rev. Bowman, Dr. Bass, W. C. Miller, P. Brooks and Elder Key.

On Sunday morning the Sunday-school at 8 A. M. was well attended; the writer preached at 11 A. M. At 2 P. M. dedication services were commenced by Rev. A. Phillips, pastor, the lesson was read by Elder Key, the second by the writer; Dr. Braden preached then and again at night. Collections during conference were $53.25.

The next session will be held in Alexandria, where a new church is being built. Subscribers and other friends are requested to send in their contributions that it may be completed in time. Address me at Alexandria, box 41.

The outlook on the district is excellent. Our beloved presiding elder is full of the Holly Ghost, and new churches are being built and Sabbath schools organized.

We have received from President James A. Dean, of New Orleans University, a copy of his "Memoranda for the Pulpit," just issued from the press of N. Tilbals & Sons, 124 Nassau St., New York. It is intended as a convenience to pastors, helping them to prepare notices for the pulpit, and keep a permanent record of texts, hymns, etc. It consists of leaves of strong manilla paper, with printed headings and blanks to be filled by the pastor with names, numbers, words and dates. In shape it is 3½x8 inches, and the whole or parts of a leaf may be easily removed as in the case of note pads. Dr. Dean has followed practical suggestions, and his memoranda will be found serviceable.

Gen. Ed. Lewis, Dem., was elected to Congress from the Sixth Louisiana District, without any considerable opposition.

The report of the State Superintendent of Education to the Legislature discloses the fact that several county superintendents in Alabama are defaulters in sums considerably aggregating $30,000.

Gov. McEnery removed from office the sheriff of West Carroll, charged with being a defaulter.

It is reported that $200,000 in gold lately coined at the New Orleans Mint is short of the required weight to the extent of $2 50 on the hundred.

The Florida Senate passed the ship canal bill.

The Cape Cod canal project is being revived.

The treaty of commerce with Mexico grants Germany noteworthy advantages.

Brethren will please make all necessary preparations for their quarterly conferences. Without loss of time mature your plans; push forward all the spiritual and benevolent interests of the church. Put off nothing for the end of the year. Let our Gilbert-Haven School of Theology subscription, and the SOUTHWESTERN interests be constantly kept before our people; and let us do more for them than ever before. We did well last year; we want to and must do better this, and every successive year. We Methodists believe in "going on to perfection." Let us go forward. Yours, fraternally,

May their journey through life be a peaceful one. They left for their home by the N. O. & Texas railroad.

Near Brownsville, Tenn., Jan. 7, 1883, Mrs. Jane Smith, wife of Rev. Hardon Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church at Woodlawn. He has been in charge of the church 25 or 30 years, and Sister Smith was baptized by him over twenty years ago. H. PRIMM.

Sister Harriet Magee for 12 years was a faithful and consistent member of the Prairie Plains M. E. Church. Her seat in the house of worship was never vacant. I visited her during her last illness; I read the different passages of the scriptures to comfort her in her affliction, which she appreciated with great gratitude. My soul was delighted to her patience and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Urging upon her husband to be faithful, as he was not yet a member of the church, but striving to be, the words of her presentiment proved true, and caused him to have a stronger faith and hope to obtain the promise, and to meet her in glory. She has left a sorrowing husband and five children and a multitude of friends to mourn her decease. F. D. BOOKMAN.

DEATHS.

Died, in this city, Jan. 13, 1883, Sister Jane Pinkard. She was born in 1807 or 1808, being about 75 years of age. She professed religion and joined the Church in 1853, having been a servant of the Lord for 30 years. She lived a consistent Christian and member of Clark Chapel. Her husband died long before her and no doubt waited her arrival. She leaves quite a number of relatives behind who should profit by her example. Her funeral sermon was preached by the writer. Her remains were followed to the grave by a large number of relatives and friends. We check her name on the church register below that it may be registered above as "arrived home." L. M. HAGOOD.

In our [illegible] believing people [illegible] learned how the first Christians sold their land and brought the disciples the money to divide, so the poor could be cared for. They did not have to do it, but did it for love. A man named Ananias and his wife Sapphira sold their land, not because they wanted to give, but because the others did it, and they wanted people to think they were Christians, too. But they agreed to keep part for themselves, and say they sold their land for the money they were giving the disciples. They made a lie together and then came to Peter to tell it. Ananias came first, and said, Here is our money; we sold the land for this. God took his life with that lie, and after they carried him out for burial Sapphira came, not knowing what had happened to Ananias. She died, too, and died with the lie on her lips. God did this to show his people how he hates lying. Never forget our text, "Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord." You can tell a lie. You can act a lie and you can look a lie. Nothing that makes a lie can enter heaven. Ask Jesus every morning to keep you from every kind of lying.—Western.

The Southern Exposition Building at Louisville, Kentucky.

This cut gives the best representation of this extensive building it is possible to get on paper. At highest elevation on Fourth street the building is 75 feet, but it is over eight times that wide, and it is twelve times that long. On each of the four sides will be a handsome entrance, and at each corner there will be ornamental towers. Around the interior runs a gallery, the length of which is over 3000 feet, or over three-fifths of a mile. Four courts each contain half an acre, and are principally for light and ventilation, though they will be handsomely ornamented and used possibly for refreshment stands. To the north lies Central Park, eighteen acres, and a magnificent growth of forest trees. This park will be under the management of the Exposition Company, and will add greatly to the comfort of all visitors. Street cars pass out Fourth street on the east side of the grounds, and out Sixth street on the west side, and the Exposition can be reached by a few minutes ride at the cost of five cents. Both these streets, it is expected, will be illuminated by electricity from Broadway, and possibly from Main street. On the southern line of the grounds the Louisville and Nashville railroad will erect a passenger station, at which visitors from any part of the United States will be landed within a few feet of the entrance. Within every imaginable comfort will be provided for visitors. The refreshment rooms will be under the management of skillful and experienced caterers; the bill of fare will be rich and varied, and the charges reasonable. On some part of the grounds there will be daily concerts by a well organized orchestra. Waiting rooms, reading rooms, telegraph offices, post-offices, ticket offices, will all be conveniently located, and there will be no necessity for leaving the grounds from 10 a.m. to 10 p. m., as they will be brilliantly illuminated, and if the visitors grow weary, they can rest under the shade of the trees in the Park, listen to the orchestra or attend the lectures.

A SOUTHERN EXPOSITION

Louisville's Preparations to aid in the Development of the South—Fifteen Acres under one Roof, with a Central Park for a Promenade Ground—Machinery from the North and Raw Products from the South.

We are indebted for the above cut to B. F. Avery & Sons' agricultural paper, Home and Farm, published at Louisville, Ky., and from a descriptive article of the Exposition, which opens Aug. 1, 1883, and continues one hundred days, we make the following extracts:

Since the Centennial Exposition, the Cotton Exposition at Atlanta in 1881 is the only event of the character which served to fix the attention of the whole nation. That great Exposition was due to suggestions made by Mr. Edward Atkinson, a shrewd observer, a thorough man of business, one who studies the possibilities and shortcomings of all branches of industries. Familiar with all the needs of the manufacturers, he felt that much might be added to the value of the principal Southern staple with labor more intelligently directed. Hence he proposed the Cotton Exposition, which should treat that staple in an exhaustive manner, and show how it could be utilized in many ways.

The Atlanta Exposition was the result of the suggestion of Mr. Atkinson. The good accomplished there is inestimable. It has made the cotton planter place a truer estimate on the value of his crop, and it has taught the people of the Northern States something of the great industrial resources of the section of the country lying south of Mason and Dixon's line. Yet the Atlanta Exposition left much undone. It became evident, therefore, before it closed, that another great exhibit on a scale broader and more comprehensive, was necessary in order fully to accomplish the good work there begun, and by general consent Louisville was to undertake it. Louisville had begun her preparations to have the first cotton exposition when Atlanta, moving more rapidly and vigorously, stepped ahead; and what Atlanta did only confirmed the citizens of Louisville in their determination to have the second Great Southern Exposition at the Falls of the Ohio.

The lowest estimate placed on the attendance at Louisville is half a million, and from that it runs up to one million. The center of population in the United States is but a short distance east of Louisville. Travelers can leave New York and New Orleans and meet in Louisville in twenty-four hours. Atlanta, in 1881, had less than 50,000 inhabitants; while in the three Falls cities there are two hundred thousand. In order to provide ample and convenient accommodations for all who care to exhibit, the citizens of Louisville, New Albany and Jeffersonville have already subscribed $250,000, and they hope to increase this sum to $300,000. This will give ample means to carry out any valuable suggestions which will add in any way to the interest of the Exposition.

Cotton is to be the central feature of this Exposition, and never before was cotton more worthy the study of thinking men. Southern farmers are now more active in investigations, more earnest in efforts to improve crops than they have ever been. They are quicker to take hold of new machines, prompter to respond to any demand for new varieties of their productions than ever before. It is important for them to determine how they can realize something from the oil in the cotton seed, and at the same time give to the land the cottonseed as a fertilizer. It is claimed by several manufacturers they are now making a plantation oil-mill to [illegible] at a low price, [illegible] be an ex- [illegible] cured, which will do this work, and it will, we suppose, be seen at Louisville.

In most sections of the South gin-houses are of the crudest character, power expensive, and the work unsatisfactory. In them the value of the whole cotton crop deteriorates, because it is handled recklessly, is mixed with trash and dirt, is injured by the weather, and is treated with less consideration than any crop in the land.

The display of sugar-making machinery will be one of the features of the Exposition. With sugar making very few of us are familiar. We know that the territory in America where sugar cane can be successfully raised is very restricted. Recent experiments and practical tests indicate sugar of the best grade can be made from sorghum. When the truth of this statement has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the great body of American farmers, subjected to the most searching tests, and we all see the sugar crystals, we will begin to realize the vast importance of the discovery, and instead of devoting a few thousand acres to sugar-raising in Louisiana, the sugar belt becomes identical with the corn belt, and instead of sending one hundred millions out of the country every year to pay for sugar we keep it at home.

Jute and grape culture, hemp, ramie, tobacco, grain, silk and rice will have ample room and space devoted to them, and it is quite certain that, as far as the farmers of the West and South are concerned, this will be the most interesting exhibition ever held.

The Directors of the Southern Exposition are now ready to receive applications for space for exhibits, and we commend the subject to the universal consideration which its importance demands.

Shot By Stray Bullets.

An Eminent Clergyman, of Catlettsburg, Ky., Relates an Experience—The Ashland Tragedy.

"To the Bastile! To the Bastile!" yelled the Paris mob as they rushed roaring out of the Faubourg St. Antoine in the French Revolution. The people conquered that time, and they deserved to conquer. But the attempt on the part of a mob to rescue the two prisoners at Catlettsburg, Ky., was a mistake. Had no such lawless and ill-advised effort been made those innocent persons who were accidentally shot down by the troops might still be living, and the resulting gloom would not have gathered over the State of Kentucky. In their death the people should see a fresh reprint of the old lesson: Never thrust yourself into needless danger!

Perils greater than those of bullet and bayonet surround us on every hand. However innocent, young, strong or beautiful, who may escape disease? It enters and there's no defence, its time there's no one can tell. But we can always accept advice from wise and experienced men. Rev. Zephaniah Meek, D. D., editor of the Central Methodist, published at the scene of the disturbance, Catlettsburg, Ky., said in a recent editorial: "Parker's Ginger Tonic has no equal as an appetizer, or as a preventive of stomach and liver trouble. It wards off headache. It acts promptly, pleasantly and successfully. I use it in my family and it has given perfect satisfaction, and I feel constrained to commend it to the readers of this journal, who will please understand that this is not a paid notice. Parker's Ginger tonic has our unqualified endorsement."

Hiscox & Co., of New York, the proprietors, are in receipt of many similar letters from clergymen whose praise is in all the churches. The Tonic invigorates, but never fosters an appetite for strong drinks. It cures Liver, Lung, Kidney and Stomach disorders. Fifty cents or $1 a bottle. Economy in larger size.

Is It Worth While?

BY JOAQUIN MILLER.

Is it worth while that we jostle a brother,
Bearing his load on the rough road of life?
Is it worth while that we jeer at each other,
In blackness of heart, that we war to the knife?
God pity us all in our pitiful strife.

God pity us all, as we jostle each other,
God pardon us all for the triumphs we feel
When a fellow goes down 'neath his load on the heather,
Pierced to the heart: Words are keener than steel,
And mightier far for woe than for weal.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances.
"E. G. LOVE, Ph. D."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure.
"H. A. MOTT, Ph. D."

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance.
"HENRY MORTON, Ph. D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome.
S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer, Massachusetts."

"June 22, 1882.—We have made a careful analytical test of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by ourselves in the open market here, and in the original package. We find it to be a cream of tartar powder of the highest degree of strength, containing nothing but pure, wholesome, and useful ingredients.

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, and at State fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal indorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health, all over the world.

NOTE.—The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A one pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated in the above diagram. This practical test for worth, by Prof. Schedler, only proves what every observant consumer of Royal Baking Powder knows by experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than the ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides affords the advantage of better work.

A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

LOUISIANA.

Rev. A. Ross, one of the fathers of Methodism in the Louisiana Conference, was appointed at the last conference to plant the standard of the church in the prosperous village of Gretna; and he has entered upon his labor of gathering the sheep into the fold, with his usual earnestness. Of course, on holding his first service he met a small congregation, but he feels greatly encouraged by the spirit they exhibited. The people are determined to uphold their pastor and to increase in numbers and piety. Bro. Ross and his people deserve, and no doubt they will receive the prayers and the active assistance of brethren in this city. Visiting brethren will be heartily welcomed. For Cold in the Head.

When one has a bad cold and the nose is closed up so that he cannot breathe through it, relief may be found instantly by putting a little camphor and water in the centre of the hand and snuffing it up the nose. It is a great relief.

Liquid Glue.

Glue, as ordinarily made, with water, must be used hot, and when cold it becomes hard and almost solid again. Glue, that will remain liquid, and be always ready for use, is very convenient to have at hand. It is prepared by placing fragments of the best glue in a bottle, and covering them with acetic acid, which may be had at any drug store. The bottle is placed in a vessel of water, which is gradually heated and kept warm until the glue is dissolved.

Black Cake,

One pound of brown sugar, one pound of browned flour, one pound of sliced citron, one pound of currants, three and one half pounds of stoned raisins, three-quarters of a pound of butter, one teacupful of molasses, twelve eggs, two teaspoonfuls each of mace, cinnamon and cloves, one teaspoonful of soda.

Apple Pancakes.

To an ordinary batter, made with a quart of milk and four eggs, add six or eight apples, peeled and chopped fine. The batter should be made thicker than usual, as the juice of the apples in cooking thins it. Make these cakes of large size, and bake them on a hot griddle. Serve them hot, laying one of them on top of the other, with mixed powdered sugar and butter spread between.

Give hens a variety of food, meal, cracked corn, barley, oats, scraps, cabbage, chopped onions, boiled potatoes, and plenty of good fresh water.

A harness kept soft and pliable with good neatsfoot oil will last almost a lifetime. It is stronger, because slightly elastic, and will seldom wear off the hair.

Poverty and Distress.

That poverty which produces the greatest distress is not of the purse but of the blood. Deprived of its richness it becomes scant and watery, a condition termed anæmia in medical writings. Given this condition, and scrofulous swellings and sores, general and nervous debility, loss of flesh and appetite, weak lungs, throat disease, spitting of blood and consumption are among the common results. If you are a sufferer from thin poor blood employ Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which enriches the blood and cures these organic affections. Is more nutritive than cod liver oil, and is harmless in any condition of the system, yet powerful to cure. By druggists.

Opening the Heart.

The Rev. J. G. Cunningham said: "I knew a little boy—he was my own brother, in fact—whose heart was touched by a sermon on the words 'Behold, I stand at the door and knock.' My mother said to him, when she noticed that he was anxious, 'Robert, what would you say to any one who knocked at the door of your heart, if you wished him to come in? and he answered. 'I would say, "Come in."' She then said to him, 'Then say to the Lord Jesus, "Come in."' Next morning there was a brightness and a joy about Robert's face that made my father ask, 'What makes you so glad to-day?' He replied, 'I awoke in the night; and I felt that Jesus was still knocking at the door of my heart, and I said, "Lord Jesus, come," and I think He has come in. I feel happier this morning than I ever was before.' I could see that Jesus had come in by his obedience, by his beaming countenance, and by the love he showed to God's word and to God's people."

MOTHERS READ.

GENTS:—About nine years ago I had a child two years old and almost dead. The doctor I had attending her could not tell what ailed her. I asked him if he did not think it was worms. He said no. However, this did not satisfy me, as I felt convinced in my own mind that she had. I obtained a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE (genuine). I gave her a teaspoonful in the morning and another at night, after which she passed seventy-two worms and was a well child. Since then I have never been without it in my family. The health of my children remained so good that I had neglected watching their actions until about three weeks ago, when two of them presented the same sickly appearance that Fanny did nine years ago. So I thought it must be worms, and went to work at once with a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE between four of my children, their ages being as follows: Alice, 8 years; Charley, 4 years; Emma, 6 years; John, 9 years. Now comes the result: Alice and Emma came out all right, but Charley passed forty-five and Johnny about sixty worms. The result was so gratifying that I spent two days in showing the wonderful effect of your Vermifuge around Utica, and now have the worms on exhibition in my store.
Yours truly, JOHN PIPER.

The genuine DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE is manufactured only by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa., and bear the signatures of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. It is never made in St. Louis or Wheeling. Be sure you get the genuine. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational signing, and is especially excellent fur social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev. C. H. Collins.

Bound in cloth, gilt, 272 pages, and portrait. Sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, 60 cents.

Every Lady Should Read.
LOUISVILLE LADIES' PURCHASING AGENCY.

The undersigned, with additional facilities and after a long and successful experience in the purchasing business, desires to again call especial attention to her arrangements for filling orders from a distance, for every article, to the complete satisfaction of those who may honor her with their patronage.

A specialty is made of buying and superintending the manufacture of TROSSEAU, and the ordering and trimming of BONNETS and HATS. Children's suits will be made to order, and Patterns, Dresses and Cloaks cut and basted. A mistake has never been made in fitting any article of dress and no charge will be made if complete satisfaction is not given.

Hundreds of patrons can be referred to who will certify as to successful operation of Agency. Every manufactured article will be prepared by a leading artist in their particular line.

Hats, Cloaks, Gloves, Hosiery, Jewelry, Cuffs, Collars, Lace, Ribbons, Carpets, Furniture, and Furnishing Goods, and every article of wear or Domestic use bought upon the most favorable terms. Feathers and Gloves cleaned and dyed. Private arrangements with the most skillful modistes and leading wholesale and retail merchants in every line enable her to hold out rare inducements by which from 10 to 50 per cent. can be saved by buying through this Agency.

Every article sent out will be chosen with the greatest care. Everything manufactured is made under personal supervision and will be of the best material, finest finish, and in the latest modes. If more elegance in style, more beauty of material, and more complete work for the same money can be obtained through this Agency, it is to the interest of ladies desiring to dress well, to patronize it.

The large clearing and bankrupt sales in the city continually present magnificent opportunities for getting great bargains. Samples sent free upon receipt of stamp, and full information as to style and mode. Correspondence solicited. It costs little to mail a letter, and it will be promptly and satisfactorily answered.

The Louisville Market is especially adapted to the Southern taste, and it will be found to give better satisfaction than either Philadelphia or New York, while prices are really less. There is an elegance, conservatism and grace in the dressing of Southern Ladies which cannot be imitated, and which is one of their highest charms. To maintain this is one of the chief efforts of the Manager of this Agency. Any article made or purchased East, will be duplicated with 10 per cent. off. Refers by permission to Rev. Stuart Robinson, D. D., W. N. Haldeman, Manager Courier-Journal, and Col. Bennett H. Young.

TERMS—5 per cent. on all purchases. Money can be sent by Check, Registered Letter, or Post-office Order, or will send C. O. D. Address,

USE THE

A WONDERFUL [illegible]d SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.

2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.

3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.

4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

HE BORE OUR SINS.

He bore our sins;—the burden vile,
That made the whole creation groan,
The loving man of Nazareth
Upon his shoulders bore alone.

The sins of one poor life would shroud
All hope, in clouds of rayless gloom;
The sorrow of one human soul
Would crush it downward to the tomb—

What marvel that he should recoil?
And that he groaned, and wept, and prayed,
When all the sorrow, all the shame
Upon his sinless soul were laid.

What marvel that he, fainting, fell?
And that his heart in twain should break,
[illegible] the Father's holy wrath
[illegible] to bear, for love's own sake?

[illegible] our sins;—O sinless One!
[illegible] brother of our fallen race—
[illegible] can we ever doubt thy love?
[illegible] refuse thy proffered grace?

[illegible] WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IN MISSIONS.

[illegible] for Study.—See former [illegible] this subject. Helps [illegible]: "The Tongue of [illegible]," by the Rev. Wm. [illegible] Randolph & Co., [illegible] Doctrine of the [illegible] George Smeaton, [illegible] T. & T. [illegible]

[illegible] Illustrations.—[illegible] need of the [illegible] the Church: [illegible] force of the [illegible] its numbers in [illegible]. A worker for many years among the women of China says in a [illegible] book entitled "How Shall I [illegible] I Serve?" "A great [illegible] has been done; a great deal is being done; but the needs of China alone at this hour proclaim aloud that a far more herculean power must yet be put forth. O for the companies of men and women which characterized pentecostal days, when all went everywhere preaching the word! Surely, the decline from so aggressive an agency, from so hopeful a beginning, must be a decline from a state which the Holy Ghost meant to be the normal state of the Church. * * * Multitudes may, indeed, be se[illegible] and sent forth; means may [illegible] which in themselves are [illegible]ing, and good; but [illegible] individually trained of [illegible] filled with the Spirit of [illegible] God's instruments [illegible] great purposes." [illegible] the Spirit alone [illegible] upon the [illegible] A mis[illegible] here [illegible] for [illegible] and [illegible] one who knows how to deal with his own people, and give him the 'tongue of fire,' and no foreigner can compete with him in power for soul-saving. But the love must be a consuming fire! It must burn away the dross."

(3.) Consider the special readiness of God to bestow the Spirit in answer to intercessions in behalf of others. This truth seems apparent in the passage, Luke xi, 1-13, where the most abundant promises of the Spirit are connected with a case of such intercession: as with the general prayer, "Thy kingdom come."

(4.) Consider the many ways of the operation of the Spirit. Prayers for his aid are doubtless being answered by innumerable methods which we cannot trace. Many concurring forces are put at work in a yet hidden way, both in Christian and in heathen lands, in answer to the desire and efforts of the Church.

(5.) Illustrations of the manifest work of the Spirit in heathen lands are abundant. (a) In his itinerating tour a missionary lately met a Chinaman who claimed to be a Christian, "baptized by God." Thirteen years before, as a soldier, he had obtained a Testament. His heart was moved and changed. He wanted baptism. One day he sat in the door of his humble home, and the thought occurred to him, "The rain comes down from God: he can baptize me." Thus kneeling, he bared his head and neck to the heavenly baptism, and lived in its power year by year. (b) Among the Indians on the borders of Alaska, one old woman said to the missionary: "Missionary, you think perhaps that I forget all the good words. No, I have a little box full of pebbles, and I have a text in my heart for every pebble I put in it." In that mission a special work of grace has been experienced among the people. (c) In revival scenes just now reported from the Hawaiian Islands, foreign residents and natives are being converted together in a powerful manner by "the self same Spirit." (d) A Chinaman in California heard the story of Jesus and the cross, and, as he says, "That night believed all at once." He sought out a Christian Church, and not knowing the difference went into a Catholic Church, where the priest baptized him and gave him a rosary and crucifix. But these things he found of no use, for he said: "Christ was in his heart." He went to Honolulu, and for years has been a constant attendant at the Chinese church, and a zealous distributor of tracts among his countrymen. In China he had been a carver of idols and a skilled workman.

(6.) With the promises and evidences of the Spirit in the world, let us yet return often to consider the great need, the enormity of the task before us, the overwhelming magnitude of the still unyielding mass of paganism, error, and infidelity. Besides the 140,000,000 Protestants with their assumed spiritual faith in Christ, there are approaching 1,300,000,000 of the world's population (except in some unseen and undeclared soul that knows the truth) without it; or, exclusive of 400,000,000 nominal Christians, there are over 1,000,000,000 positively non-Christians. These great things God must do; man cannot.

(7.) There are marked evidences of the Spirit's presence and operation in our South American Mission. (a) In a general leavening of public opinion, far and wide, which makes the population favorable to the evangelist. (b) That while there is no change in laws against evangelism in the Spanish language, which in early years of the Mission, entirely prevented work in this direction, now there is a tacit consent on the part of the administrators of the law, and our workers do what they please in prosecution of their aim. (c) In the evident hunger among the people after something, they know not what, beyond the mere intellectual and social progress they are now making. (d) In [illegible] remarkable conversion of na[illegible] laborers within a few years—[illegible] of them from [illegible] of im[illegible] to one of [illegible] spirit[illegible] [illegible] gelists in the Annual Reports for 1882 and 1883.

(8) Let prayers be offered for the Holy Ghost, for a pentecostal effusion of Spirit, which shall enable the Church of to-day to do in a far greater measure a work proportionate, at least, to the achievements of the Church in the beginning.

II. SOUTH AMERICA MISSION.

Hymns 935, 931, 932 might be sung and prayers offered, with remarks upon our work in this Mission.

For sources of information, we refer to Dr. Reid's "History of our Missions;" Manual for July, 1881, with map; Heathen Woman's Friend, April and November, 1882; and the Annual Report for 1881 and 1882; also Reports of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. "Rosario" is a recent and very interesting book, written by Mrs. E. J. M. Clemens and Mrs. J. F. Willing, giving an account of the work of our Mission, and particularly of that of the Woman's Foreign Society in Rosario, in Santa Fe. The profits on the sale of the book are designed to aid in the project of building a "Home" for the Woman's Society in Rosario, the great need of which is made manifest by passages in the book. Price $1. Address Mrs. M. H. T. Jordan, Coopersville, Ottawa County, Ohio. The purchaser will have an instructive book to read, and aid a good enterprise.

For the schools of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in South America, see also notes in the Manual for January, 1883, p. 22. The book referred to treats of the physical and political features of the country, the social condition, manners and customs, races, and languages of the people, and the form and state of the Romish Church, as well as of our Mission work. We quote a few passages.

From describing a bull-fight, the author turns to say: "After such a scene, how refreshing is the Spanish love-feast in the old theater, where the solemn hush, the reverent attitudes, the grave, happy faces speak of lives dedicated to life's noblest aim. No time is lost. Each one who rises says, 'I ask for the word;' the pastor bows, and he proceeds to tell his story of God's wonderful goodness and man's impotent rage. * * * With the words, 'He dicho,' (I have spoken,) he takes his seat. * * * I heard one say in elegant Spanish, he was glad another had come to spread the true light of the Gospel, 'for,' said he, 'the fields are white for the harvest, and the laborers so few, so very few; and we who have been reclaimed from paganism know so very little.'

The La Plotte Valley, (equal in extent to three countries, Italy, Hindustan and Mexico:) "As a whole the soil is exceedingly fertile. The eastern portion is broken by spurs of the low mountain ranges of the Brazilian Highlands. The western part is an immense system of highlands rising by rugged steps to the elevation of the Andes. Their mineral and agricultural wealth made them the most populous and valued part of the old vice-royalty of Buenos Ayres. They hold ten provinces of Argentine, and all the available territory of Bolivia. This vast region finds its only natural outlet in the Parana River. Rosario de Santa Fe is its entrepot. Between these highlands and the great rivers is a long narrow valley extending, with little variation of surface, to the southern extremity of the continent. Thus Patagonia, which as a plateau would be frozen land, has a climate which is attracting the sturdy farmers of the Old World, who promise ere long to convert these hunting grounds into waving wheat fields.'

"Personally and by proxy, from house to house, from province to province, Mr. Milne has pressed the claims of the Bible and its adaptability to satisfy human need. When priestcraft has shown its fury by making bonfires of Bibles, he has quickly renewed the store. * * * During the past year, while the Bishop of Montevideo was making a triumphant march through one of the Departments of Uruguay, burning Bibles as a part of his pageant, Mr. Milne's colporteurs followed right along with him, and sold the Scriptures to the crowds in attendance. The sale of Bibles up to the beginning of 18 1 amounted 103,074 copies, and the proceeds of the sales to $23,562 33, United States gold."

For an account of the colporteur expedition of Messrs. Milnes and Correa, 2,200 miles and more up [illegible] Paraguay to Cuyaba, the capi[illegible] of Matto Grosso, an interior [illegible] Brazil, see Bible Society [illegible], March, April [illegible]

Woman's Home Missionary Society Work in the Louisiana Conference.

One of the best of the several good anniversaries reported as being held at the late session of the Louisiana Conference, was that of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. The following report we give quite at length, because of its value as indicating how well our poor people in the South, when aided by consecrated and talented helpers, are taking hold to help themselves. This report gives a new and very hopeful view of how to save the millions of freedwomen of the South:

CONFERENCE REPORT.

The following report was adopted by the Louisiana Conference, February 5, 1883, at Alexandria:

Resolved, That the Woman's Home Missionary Society commends itself to us as truly a work of God. We rejoice in the work accomplished by the Society at large, as shown by the report of the annual meeting held recently in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Resolved, That the work of Miss Cowgill, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bentley, in New Orleans; Mrs. Hester Williams, on the Baton Rouge District; Mrs. Sarah Merritt Gates, at St. Martinsville, and Mrs. Marcus Dalo, during the past year, has been of great value. The hundreds of youth placed in schools by these women of God, and instructed in the common branches, and in sewing and practical home duties, have been greatly blest. Many have been converted. This work is of the Lord and can be greatly enlarged. The universal testimony of the pastors is that these Christian women and teachers greatly aid in the church work in their charges.

Resolved, That the Conference hereby expresses profound sympathy with Mrs. J. C. Hartzell, who has, during the past six months, been prostrated by sickness; and we are thankful to God that she is now better, and we pray that her restoration may be speedy and complete. Under her prayerful and sympathetic efforts our Woman's Home Missionary work has been organized and developed in our State, and its success here has done much to aid in the work elsewhere.

Resolved, That we recommend the organization of Home Missionary Schools in all our churches.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Louisiana Conference met in its annual meeting at Alexandria, La., February 2, 1883.

In the absence of Mrs. Hartzell, Mrs. Marcus Dalo presided.

After singing, Rev. A. Ross led in prayer.

Mrs. Dale made some interesting remarks.

REPORTS FROM THE FIELD.

In New Orleans: Miss Josephine Cowgill not being able to be present, sent a letter on the work in New Orleans. The work in that city is aided some by the parent society. All the work outside of the city is self-supporting. The following extracts from Miss Cowgill's letter are of interest:

We have three missionaries employed by our Society—Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Williams and myself. We have two day mission schools, in which are taught the common studies, with Bible and Catechism lessons, and sewing schools and religious meetings are held weekly with these schools. These two schools now number 140 pupils, 25 of whom are from Catholic families. Some of these Catholic mothers said to one of teachers, "We like to have our children go to your school, because you give them such nice papers to read, and tell them the story of the cross so beautifully." Besides these two day mission schools, we have weekly sewing schools and religious meetings in three other churches, two of these are among the colored people and one among the whites; of those three schools I have charge. In the two colored are about 70 pupils, and in the white school are some more than 70. A good number of these white children, perhaps two-thirds, are from Catholic families, but they seem much pleased with the school, and the little children will gather around me, and with dirty faces, look up to me and say, "O, I do love you so much," "I wish I could have you for my ma," "I want to kiss you," etc., etc. A good many large boys and girls, and some of the parents come to our school, and seem much interested. With the sewing I give Bible and Catechism lessons, and tell stories and have singing and prayer. I long to see these rough and wicked children and their parents brought to Christ, and to this end I have been trying to persuade some of the brethren to go with me and take our "pitchers and lamps" and hold a night meeting in that dark place. Many of the people there have promised me they would come if we would.

As to religious meetings, I have held since the 12th of last November, at which time I returned here for this year, 63 meetings, and have made over 1,000 visits among the poor. Besides this, I have done a good deal of street work, had Bible readings and sewing schools, and have written a good many letters for our work. I have been kept quite busy day and night, but while God gives me health and [illegible], and while the needs of the [illegible] times I have in the prisons and hospitals. It seems to me sometimes that I would die instantly if assured that I could no longer engage in this blessed work. How surely the "hundred fold" of blessings in this work come "now, in this life." Yours in Christ,

J. COWGILL.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 6, 1883.

On the North New Orleans District: Mrs. Dale reported schools as follows:

Donaldsonville, 40 scholars; Indian Village, F. M. Porter, teacher, 52 scholars; Springfield, A. George, teacher, 28 scholars; Mandeville, J. Delaney, teacher, 33 scholars; Barley Orchard, J. H. Dowery, teacher, 12 scholars.

On the Shreveport District: The following schools were reported:

St. Paul's Church, teacher wanted, 100 scholars; St. James Church, teacher wanted, 40 scholars; Monroe, Mr. Merritt, teacher, 40 scholars.

On the Baton Rouge District: Mrs. Hester Williams reported the following schools:

Baton Rouge, Fannie Robinson, teacher, 40 scholars; Clinton, Nerly Hamnn, teacher, 41 scholars; Macedonia, Mrs. Kershaw, teacher, 52 scholars; Mount Carmel, Miss Chase, teacher, 29 scholars; Comite, Martha Mary, teacher, 30 scholars. Total number of schools reported, 15; teachers 14; scholars, 652.

In all these schools the Bible and catechism are taught as part of daily studies. The girls are organized into sewing schools, and taught practical matters relating to house keeping. A weekly incidental fee is charged, and this with what can be made by occasional entertainments support all the teachers except three. Every effort is used to make those schools help the regular church and Sunday school work.

Mother's meetings are held in addition, and the teachers visit much from house to house. This is truly going about doing good as did the Master when on earth.

Dr. Hartzell presented a word of cheer from Mrs. Hartzell, the President and Corresponding Secretary, who is now sick at Clifton Springs, New York. Her heart is still in this great work of helping to carry the gospel of Jesus into the homes of all our people. The teachers and scholars of the missionary schools in New Orleans had held special prayer meetings, for her recovery. God was answering those prayers.

Mrs. Hester Williams, of Baton Rouge, delivered an address full of great interest, giving an account of her work in organizing schools. She said that Mrs. Hartzell would not die. God had more work for her do. She told about her missionary hen named Dorcas. That hen had raised twenty-six chickens and laid one dozen eggs for sale. These chickens and eggs brought $9.30. She also had a row of sugar cane which had made $8.10. She had raised and brought to conference twenty-five dollars for Gilbert Haven School of Theology. She had also raised fifteen dollars to pay her traveling expenses to conference. She began the school in Baton Rouge in her dining room, and had the sewing department in her sitting room. Plain garments are made for poor children and to sell, and the profits go into the treasury. The teachers are paid about ten dollars a month, and a fee of fifty cents a month is charged from all the children able to pay. Every teacher has been paid in her five schools.

The pastors had welcomed her and taken her from place to place, sometimes sending ox teams, and she said she was never so happy as when riding on a bale of cotton, or an ox wagon, going through the piney woods, to visit her schools.

She urged the sisters to take hold of the work. In slave times they used to feed the little black children well, so we would bring a good price. The mistress would go to the table and cut off nice slices of food and give to us little slave children. They stooped to feed those little ones for gain in money. Can we not stoop to our children now and help them into the arms of Jesus! Help the poor and God will help us. Care and anxiety for others will make your bodies well and help you every way. We must educate our children. I would educate my hen Dorcas if I could.

OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR.

President and Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. J. C. Hartzell.

Vice President—Mrs. L. P. Cushman.

Recording Secretary—Miss J. Cowgell.

[illegible]—Mrs. J. F. Marshall.

District Managers—Mrs. Marcus Dale, New Orleans; Mrs. J. F. Marshall, New Orleans; Mrs. Sarah Merritt; Mrs. Hester Williams, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Mary Marshall, Shreveport.

AUXILLIARY ORGANIZATIONS.

It is to be hoped that societies and schools will be organized in every church. Constitutions and by-laws will be sent to any wanting them by addressing Mrs. J. C. Hartzell, 805 Broadway, New York, or Miss Josephine Cowgill, 188 Race street New Orleans.

GENERAL ORGANIZATIONS.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church has its headquarters in Cincinnati Ohio. Mrs. R. S. Hayes, in president, and Mrs. R. S. Rust is Corresponding Secretary.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

From San Antonio District.

MR. EDITOR:—We began the district work as early in the year as possible. January 6th we held our first quarterly conference at San Marcos. The pastor was not present, from some unexplained cause. However, we found the work in fine and progressive condition. The pastor is much beloved by his people. Here sisters Jenkins, Harden and Hardeman had given a cotton picking for the benefit of the church, toward buying a bell, and realized $11.15 for that object. See what a few faithful women can do for Christ and his church. Sister M. A. Jenkins had lost her father from death from Bright's disease. Mr. Anderson Jenkins was about 53 years old at his death, October 29, 1882. His house was a preacher's home. He was a good father, husband and neighbor. He made no profession of religion. He leaves a wife and large family and many friends to mourn his loss.

The 14th inst. found us at San Antonio, and as usual, an interesting meeting throughout. On Sunday we raised a subscription of $419.50 to make needful repairs on the church edifice, as our next annual session will be held there, the Lord willing. The church and people are glad that the next conference session will be at San Antonio.

The condition of church affairs at Gonzales, caused us to appoint their first quarter to be held there January 20-21; however, a freezing "norther" froze the water tank on the Gonzales tap, and the conference was postponed. Bro. W. A. Fortson being appointed as pastor there, was not present, but sent me notice not to consider him as pastor any longer. However, the people are encouraged to know that Bro. M. Henson is pastor in charge until other arrangements can be made. I find them doing as well as could be expected under existing circumstances. Who suffers with our Savior here will be glorified with Him at last.

The 27th and 28th found us at Pleasanton. The quarterly conference has been a success all the way through. Bro. D. Edmond seems to think well of his people, and they of him. We predict a year of success for him and his people, as they are worshipping in their new house, so to speak. The people are much encouraged now that they have a house of their own, the only one between San Antonio and the Rio Grande and the Gulf Coast, nearly 200 miles southwestward, belonging to the colored people, or where they can go and worship. The grand old M. E. Church leads in the van on this line. These people are too far to go where church houses are built, they must have them in their midst. To-night is love feast and general class, and a missionary collection for our conference school will close our exercises here for this visit—with $11.55 in my purse to help me over all these wide extended plains, which shines where God the Son must forever reign, and scatter night away, yours for Christ Jesus,

M. HENSON.

Pleasanton, Atascosa co., Texas, January 29, 1883.

There is no mistaking the fact that the voice of the American people honestly expressed is not in favor of free trade. Ex-Speaker Randall is quoted as saying to the free-trade Democrats who are filibustering against tariff legislation: "My opinion is that if Congress does not pass this bill the Democrats will go under in 1884." Another prominent Democratic Congressman from New York said recently: "I want this tariff bill passed, for if the question goes over to the next Congress it will work the ruin of us in 1884." Protection to our industries will be the great question in the next canvass.—Inter Ocean.

Pine Bluff Circuit—For Missions, $5; Freemen's Aid, $1; Church Extension, $1; Episcopal Fund, $1.

Watson—For Missions, $2; Freedmen's Aid, $1; Church Extension, $1; Episcopal Fund, $1.

Swan Lake—For Missions, $1; Freedmen's Aid, 50c.; Church Extension, 50c.; Episcopal Fund, 50c.

Redland—For Missions, $1; Freedmen's Aid, 50c.; Episcopal Fund, 50c.

Arkansas City—For Missions, $2; Freedmen's Aid, $1; Church Extension, 50c.; Episcopal Fund, 50c.

Remember, brethren, that the Episcopal Fund is not a benevolent collection, but is placed here as a matter of convenience. The amount asked for each cause is very reasonable, and every dollar ought to be raised. Now, brethren, let us do our best, and come up to the Conference next year without a single blank. Begin at once and work faithfully, and you cannot fail.

[illegible] a Prime Necessity.

No class of men have heavier demands made upon their intelligence than do Methodist preachers. Their itinerating brings them in contact with great numbers of people of all classes. To command the great mass of these, who will have more or less education, the preacher must have at least a common school education. To retain his hold on his congregation for the full pastoral term, he must have extraordinary talents if he does not have considerable knowledge of Biblical subjects. The time is rapidly passing when men, who have not a fair common English education, will be considered acceptable candidates for admission into our annual conferences, or be sought for by the people as their pastors. We rejoice in every effort made to aid our preachers to a better preparation for their responsible position. The theological departments in all our leading schools for the freedmen, and the new building at Clark University for a school of the prophets are praiseworthy efforts to impart a knowledge of Biblical subjects to our preachers. It is not possible, however, for all who desire a theological or literary education to attend school, and any plan by which our pastors can pursue a course of study should be hailed with joy. The trustees of the Central Tennessee College have authorized what is known as the Pastors' Course of Study, which may be pursued at home, and the preacher taking the studies, can pass his examination at the college once a year on such books of the course as he has studied. This applies to the literary as well as to the theological studies. The present year it is proposed to hold a theological Institute, beginning on the 1st of May, and continuing about ten days. The institute will be favored with the labors of Bishop I. W. Wiley, Rev. Dr. R. S. Rust, Rev. Dr. J. H. Vincent, Rev. Dr. H. Revels, Rev. Dr. M. W. Taylor, Rev. Dr. A. H. Gillett, and other prominent workers. The Sunday-school will receive special attention under the direction of Rev. Dr. Gillett, the Sunday-school agent for the South. The design of the institute is to impart information on the doctrines, polity and work of the church. To help to a clearer view of the duties of preachers and how to discharge it. It is expected that the entire exercises will be of great practical value to all who may find it in their power to attend. The only expense attending the institute will be board, which will be furnished at reasonable rates. Those who can attend will no doubt feel amply compensated for any necessary expense of traveling and board. This is not a new departure but a new application of a well tried and successful plan of work in other fields, and we hope that many of our preachers will avail themselves of this new opportunity for improvement.

WESTERN METHODIST BOOK CONCERN.

It is hardly possible for a person to form anything like a correct idea of the work done by this house without a careful inspection. The agents, Doctors Walden and Stowe, received us cordially. They were just completing their annual report, and were evidently gratified at the showing, and well they may be. The year has been one of marked prosperity. These men have been eminently successful in conducting the publishing interests of the Church at Cincinnati. Dr. Stowe took us over the entire building, showing us the work of each room and department. The outlook was never more encouraging. The demand for our books and periodicals never better. The agents report a steadily growing business. They are doing the best they can to bring everything to a cash basis.

Sabbath, the 10th instant, we spent in the city of Philadelphia, preached in the morning at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church. Rev. W. C. Webb, former pastor of Ames, is pastor of this church, and no preacher in the city is more popular among his people. During the year the church has been favored with a continuous revival, 110 having been received on probation. The congregations are large. The average attendance upon the Sabbath School is over 400. In the evening we preached at Temple Methodist Episcopal Church. Rev. James Morrow, one of the former pastors of Ames, is also pastor of this church, and is justly popular among his people.

Philadelphia is a city of churches. The Presbyterians are the strongest of the Protestant denominations. They number 30,409. The Methodist Episcopal Church is the second in numbers, having a little over 24,200 members; but it leads all other Protestant churches in the number of its Sunday Schools, officers, teachers and scholars. The Episcopalians number 23,000, and the Baptists 18,514 members. In the amount of money raised for benevolent purposes the Presbyterians lead all the denominations.

The Methodist Quarterly Review opens with a paper which shows great breadth of reading, and a clear insight into the settled questions which seem to lie somewhere between theology and philosophy on Duns Scotus, one of the least known, but, perhaps, greatest philosopher and theologian of the Middle Ages. The article is written by J. E. Laternes, D.D., L.L.D., the Dean of the Theological School of the Boston University.

The second article, "Methodist Doctrinal Standards," by Rev. R. Wheatly, is timely and well written. Mr. Wheatly shows that some of the important and distinctive tenents of the Methodist Episcopal Church are not found in the Articles of Religion in the Discipline, as preventing grace, the direct witness of the Spirit, Christian perfection, the eternal punishment of all impenitent sinners.

The third article, on Shakespeare's writings, by Dr. Henry J. Fox, is a well written paper on a theme with which he writes as one perfectly familiar with the great English poet. We doubt as to Christian people desiring any special help from the plays of Shakespeare.

The fourth paper is on Persian Poetry, by Rev. B. H. Bailley, of Lucknow, India. From the specimens given us in this article we judge that the Western world has not suffered much by remaining ignorant of the poets of the Orient.

This number of the quarterly opens with a portrait of Egerton Ryeson, D.D. In the fifth article, the life and labors of this distinguished man are sketched by Rev. E. Barruss. Dr. Ryeson was one of six brothers, five of whom were Methodist preachers. He was the author of sixty different volumes and pamphlets. No man in Canada was more respected.

From the many reports of the recent travelers and discoveries in the valley of the Euphrates, Rev. S. N. Frandingburg has a very interesting paper on the Religion of Babylonia and Assyria. In a second paper the Assyrian religion will be compared with the Hebrew.

In the seventh article, the Present Status of Protestant Theology is ably discussed by H. Liebhart, D.D.

Annual Meeting of the Book Committee.

On Tuesday, Feb. 13th, the Eastern and Western Sections met in separate sessions at 805 Broadway, New York, to finish up business for presentation to the full committee. On the following day at 10 o'clock a. m., the committee began its annual meeting with the attendance of the following members: Homer Eaton, D. D., Troy, chairman; Isaac S. Bingham, D. D., Central New York, Secretary; Rev. Chas. J. Clark, Maine; Wm. J. Paxson, D. D., Philadelphia; Clement Studebaker, Esq., Northwest Indiana; Rev. Leroy A. Belt, Central Ohio; Dr. Philip S. Gillett, Illinois; David C. John, D. D., Minnesota; Rev. Francis S. Beggs, St. Louis; Rev. Wm. Schreiner, Northwest German; the local committee at New York, namely, John B. Cornell, Clinton B. Fisk, and Wm. Hoyt; and of the local committee at Cincinnati, Amos Shinkle and Rudolph A. W. Bruehl. There were also present the book agents at New York, J. M. Phillips and Sanford, Hunt, D. D.; the agents at Cincinnati, Drs. J. M. Walden and W. P. Stowe; and of the editors, Drs. Nast, Hoyt, Edwards, Frye, Libhart, Warren and Cushman. Rev. Leroy A. Belt of Central Ohio, though only able to walk with the aid of crutches, was promptly at his post during every session.

Four sessions of the full committee were held—two on Wednesday and two on Thursday. The final adjournment took place Thursday afternoon. The sub-committees having given much attention to the matters assigned them, and being able to report promptly, the business was rapidly disposed of, and, in most particulars, with unusual unanimity.

The condition of the Methodist Advocate at Atlanta received a large measure of attention. The precise form of the committee's action relative to the paper is expressed in the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted:

Whereas, The General Conference at its session in Cincinnati, in 1880, took the following action, namely:

Resolved 1. That the publication of the Methodist Advocate, at Atlanta, be continued by the Western Book Agents.

Resolved 2. That the Agents be instructed to advance during the next quadrennium an annual subsidy as follows: $1,500 a year for the first and second years, and $1,000 a year for the third and fourth years; and the Book Committee is hereby instructed that if during any one year the paper does not pay its way with the "above subsidy, to discontinue it." And whereas, It is shown by the report of the Western Book Agents that they have been unable to publish the Methodist Advocate without a considerable loss above the subsidy; therefore,

Resolved 1. That under the above positive instructions of the General Conference we do hereby direct the Western Book Agents to discontinue the publication of said Methodist Advocate.

Resolved 2. That the Western Book Agents be, and they are hereby instructed to mail to the several subscribers of the Methodist Advocate the Western Christian Advocate, or such other paper published by them as the subscribers may prefer.

Among the important items of business was that of fixing the pro rata assessments for the support of the bishops. The rate for the ensuing year was made the same as for last year; namely, 1¼ per cent. of the pastor's estimated salary.

The chairman of the committee, Dr. Eaton, in accordance with the action taken at the meeting last year, reported upon the question whether in the election of an editor or book agent, in the interval of the General Conference, the bishops constituted an integral part of the elective body, or had authority only to concur or non-concur. Dr. Eaton gave a clear statement of the provisions of the Discipline, past and present, upon this subject, and drew the inference that the bishops constituted a part of the elective body.

Several propositions were introduced looking to an inquiry in regard to the possibility of lessening the cost of the production of the church's literature. A proposition was finally adopted for the appointment of a sub-committee with instructions to inquire: First, whether such a reduction is possible; and, secondly, whether the consolidation of the business of publication is a practicable means to that end. The following were appointed as this sub-committee: Homer Eaton, Isaac S. Bingham, Wm. B. Cornell, David C. John and Amos Shinkle.

The salaries of the bishops, book agents, and editors were fixed [illegible] amounts as [illegible] last [illegible]. In the item of [illegible] the only change made [illegible] allowed the [illegible] and editors [illegible] ing of the committee was voted to be held in Cincinnati.

The Eastern and Western Book Concerns were shown by the reports of the book agents to be in a healthy and fairly prosperous condition.

New Orleans continues to disgrace herself by allowing such barbarous and inhuman practices as prize fights of men and beasts within her borders; and worst than all, such savage practices are permitted on Sundays, and some of our great dailies give notice and prominence to them. This is a shameful stain upon the character of this community. Of the chicken fight at the Spanish cock-pit, a few Sundays ago, the Times-Democrat of this city said

The attendance at the Spanish cock pit was larger than usual yesterday; at shortly before noon the fighting commenced. The two last battles were terrific, and much excution was done.

One was between a red and a ginger yellow, and they lost no time in going to work. Both were hard hitters, but the red put in a severe blow, opening a wide gash in the ginger henney's throat, which bled profusely. It was seen that he must bleed to death soon, but contrary to the opinion of all he held out long and made a gallant fight. The red was too much for him, however, and he went down in 30 minutes.

The next fight was between a gray and black red. This was as hardly a fought battle as has been seen in the pit for many a day, and was exciting from the outset to the close. It was contested every inch, and the gray showed a determination which attested his gameness. The black-red was too good a hitter, however, and the gray had to give up, dying in his efforts to win.

This notice reminds us more of the heathenish Olympian games of the Grecians, the saturnalia of the Romans, and the savage bull-fights of the heartless Spaniards, or half-breed Mexicans, than anything of which we know. Such an inhuman practice deserves the unqualified condemnation of every Christian and moral man in this community.

The so-called color line is receiving considerable attention these days. The School Commissioners of the city of New York have been discussing the question and have been led to adopt a Christian course. There was a proposition made to close all of the colored schools in the city, and send the children to the other schools. And after a months notice had been given, the question was taken up, and with little or no discussion it was voted to close all the colored schools, and scatter their pupils among the other schools. Now when we remember that the city of New York is a city where the Irish are in large numbers, with whom the color prejudice is supposed to be strong, we are inclined to regard this a great triumph. Thank God the children of the colored people in the great city of New York are in the future to have equal advantage with those of others. Caste must go, it is being banished from the schools. When will it be driven from the churches? This question in New York was decided wholly on the ground of economy.

The vigorous prosecution by the British government of the murderers of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke commands the hearty sympathy of the civilized world. The driver of the car the assassins escaped in has turned state's witness, and he having testified that the knives were thrown into a certain lake it is being dragged, and will be drained if need be to find the instruments and bring conviction to the assassins. Terror seems to have seized many of the conspirators, who were indeed hundreds, and evidence is coming out which seems certain to bring the culprits to justice soon. Mr. Parnell and his associates must show their hands to be guiltless of blood, or the cause of Irish justice and self-government will suffer.

Hon. H. C. C. Astwood, formerly of this city, now U. S. Consul General to San Domingo, has recently written two very interesting commercial articles to the Times-Democrat of this city. Mr. Astwood's purpose is to direct the attention of our merchants to the inviting and lucrative trade of San Domingo, which is so profitable to other sections and countries; and can be, and should be, almost monopolized by our merchants. Commercial firms would, doubtless, find it to their advantage to take steps towards capturing at least a portion of this valuable trade.

The manifest determination of the nation and the Christian church, to root up Mormonism with its abominable idol, polygamy, out of Utah, has moved the Mormon church almost into a frenzy; and it declares that the priests, bishops, and counselors of the Mormon [illegible] Utah will not be per[illegible] polyga[illegible]

[illegible] the Presbyterian Churches [illegible] are free of debts. This is the fruit of hard work and generous gifts, and a good example.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. Spurgeon's health is poor. He preaches but once each Sabbath.

—The correspondents of Rev. A. D. Payne will address him at Oxford, Miss.

—Dr. J. C. Hartzell, on his way North, lectured in Little Rock, Ark., and in Rochester, N. Y.

—William Tecumseh Sherman, General of the Army, on his 63rd birthday, was given a banquet in Washington.

—Gen. A. S. Badger was renominated, and promptly confirmed by the Senate, on motion of Mr. Kelley, to be collector of the port of New Orleans.

—Rev. Dr. H. R. Revels, of the Mississippi Conference, in a private note to our assistant, says of the SOUTHWESTERN: "I shall ever be found trying to support which, like the SOUTHWESTERN, is always true to principle." Thank you, Doctor, we shall ever expect you to help us all you can.

—The whole Church will be glad to learn that the general health of Bishop Foss is well established, and that the lameness is slowly decreasing. He preaches (sitting) every Sunday, and has no doubt that he will be able to attend his Spring Conferences.—N. Y. Advocate.

—Rev. L. P. Cushman, of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, called, en route to New York to attend the annual meeting of Book Committee, of which he is a member. Our good brother is doing earnest work for the Master as editor and presiding elder. God bless him and give him success in all his "work of faith and labor of love.—Christian Standard, Philadelphia.

—The State Central Express, of Alexandria, La., speaking of Rev. H. J. Wright, says: "Mr. H. J. Wright, who has been one of the most efficient teachers in the public schools in this parish for the past ten years, was ordained at the late session of the Conference of the M. E. Church in this city, and was assigned to the pastorate of the church at Natchitoches. He is a respected citizen of Alexandria, and his friends regret that he has been called to labor in a field which will deprive them of his counsel and abilities."

—We are enjoying a visit from Rev. L. P. Cushman, editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, and presiding elder of South New Orleans district. For five years Bro. Cushman has been doing excellent, self-sacrificing work in Texas and Louisiana. He has of late been doing two men's work upon his paper and in his large pastoral field. No one but a person living at the South can form an adequate idea of the nature of his work. No field of missionary service coming under the supervision of our church is more necessitous, or imperative in its demands for consecrated, intelligent, prudent, energetic men, than that embraced in our colored Conferences. Bro. Cushman meets with a hearty welcome from his New England friends.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

—Rev. Daniel De Vinno died in New York City, on the 14th inst., aged 90 years. The funeral took place on the 14th. Rev. Daniel Curry, Rev. Dr. Hollis and Rev. S. H. Platt officiated. The widow and the four sons and two daughters of the deceased were present. The church was crowded. A large number of Methodist clergymen from the city and Brooklyn were present. In the funeral sermon it was stated he was the oldest minister in New York East Conference; born of Roman Catholic parents in Londonderry, Ireland, February 1, 1793. Soon after, his father became involved in the Irish troubles and came to New York City. January 10, 1810, the deceased joined the Methodist Church. He educated himself, taught a school and entered the ministry, being ordained by Bishop Roberts at Natchez, Miss., in 1823. He organized the first Sunday-school in Brooklyn, and was one of the earlier abolitionists. He retired from the active ministry about a quarter of a century ago. He contributed largely to the literature of his Church, and was the author of the "History of the Irish Primitive Church," "Recollections of Fifty Years in the Ministry," and "The Methodist Episcopal Church and Slavery."

President Arthur sent to the Senate the names of the Civil Service Commissioners, as follows: Dorman B. Eaton, of New York; John M. Gregory, of Illinois, and Leroy D. Thoman, of Ohio.

I have not received money from the Extension Society."

Fire at Hamline University.

On Feb. 7 Hamline University sustained a staggering blow in the destruction by fire of its chief building, University Hall. No person was injured, and the library, the furniture, and the students' goods were [illegible] all saved. For[illegible] the [illegible] had recently completed a new ladies' hall, in which the recitations were resumed after only one day's interruption.

The building, with its steam-heating apparatus, cost about $60,000, and was insured for $25,000.

The trustees must rebuild immediately. O that God would put it into the hearts of New York Methodists to help us! We need [illegible] help, and deserve it. Hamline is now doing an excellent work, and its opportunity for great work for Christ is really magnificent, but must have money, money, money!

That Storm.

The members and friends of Clarke Chapel, this city, have shown their appreciation of the Master's cause in a very profitable way. When the pastor was returned to them for the second year they gave an entertainment, and on one of the tables was displayed a very fine large cake, on which was inscribed, "Welcome to Rev. L. M. Hagood." On the Christmas tree, among other valuable presents, was a china tea set, beautifully flowered. Thursday night, while he sat in his study, Dr. H. T. Noel (one of the stewards) came and informed him of the fact that some one of his family needed him at once. He started. When he arrived he found all quiet, and, seemingly, no one desiring to see him in particular; but hard knocks; the sound of voices within, and the tramping of many feet, soon led him to the hasty conclusion that everybody in general desired to see him. When the door was opened the people just poured into the house untill the hall and every room on the place was filled to its utmost capacity. Men, women and children came well armed; some with sacks of flour, eggs, lard, sugar, table linen, dry goods, glassware, tinware, coffee, tea, etc., etc. They took possession of the culinary department, and pretty soon supper was ready. They ate. Then Mr. I. C. Brown (superintendent of our Sunday-school) presented their gifts with a neat speech. The pastor replied as best he could under the circumstances, while "preacher No. 2" stood by and smiled. Among the number we noted about twenty-three or four good Baptist brothers and sisters, and as many irreligious friends.

To say their kindness made us glad does not express it. We could not help thinking how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. I know of nothing, outside of prayer, that strengthens a minister more than to know that he has the sympathy and love of his members and congregations. How many can tell the good members and friends can do by such tokens of regard for their "servants?" I feel like speaking right out, if I had the authority, to some other congregations I know of, and saying, "Go thou and do likewise." We take this method of more fully returning thanks to these friends, and we shall aim to so appreciate it that we will endeavor to work harder and live more to the honor and glory of God. Respectfully,

L. M. HAGOOD AND WIFE.

God needed them to ... for him, and in the still night ... angel came from heaven and opened the doors and the apostles were free. The angel said, "Go stand and speak in the temple to the people," and early in the morning they went to the temple and taught about Jesus. While they were busy preaching the priests sent to the prison for them. They found the doors locked and the guard outside, but an empty jail. They told the priests and judges this. Just then a man came and said they were standing in the temple teaching. Off went the officers and brought the apostles to the rulers. The rulers said, "Did we not tell you to stop this preaching about Jesus? Now you are telling about Jesus everywhere, and say we killed the Son of God." Peter and the others were bold, and said, "Yes, we do preach him. You did kill the Savior, and God raised him from the dead. We are his witnesses; we must speak for him." would you be brave enough to go to prison for being a witness for Jesus? Jesus needs witnesses all the time. You are his witness when you stand up for him when people use his holy name badly. You witness when you keep the Sabbath holy. Every thing you do, because you love him, makes you his own little witness. We don't have prisons to fear, and yet we sometimes are not brave enough to be his true witnesses.—Western.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Boston Musical Herald for February has a sketch and portrait of Ole Bull.

The North American Review for March opens with an article on "Money in Elections," by Henry George, who brings to the discussion a contribution full of originality and keen insight. Robert S. Taylor writes of the "Subjugation of the Mississippi," a work which, in his opinion, and in that of the Mississippi Commission, of which he is a member, can be accomplished only by employing, for the purpose of deepening and straightening the channel, the forces developed by the river itself. Moncure D. Conway contributes a very striking study of Gladstone as a man and a statesman. George W. Julian's "Railway Influence in the Land Office" is a judicial exposure of the practices which, against the manifest intent of the law and the determinations of the highest courts, have won for corporations millions upon millions of acres of the public domain. Richard A. Proctor writes of the "Pyramid of Cheops;" Prof. Wm. G. Sumner of "Protective Taxes and Wages;" Elizur Wright of "Some Aspects of Life Insurance;" and finally, there is a symposium on "Educational Needs," by Prof. G. Stanley Hall, Prof. Felix Adler, President Thomas Hunter, and Dr. Mary Putnam Putnam Jacobi. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York, and for sale by booksellers generally.

In The Popular Science Monthly for March, Mr. Gerrit L. Lansing, considering "The Growth and Effect of Railway Consolidation," shows, by citations from reports and the comparison of statistics, that the operation of consolidation has so far been advantageous to the public as well as to the railway lines, by furnishing more convenient transportation, and at cheaper rates, than could have been obtained had the various lines which have been absorbed into larger ones been left to operate separately. Dr. Oswald's "Queer Phases of Animal Life" is full of interest and genial humor. Mr. Boodle's review of Natural Religion" is concluded. Dr. Yeo, a distinguished British physiologist, shows how much has been added to the knowledge of the processes of life and the nature of disease, with corresponding benefit to mankind, by experimental physiological research. Dr. Parrish's "Evolution of the Camp meeting" discusses the change which has come over that institution, transforming it from a feast of tabernacles for worship to a religio-business enterprise, and glances at sanitary matters. Some curious communistic customs of a primitive people are delineated in Mr. Buttner's South African Arcadia." The portrait and sketch are of Professor C. Wyville Thomson, the late director of the Challenger Deep-Sea Dredging Expedition. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents per number, $5 per year.

The numbers of the Living Age for Jan. 13th and 20th have the following contents: Vauban and Modern Sieges, Quarterly Review Some Points in American Speech and Customs, part II, by Edward A Freeman, Longman's Magazine; Sketches in the Malay Peninsular Leisure Hours: Alcwine, Cornhill; The Lady's Walk, by Mrs. Oliphant, Longman's; A Little Chat about Mrs. Oliphant, Blackwood; The Clergy of the Eighteenth Century, Cornhill; Anthony Trollope, by Edward A. Freeman, Macmillan; From Miss Austen to Mr. Trollope, Spectator; An Adventure at Petra, Macmillan; Great Bells, Liverpool Mercury; Religious Poverty, Spectator; with shorter articles, instalments of "The Ladies Lindores, and "No New Thing," and choice poetry. Littell & Co., Boston, publishers.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for March presents several new and attractive features, and fully sustains the high character of this popular magazine. Rev. Dr. Porter, contributes No. 3 of "Religious Denominations in the United States —The Reformed (Dutch) Church." The editor, T. DeWitt Talmage, has an interesting article, "The Blessings of Short Life." De Leon's "The American Pilgrim in Palestine," and "Justice Warren's Daughter" are continued, and "Weighed and Wanting," concluded. There are delightful short ..., sketches, etc., by ... Our Little Men and Women for February (Boston, D. Lathrop & Co.,) with pleasant stories and pictures for the children, is on our table. Price, 10 cents.

John B. Alden, 18 Vesey street, New York, has issued five additional numbers of the Elzever Library. No. 5, "The Sea-Serpents of Science," by Andrew Wilson, No. 6, "Enoch Arden," by A. Tennyson, No. 7, "Motives and Habit of Reading," by Charles F. Richardson, No. 8, "Life of Frederick the Great," by Thomas B. Macaulay, and No. 9, "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark," by Shakespeare, have been received. They are bound in paper, and printed in a neat, plain type. All except the two last named are sold at two cents apiece. The last two at seven cents. These publications are to be continued semi-weekly. Subscription for the year, $2.

Leland University (Baptist) of this city, for colored students, is about to receive a gift of $50,000 from Mrs. Izanina Leland Chamberlain, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Consumption in its early stages is readily cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," though, if the lungs are wasted no medicine will effect a cure. No known remedy possesses such soothing and healing influence over all scrofulous, tuberculous and pulmonary affections as the "Discovery." John Willis, of Elyria, Ohio, writes: "The Golden Medical Discovery" does positively cure consumption, as, after trying every other medicine in vain, this succeeded." Mr. Z. T. Phelps, of Cuthberg, Ga., writes: "The Golden Medical Discovery has cured my wife of bronchitis and incipient consumption." Sold by druggists.

After the first of next Oct., you may have to put only a 2 cent stamp on your letter.

The Bad and Wothless

Are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their names, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits.

no longer from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, want of Appetite, loss of Strength lack of Energy, Malaria, Intermittent Fevers, &c. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS never fails to cure all these diseases.

Boston, November 26, 1881.
BROWN CHEMICAL CO.
Gentlemen:—For years I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and could get no relief (having tried everything which was recommended) until, acting on the advice of a friend, who had been benefitted by BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, I tried a bottle, with most surprising results. Previous to taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered greatly from a burning sensation in the stomach, which was unbearable. Since taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, all my troubles are at an end. Can eat any time without any disagreeable results. I am practically another person. MRS. W. J. FLYNN, 39 Maverick St., E. Boston.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS acts like a charm on the digestive organs, removing all dyspeptic symptoms, such as tasting the food, Belching, Heat in the Stomach, Heartburn, etc. The only Iron Preparation that will not blacken the teeth or give headache.

Sold by all Druggists.

Brethren will please make all necessary preparations for their quarterly conferences. Without loss of time mature your plans; push forward all the spiritual and benevolent interests of the church. Put off nothing for the end of the year. Let our Gilbert-Haven School of Theology subscription, and the SOUTHWESTERN interests be constantly kept before our people; and let us do more for them than over before. We did well last year; we want to and must do better this, and every successive year. We Methodists believe in "going on to perfection." Let us go forward. Yours, fraternally,

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

The pastor and officers of Ames Methodist Episcopal Sabbath-school have made arrangements to purchase a new library of several hundred volumes for the school. The school is now in a flouring condition, and we trust the new library will increase the interest.

R. P. Younggreen, Rosedale: "We held a grand revival meeting under the leadership of Rev. A. Jackson. It closed with twenty conversions and several backsliders reclaimed. I rejoice in being one of the converts. Bro. Jackson has served well, God has crowned his work in Rosedale, and we are sorry to think of his departure. The overflow destroyed our crops, and impeded us financially, but the people did the best they could."

TENNESSEE.

R. P. Manson, Brownsville: "Bro. Green Gates just before his death, Mr. Editor, was talking about you. He wished the paper success."

J. G. Kirby, Hollow Rock: "My first quarterly conference was held by Elder Price. Fourteen members were received, and one new point has been taken in."

MISSISSIPPI.

M. Robinson, Hernando: "On January 23d two children of Mr. Crowder were burned to death. The father had gone to town for some medicine, and the mother had gone to her brother's for some oil, the children being in sick bed. When they returned they found the house burned down and the children dead. Little Walter was born May 19, 1880, and Magnolia Crowder, May 10, 1882. The parents lost all save what they had on at the time."

TEXAS.

A. Brown, Mexia: "I reached my appointment soon after conference, after riding through rain and cold. The people rented a nice house, into which I expect to move. The people have homes of their own and are trying to pay for them. By hard stokes this can be made a splendid charge. It is almost a colony of colored people. Of course we have opposition."

J. Jackson, Clarksville: "The weather has been so wet the people could not get out to the church on account of the mud; but thank the Lord the new church is going up as fast as the workmen can get a day on which they can work."

[illegible] H. Jackson, San Felipe: [illegible] Nichols [illegible] my first [illegible] conference January 23d. [illegible] intended to be held on the [illegible] but bad weather prevented it. [illegible] a good number of the [illegible] good re[illegible] much [illegible] misunderstanding [illegible] F. C. [illegible] Bro. [illegible]

I. B. Scott, Houston: "Trinity charge observed the week of prayer and we believe it to have helped much the spiritual condition of the church. Bishop Wiley and Dr. Rust stopped over with us on Sunday, the 4th inst., and although the weather was very cold and disagreeable, in consequence of which but few of our people were out to services, they preached us two interesting and profitable sermons. We trust they may come again when the weather is more agreeable. They also visited and encouraged the teachers and students of Houston Seminary. Bro. F. Vance has set out a number of trees across the front of our church property. This will add both to its looks and value."

ARKANSAS.

S. Horn, Texarkana: "These are the last words of Edward Garret on the scaffold, executed at Texarkana, Ark., January 25th, 1883, for the murder of his wife: I expect to receive a crown of life after death. I expect it at the throne of God for his mercy never ceases, for his mercy never ceases, for God is merciful forever. May you around me never come to this, and always take warning from this that there may be none of you in my presence or in my hearing to-day that may raise up in anger and strike your brother or sister or either your keeper that is here with me. Oh! please serve the Lord God of heaven. Oh! please serve the God of heaven, there is no other God except the God of heaven. And when we are done on earth here and can no longer live we must trust that God may save us from eternal torment for Jesus sake, amen. Mr. Conner and myself were on the scaffold and sang with him."

Ill health generally comes from lack of the proper life forces in the blood. To restore the blood to a healthy state use Brown's Iron Bitters.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Memorial of Rev. Thos. J. Burton.

T. J. Burton was born in Marshall county, Miss., February 15, 1855. He received a common education in Rust University, in part. He was converted while attending school at the University, in 1872, and immediately united with the M. E. Church. He was licensed to preach June 3, 1875, by the Holly Springs district conference, at Holly Springs, Miss. He filled the unexpired term of U. C. Lewis, on the Abbeville circuit, in the fall of 1877. The church at that place was greatly revived under his administration, and many sinners were converted and added to the church.

He joined the Mississippi Conference at Yazoo City, January 19, 1879. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Andrews at this conference, and was appointed to the Grenada circuit.

Bishop Harris, of the Macon conference, January 18, 1880, reappointed him to the same circuit. At this place he succeeded in building up the kingdom of our blessed Lord. Great revivals of religion were held all over the circuit, and many sinners were brought from darkness to the light of the gospel.

Bishop Foss, of the Canton conference, January 18, 1881, sent him to Ripley. Here the people looked upon him as a man following the examples of his Master. He was beloved by the people, and the church was built up under his administration.

Bishop Peck, of the Aberdeen conference, January 18, 1882, sent him to Byhalia circuit, the last appointment, the last year of his ministry, and the most trying of his life. In the following spring his wife passed away to the unknown land; later still he had a child, the only boy, to join the mother who had gone before.

On the night of the 15th of December, 1882, at 11 o'clock, he called his mother and sisters together for prayer, after family worship they bid each other good-night. At some hour of the night he breathed his last (the definite time not known). The body that appeared to them the same evening so full of life and vigor had become stiffened, palsied and inactive; and the heart, the great mainspring of life, had refused to perform its functional duties, the life-blood ceased to flow, death ensued, and there was an end of all that was mortal.

Yet, in all this there is a cheering and blessed hope of immortality beyond the grave; that it is an anchor to the soul, giving peace, comfort and joy in the assurance that when called to cross the cold and chilly stream of Jordan, instead of finding its waters broad, its billows boisterous and turbulent, he found its waters calm, smooth and placid, reduced to a very narrow stream, becoming, as it were, only a step across, and there on its bright shores was a happy greeting with the glorified spirits of loved ones long since gone before.

Yours,
S. A. COWAN.

The following was offered by the Athenian Society, of Rust University.

LAST TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

WHEREAS, By the hand of the [illegible] brother and co-worker in [illegible] Society, Thos. J. [illegible] death in [illegible] Dec. 15th, 1882. [illegible] therefore, offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That while we are deeply sensible of the great loss in our brother's death, we bow in humble submission to the will of Almighty God.

Resolved, That during his connection with the Athenian Society and Rust University, he proved himself a noble man and enjoyed the love of all its members; and that his Christian deportment and social qualities were such as to win the admiration and the highest esteem of all who knew him.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his mother and relations in their afflictions and sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, a copy to the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and to the Enterprise for publication.

JNO. H. BROOKS.

A torpid liver, a stomach out of order, digestive apparatus weak, and the brain in consequence of these disorders, over sensitive to exertion or to any unusual circumstance, and the formula for a "crank" is complete. Ayer's Pills will rouse up the liver, regulate the functions of the stomach and bowels, the tired brain will be relieved and the head resume its wonted level.

SKILL IN THE WORKSHOP.—To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If long hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and the whole constitution be built up to a higher working condition.

The prohibitionists of Iowa in convention February 7, voted to demand of the governor to call a special session of the legislature to re-enact the prohibition amendment to the State constitution, the former one having been declared null by the supreme court on account of an informality.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Pain in the right side, under edge of ribs, increasing on pressure; sometimes the pain is on the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder and is sometimes taken for Rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with laxity; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled; his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low, and, although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it.

If you have any of the above symptoms, you can certainly be cured by the use of the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS. When you buy McLane's Pills, insist on having DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, made by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa.

If you can not get the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, send us 25 cents by mail, and we will send them to you.

• DR. JOHN BULL'S •
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational signing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—*Rev. H. W. Lost Friends.

[We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.]

MR. EDITOR:—I desire information of my relatives, and also of my wife's relatives. My mother's name was Susan Dickison. When I last saw her she went by her husband's name, as she was set free. The children were scattered very much. My sister belonged to Currage Baker, her name was Jane Baker, her husband's name John Cantle. My sister lived in Sumpter county, Tenn. In fact all my people lived in the same county. My brothers both belonged to Cantle, the last heard of. My brothers were Robert and Allen Cantle. We were raised by James Baker, after his death we were divided out, I went to Levi Baker his brother, my name was Dave Baker at that time. My wife's people all belonged to Levi Baker, the same man that I did, her moth r's name was Ardray Baker. She had seven children, three girls and four boys. One of the girls was Amanda Baker, the next girl's name is forgotten. The boy's names are Asa, Robert, Moses and Mitchell Baker. My wife's name was Sallie Baker. We now go by the name of Stewart Levi Baker gave me and my family to his daughter, after she was married to John Stewart, and he went to East Tennessee, then to Virginia and from Virginia to Texas. Address me at Cook's Point, Burleston Co., Texas.

DAVE STEWART.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire to inquire for my mother. Her name was Jane Banks. I was sold from my mother in Tennessee in 1861, the year the war started. My name was Ellen Woods then. My name is now Ellen Gibson, the man that sold me was named Archie Cocks, and I also had a brother by the name of William Banks. Address me at Shreveport, La., in care of St. James Church, J. W. Hilton, pastor.

MR EDITOR:—I wish to see if I can find my dear father. I came to Texas about 28 years ago, and left my father in Kentucky. His name was Jack Adams. We were brought out to Texas by Billy Wooten. My name was then Sarah Wooten, but is now Sarah Yancey. Sisters were Mary, who is dead, and Celia. Brother Charles lives here.

SARAH YANCY.

Columbus, Texas.

MR. EDITOR—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zazhariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted at Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette. She and I went to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address,

A WONDERFUL AND
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

THE TWO WORKERS.

Two workers in one field
Toiled on from day to day,
Both had the same hard labor,
Both had the same small pay;
With the same blue sky above,
The same green grass below,
One soul was full of love,
The other full of woe.

One leaped up with the light,
With the soaring of the lark,
One felt it ever night,
For his soul was ever dark;
One heart was hard as stone,
One heart was ever gay;
One worked with many a groan
One whistled all the day.

One had a flower-clad cot
Beside a merry mill,
Wife and children near the spot
Made it sweeter, fairer still;
One a wretched hovel had,
Full of discord, dirt, and din,
No wonder he seemed mad,
Wife and children starved wi hin.

Still they worked in the same field,
Toiled on from day to day,
Both had the same hard labor,
Both had the same small pay;
But they worked not with one will,
The reason let me tell—
Lo! the one drank at the still,
And the other at the well.

Reports of the Book Agents.

WESTERN BOOK CONCERN.

The agents of the Western Methodist Book Concern, Drs. Walden and Stowe, presented their report [illegible] the year ending Nov. 30, 1882, [illegible] which we make the following extracts:

The Exhibit of the Western Methodist Book Concern for the year ending November 30, 1882, shows a gain in the aggregate net capital at Cincinnati, Chicago and St Louis, of $35,689.79, and an increase of [illegible] of $12,074.52 at Atlanta, [illegible] leaves the gain in the net [illegible] $13,505.27. There was a [illegible] by the year's business as follows:

At Cincinnati	$13,768 87
At Chicago	14,189 85
At St Louis	11,048 [illegible]
Total	[illegible]
Increase in Atlanta insolvency, $12,074 52
Special reduction in stock at Cin[illegible]	8,317 63
Dividends paid annual conferences	5,000 23
[illegible]	$13,505 27

The local committee reduced the valuation of notes and accounts at Cincinnati, $1,039.93; at Chicago, $1,059.11; and at St. Louis, $220.98; total, [illegible] of which $4,209.61 [illegible] the assets of 1881. [illegible] profits of 1882 are depressed [illegible] by this amount. We [illegible] reduction of $8,317.63 in [illegible] of stock, and paid $5000.[illegible] in dividends to the annual conferences, which amounts added [illegible] gain in net capital [illegible] these points, shows the earnings [illegible] year's business to have been [illegible].

The indebtedness of our depositories [illegible] has been decreased [illegible] $15,731.83; namely that of [illegible] $12,943.93, and that of [illegible] $2,[illegible]33.74; including that [illegible] parties, named above, [illegible] reduction of in[illegible] Chicago has been [illegible] at St. Louis of [illegible] that early in December, we had sold the real estate on the corner of Eighth and Maine, and secured a perfect title to the Home Street real estate, Cincinnati, by the payment of $60,000. This amount is added to the value at which you previously estimated that property, making the real estate in the present exhibit $160,000, being $0,000 less than last year. The total business at Cincinnati was $12[illegible],397.24.

The sales of German books, and the circulation of German periodicals have steadily kept pace with the growth of Methodism. We published twelve new English books and six new German books during the year.

NEW YORK BOOK CONCERN.

The agents, Mr. J. M. Phillips and Dr. Hunt, presented a report for the year ending June 30, 1882, from which we make extracts:

The year, as a whole, has been one in which business has pressed us more severely than any we have known. All our facilities have been used to their fullest extent. With increasing demand we feel the need of more room adapted to our business, as it is now conducted. We are confident if we had buildings erected specially for our manufacturing purposes we would be able to make a better report of our work than we can now present.

Since our last report we added another large printing press to our stock, and would add another if there was room for it. The exhibit for the year ending June 30, 1882, shows a gain in capital profits for the year ending June 30, 1882, $63,063.07.

The sales for the years ending November 30, 1881 and 1828, were:

		1881.	1882.
New York:	Books	$425,175 77	$498,863 68
	Periodicals	191,567 50	200,244 64

At Depositories		235,976 69	181,971 67
Total		$852,719 96	$881,078 99

To our own depositories our sales of books have been during the year ending November 30, 1882, $55,207.80.

In accordance with the recommendation of your committee we have commenced paying dividends for the current year.

Under authority given at your last session, with the approval of the local committee, the Buffalo Department was sold in July last, to H. H. Otis, who had been in charge about twenty-five years, with the reservation of $5000 worth of books of our own publication, which Mr. Otis by the contract is obliged to keep in stock.

At Pittsburg and San Francisco, we own the buildings used, and we have paid the rent of the Boston Depository. The following figures show the results:

Boston Depository: Loss	$180 14
Pittsburg Depository: Gain	3,063 45
San Francisco Depository: Loss	168 17

The books and tracts issued during 1882 are as follows:

General sales department,	8 vols	2 343 pages,
Sunday-school "	47 vols	4,647 "
Subscription book "	1 vol	792 "
Tract "	19 vols	216 "

The figures show a very gratifying increase in the circulation of our Sunday-school helps. The aggregate increase is 77,000. Great fear has been expressed by many that cheap imitations of our Sunday-school papers would seriously interfere with their circulation. We are certainly holding our own market, and our papers are increasing in circulation more rapidly than scholars in our Sunday-schools.

We are sorry we can not report an increase in the subscription list of the Quarterly Review. Its merits are conceded, and approval of it is embodied in almost every annual conference report. And yet not one half of our preachers take it.

The average circulation of the Christian Advocate has slightly diminished during the year, and yet the net profits have increased. The Northern Christian Advocate shows an increase of 460 in the number of [illegible]. The amount of re[illegible] by [illegible] this [illegible] circula[illegible] authority to pay it a subsidy of $1,000 per year. We are happy to say that two yearly reports made to us by Rev. J. B. Hill show that the cash receipts have been a little more than the expenses.

Letter from Kingston Circuit.

DEAR EDITOR: Our second quarterly Conference for the Kingston Circuit was held at Rockwood, February 17 and 18. Our excellent presiding elder, Rev. E. Provine, was with us, and notwithstanding his feeble health at that time did us good service. The Conference was well represented by the officiary of the Church, each one handing in a written report. Sunday was a high day; the Elder gave us two of his holy ghost sermons, which gladdened all of our hearts, and greatly strengthened all who believe. One was added to the Church. The Sunday-school also shared a part in the Elder's thoughts and labors, which he met in the afternoon, teaching a Bible class and lecturing the entire school. One thing we noticed in his labors, and that is, he never forgets the educational interests of our Church, nor the elevation of our race, exhorting publicly and privately all the youths of our people to attend our schools of learning, either at Morristown Seminary or the Central (Tenn.) College, at Nashville. We have a pretty tight time on this charge this winter, owing to the excessive rains and cold weather; and, too, there has been a misunderstanding amongst us, but as spring is near and the ice is melting, we trust the "mists had cleared away;" and we are looking to a glorious harvest and grand results.

We are laboring hard to finish our Church at Rockwood. The membership is small, and each one has done nobly in carrying forward so far; but we are encouraged to still fight on. It is our intention to build a parsonage at Kingston. Who will help us in this matter?

From here Bro. Provine goes to the Robertsville circuit, a distance of some twenty-five or thirty miles, and as there is no railway or stage line he is compelled to take it afoot; but "none of these things move him," and as he travels through rain, and mud almost impassable, surely he is an indefatigable worker for God and the right.

A. J. FLETCHER.

Kingston, Feb. 28, 1883—East Tennessee Conference.

Letter from Texas.

BRO. CUSHMAN, Dear Sir:—I have just returned from a visit to Little Rock, Ark., it is one of the most beautiful and pleasant cities in the South. I lived there in 1864–65, have not been there since, except to stay over night. The city has grown so fast and spread over so much ground, that I was lost and could find but few old land marks.

So far as I could learn after careful inquiries, it is healthy and desirable to live in. The Arkansas Conference was in session while I was there, and they had a pleasant and I trust a profitable conference. Bishop Hurst was in the chair, he seemed to understand his business, and attends to it strictly.

I had the pleasure of spending a short time in his company, and found him a very pleasant Christian gentleman, and with a heart full of kindness; may he live long to bless the Church.

They have a number of good men in the Arkansas Conference who are giving themselves wholly to the work. God has blessed them in the past, and from what I can learn in conversation with them, the fields are white and ready for the harvest. God is going to give our Church the victory in that great State, and these brethren who have borne the burden for years and have had hard fare and poor pay, will have joy that none but those who have passed through the same trials and difficulties can experience.

The first district conference for the Marshall District Texas Conference, will convene in the M. E. Church at Marshall, March 28th, and will close Monday, April 2nd. Let all the pastors, local preachers, and exhorters be on time, as we expect to have lectures given by [illegible] Davis, Webb, Knapp and [illegible] of Wiley University. They [illegible] on preaching and the [illegible] successful as preachers. [illegible] work on [illegible] the country so poor, it has been impossible to hold meetings. Pray for us.

Your Brother,
W. L. MOLLOY.

Marshall, Texas, Feb. 24, 1883.

There is a God.

The very leaves of the tree plainly tell us that there is a God, and that He reigns most gloriously. Pause for a moment and behold the veins marked out upon each withered and fallen leaf, and see how each one is carved with such care. Yes, He manifests His power and majesty in so many ways to the children of men. How lovely to roam about in spring time among the wild flowers of the field. "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." O Lord, the earth is filled with Thy glory! Our dear Saviour seemed to have enjoyed the sweet flowers of spring time, for once while He and His disciples were assembled together He said to them: "Consider the lilies." I fancy he must have been near to some beautiful grove of trees and flowers, and was enjoying their exquisite beauty and sweetness when He cried out and said: "Consider the lilies, how they grow."

What joy and comfort to awake at early dawn in the spring time to hear the sweet notes of the aerial songsters. How often have they brought glad tidings and undisturbed repose to us. And when we remember that our dear Lord has said that not a sparrow falleth to the ground but what He taketh notice of it, we are compelled to say, "Great God, with wonder and with praise on all Thy works we look." The cooing dove, the most wonderful of the songsters, sends forth its songs of sadness in the spring time. It seems to tell us that our joy here shall be intermingled with sorrow while on our pilgrimage, but that there is a life of unlimited joy beyond the grave for all who love and serve the Lord. Many hours have we spent in childhood near some tall pine forest, the most favorite resort of this bird, to listen to it as it sent forth its notes of sadness, and O, what solemnity it always brought.

The Psalmist said: "Oh, that I had wings like a dove, for then I would fly away and be at rest." He, too, had during his forty years wanderings in the wilderness found comfort and tranquility while listening to the mournful, cooing dove. Yes, the withered fallen leaf, the wild flowers of the field, and the aerial songsters, all declare to us that there is a God. And St. Paul says: "There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God." Glory to God for the plan of salvation.

A PILGRIM.

Theological Institute.

For the advantage of the many preachers in the South, and especially in our colored Conferences, who cannot have the privileges they desire, the Pastor's Course of Study, in the Central Tennessee College has been devised. This course is designed to be studied at home, and the annual examination to take place at the College in the month of May. Brethren who wish to take other than theological studies can do so, and pass the examination of the classes in any branch of the literary department. During the present year, beginning on the first of May, and continuing until the eleventh, a Theological Institute will be held. The exercises will be designed to impart knowledge of the doctrines, discipline and polity of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as well as to discuss more general theological questions. A part of the time will be devoted to the consideration of the Sunday-school, its work, organization and kindred topics. The only expense of attending the institute will be the price of board, which will be furnished at the lowest possible rates. Fuller particulars will be published soon. Brethren proposing to attend the institute should send in their names, and any one desiring further information as to the course of study may receive circular of the College by addressing the undersigned at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 14, 1883.

Huntington's bill for consolidation of the lines which compose the Southern Pacific route will be amended before being passed so as to include Morgan's Louisiana and Texas Railway in the consolidated lines. Huntington's recent purchase makes the amendment necessary.

One who looks beneath the surface can discover in the land of Luther much reason, in the present, for thanksgiving to God, and much promise for the future. Amid the prevailing rationalism and indifferism there is widespread dissatisfaction and sense of spiritual need. There is much of Christian life and even of Christian work that escapes the eye of the hasty traveler. By reason of the relation of the Church to the State, and for other causes, religious enterprises are pushed more quietly and unobtrusively than with us. There are hundreds of evangelical preachers, men of profound learning and deep, personal piety, in the German pulpits to-day, and their number is constantly increasing. The number of rationalistic theological students in the universities is becoming beautifully less. Another hopeful sign of the times is the organization of small bands of believers throughout the land. Believers are drawing closer to each other, and social religious meetings, to which the State Church, to a great degree, has been a stranger, are utilized. The Inner Mission is being more vigorously carried forward. Domestic missionaries are multiplying. Preparations are making to open and prosecute evangelistic work among the masses in Berlin and other large cities, upon a much larger scale.—Gideon Draper, DD., in Zion's Herald.

Uncle Eph on Preachers.

Uncle Eph—Sam, whut am dis I hear about you?

Sam—I dunno. What is it?

Eph—Am it a fact dat you is gwine about here trying to preach?

Sam—It am a fact dat I hab been called to preach, and I am trying in my weak way to do my Master's work.

Eph—Sam, is you gittin tired of work?

Sam—No, sar.

Eph—Well den I want to give you a piece of advice. I knowed your mammy and daddy afore you was born, chile, and I wants to see you do well. Now, Sam, you quit dat foolishness. You can't fool no body. You see, de people is gittin' too smart for you fellows—de sun's too high, boy. You see, Sam, way back yonder in slave times, it would do for de ole men widout any eddication to go 'bout and preach to de poor ole slave people de best dey could; but de times hab changed now, boy, and de little school children kin tell when you fellows is making fools ob yourselves. You see, dey knows if a man wants to be a doctor, he goes and edicate hisself for it; if he wants to be a lawyer he must edicate hisself for it, and how can he do de most important thing of all—preach the Gospel ob de Son ob God—unless he's got an edication! I tell you Sam, it won't do for you fellows, when you gets tired of work, to go 'round here wid your "holy tone" and "gravy," as you call it, trying to impose on the people, for dey is gettin' mighty tired of it, and dey is gwine to turn on you all, arter awhile, like a pestilence; and your uncle Eph's advice to you is to quit it and go to work and make an honest living. You hear me; now mind what I tell you.—Kentucky Republican.

The following, kindly sent us by the Rev. W. K. Marshall, of St. Paul, Minn., bearing date Jan. 30, will be gratefully noted: "At the last Preacher's Meeting, Bishop Foss read an able paper on the 'Philosophy of Christian Perfection.' It will be gratifying to the Bishop's numerous friends in the East as it is to us of the Northwest, to know that he is steadily improving in health. He frequently preaches in the churches in Minneapolis. Last Sabbath he dedicated a new house of worship in that city, called the Simpson church. We earnestly pray that he may have a long career of usefulness as a Bishop in the Church of God, for he is certainly is the 'right man in the right place.'"—N. Y. Advocate.

In the sixty-seven years of its existence, the American Bible Society has distributed 40,00[illegible],000 copies of the Scriptures, and last year they sent out 1,500,000 copies, being the largest year's work that the Society had ever done. There have been three general distributions of Bibles by the American Bible Society; the first was made in 1829, the second in 1856, the third in 1866, and in 1883 they would make the fourth.

Political Economy Boiled Down.

Tennyson can take a worthless sheet of paper, and by writing a poem on it, make it worth $5,000. That's genius. Vanderbilt can write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $5,000,000. That's capital. The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an "eagle bird" and "twenty dollars." That's money. The mechanic can take the material worth $5, and make it into a watch worth $100. That's skill. The merchant can take an article worth 25 cents and sell it for $1. That's business. A lady can purchase a very comfortable bonnet for $10, but prefers to pay $100. That's foolishness. The ditch digger works ten hours a day, and shovels out three or four tons of earth for $1. That's labor.—Exchange.

More than four-fifths of the professors in our American colleges are believers in the Bible. That the minority attracts so much attention is for the reason that people give more thought to one comet than to a whole firmament of stars, or to one balky horse than to all the teams on the road. In the meantime, however, the stars go on in their courses, and the teams go on with their work. By and by the comet grows smaller, and smaller, and is gone, and people wonder where it came from, and what became of it, and whether its nucleus was really any more substantial than its tail.

Extravagance of Both?

Mrs. Willard, of the Union Signal, is responsible for this: "Let us hear no more of woman's extravagance. Gen. Francis Walker, the untiring Chief of the Census Bureau, has taken our case in hand and has ably and amply maintained our defence. He says, or rather the figures say, that the men of this country spend $498,000,000 in dress, while we women with our "love of bonnets," etc., ask our husbands for only $387,000,000, an average of forty-five dollars per annum for the lords of creation and twenty-seven for the ladies. Tell it in Gath, publish it up and down the streets of Askelon!"

A young minister, who was quite self-satisfied with his own discourses, was always very curious to know what others thought of them. The Lord permitted him to gratify his curiosity one Sabbath evening as he was passing the cottage of an humble but pious laborer. The good man was kneeling with his family, and the young minister paused a moment to listen. He was thanking the Lord for their spiritual mercies, and for the blessed Bible on which their souls might feed, "for thou knowest, O Lord," he said, "that we have been fed this day out of an empty spoon."

The Southern Agriculturist, commenting upon the good sense and industry of some of the colored farmers of the South, says: "Recently one of this class came into the Agriculturist office and subscribed for the paper, and we were so pleased at his progress in intelligence and success in farming we made a note of his last year's crop. The name of this colored man is Rev. Stephen Sumpter, Hayneville, Lowndes county, Ala., and he and his assistants cultivated fifty acres in cotton, which produced 13 bales, worth $750; grew 500 bushels of corn, which will sell for about 60 cents, or $200; raised 500 pounds of pork; grew 200 bushels of sweet potatoes, the price being about 45 cents per bushel, or $90; raised 12 bushels of peas, worth 16; 15 bushels of peanuts, which will sell for $18; saved 300 pounds of corn fodder, worth from 80 to 90 cents per hundred, $225; raised 300 bushels oats, which will sell for 60 cents, $180; had 30 hens which produced several dollars worth of eggs, and his wife churned $30 worth of butter. This is a good showing, and we hope that many other of the colored people will follow the example of Stephen Sumpter, and they will not only live comfortable but will add to the wealth of the State."

There is one department under this Government, where colored men are treated like human beings, and that is the Pension office, under Col. W. W. Dudley, of Indiana. —Washington (D. C.) Bee.

Freedmen's Savings Bank.

The following extract from one of our exchanges is so very just and reasonable that we insert it with our hearty endorsement:

"It would be but fair and just if Congress would pass a law for the payment to depositors of the deficiencies of the bankrupt Freedmen's Savings Bank and Trust Company, as propsed in the bill of Mr. Lynch, introduced at the last session of Congress and recommended by Comptroller Knox, in whose hands the settlement of the affairs of this institution has been placed. The bank was chartered by Congress, on the theory of extending a valuable boon to the freedmen of the South, and cultivating in them the habits of thrift and economy. Congress has had the general regulation of its affairs from the commencement, and under its authority these affairs are now being closed up. Comptroller Knox, in his last report, says that there will be a deficiency of about $960,000 to meet the liability of the bank to its depositors, and this deficiency he recommends Congress to make good, rather than leave the loss to fall on the depositors. In ordinary circumstances we should not approve of such a suggestion, but in this case we heartily approve of it. The truth is that, what Congress intended as a benefit to the freedmen, as an ignorant and just emancipated class, has turned out to be an enormous swindle, under a management which it belongs to Congress to control, but which it did not so control as to prevent the swindle. We think that, in these circumstances, Congress ought to make good the losses suffered by the depositors. It undertook to serve them as wards of the nation, and, in doing so, it virtually led them into a trap by which they were victimized rather than served. Its connection with the business and their utter ignorance at the time furnish good reasons why Congress should provide for the payment of their losses."

The Forest City (Ark.) Times has the following significant editorial:

"We were handed the following notice, which was found posted up in L'Anguille township. It is the work of a fool or some evil disposed scoundrel. We have no idea that there are a half dozen men in the district that will endorse such a 'notice.'

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

We, the undersigned citizens of L'Anguille township, hereby warn any or all parties that may contemplate bringing any negroes into this township that they must abide the consequences, which will be rough enough on both parties.

BY CAPTAIN OF CLUB.

"We hope the citizens of the township will be able to find out the author and punish him to the full extent of the law. The whipping post would learn him not to try to disgrace a whole neighborhood, simply to accomplish a personal spite against a neighbor."

It may be of interest to know that it takes $166,050,000 each year to shoe Uncle Sam's family, which is said to require 30,590,000 pairs of boots, and 94,887,000 pairs of shoes; 111,152 people are kept busy supplying this need.

If the colored race in the South had one-third of the advantages the Northern colored people had, we would not hear so much abuse against the Southern negro, but as it is, the South has produced the greatest colored men. They are more enterprising, better politicians, make better statesmen, and to-day they hold better and more honorable positions than the Northern negroes, who seem to boast of their white schools and advantages. —*Washington (D. An old Methodist preacher once offered the following prayer in meeting: "Lord, help us to trust Thee with our souls." "Amen," was responded by many voices. "Lord, help us to trust Thee with our bodies." "Amen," was responded with as much warmth as ever. "Lord, help us to trust Thee with our money." But to this supplication the "Amen" was not forthcoming.

New England.

[illegible] South can boast of a territory [illegible] most unparalelled for richness of soil, of large mountain ranges containing large abundance of every mineral which adds to the wealth and strength of society, of a climate favorable to the finest specimens of physical manhood, of broad rivers that run through the valley of every region, of forests sufficient to supply every domestic and commercial need, of agricultural possibilities that would arouse the ambition of the sluggard. It is evident to every observing mind that New England with her granite hills, sterile soil and climate; with her common schools on every street, and in every village; with her thousand daily presses that scatter the daily news over every hill and in every valley; with her white spires rising from every village and hamlet where the sturdy farmers have their cottages, has developed a stronger arm, a more active brain, a greater love of freedom, and a higher form of civilization. The one incendiary element in the South is caste. It stands there as in India, opposed to the leveling principles of the Lord Jesus. But when in the course of a few years this demand shall have been expelled, and the black and white people stand untrammelled by any of the usages of the time-hardened and worm-eaten traditions that master and slave were ordained of God, man by man graduated into the true manhood of the race shall stand unfettered by any of the social prejudices of the past. The writer is a native of New England, and it is always with pride and thankfulness that he contemplates the character of that influence which comes from his educational institutions and political principles. It is not merely in a boastful mood that he looks on the long and glorious vista behind. From the time the keel of the Mayflower grated on the bar of Plymouth harbour to the present, New England beliving in nothing [illegible] God, churches, school books and school-houses, has in every political and military struggle, been the advocate of some higher political principle and of a larger charity and a wider freedom. A Kind Talk.

[illegible] comparative poverty of the colored people in the United States [illegible] matter of public notoriety. It is [illegible] fact. They are the hewers of wood and drawers of water. [illegible] the harvest work is done, [illegible] and colored men; in the rice [illegible] on the plantations, along the lines of railroads where hard work [illegible] to be done, you see the colored man. In all the large cities of the [illegible], the tenement quarters are [illegible] with them. Frequently [illegible] of five or six children are crowded into one room. Under such circumstances the influences are [illegible] good, either socially or religiously, are seldom if ever felt; but there is abundant opportunity for [illegible] of all sorts. Now, we ask, what keeps so many of our people in conditions so hurtful to [illegible] body. They do the work, [illegible] the money; but where [illegible] money they have earned [illegible] sweat of their brow. Compare [illegible] if you can, the sum spent by [illegible] men in the city of New [illegible] in saloons for liquors and [illegible] have in part the answer. Remember [illegible] ful proportions among the poor and illiterate. Wherever there is a drunken father there is cursing and quarrelling, wife and children are neglected, and home soon breaks up. What can we do? Almost any thing is better than nothing. We can certainly form total abstinence societies in all our churches and Sunday-schools. We can lift the total abstinence banner as a reminder to all of this crying evil. If the great lever for good or harm is public opinion, let us do what we can to give color to public opinion. Let us stop petting either the drunkard or the saloon keeper for their good peculiarities. Let us discountenance the use of wines at all our social gatherings. Let us work night and day to create a strong and healthy total abstinence sentiment among all of our people.

Meharry Medical School Commencement Exercises.

The Seventh Annual Commencement of the Meharry Medical College was held in the chapel of Central Tennessee College on Thursday night, February 22. The room was crowded to overflowing by some of the best people of Nashville, including many representative white citizens. Promptly at 7:30 p. m., the graduating class marched into the hall and took seats on the platform, while a beautiful march was played by Miss Mamie Braden, the accomplished pianist of this institution.

The exercises were opened with an anthem by the College choir.

Rev. Calvin Pickett offered a short but fervent prayer, and asked that the blessings of the Almighty be upon the young men who were about to take up the duties of the great medical profession, and that they might reflect credit on their alma mater, and spread light and intelligence in the dark recesses of this great land.

After an anthem well sung by the choir, Dr. Braden called upon F. R. Roben, the salutatorian, who delivered a very instructive talk on the "Circulatory System." He extended a hearty welcome to the audience, and proceeded to describe the system minutely, which showed an accurate knowledge of the heart and its tributaries.

Misses Moore and Watson sang the duet "Maybell Flowers," to the great delight of the audience, who manifested their pleasure by a round of applause.

C. K. Wright, of Atlanta, Ga., the class valedictorian, delivered a very creditable essay on "Variola." After an exhaustive history of this scourge, he proceeded to give the symptoms. He called attention to the fact of it being rare, but unless carefully managed, becoming an epidemic which spread desolation and death to all classes of society. A very comprehensive line of treatment was given, and the preventive power of vaccination was strongly endorsed. Some startling facts were mentioned, and his surprise that every man, woman and child did not have vaccination performed, so they might save themselves and protect their neighbors.

After this E. L. Gregory, Esq., Professor of Medical Jurisprudence, entertained the audience in behalf of the faculty, with a very interesting and instructive address, wherein he called the attention of the graduating class to the supreme responsibility of their chosen profession; to its difficulties, triumphs, and the brilliant promises it holds out to the persistent and unremittant student of medicine. Prof. Gregory's closing words of advice to the graduating young men are so appropriate and to the point that we cheerfully give them to our readers. They deserve general application. He said.

"It is, I assume, a part of my task to offer you suggestive advice as to your future and professional conduct. And, first of all, let me say, be men—true, faithful and honorable men. If you make mistakes—and what human will not—let them be honest, intelligent mistakes, and not awkward, ignorant blunders. The saying, 'Be sure you are right and then go ahead,' has become axiomatical, and I suggest to you that you adopt it as the guide for your professional life. Be studious, prompt and energetic.

"I have told you in the lecture room that you are not compelled to answer calls for your professional services, but my advice to you is that you never refuse to go, no matter how doubtful the chances for compensation. For, by so doing you will acquire that all important element of a physician's success—experience. Be cautious and discreet. Never lose sight of the fact that your errors may involve the loss of human life. Keep ever in view the credit and good name of your alma mater. Remember [illegible] the ef[illegible] of [illegible] and d[illegible] your [illegible] dice, and let your labors among them be directed to their improvement and advancement physically, morally and intellectually."

Dr. Hubbard, Dean of the Faculty, then presented the class to President Braden, who, after a few eloquent and appropriate remarks, delivered diplomas to the following graduates: Lee Roy Fearn, Huntsville, Ala.; Zebulon Wallace McMorris, Newburg, S. C.; Isaiah Eugene Mullon, A. B., New Orleans, La., Franklin Reese Robey, Mobile, Ala.; Cea Kenchen Wright, Atlanta, Ga.

Representative McElwee and Senator Agee, of Tennessee, made ringing speeches, which were well received. With the prayers and well wishes of this vast assemblage following the class, after singing the Doxology the benediction was pronounced by Prof. Chase.

While the Terrebonne Times flatters itself upon its success in arousing an enterprising citizen of Houma to the point of building a cock-pit, wherein to fight game chickens, and in its success in toning the public taste to want to witness the heathenish brutality of that pit, our neighbor, the New Orleans Christian Advocate, condemns such inhuman and brutalizing practices in the severest terms. Reviewing the Times-Democrat's description of the fight that took place in this city a week or two ago, under the auspices of the National Game Breeder's Association, at the Baronne Street cock-pit, when six hundred game cocks were then in this city, it says: "The brutal scenes described are a shame to decency and humanity. While the crowds cheered and gambled, the fowls fought and died. Groomed and gaffed they cut and killed each other for the money and amusement of the multitude.—Thousands of dollars changed hands. Twelve fights are decribed and eight deaths. While a poor bird died with the gaff of his antagonist driven through his heart the spectators rose in their seats and cheered the victor. * * * The scene of such outrage is appropriately called a 'pit.'" Such cruelty to animals is brutalizing, and deserves the opprobrium of all good people, and ought to be suppressed by the authorities. The New Orleans Christian Advocate appropriately classifies it as an outrage, and a shame upon decency and humanity.

The Chattanooga Christian Advocate, of February 28, contains a card from Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D. D., editor of the Methodist Advocate at Atlanta, in which he announces that he will continue his pastorate of the Marietta Street Church, and engage in editorial work to which he has been invited. He trusts that ministers and laymen will come to the support of the Chattanooga paper. That paper, sad over the discontinuance of the Methodist Advocate, tells of the marvelous progress of the M. E. Church in the Southern States, and expresses its opinion as follows:

In recounting these great results, this amazing progress, we regard the Methodist Advocate as the most important factor in all that has been accomplished. Its able editor, Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D. D., is the most significant figure in the whole stretch of this Southern work. But into whatsoever field he may enter in the future our prayers, our sympathies and our hearts will follow him; and when his great life work is accomplished we shall expect to see him transfigured on the heights of history—a fixed star in the constellation of heroes for right and principle.

This indicates a high measure of esteem for Dr. Fuller, and also why the SOUTHWESTERN has so unexpectedly grown in favor in East Tennessee and Georgia.

In another column our readers will find an interesting account of the commencement exercises of the Meharry Medical College, our school of medicine in Nashville, Tenn. This College of medicine is the off-spring of necessity, and the child of Providence. It was born in due time, as our educational work developed in Nashville, from the primary to the normal, the classics and the professional courses. The Nashville American says:—"This school has conferred the degree of M. D. on about twenty-three young men. Nearly all of them are engaged in the successful practice of their profession. They have been kindly received by the white physicians, and their uniform testimony is that these colored physicians, sent out by this school, give evidence of very thorough and intelligent preparation for their work—the practice of medicine. This school is a branch of the Arkansas Industrial University, at Fayetteville, for white students. With the exception of our Walden Seminary, and the Colored City High School of Little Rock, which is quite an insignificant affair, the Branch Normal College affords the only means of higher education to the nearly 100,000 colored children in the State. Under the direction of Prof. Corbin, who is a graduate of the Ohio State University, this school has done efficient service for the higher education of the colored youths of Arkansas. One class has been graduated, and 130 students are in attendance. The school building furnished by the State is a substantial two story brick building, which cost $12,000. It contains four recitation rooms, a spacious assembly room, and other additional rooms. It is kept in operation at an annual cost of about $2,500 a year.

That loathsome and highly contagious disease, small-pox, continues in its march of desolation and death in various sections of the country. In this city, to arrest its rapid strides, the Sanitary Association is exercising extraordinary efforts to see that all be vaccinated. In consequence of the great prevalency and fatality of the plague among our colored population, the Association is leaving no stone unturned to reach them and have them vaccinated. Last week all the colored pastors were addressed, and their co-operation requested in bringing to the attention of their congregations the supreme importance of this duty. It has also made arrangements to furnish free vaccination, every day, at such places as the pastors appoint, for the convenience of their congregations and localities. We hope to be able to give a list of those places next week. In the meantime consult with your pastor about this. You owe it to yourself and neighbors to neglect this matter no longer. Every day's delay endangers your own life, as well as the safety of your family and neighbors.

It is a misfortune for Dr. Fuller that his brilliant rhetoric and impressive oratory have not always been employed on the right side. When a man of such gifts makes a mistake and leads in a wrong direction and gives aid to the wrong side, the fact is sure to be remembered. Thereafter, however, much men may admire his rhetoric they will distrust his reasoning and be slow to follow his leadership. There are men living who remember that Dr. Fuller did not only apologize for but actually defended the Birmingham pastor. In fact the Dr.'s pen has been employed more than once in a vigorous defence of the sin of caste. In no instance has the Dr. been stronger in rhetoric, or weaker in logic than in a recent editorial of five columns on "Not caste but Christ." The SOUTHWESTERN cannot follow, for it still adheres to the great truth, "that One is our Father, and all we are brethren, that we have but one Savior, one altar, and one heaven."

The Northern Christian Advocate, sympathizing with the readers of the Methodist Advocate upon their loss in the discontinuance of that paper, by the Book Committee, says: "The Cincinnati paper will do its utmost to make up their loss and meet their wants, but Northern newspapers are almost as ill adapted to the wants of Southern people as Northern pantaloons or cook books. In a better by-and-by the Methodist Advocate should be re-instated." In the meantime, why not take the SOUTHWESTERN; the only official organ now published South of the Ohio river?

Last Thursday night, a large assemblage of some of the most respectable of our citizens, gathered at the St. James A. M. E. Church, this city, to do honor to the memory of the eminent Christian merchant and philanthropist Wm. E. Dodge, who died in the city of New York, Feb. 9th, instant. The occasion was well worthy of the man. The meeting was held under the auspices of the African Trade Society. Rev. Dr. W. S. Alexander and Rev. A. M. Green were the orators.

In our report of the work of the Louisiana Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society, the work and school of Mrs. Sarah Merritt Gates, at St. Martinsville, was unintentionally omitted. This cultured Christian lady has done an excellent work in her mission field during the past year. She taught [illegible] year enrolled [illegible] in schools; [illegible] that [illegible] Society [illegible]

The visit of Mrs. J. Ellen Foster to this city was an occasion which will long be remembered by the temperance workers here. She lectured in various places in the city to crowded houses, and in every instance with great acceptability. Perhaps in no instance did she give more general satisfaction than at the lecture delivered in Ames M. E. Church on the evening of February 25. Long before time for the lecture to begin the church was filled with a thoughtful and intelligent audience. Mrs. E. C. Merrick, President of the W. C. T. U., accompanied Mrs. Foster, and occupied a seat in the pulpit with her. Mrs. Foster spoke for one hour, and held the undivided attention of her hearers. She is a power in the temperance work. God bless her.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate (M. E. Church) says there is not a night that some colored person is not lynched in the State of Louisiana.—Bishop H. M. Turner, A. M. E. Church, in Christian Recorder.

The SOUTHWESTERN, organ of the M. E. Church in New Orleans, has never made any such reckless statement.

PERSONAL.

—Sir Garnet Wolseley appeared in his seat in the House of Lords amid cheers.

—Mrs. Inez Dutro, elder daughter of Dr. A. C. George, of Chicago, died in St. Louis recently.

—Rev. W. P. Forest, Wm. Davis and J. W. Lewis were in town last week and gave us a call.

—Revs. Jas. W. Hudson desires his correspondents to address him 452 Poydras street, New Orleans.

—Mrs. Marshall Jewell, widow of ex-Governer Jewell, of Connecticut, died Feb. 26th of heart disease.

—The correspondents of the Rev. H. Cawthorn, Mississippi Conference, will address him at Greenwood.

—Mrs. Frank Leslie was warmly welcomed in New Orleans. Her artists made pictures by the score for her New York publications.

—Gen. Smalls recently occupied the Speaker's chair in the National House of Representatives. He presided, it is said, with much grace and dignity.

—Blind Tom, the musical prodigy of the world, was in this city recently, and exhibited in several of the churches. All who heard him, were delighted.

—Rev. Dr. S. L. Baldwin, owing to the partial restoration of Mrs. Baldwin's health, and a desire to educate their children will not return to China, but will take work at home.

—Bishop T. M. D. Ward, of the A. M. E. Church, mourns the loss of his wife. She died on the 7th inst. We extend to Bishop Ward our heartfelt sympathy in his sad bereavement.

—The President appointed P. F. Herwig, Esq., to be Assistant United States Treasurer at New Orleans, vice Gov. B. F. Flanders, who possesses a sterling official record covering many years.

—The commercial men and the officials of New Orleans received and heartily entertained Gen Porfirio Diaz, the distinguished Mexican patriot and ex-President, who remained in the city several days.

—Rev. W. McDonald, Presiding Elder of the Gulf district, Mississippi Conference, gave us a pleasant call last week. He promises to push a vigorous canvass for the SOUTHWESTERN at every point on his district.

—Dr. Wm. H. DePuy, for eighteen years assistant editor of the New York Advocate, has resigned, to take effect April 1st. He leaves his post after honorable service, it is hoped, for years of better health and remunerative literary enterprise.

—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, nephew of the late Gen. Robt. E. Lee, was in this city last week, and delivered his lecture on the battle of Chancellorsville. His presence attracted many of the "Confederate brigadiers," and his ex-rebel companions in arms, who gave him an ovation.

—The appointment by President Arthur of George Drury of Assumption parish, to be Collector of Internal Revenue, vice Morris Marks, is Mr. Kellogg's reward of an active Third District campaign manager. Mr. Drury is competent, and received a strong support for the position from political opponents.

—Rev. Wm. H. Daniels, author of a Popular History of Methodism, and editor of the Daily Christian Advocate, at the General Conference of 1880, is about to re-enter the regular work, and will become effective at the next session of the Rock River Conference. He has been absent in Europe [illegible] two years.

—Rev. Joseph Gould who requested and was granted a location by the recent session of the Louisiana Conference, has accepted the call of Presiding Elder Duncan to take charge of the Scott circuit, on his district, made vacant by the death of Rev. Isaac Hayward. He left the city for his work, last week.

—During his sojourn in Arkansas, our Assistant had a pleasant home in Pine Bluff, at Bro. Fred. Nelson's, and at Little Rock he enjoyed the hospitalities of Rev. W. O. Emory and his kind and missionary spirited wife. Here also he enjoyed the company of Prof. H. B. Fry of Walden Seminary, and Prof. G. H. Temple a music teacher in Little Rock.

—On last Sunday Gov. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, died. Jas. S. Boynton, President of the Senate was sworn into office as his successor, and on the 24th day of April an election for Governor will be held. The State Legislature, Gen. Toombs, Jefferson Davis and other distinguished men were invited to participate in the funeral ceremonies, and to-day, by proclamation memorial services will be held all over the State.

—W. B. Merchant, the newly appointed postmaster of New Orleans, was treasurer of Mr. Kellogg's campaign fund in the late congressional election in the Third district. Gen. McMillen, a very able and courteous official, made the best possible canvass of the Fifth district, and was defeated, as any Republican would be in that region of bulldozers. No motive of civil servic reform justified a succession in the office, while Mr. Merchant, it is generally asserted and believed, had no other claim than the one mentioned for Presidential recognition.

The appointment of Congressman Darrall to be Register of the Land Office at New Orleans, displaces Hon. Wm. M. Burwell, a good Republican and an efficient officer, to make room for a Republican who would otherwise have been out of office. Mr. Burwell's pen, in the advocacy of Ead's jetties, sugar protection and Mississippi interests in general, has been of almost inestimable value to this city and State, and President Arthur could well have allowed him to retain the small office, which he well merited, and also in behalf of civil service reform.

—Dr. Hartzell, has a sister, Mrs. Wallace, living in Little Rock, Ark. Her husband. Prof. W. W. Wallace is engaged in the musical department of our Little Rock University. Of his work there Kellogg's Eclectic Monthly says: "The College of Music of Little Rock University, under the efficient management of Prof. W. W. Wallace, devotes Tuesday evenings to oratorio rehersals. This is an important step in the right direction, and if the prompt attendance of nearly all the talented singers of the city is any evidence, Prof. Wallace's efforts are highly appreciated."

—Mrs. Kate Scott, an esteemed member of Ames M. E. Church, received a fall on March 3d, in which she sustained an injury that proved fatal in a few hours. She was employed in Mr. Heath's large carpet store, 75 Camp street. In the attempt to lower some goods through the hatchway from the fourth story, she became entangled in the rope, lost her balance and fell down the opening to the first floor. The remains were buried from Ames M. E. Church, March 4th at 4 P. M., in the presence of a large congregation composed mostly of friends and acquaintances. The pulpit and altar were appropriately decorated, and the exercises were solemn and befitting to the occasion. The opening prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Allen of the Unitarian Church, and the address delivered by the pastor. Sister Scott was an earnest worker in the church, a regular attendant at the means of grace, and a consistent Christian.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

Regular preaching services are now held at Ames Mission, in the lower part of the city. The prospects for great good being accomplished at the mission are flattering. The great need of this work is money to complete the building and properly light it for the services. Who will lend a helping hand? Send contributions care of SOUTHWESTERN.

H. J. Wright, Natchitoches: "My reception among the people was enough to make me feel as though I was nearly home. I was astonished to find the Sunday-school low down. There were no catechisms, only a few Testaments and Bibles, no music books of any kind. We need books badly. I shall use my utmost endeavors to bring the school up where it ought to be."

Mrs. Hector Williams, Baton Rouge: "There is a grand outlook for the ADVOCATE this year. We shall work, pray and speak for the success of that so much needed paper."

TEXAS.

M. Henson, Austin: "On the district generally we are having more sleet, ice and cold than since 1873. Our churches are so poorly constructed and provided with heating apparatus, that our meetings of all kinds are almost entirely suspended during such inclement weather. Divine Providence is teaching us new lessons in the weather changes, if we could see and heed His teachings. A great deal of pneumonia and deaths from it, and other weather diseases. Success in district work depends largely upon good weather."

TENNESSEE.

The Judicial Conference called by Bishop Warren, met in Chattanooga, Tennessee, February 24th, with Bishop Wiley in the chair. Rev. James Mitchell, D. D., led the devotional exercises, after which Rev. J. J. Manker, D. D., was elected Secretary. Of the Triers of Appeal there were present Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D. D., Rev. H. Boyd and Rev. J. Mitchell, D. D., of the Georgia Conference; Rev. J. A. Ruble, Rev. R. Pierce, D. D., and Rev. J. J. Manker, D. D., of the Holston Conference; Rev. S. J. Harris, Rev. D. B. Lawton, Rev. A. J. Fletcher and Rev. D. W. Hays, of the East Tennessee Conference. As there were less than a quorum present the Conference, after instructing the secretary to telegraph some of the absentees, thought to be accessable, urging their immediate attendance, adjourned over until 9 a. m., the next day. Owing to some cause the brethren summoned failed to appear by the hour appointed, in consequence of which the Conference had to adjourn without transacting the business for which it had been convened. It is always important that Triers attend the Conference when called by the Bishop. In this instance the Church has been required to meet a heavy expense for nothing.

NEW BOOKS.

MEYER'S COMMENTARY ON THE NEW TESTAMENT. Acts of the Apostles. Funk & Wagnalls, 10 and 12 Dey street, New York.

This critical and exegetical handbook to the Acts of the Apostles, by H. A. W. Meyer, Th. D., as translated from the German, revised and edited by Wm. P. Dickson, D. D., Glasgow, with preface, index and valuable supplementary notes by the American editor, Rev. Wm. Armiston, D.D., L.L.D., is a most valuable addition to the Biblical student's library. It is commended by some of the best authorities. It is a large octavo of 544 pages.

THE WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETIES, with an introduction by Miss Isabel Hart, of Baltimore, edited and published by Mrs. L. G. Daggett, 287 Bunker Hill street, Boston. Price 75 cents.

This is an interesting collection of historical sketches of Woman's Missionary Societies in America and England. It is novel in its character, seems to be reliable, and is not sectarian. It contains 204 pages.

THE HISTORY OF THE DECLINE AND FALL OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE. By Edward Gibbon, Esq. Family edition. Abridged and edited by James A. Dean, D.D., President of New Orleans University, in two volumes. New York: Phillips & Hunt, 805 Broadway.

We return many thanks to Dr. Dean for a set of this most excellent work of his. "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," by Gibbon, that most stupendous of all historical works, which on account of its voluminousness was so largely ignored by the general reader, and because of its indecencies and infidelity, so universally banished from Christian homes, through the Herculean labors of Dr. Dean is now made valuable, inviting and attractive to all classes of readers, or fit to be read and studied in any Christian circle. Retaining all the facts and matters of value or of interest to the student, the work is condensed to nearly a third of its original size. All the objectionable features have been eliminated; while the index has been corrected, pronunciation of names, index in the body of the work, running head lines on every page, dates throughout, together with many valuable improvements, have been added. In the preparation of this work, which is in itself a great triumph over numerous and serious difficulties, Dr. Dean has shown himself to be a ripe scholar and a critical writer. We heartily join Dr. Payne, Bishop Andrews, Bishop Peck, the N. Y. Christian Advocate, the Western Christian Advocate, Zion's Herald, and a score of other contemporaries, and literary and Christian dignitaries, in its praise. The work is in two volumes, 1229 crown octavo pages, printed and bound in excellent style, and sold at the low price of $2, postpaid. Special prices offered to ministers of our Conference. Address Dr. James A. Dean, New Orleans University, New Orleans, La.

METHODISM AND LITERATURE. A series of articles from General Writers on the Literary Enterprises and Achievements of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Edited by F. A. Archibald, D.D. Published by Walden & Stowe, Cincinnati.

We cordially endorse all that Dr. Vincent says with reference to this book. Pastors, Sunday-school superintendents and committees will find this book an invaluable aid.

BIBLIOTHECA THEOLOGICA: A Select and Classified Bibliography of Theology and General Religious Literature. By John F. Hurst, D. D., L. L. D. New York: Phillips & Hunt; Cincinnati: Walden & Stowe.

To the ministers of the Gospel, the theological student, or the teacher in our Sunday schools, who desire to know the best books in all departments of theological science, this book will be of great service. To the young minister who is selecting his library, and wants the best books upon the themes to be studied, this book will be of invaluable service. Whoever will heed its suggestions in making his selections will not only avoid all trash, and waste of money and time, but will find that each book purchased adds so much to the completion of his library. It gives a select and classified list of commentaries, theological works, religious biography, ecclesiastical history; in fact, of general religions literature, so it becomes one of the best helps that cou'd be desired in selecting books published up to the year 1881. There are two complete indexes of reference to all the authors mentioned and subjects discussed by these authors. We cheerfully commend this work, and advise all of our ministers who desire to build themselves up a good library of books to purchase this at the earliest opportunity. The publishers have done their part well. It is well printed from good, clear type, on excellent paper, and presents a handsome appearance. For sale at this office.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The March number of Harper's Magazine is beautiful and entertaining. The frontispiece engraving is "The Burgomaster's Daughter." William Henry Bishop contributes "Across Arizona," which is attractively illustrated. George H. Broughton continues his Holland papers, description of Friesland, illustrated by his own drawings and those of E. A. Abbey. Col. Higginson's fifth paper on his American History series is entitled "The French Voyageurs." One of the most valuable and interesting of the illustrated articles is Mrs. M. G. Van Rensselaer's on "'Parsifal' at Baireuth," clearly showing Wagner's method of working out his musical and dramatic conceptions. "Consola," an exquisitely beautiful poem, is contributed by Mrs. H. W. Sewall. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., contributes a chapter of earliest Colonial History, entitled "Sir Christopher Cardiner Knight." The Editor's Easy Chair shows that American taste does not follow the dictates of English criticism; discusses the effect upon France of Gambetta's death. The Drawer contains a noteworthy contribution in the shape of a comic operetta, entitled "King Alfred."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

FIRST QUARTER. LESSON X. March 11. THE SEVEN CHOSEN. (Acts vi, 1-15.)

The church had a great many members, about five thousand, and the disciples were busy. They preached, visited the sick, and often God let them heal them. With all this they had to see the poor cared for. This was a great work, and some widows complained because they were not supplied. The disciples had not done wrong, but were so busy they could not do every thing. They knew this, and chose seven men; no one could say a word against them. These men were to attend to the business. Part of the church and the disciples were to have more time to preach and teach the people about Jesus.

One of the seven was a man named Stephen, a grand man who did wonderful work for Jesus. This made the people who hated Jesus hate him, and lie about him and bring him to trial. When they said he spoke against God and Moses, all who looked at him saw he was innocent, for the Bible says his face was like the face of an angel.

These men were chosen because they had good names. Do you know what a good name is? Let us tell you what makes a good or bad name. Truth, honesty, kindness, love, all make a good name. Lying, swearing, dishonesty, and hate make a bad name. Love and follow Jesus, and you'll have a good name here, and a good name written in the great book above. —Weslein.

The Bad and Wothless

Are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their names, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and Dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits.

The Ohio Wesleyan University is enjoying a glorious revival, which has resulted in the conversion of over two hundred students, besides the wonderful quickening of many others.

DEATHS.

At Hahnville, in St. Charles parish, La., on Jan. 21th, 1883, George Essex, a probationer in the M. E. Church at Hahnville. An hour or two before he died he said to those around him: "I am getting up all my points, for the sheriff is coming to make a summon; but God is good, I know that He is good. Thank God I have got the house all ready, and ev rything is in its place." Bro. Essex was a trustee of the church, and for a number of years had been representative in the Logislature, Sheriff of the parish, and a member of the Police Jury or school board. A. H.

Sister Chaney Tigg died Jan. 1. She was a member of the M. E. Church 13 years. Sister Jane Travis died Dec. 29th, after a membership of 17 years. Sister Josephine Hudson died Jan. 20th, after a membership of eight months. She was ready to meet her Lord. H. DUNLAP.

Failing!

That is what a great many people are doing. They don't know just what is the matter, but they have a combination of pains and aches, and each month they grow worse.

The only sure remedy yet found is BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and this by rapid and thorough assimilation with the blood purifies and enriches it, and rich, strong blood flowing to every part of the system repairs the wasted tissues, drives out disease and gives health and strength.

This is why BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will cure kidney and liver diseases, consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, malaria, intermittent fevers, &c.

203 S. Paca St., Baltimore. Nov. 28, 1881.
I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and for several weeks could eat nothing and was growing weaker every day. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters, and am happy to say I now have a good appetite, and am getting stronger.
JOS. MCCAWLEY.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is not a drink and does not contain whiskey. It is the only preparation of Iron that causes no injurious effects. Get the genuine. Don't be imposed on with imitations.

TUTT'S PILLS
A NOTED DIVINE SAYS:
DR. TUTT:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last spring your pills were recommended to me; I used them (but with little faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.
Rev. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky.
SYMPTOMS OF A TORPID LIVER.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

M. C. B. Mason, Plum Street: "Our people are encouraged and will do good work this year. The Sabbath school, under Bro. Norwood is moving onward, and is destined to take a prominent rank among our schools in this city. Always at his post, kind hearted and generous, Bro. Norwood has the love and respect of the whole school. A class of young men and women called "The Seekers," under our immediate care, has just been organized, and we pray that out of this class may come teachers—filled with the fire and Holy Ghost. Will send you a list of subscribers soon."

T. G. Montgomery, First Street Church, New Orleans: "We commenced a revival February 15, and for two nights there was no one at the altar, but we preached and prayed, and now there are nine on probation, and eight converts. The Lord is with us."

TEXAS.

M. Henson, Gonzales, (Feb. 7).—"I am here housed in by the cold winds from the North, and ice. This is the biggest and longest norther we have had this year. It came on so suddenly that the earth smoked—during these cold seasons we cannot hold meeting of any kind. If we had longer seasons of cold weather we should be better prepared for the cold weather, by building more substantial houses, etc. We saw the sun this afternoon for the first time since last Friday morning, the entire forest has been mantled in smoky white iced substance. It is melting away very fast. I shall leave for Austin on to-morrow's train—have been away since Jan. 19th."

E. Jones, Hallettsville: "I came to my work at Halletsville the first Sunday after the Annual Conference at Columbus. I have gone all over the work, and have visited and prayed with nearly all the families connected with our church. I am very much encouraged to see how much in earnest the people are to rally the scattered members and to build a house of worship. On February 10th and 11th we had our first quarterly meeting. Elder Richardson was on hand in time. The business of the quarterly conference was arranged very pleasantly. The allowance for the pastor was liberal. At the 11 o'clock meeting on Sunday the Elder preached from John 15:7, showing the conditions on which God would answer prayer. About thirty members came forward and gave the Elder their hand as a promise that they would try and meet these conditions. Three persons joined on trial. Two had been converted during the week previous. At night forty or fifty presented themselves as seekers of religion. We are expecting and praying for a glorious victory. Pray for us."

M. Wilson, Butler: "On arrival at this work I found a grand body of Christians; have made first [illegible], and prospects of success are [illegible]."

"Are you the judge of reprobates?" said Mrs. Partington, as she walked into the office of a Judge of Probate. "I am the Judge of Probate," was the reply. "Well, that's it, I expect," quoth the old lady. "You see my father died detested, and he left several little infidels, and I want to be their executioner."

Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has become so thoroughly established in public favor that were it not for the forgetfulness of people it would not be necessary to call attention to its power to cure consumption, which is scrofula of the lungs, and other blood diseases, as eruptions, blotches, pimples, ulcers, and "liver complaint."

In the matter of church union of Canadian Methodism, one serious question is, What shall be done with the surplus ministers? and the reply is, They are needed in the United States. That depends. If vigorous young men, well educated, can be spared there, this is true, but no gain would accrue to Methodism in the States by an influx of the least acceptable of Canadian ministers.—Michigan Advocate.

The unblushing misrepresentations, in regard to Zion's Herald and the caste question, of Dr. Fuller in the Methodist Advocate of Atlanta, of February 17, fully account for the failure of this paper under his administration, and justify the wisdom of the Book Committee in closing its issues. We have admired the heroism of Dr. Fuller, and greatly enjoyed his society as a personal friend, but of his fairness as an opponent, either in statement or inference, the less said the better.—Zion's Herald.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 140 Power's Block, Rochester N. Y. 49-n6 13t-eow

Bishop Foster, as might be expected, has made a profound impression in his public discourses in India. In Calcutta there was such a desire to hear him, that a service, at a special hour, was appointed when other churches had no public exercises. His sermons, on the previous Sabbath, and on Christmas morning, the Indian Witness says, "were memorable discourses and will be long remembered by those who heard him."

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2, 1880.
I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

The records show that the colored people of Georgia pay taxes on nearly $10,000,000 worth of property.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

The countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes of a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach; at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable.

PEACH ICE CREAM.—Delicious peach ice cream is made by rubbing through a sieve one dozen whole canned peaches, or what is equal to that number, and six ounces of white sugar, and one pint and a half of sweet cream should then be mixed with the pulp. After a thorough beating, freeze it as you do common ice cream. If you wish to make the fancy complete, and have the cream a peach color, a few drops of cochineal can be used; or if you object to that, the cream may be colored with the juice of the red raspberry.

CRACKER PUDDING.—Four crackers pounded and sifted, small pieces of butter, one and a half pints of milk scalded and poured on the crackers and butter, four eggs, sugar to sweeten, nutmeg.

MALAGA PUDDING.—One-third cup of rice, one cup sugar, two eggs, one pint milk, half a lemon, and salt. Soak the rice over night. Beat the yolks of the eggs with one tablespoonful of sugar, dissolve the sugar, and grate in the lemon rind, add the rice and milk. Bake one hour. Take the whites of the eggs and beat to a stiff froth with the rest of the sugar, then add lemon juice. Pour it over the pudding after it is boiled, and brown in the oven two or three minutes. To be eaten cold.

To poison a well is one of the worst of crimes. It is worse to poison the fountain of life for one's self and for posterity. Often by carelessness, or misfortune, or inheritance this has been done. Ayer's Sarsaparilla goes back of the symptoms, picks up these impure seeds from the blood, the vital stream, and restores appetite, strength and health.

A little girl once said that she would be glad to go to heaven because they have plenty of preserves there. On being cross-examined she took down her catechism and triumphantly read: "Why ought the saints to love God?" Answer: "Because he makes preserves and keeps them."

Constipation, liver and kidney diseases are cured by Brown's Iron Bitters, which enriches the blood, and strengthens the whole system.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.
The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.

By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION

By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.

Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.
"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev. C. H. Collins.
Bound in cloth, gilt, 272 pages, and portrait. Sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, 60 cents.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to inquire for my people, whom I left in Alabama, on the Warsaw river. Oldest brother was Isaac; mother was Passion, and belonged to Loviet Hinds; sister was Martha Hinds, and her husband Joe Hinds. Isaac's wife was Lucy, and he had a son named Silas. I last saw him in Greene county, Alabama. A half-brother, Reuben, belonged to John Wadkin. I belonged to Wm. Bolden; and he came to Texas, died, and his widow married Jimmie and I belonged to Johnson until emancipation. Address me at Iola, Texas, care of R. J. Campbell. SILAS JOHNSON.

MR. EDITOR: We wish to inquire for our children and people. Ned Sutton and Lucy Peters, mother of Martha Peters, belonged to Polly Peters, in York district, S. C. Manda and Peters went off at the same time, with Brown Duncan. Jesse Greer was Manda's father, and her mother, Liberty Peters, belonged to Widow Polly Peters. Emeline Peters, a cousin to Manda and Lucy, a mother of Peggie Peters, Annie Peters, Lucy Peters and Watkins Peters moved to Tennessee, and carried Annie and Fannie Peters with him. last heard from William, Sam Peters' son, whose father is dead. He said they were living in Nashville, Tennessee, in 1880, when they left South Carolina. We are now near Lauderdale, Kemper county, Miss. We were sold by Sutton to Louis M. Boyd, and took his name. Address at Lauderdale, Miss.,
NED BOYD, or LUCY BOYD,

MR. EDITOR: William Frago left this place in time of war. His mother belonged to Sewell Carr, and was then Aley Carr, but is now Aley Pruett. The boy left with Gen. Paine. His mother and sister, still living, would like to know where he is.
WM. BRYANT,
Gallatin, Tenn.

MR. EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my children, whom I left before the war. There were eight. The boys were Ephraim, Andrew, Milas, Silas, James, Henry and George Washington. My name was Harriet Switzer. I belonged to George Switzer, near Newton, Lincoln county, N. C. Alex Boss, their father, died four years before the war. Ephraim belonged to George Switzer. Milas and Silas were twins, and belonged to the Widow Owen's estate in Charlotte. Andrew, James, Henry and Geo. Washington are dead. Mela, Ann, Margaret and Catherine belonged to Aylesmar. Address me, care of Rev. James Jordan, Mashulaville, Miss., where I am married, and known as HARRIET HOLMAN.

MR. EDITOR: I desire to inquire for my children, Manda and Anthony Oliver. Together with Ellen, youngest daughter, they belonged to old Mrs. Oliver. The old lady gave Manda to her granddaughter, and she moved to Huntsville, Texas. Anthony lived near the town of Milam, in Eastern Texas. We heard from Anthony since his freedom, and he was then in Shreveport, La. Ellen was found on Dr. Rogers' farm, in Brazos county, Texas. We were known as Benjamin and Gracie Oliver, but now go by the name of Hubbard. Address care of Rev. John L. Smith, Millican, Texas.
BENJ. HUBBARD.

MR. EDITOR: I desire to obtain some information of my father's four sisters and two brothers, named as follows: Minny Sally, Eliza, Esther and Zilphy. Brothers names: Martin Van Buren and James K. Polk. Father belonged to Taylor; named Isaac. We all formerly belonged to Wright Nicholas, but we were separated among his children; given to sons. I was sold to John Mathews. We all lived in Hitefoot county, North Carolina. PHILLIS LEWIS, Hockley, Harris county, Texas.

MR. EDITOR—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zazhariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted at Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette. She and I went to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address,

USE THE

A WONDERFUL [illegible]d
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:
1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.

AN OLD HYMN.

There is an eye that never sleeps
Beneath the wing of night;
There is an ear that never shuts,
When sink the beams of light.

There is an arm that never tires,
When human strength gives way;
There is a love that never fails,
When earthly loves decay.

That eye is fixed on seraph throngs;
That arm upholds the sky;
That ear is filled with angel songs;
That love is throned on high.

But there's a power that man can wield
When mortal aid is vain,
That eye, that arm, that love to reach,
That listening ear to gain.

That power is prayer, which soars on high,
Through Jesus, to the throne;
And moves the hand which moves the world,
To bring salvation down.

The Canton Indignation Meeting.

CANTON, Miss., March 3, 1883.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the colored citizens of this city was held at the Odd Fellows' Hall last night, at the instance of the leading influential members of that class, among whom were J. H. Conway, Rev. Jordan Williams, Dr. Howell, B. F. Garrett, C. C. Montgomery, W. F. Carmichael, Paul Marshall, S. W. Lewis, Robert Garrett and others. The object of the meeting, as is fully set forth in subjoined resolutions, was to express their indignation occasioned by a pamphlet published by Rev. J. L. Tucker, reflecting on them in a manner unwarranted and untrue. The meeting organized with Mr. W. F. Carmichael chairman, and Esquire C. C. Montgomery, secretary. Mr. Carmichael, on taking the chair, in an extremely felicitous style of language, made his acknowledgments for the honor conferred, and stated the object of the meeting. The copy of a letter was read by Mr. B. F. Garrett, notifying Rev. J. L. Tucker of the meeting and requesting his attendance. The chair appointed S. W. Lewis, B. F. Garrett, Rev. Jordan Williams, Dr. Howell and Paul Marshal to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, and during the retirement of the committee the audience was ably and eloquently entertained by Mr. J. H. Conway. [illegible] had a telling effect [illegible] when he had placed [illegible] J. L. Tucker between the [illegible] of the [illegible] and sarcastic language [illegible] demonstrations of applause [illegible] gratifying in the extreme. He was followed by B. F. [illegible] in a masterly effort. [illegible] to Rev. J. L. [illegible] he proved by [illegible] own assertions [illegible] the charges made. [illegible] is much to [illegible] Mr. Garrett would [illegible] him without gloves. [illegible] comparison of his [illegible] pamphlet with [illegible] extemporaneous [illegible] he would have sat[illegible] effort [illegible] back up the [illegible] the audience [illegible]

[illegible] misrepresent and scurrilously abuse the colored people of the South; and

Whereas, The peace and good will that should and of right ought to prevail between the white and colored people of the South are endangered by the circulation of the incendiary utterances of the Rev J. L. Tucker in his speech; and

Whereas, The low conception of such sentiments (the public expression of which being in exceedingly bad taste), merit no notice from that class of the citizens in the South to whom they were malignantly applied, and should receive the silent contempt they deserve, were it not for the significance they derive emanating from a minister of the Gospel, together with the occasion, that lent distinction to their accouchment, and from the opportunity flung in our faces, to rebuke the inexcusable ignorance of one who, in his indecent haste to insult the intelligence of the colored people, ascribed to them indiscriminately what might possibly be the infirmities of a few of the race that develop here and there, as in all other races—a fungus, excrescent growth, that shocks society as a Guiteau, and other like monsters of depravity.

Resolved, That we, the colored citizens of the city of Canton, in mass meeting assembled, express our undisguised feelings of indignation and utter contempt for both the Rev. J. L. Tucker and his licentious utterances, and meet his virulent charges and wholesale denunciation of our race with an emphatic, unqualified denial.

Resolved further, That in vindication of ourselves, and in testimony of the sincerity of what we declare in these resolutions, we appeal to the white people of the South, with whom we have lived and served with fidelity, even when subjected to the most degrading condition ever imposed on a race of people; and more especially when the dictates of duty called them to the battle field—abandoning their homes, leaving defenseless their wives, children and aged parents. How did we guard their treasures? Did that bestial, immoral, dishonest, ignorant, unprogressive race of Rev. J. L. Tucker's fancy, seize that most favorable of all opportunities for an exhibition of those qualities he has attributed to them?

Be it further resolved, That we hold in unmeasured abhorrence the Rev. Isaac McCoy Williams, of Jackson, Miss., Rev. W. R. Parker, Point Pleasant, Tensas parish, La., Rev. Daniel Jackson, Redick Station, Jefferson county, Miss., Rev. R. J. Wermington, Port Gibson, Miss., and Rev. J. N. Howard, Point Pleasant, Tensas parish, La., apostate defamers of their race, who lent their endorsement to Rev. J. L. Tucker's attempt to degrade us in the eyes of the world, and commend them to whatever of satisfaction they may derive from the perpetration of an act the heinousness of which links their names inseparably with Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold; and

Be it further resolved, As the citizens of Jackson did hold a meeting on January 25, 1883, and did there adopt certain preambles and resolutions setting forth their disapprobation and denunciation in language which cannot be misunderstood, therefore

Be it resolved, That we, the colored citizens of Canton, reiterate and indorse the actions of our sister city at the meeting aforesaid, and

Be it further resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the charges aforesaid are false, slanderous and shameless.

On motion, the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the Baptist Peoples Advisor were requested to publish the proceedings.

A Halt in New Orleans.

BISHOP JOHN F. HURST.

The ride along the Gulf, from Mobile to New Orleans, is not at all attractive, save in the genial and salty air that comes in from the water. Now and then you cross a long low bridge over a bayou, that has grown tired of its flat and muddy monotony, and loses itself in the Gulf. At the stations the boys welcome you with their fresh oranges, many on a single twig, which they manage to get rid of without trouble. Jeff. Davis' plantation, Bouvoir, is just to the left, about midway between the two cities, and is one of the best kept of all the plantations on either side of the road. He is a frequent traveler to New Orleans, where he goes to attend the meetings of the Lee monument association, and similar societies of the lost cause. The conductor of our train told us that he is kindly, and on general subjects is always ready to converse. "He sits right down," said he, "wherever he happens to find an empty seat, and talks sheep, or anything else that may come up first." One of our preachers at the Mississippi conference told me that at the last Christmas festival of our colored church near Bouvoir, Mrs. Davis appeared, made a neat little address to the children, and presented them all with appropriate gifts. But one does not need to be long in the South before finding out that Davis is not their favorite. Some may suppose it is because he is not dead yet, but the causes are deeper. He never will revive. Lee is, by far, the first man in the affections of the lovers of the rebellion. Take that new monument to him at the bend in St. Charles street, where the business houses end and the residences begin. It is not a very high shaft, and the pedestal is already there for the twice life-size statue to rest on. Right near by, within a few rods, is our Ames Methodist Episcopal church, which crystallizes our initiative to carry on work in the Southern States even before the drum-beats of the war were silent. One takes in Lee's monument and Ames church at a single glance, and the two represent the opposite poles of the war; one the strongest hand in in the rebellion, and the other the church to which the freedmen looked first for help, and have not looked in vain. Stonewall Jackson is the magnetic character in the affections of the Southern heart for the heroes of its four brave years. This must be said, however, that the memories of the war are rapidly fading. I have talked with officers and privates on the cars and elsewhere, who had done soldiers' valiant service for the Southern side, and not one has regretted the outcome. There is a gradual acquiescence in the result which men of keen vision and real candor say is growing every day. I have frequently heard this remark: "We were led into it; it was a mistake." The $25,000,000 that have come from Northern Christians for educational purposes since the war, form an unanswerable argument that the North can love and build up as easily as it could march to battle.

On reaching New Orleans, the Rev. E. K. Young, of our First church in Des Moines, and myself were met at the station by the Rev. J. G. Vaughan, pastor of the Ames church. He assumed the pastorate in July last, and, though told that he would, as a stranger, be running a risk in spending his summer in the city, he took the risk, and gave his entire time to making the acquaintance of his flock and getting ready for putting his hand on all the forces of his new charge. He was a student in the Drew Theological Seminary, and is now thrust into this difficult position. Bishop Peck made no mistake in selecting him. He is already winning his way to recognition and success. The Sunday-school is enlarging; some few families have united with the church, and the outlook is in every respect hopeful for the ministrations of Mr. Vaughan. His methods are not demonstrative or sensational, but calm, persistent and direct.

This New Orleans is a marvel, take it in any sense you choose. One thing that strikes the stranger, [illegible] there is no change in your con[illegible] by a longer stay—the terri[illegible] of all religious work. [illegible]

rect result of the discovery of the Mississippi in 1673, by Marquette and Joliet, and, later by LaSalle and De Tonti. Then came Iberville and Bienville, the settlement of the French colony, the gradual building up of New Orleans, and the spread of the French around the gulf, and up the Red and Mississippi rivers, and along the bayous. Spain's domination began fully under Unzaga, in 1770, and continued until the beginning of the present century, when it returned to France, as a direct result of Napoleon's victories. In a short time it was purchased of him by the United States, and so became a part of our domain; but its type has been continental and Roman Catholic ever since. The Protestant churches have always had up-hill work. Look at the Sabbath-breaking. The great French market is busier on Sunday morning than any day in the week. The business seems about as active along the shopping streets as on any other day. The streets are crowded, but not with worshipers. As we worshiped in Ames church on Sunday morning, you could hear such a rumbling of drays and great wagons along the streets as fairly to interrupt the service. Against this general spirit of Sabbath desecration, the growth of many years, it is very difficult for any Protestant church to make headway. There is certainly no place in the country where it is more difficult for a church to grow, in all the elements of strength, or for a Christian to preserve his religious fervor, than in New Orleans. The colored people have the easiest path, because their temptations are fewer and they are more aside from the general drift of the life of the city. One meets with many cosmopolitan characters. He has only to walk along Canal street or St. Charles, to see all the continents in microcosm. The Spanish, French, and English are spoken indiscriminately. People from South America jostle against men of white skin from the North. Your very laboring man is traveled, and it is hard to tell where he has not been and where he is next to go. For instance my chance barber, whose face is somewhat between white and mahogany, was born in the Sandwich Islands, spoke French first of all, went to sea, turned up in Morocco, staid a few years along the Bosphorus, and now talks languages enough to come up toward Mezzofanti. "Just trim my hair a little," I said. "Zat I will eendevor to do, for ze natoore has already trimmed it sufficiently on ze summeete." "How old are you, after all your adventures?" I inquired, being very anxious to change the subject. "I am steele veery young, but I would like to leeve as old as Mezuzalah." "Pray, how old was he?" "He leeve a'bout two zenzand yeers, I zink."

There is a cheerful air throughout this busy city. In the French or English part, it makes no difference—all is bright, cheery, hopeful. Perhaps the coming carnival next week, which I shall not see, having to go up the Red river to the Louisiana conference, has much to do with it; but I suspect it is the atmosphere of the whole year. To take things as they come and make the best of them, seems to be the rule rather than the exception. Whether among the laboring people or the easier classes, it is all the same; there is less anxiety in the face and the speech than one generally finds among Americans. After looking here and there at the more curious features of the old portion of the city, Dr. Hartzell secured permission to ascend to the custom house roof, and overlook the great city. It was a scene which one does not easily forget. Off in one direction beyond the barracks, was the place where Jackson won his victory over Packenham; in another, through the cemeteries, sleeps Lake Pontchartrain; at your feet the larger streets, linked by many a winding alley; and, between land and city, the Mississippi making its bold sweep to complete its perfect crescent, and to bear out toward the gulf its wealth in cotton to the world's distant markets.—Northwestern.

A Louisiana Land Job.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25.—A stupendous and impudent land job here has just been discovered, but perhaps none too soon, as it is claimed that the scheme has already been approved by the Land Commissioner at Washington. It is a job, in which leading State officers are interested, to have a portion of the old Chalmette battle grounds declared swamp land under the law of Congress of 1850, and, as such, turned over to the State to be immediately purchased by the ring at 25 cents per acre and the profits divided. The credit for the conception of this stupendous fraud is given to the so-called ex-Governor, John McEnery, he having been authorized by Sam McEnery, the present Governor, by virtue of an act of the Legislature, to hunt up all lands that had not been turned over to the State under the Swamp Land act and to receive one-half of all the land so recovered from the General Government. He went before the United States Land Office here and denounced the tract in question. The papers were sent to the Commissioner at Washington, who returned them, requiring evidence that the property was swamp land at the time of the passage of the act of 1850. Affidavits to this effect were then sent, signed by Messrs. Duorosso, Maspero, Lessop, and Gen. Beauregard. Meantime the scheme of the land ring was discovered by Mr. Bonzano, owner of the adjacent tract, who protested that the allegations of the affiants were false, whereupon McEnery silenced him by depositions from Beauregard and others showing that Bonzano was a non-resident and knew nothing whereof he spoke. This singular proceeding led the Surveyor General of Louisiana, an honest colored man named Gla, to examine the antecedents of the tract claimed, when he discovered that the identical property in question had been cultivated farming ground for more than 100 years; that thereon was thrown up Jackson's advanced line of earth-works in the battle of January 8, 1815; that in 1855 the State purchased the tract from Pierre Bacheld in order to have erected thereon a monument to commemorate Jackson's victory. The State appropriated about $90,000 for the purpose, and the Jackson Monumental Association collected about the same amount. The monument was commenced thereon and built up about 60 feet, and then it was left unfinished by the breaking out of the war.

Mr. Gla has certified these facts to the department at Washington, and the avarice of the men who, by education and association should have respected, for shame's sake, the battle ground of Chalmette, may be checkmated, if not too late. While the State was under the government of the carpet-baggers there was always a keeper appointed for this property: to keep the fences up, the houses thereon in repair, etc., and it was then a point of attraction to visitors, but under the government of the people the last keeper was expelled, the houses have gone to ruin, the fences have been broken down and carried away, and the monument shows signs of decay, and the Governor's brother seeks to gobble up what is left as a private speculation. In case the claim of McEnery is allowed, the ring stands ready to buy in the tract, and, first paying McEnery his half, will keep the remainder or compel the State to pay a high price to redeem the unfinished battle monument. By this kind of manipulation, a few years ago, about 16 miles of Mississippi water front was certified over to the State as swamp lands and immediately purchased by Jas. B. Eads, of the Jetties, for a few hundred dollars, and the Government was immediately compelled to go to him to rent, at enormous prices, the grounds for the building and tool-houses thereon required by the Engineer and Light-house Service.—*N. Lyceum.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Clark Chapel Lyceum was held in the lecture-room of the church. The weather was favorable, and the following interesting programme brought out a very large crowd—the largest since the organization of the lyceum.

At 8 o'clock the president called the house to order, and the meeting was opened by singing "Gathering Home."

Prayer by Rev. L. M. Hagood.

Solo—"My pretty red nose," Mr. W. O. Newsom.

Recitation—"People will talk," Miss Laura Manson.

Select Reading—"Eulogy on Charles Sumner," Mr. A. Foster.

Essay—"Obedience," Mr. J. C. Knowles.

Song—"Come, Happy New Year."

Select Reading—"The Widow Bedott to Elder Sniffles," Mrs. Willie Gordon.

Select Reading—"I think it is John that's out," Mrs. G. A. Henderson.

Solo—"If you were only here," Irvin C. Brown, enthusiastically encored.

Select Reading—"The Polish Boy," Miss C. F. Watson.

Select Reading—"Fuss at Fires," Dr. H. T. Noel.

Declamations—Jemmie Cramer, Master Jerry Pettis. Professor J. H. Burrus, having been especially invited to address the lyceum, took for his subject "William Cullen Bryant." Throughout the address he used several beautiful selections by the noted poet. The address was enjoyed as one of the principal selections of the evening.

The committee on memoirs read the following preamble and resolutions on the death of Miss Cora Davis, a member of the lyceum, who died February 13, 1882:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our late sister, Cora Davis; and whereas, the intimate relations held by our deceased sister with the members of this lyceum render it proper that we should place on record our appreciation of her services as a member. Therefore be it

Resolved (by the Clark Chapel Lyceum), That while we bow with humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things for the best, we do not the less mourn for our sister who has been called from her labor to rest.

Resolved, That this lyceum tender its heartfelt sympathy to the mother and other relatives of our deceased sister, in this their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of the lyceum, and that a copy of them be sent to the family, daily papers and to the SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE of our church at New Orleans. I. C. B.

Philander Smith College.

The Walden Seminary, at Little Rock, Ark., has been greatly embarrassed for several years for the want of a suitable building. A part of this time the school has been taught in a hired hall, but at present it is kept in an inconvenient church, much to the detriment of both teachers and pupils. But we have good news to communicate to our readers, as may be seen from the following letter:

OAK PARK, Cook Co., Ill., Feb. 16, '83.

REV. R. S. RUST, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Brother—Your favor of the 10th inst. I have duly received. After careful consideration I have decided to request the application of the property which, in the name of my departed husband, I have given to the Freedmen's Aid Society, to the building for the colored school at Little Rock, Ark. And that, in view of the kind consent of Dr. Walden, the school be incorporated as the "Philander Smith College." Praying God's blessing upon it, I am, sincerely,

ADESINE M. SMITH.

Ten thousand dollars worth of property has been transferred to the Freedmen's Aid Society by the heirs for this purpose, and the erection of a beautiful school building has been contracted for at a cost of ten thousand dollars, to be completed in November next, and incorporated under the title of the "Philander Smith College." Drs. Hartzell and Gray were largely instrumental in securing this donation, and Dr. Walden suggested and generously gave his hearty approval of the change in the name of the school.—Western.

More Bloodshed Threatened.

It has now been over three months since our community was shocked by the revelations of ballot-box stuffing and wholesale defrauding of the political rights of the citizens of this city practiced in the municipal election. The evidences of these frauds were conclusive. The trained servants of the ring, long accustomed to such outrages upon the popular rights, threw aside all reserve and openly and shamelessly perverted the will of the people. No such daring and unscrupulous falsification of the ballots was ever perpetrated even in the dark days of the old Returning Board. Over 5,000 ballots were stuffed into the boxes, and the vote which was honestly cast was not correctly counted. The poll-books furnished incontestable proofs of the former facts, and there is abundant evidence as to the latter. The law was invoked. The courts were called upon to avenge the blow at the very foundation of civil government to protect the only safeguard of organized society. What has been the result? The State tribunal has done nothing to bring the offenders to justice since the indictments were framed. The whole proceedings in the United States courts have been annulled for informality. Not only are those candidates who profited by the fraud yet in their seats, but the tools who did the corrupt work at the polls are no longer in dread of even the chance of a trial. Verily, fraud prospers. We think we can see pretty clearly what it is likely to come to before the right of self-government is fully established in this city. We are drifting rapidly toward more blood-letting on a large scale. Beneath the apparently calm exterior of the people there is deep wrath and indignation. The conviction, unwelcomed though it be, has been forced upon the minds of all good citizens that the State Government under which we live is as loth to protect the ballot-box as in the Radical days, and that extraordinary measures will have to be resorted to before we shall have the rights of freemen.—New Orleans Picayune, Feb. 22.

In discussing the probable future relation of the educated black men of the South to their white fellow-citizens, it seems to be supposed that the fact of their non-intermarriage, and the improbability of the closest social relations, forbid mutual co-operation in business, mutual respect, and an intermingling in political, educational and religious circles. Roman Catholics and Protestants, with us at the North, rarely intermarry; but our social circles, as classes, are quite diverse; but this in no measure hinders our free association in business or public circles, or our courteous treatment of each other when we do meet in common assemblies. Black men in Europe attract no special attention by their color, but are found in the courts of kings and in every social circle, receiving all the respect of which their education and character render them worthy.—Zion's Herald.

The Housekeeper.

OYSTER STEW.—Put one quart of oysters and their liquor with half pint cold water in a porcelain kettle, or a bright tin pan if you have nothing better—iron spoils the flavor—add what salt they require, and heat them scalding hot. The scum will rise as quick as they begin to heat, and must be removed. Just as they are about to boil, skim out all the oysters into your soup tureen, and add to their liquor one-half pint of cream or rich milk, and a piece of butter the size of an egg, as much red pepper as you like, and a little finely-rolled cracker crumbs; when this is boiling hot pour on to the oysters and serve. The crackers to be eaten with the soup should be heated, as it makes them more brittle.

TABLE HINTS TO THE HOUSEKEEPER.—A clean, tastefully laid table is to the appetite what clean polished windows are to the soul; it lets in something to cheer and strengthen. How much better water tastes from a clean, polished glass; the edges of the dishes free from daubs of the food they contain, and all required articles on the table, spoons, salt cellars and castor full of salt, vinegar and pepper, so it is not necessary for somebody to jump up from the table every few minutes to supply some need. This is not only annoying to a company, but particularly bad manners, besides exhibiting one's lack of forethought, planning and execution.

A writer in one of our exchanges says: "It gives a visitor the impression that they are causing a great difference in affairs; in short, it puts them under a feeling of obligation, and we know from experience, seems as if we've disturbed the whole household element, and in some way are responsible for it. He denounced secession, and afterward accepted the second office of the Confederacy; just before the late election he enunciated liberal views, declared he would not accept, then afterwards did accept the nomination for Governor at the hands of Bourbon-Democrats. He had no conviction that did not turn with the tide of popularity, and therefore he cannot be commended as an exemplar to American youth. Georgia and the whole country respects the great orator and statesman, who was kind and charitable, a poor boy who attained high honors by extraordinary exertion.—Harper's Weekly of March 10 publishes a faithful portrait of Mr. Stephens.

Rev. E. C. Becker, the president of Benedict Institute, for the education of colored Baptists in South Carolina, says of the colored people of that State: "The ignorance and degredation of the colored people appall me. In times of slavery you preached to them, and your wives and daughters went among them. Since the war they have drawn out from you and gone from bad to werse, and to-day their condition as to religion is immeasurably worse than it was in slavery times."

This is certainly far from the truth. The assessment roll and the school roll of any Southern State, the last U. S. census report, and the reports of any of our annual Conferences, made up wholly or in part of colored members, will make this statement of the Rev. Becker blush in shame for its incorrectness. There is not a scintilla of truth in it. The cloud of ignorance or degradation which still overhangs the colored people is certainly very dense and appall'ng; but to say that since the war the race has gone from bad to worse, and that their condition as to religion is immeasurably worse than it was in slavery times, is to state what cannot possibly be supported by facts from any quarter. The verdict of the whole world is that the Negro is advancing. The Negro is rising in all the walks of life. A thousand witnesses testify to this fact.

We are glad to announce that the SOUTHWESTERN is holding on its way, increasing in its circulation every week. We ask our friends to push the canvass.

Chicago has 300 churches against 3242 liquor saloons; 400 clergymen, evangelists and layreaders, and 5000 bar-tenders; only a half a dozen art galleries, and 350 variety theatres. Out of 100,000 buildings, 80,0 are used for immoral purposes; $1,500,000 are spent for schools, $15,000,000 for liquor, $800,000 for police, perhaps $1,000,000 for religious worship and charity, $15,000,000 for that which destroys both the soul and the body.

Christians, these are fearful figures; awful facts. They should awaken serious thought and resistless efforts for the salvation of the unnumbered multitude who are under the influence of the destructive [illegible] legion.

The Southwestern.

There lies before us a letter from a prominent member of the Georgia Conference to Rev. A. K. Davis of the Mississippi Conference, from which we make the following extracts: "I connected myself with the M. E. Church because I believed it to be the church for the colored man, because it is able, morally, intellectually, financially and spiritually to administer to the Negro race the very thing we so much need. I love the grand old M. E. Church, and in it expect to live and die; but we are greatly hindered in our work among our people by the action of such men as the Rev. King, and by such papers as the Methodist Advocate (which has greatly apostatized from the faith of late), and can be of no value to us as ministers or colored members of the Church unless its doctrines of race caste are changed, and that quickly. Such able papers as yours will prevent many more Kings from acting this wretched part in the most unholy war that is being made upon us for a cause that we had no control over —i. e., our color. How happy I would be if I were able to present every member of my charge with a copy of your invaluable paper. I shall look in the SOUTHWESTERN for something else from you on the same line of thought.

"The SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE is the very best paper published by the M. E. Church for circulation in the South. It ought to be the official journal for all our Southern Conferences. We have no Conference paper that is of any service to us here in this part of the South, and I am compelled to look to the SOUTHWESTERN for news and words of cheer. The SOUTHWESTERN is published in the right place and managed in the right way, and filled with the right matter. If all the Southern Conferences would support and circulate it among our people great good would come to the church."

There are certain questions concerning men that the SOUTHWESTERN never asks. It never blames or praises people for that which it has no control over. It makes no oblique reference because of color. It never measures men by their social position or bags of money. It believes that in the church which the Lord Jesus has purchased with his own blood "he is tallest who is nearest to God," and that if Christ reigns in the heart all thoughts and feelings of race caste, like dry toad stools, vanish at the first touch. We want our brethren in Alabama, Florida and Georgia to bear in mind that the SOUTHWESTERN is the only paper published by the Methodist Episcopal Church South of the Ohio, and we ask them and our people all over the South to remember that the SOUTHWESTERN is holding on its way. It hates caste as it does the "seven year itch." It likes the praise of men, but the praise of God better. It esteems complimentary resolutions highly, but it likes cash paying subscribers better than it does decorated rhetoric and resolutions of laudation.

We call special attention to the fact that the SOUTHWESTERN is the only paper published by the Methodist Episcopal Church South of the Ohio.

Vaccination.

At the invitation of Dr. W. H. Watkins, Sanitary Director of the New Orleans Sanitary Association, a committee from the Preachers Meeting met in consultation with representatives of the Association. The Times-Democrat of the 10th published the following communication.

To the Editor of the Times Democrat—We, the undersigned ministers and pastors of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this city, believing that it is a popular idea that among a large class of the colored people there is a strong aversion to vaccination, and, in fact, against all measures of a sanitary nature, desire to inform the public that we are not unmindful of sanitary laws, and that, in keeping with the request of the Sanitary Association to co-operate with them in their effort to check the small pox by means of vaccination, we have consulted together, have brought the supreme importance of vaccinating to the attention of our people, and have made such arrangements as will enable the association to reach and vaccinate a large portion of our people which they could not have otherwise reached, and have appointed places in each of our charges where they can be vaccinated.

Sunday-School Institute.

April 9th to 14th a series of Sunday-school Institutes will be held in the city of New Orleans; announcement of places and hours of meeting will be made in due time. It is to be hoped that these meetings may reach a large number of people, and in order to this the hearty co-operation of the pastors must be secured. I hereby request all pastors of the Methodist Episcopal Church in New Orleans and vicinity to set apart Sunday April 8, for work in their several churches in this interest. That they preach morning and evening on this topic, and at one of their services take the annual conference collection for the Sunday-school Union, and announce the Institutes to be held during the following week, and urge their people to attend.

PERSONAL.

—The address of Rev. Moses P. Franklin is Port Allen, La.

—The President appointed Jas. Lewis to be Surveyor General of Louisiana, vice Jacques A. Gla.

—Rev. Dr. Ray Palmer, author of many very popular hymns, was stricken with paralysis a day or two ago, in Newark, N. J., and is dangerously ill.

—Dr. Sarah Furness Wells, and husband, are in the city, engaged in lecturing on travels in foreign lands, in different churhes, where desired.

—On his return from the late session of the Louisiana Conference, Rev. A. J. Pinkett, of Pleasant Hill, was made happy by the addition of a little d ughter to his family.

—Rev. A. Moore, of Coushatta charge, Louisiana Conference, called this week. He has been spending some days on the Teche visiting friends, and returns to his work in the best of spirits.

—Two rather strange announcements have been recently made. King Catewayo is going to abolish the liquor traffic in Zululand, and Arabi desires to place his daughter in a Christian school!—N. Y. Advocate.

—Judge Morris Marks, the newly appointed Receiver of Public Moneys at New Orleans, is said to have gained the position through the friendship of Senator Sherman and a good record as collector of internal revenue.

—Rev. G. W. Townsend, of Columbus, Texas, has sent us 35 subscribers, and says he is trying to work up a list of 50. Like energy among all our agents would not only place the paper on a fair financial basis, but would enable us to make improvements at additional cost.

—Dr. L. P. Cushman, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, after spending several days very pleasantly in New England and in this city, left on Tuesday of this week for his home and editorial desk in New Orleans. He is making a good paper, and we wish him abundant success in it, as also in his other Church work. —N. Y. Advocate.

—Rev. L. P. Cushman, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and presiding elder of the New Orleans district, is on a visit to his friends in the East. He was at the Monday meeting, and gave a sweet testimony for full salvation. Bro. OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

TENNESSEE.

W. C. Miller, McMinnville: "Elder Key held my first quarterly Conference. He remained several days and visited nearly every member. Elder Provine, of the Chattanooga district, and C. H. Bullington were with us and preached excellent sermons. Our collections were as follows: Presiding elder, $9 50; pastor, $13.50; on missions, $2; on church extension, 40c.; to finish paying on the church lot, $9. Our prayer and class meetings are well attended. We have paid for our church lot, got the deed for it, and expect to commence building soon."

J. A. Boyd, Jasper. "The second quarterly conference was held on this circuit by Elder Provine, and we were delighted with his discourse and conduct of business. One deacon of the Colored M. E. Church of America joined us. We feel that the Lord has blessed our efforts in his cause."

C. H. Bullington, Smartt's Station: "My work is doing very well. Elders Key and Provine visited us. Have three schools on the circuit."

G. C. Harden, Perryville: "I reached this work, accompanied by the former pastor, J. L. Massey. I found it in a prosperous condition, with a church record properly kept. The people received me with warm hearts. I have one church and four preaching points. Elder Price held our first quarter, though from the excitement over the small pox the people did not turn out. Collected $2.75."

MISSISSIPPI.

B. L. Crump, Okolona: "One Rev. T. Jordan lectured in the colored Baptist church last Tuesday night. His object is to raise money to build a college in Jackson, Miss., for his denomination. In his lecture he made some assertions he ought to uttempt to prove in regrrd to our school at Holly Springs. He said it used to be something, but it had gone down to nothing; he would rather have a diploma from a teacher of the Baptist school in Okolona than one in Holly Spriogs. I suppose Mr. Jordan thought that he had given our school a wonderful thrust when he said that. He further said the school was going down, and told the people of what big things they (the Baptists) were going to do. Now, I hope that Mr. J. may keep up with the times. If he does he can say with truth not what our college is going to do, but what it has done and is yet doing in the way of educating the people. It began its first session in 1869; last year there were 277 students, and from the beginning 850. The best schools in our town, both Methodist and Baptist, are taught by teachers who have attended Rust University. They are all over the State, teaching and preaching. Now all we ask of Mr. T. J. when he speaks of our school is to state facts and it will please us."

John H. Cook, Summit: "The services on the Summit and Brookhaven circuits will be held as follows: Sunday services—first and third at Brookhaven, second at Summit, fourth at Magnolia. Sunday-school at nine o'clock, preaching at eleven; other services at three and after seven o'clock. Leaders and stewards' meeting Tuesday night, prayer meeting Thursday night. Sunday-school board and teachers' meeting Friday night. Alike at all places"

LOUISIANA.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society was well represented at the last session of the Louisiana Conference. Two local societies were organized: One for Alexandria, with Mrs. L. Ambler, president; Mrs. Peggie Powell, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Carrie Carter, 2d vice president; Miss Alice E. Thomas, Secretary; Mrs. Susan Barksdale, treasurer; Mrs. Mary E. DeLacy, corresponding secretary. Also, one for Mansfield, officered as follows: Mrs. M. J. Wilson, president; Mrs. H. Simpkins, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Carmine, 2d vice-president; Miss S. Jones, secretary; Mrs. Rebecca Smith, treasurer. This society, under the auspices of ladies like Mrs. Ex-President Hayes, Mrs. Drs. R. S. Rust, and others of the best ladies in the church, with Mrs. Dr. J. C. Hartzell and Miss Josephine Cowgill leading in the work in this State, is doing an untold amount of good in caring for the needy and instructing the ignorant. It is expected that all pastors will take hold and assist in the promotion of this work among the people wherever it is needed.

FLORIDA.

At DeLand, on the 25th, the new Methodist Episcopal Church was dedicated free of debt. Rev. J. T. Lewton, pastor, gave the cost of the building as $2,488, the balance due $450, and in respone $640 was obtained. The other denominations suspended their services to [join] with the Methodists in their dedicatory services. The building is Gothic, 50 by 30 feet in size, [with] side projections 7 by 17 feet, and has a seating capacity of about two hundred and fifty, with some spare room for extra occasions, and is an ornament to the town. Rev. E. T. Cormick, of New Albany, Ind., preached the dedicatory sermon.

TEXAS.

C. W. Campbell, president of Houston Seminary, writes: "Our revival still continues. Four were converted this evening, making thirteen in all."

From Chattanooga District.

MR. EDITOR:—On the 2nd day of December, the same week of the the adjournment of the Tennessee Conference, from which I was transferred by Bishop Warren, I arrived at Chattanooga and commenced my work. On the Chattanooga District I found my predecessor, Rev. D. W. Hays, about midway on his first round, laboring earnestly to advance the district, as well as attending to the duties of the pastoral work. I am now on my second round. I was cordially received by the preachers and their families and the people, and if not mistaken I will have their hearty co-operation in my endeavors to urge forward the work. I feel at home among them whether laboring in their churches or in their homes. The prevalence of the small-pox at Chattanooga, and at various other points on the district, before and since my entrance upon the work, has proved very embarrassing. There has been a great deal of sickness among the people, and quite a number of deaths have occurred along the track of this disease. The services at some of the charges on the district were suspended, which interfered no little with their progress spiritually and financially. So strict were the quarantine regulations that I found myself laid by for several days at Athens and Cleveland. The congregations have been very sparingly attended on account of the excitement about the small-pox in many places. All the preachers, with one exception, have remained at their posts, ministering to their people as best they could. Their members have been greatly scattered, and some have fallen victims to the scourge since it has pleased the Lord to bring into existence this disease; but we thank God now he is moving the hand of affliction from among us, and I am confident that the brethren will make a strong effort to rally their forces for a vigorous campaign. We were made glad by the presence of our beloved Bishop Warren. He preached a very instructive sermon Sunday night after I held the quarterly conference at Chattanooga station, January 20th. The Bishop's sermon will long be remembered by Rev. D. W. Hays' congregation.

On the 23d I started for McMinnville to look after my family, which had been left behind. I found my wife overworked in teaching school —her health very much impaired, the ba'ance of my family well. I made a flying trip to Lebanon, and while there I called to see father Seay. The old veteran, though feeble, was still strong in faith and full of zeal for the prosperity of the church. He assured me if he could make sale of some property that he would give several hundred dollars to be used in aiding the work on my district, provided the preachers and their people would labor to promote the cause of temperance. He gave me $5, for which he has thanks.

My first meeting after my return was held at Jasper, since which I have been kept busy in meeting my engagements.

Perhaps I ought to say before closing that the SOUTHWESTERN is gaining in favor among us, and will no doubt be supported more liberally than formerly. Yours truly,

E. PROVINE, P. E.

Letter From Waco District.

DEAR EDITOR: I started on my work in Jaunary, the weather being unfavorable. A number of the preachers had to move, which prevented me from starting sooner.

At Calvert Bro. B. F. Smith, pastor, the quarter was held on the 13th. The business was disposed of nicely. The brethren are delighted with Bro. Smith. He has two day schools. The trustees would do well, as soon as possible, to finish the church four miles from Calvert. It would be a great help to the station. Leaving Calvert for Milam Grove about 20 miles, on horseback, it rained nearly all the way. Bro. A. Foster is pastor there. His quarter was held Jan. 17-18. He reported $1.75 of benevolent collections. The Lord's supper was administered. The brethren were pleased with the return of their pastor. He has two day schools in which his wife, Mrs. L. E. Foster, assists him.

On my way to Bremond I was sleeted and snowed on for three hours. I remained at Calvert four days on account of the weather, which prevented me from holding Bro. W. J. Mitchell's quarter.

At Waco Mission, on the 20th, Bro. Wm. Brown's quarter was held. Brethren were all on hand and everything passed off nicely.

At East Waco Rev. A. Lockhart pastor, quarter was held Jan. 27-28. Not a cent of benevolent collection. There is a day school here. Lord's supper was administered to a large number.

The snow prevented the holding of the quarter for Marlin Circuit, Rev. G. Wilson, pastor.

At Waco station, Rev. A. R. Norris, pastor, Feb. 10 11, the brethren were on hand. Benevolent collections were $3.75. The brethren are preparing to buy a lot to build a parsonage on. Bro. Norris has taken hold of the work manfully, and this is one of our best charges. It would be well to move St. James church to a more desirable place, as the railroad passes directly in front of it.

The Tour of Visitation.

THE Executive Committee of the Freedmen's Aid Society, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at its monthly meeting held in January 3, 1883, requested Bishop Wiley, the President of the Society, and Dr. Rust, the Corresponding Secretary, to visit their schools in the South, make a careful examination of them, and furnish a detailed report in writing to the Committee of their investigations. They spent four weeks in their tour of visitation, and at a meeting of the Committee held March 2d they submitted their report, of which the following is the substance:

REPORT ON OUR SCHOOLS IN THE SOUTH.—CENTRAL TENNESSEE COLLEGE.

At Nashville, we have six buildings; a dwelling-house occupied by the president and largely used for the purposes of the school; a commodious chapel capable of seating 350, over which are dormitories, for students; a boarding-hall and dormitories, with capacity of dining-hall for one hundred students; a large four-story building for recitation rooms on two floors, and dormitories in the two upper stories. These are all substantially built brick buildings, and are kept in a a good state of repair. On a lot opposite these buildings has been recently erected a one-story frame building for the model school.

The college has enrolled 197 students, and about 50 in the model school, but on account of an alarm arising from the death of one of the students from small-pox, about 50 were absent from the school, and it is supposed that nearly that many more were deterred from entering the school by the same cause. We attended the recitations in classes ranging from the primary grade in the model school, to the higher mathematics and advanced Greek and Latin, and were gratified with the character of the teaching, and the evident industry and attainments of the students. The students were about equally divided between males and females, many of them well advanced in age and development. A number of the young men were looking to the ministry; a larger number were preparing for teachers, and a considerable number of the females were contemplating teaching.

MEHARRY MEDICAL COLLEGE.

Crowning an adjoining hill a short distance south, we have a fine brick building, three stories high, with large lecture-room, several class-rooms, ample accommodations for the dean's family and all necessary appurtenances of a complete medical school. A frame building on the same premises furnishes good accommodations for anatomical purposes. This is pronounced by competent judges to be one of the most complete buildings for medical purposes in the South.

This is the only thoroughly organized medical school in the Mississippi Valley, south of the Ohio River, where colored persons can pursue this study, and when it is remembered that in this same territory there are about four millions of colored people, there is great reason that this school should be rendered most efficient, by liberal endowment and thorough equipment for its important work.

Twenty-six promising young men we found attending regular instructions in the medical school. We were much pleased with the evidences of thoroughness in the course and the instructions given in the medical department; a full three years' course is required, and recitations regularly in all the departments are exacted. The medical education will compare well with the best medical schools of the land, and in view of the constant [illegible] and examinations, the graduates will take a high place among medical students in the exactness and thoroughness of their knowledge. It has graduated twenty-three, who are engaged in the practice of medicine, and are meeting with encouraging success. The title of the property is vested in the Freedmen's Aid Society.—They have in all the departments a force of ten teachers.

RUST UNIVERSITY.

On Saturday, January 27, we reached Holly Springs, Miss., and remained till Tuesday morning. The Sabbath was spent in services among the students and the people in the Church. Here we found a large and beautiful tract of land, containing about fifteen acres, in a commanding position overlooking the town. On this ground we have a pleasant frame building, occupied by the president and his family, and the old college building, being a two-story brick, seventy by forty feet, the lower floor divided into recitation rooms, the entire floor above used for chapel and recitations.

While we were visiting the institution, there was a unanimous vote requesting that this building should hereafter be called McDonald Hall, in honor of Rev. A. C. McDonald, who devoted years of earnest thought and labor to the interests of this school, and who died in the front of the battle.

We examined thoroughly a new building just completed by the Adams brothers, of Chattanooga.—This is a large and commanding brick edifice, 100 feet long and 40 feet deep, with a projecting T for chapel and other purposes, and is four stories high, with slate-roof finish. It has ample accommodations for both boarding and school purposes for one hundred and fifty resident students, with excellent rooms for the faculty, a large dining-room, kitchen, laundry, etc. The whole building is admirably arranged for its purposes, and is an edifice creditable in every way to our society. It cost about twenty thousand dollars, and is a model of cheapness for the style and character of the building. It is supposed to be one of the best school buildings in the State. The whole property of this institution is held by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

There were enrolled one hundred and sixty students, of whom forty were out engaged in teaching during the winter months, and who will return to the school in March. About four hundred have gone out from this school and are now engaged in teaching. Many of the best men in Mississippi Conference have received more or less education in this institution. A large proportion of the present students are looking to a life in the ministry, or in teaching. We listened to recitations of classes in all grades, from primary studies to advanced mathematics and classics, and were specially pleased with some of the work, and gratified with the general instruction. A class of four is preparing for graduation. The management of the institution is careful, prudent and thorough. There are six teachers employed in all the departments.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

From D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, we have received three numbers of The Pansy, January, February and March, 1883. It is one of the first-class juvenile publications of the celebrated firm. Monthly 7c; weekly, 75c per year.

Our Little Ones, (Boston: Russell Publishing Company,) for March, opens with the Monkey's Story, followed by "How Bob Found His Manners," and other pleasant pieces. Price 15c.

The Missionary Review, (Princeton, N. J.,) for March—April, has Religion and the State, Caste in the Mission Churches, Africa, Field Notes, etc.—in fact a comprehensive summary of mission news from all parts of the world. Terms $1.50 per year.

From E. F. Hobart & Co., St. Louis, Mo., we have received a copy of their Memory Chart for Sunday schools. Price $1 per quarter; issued weekly, in print large enough to be read by the entire school. Samples 6c.

Song Leaflet No. 1, revised and enlarged, is an excellent compilation of songs selected from choice collections, and set to music, new and charming, by Rev. William S. Fitch, of Baldwin, La. The Song Leaflet ought to be of great value for use in the Sunday-school, the devotional meeting, and in the Christian home.

Kellogg's Eclectic Monthly and Educational Journal, (continuation of the Arkansas School Journal,) for January, is before us. This is the first number of its third volume. The table of contents exhibits much inviting and original matter. Being the only educational monthly in Arkansas, it should, and doubtless has a large and growing circulation. Price $1.50 per year, in advance.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

First Quarter. Lesson XI. March 18. The First Christian Martyr. (Acts vii, 54-60; viii, 1-4.)

Stephen worked so well that the people who hated Jesus not only lied about him, but brought him before the council. Then he showed how brave he was. He made a wonderful speech, and they felt guilty. But they hated Jesus, and they were determined not to give up, so they proceeded to stop Stephen in his grand work. There was only one way to do this, and that was to kill him. They rushed on him in a mob. They pushed him along the streets, and at last were outside the city. Then the men took stones and stoned him. The stones fell upon his poor body, but he looked away from the angry faces into heaven and saw the face of Jesus. He kneeled down and prayed God to forgive his murderers. He said: "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit," and went home to heaven. There was a young man named Saul standing near, aiding the men who stoned him. After Stephen was dead Saul became so bold he went into the homes of Christians and drove them away to jail.

Stephen was the first Christian martyr. A martyr is a witness for the truth, and suffers pain and sometimes death for it. We are not like him sometimes. We don't even begin to speak for Jesus, much less die for him. Now let us ask Jesus to make us like this grand man who saw Jesus when dying amid the pain of being stoned.

President Arthur is taking good care of the Congressmen who failed to secure a reelection. Forty Year's Experience of an Old Nurse.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœa, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. no20-1y

The Bad and Worthless

Are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hope" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hope" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and Dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or ...

...Complaints.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I write to tell you what your "Favorite Prescription" has done for me. I had been a great sufferer from ... complaints, especially "dragging-down," for over six years, during much of the time unable to work. I paid out hundreds of dollars without any benefit till I took six bottles of the "Favorite Prescription," and I never had any thing do me so much good in my life. I advise every sick lady to take it. Mrs. Emily Rhoads, McBrides, Mich.

Calcutta advices state that intense excitement continues to be felt among the Europeans because of the proposed law giving native magistrates criminal jurisdiction over whites in certain cases.

One Experience from Many.

I have been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said, "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."—The Mother.

Eight colored men have been appointed on the police force of Chattanooga.

No Whiskey!

Brown's Iron Bitters is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

Brown's Iron Bitters is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. Rice, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

Brown's Iron Bitters has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

Gorham Solid Silver.

An experience of over fifty years in the manufacture of Solid Silver Ware, combined with the advantages that large capital and a constantly increasing business afford, enable the Gorham Company to stand Preeminent in this department of industry.

These wares have been sold and endorsed by every prominent dealer in the United States, and the trade mark has become as sure a guarantee for pure metal in this country as is the Hall Sterling Mark of England.

Gorham Plated Ware.

Parties desiring Plated Ware of a more elegant and substantial character than the common grades, will now find the Gorham Plate the most economical ware made. The quality is fully maintained, and the prices are much less than formerly, while the variety of design is larger.

The Dead Cannot Be Raised, nor if your lungs are badly wasted away can you be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." It is, however, unequalled as a tonic, alterative, and nutritive, and readily cures the most obstinate cases of bronchitis, coughs, colds, and incipient consumption, far surpassing in efficacy cod liver oil. DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.
The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

A WONDERFUL Aid
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.
These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, so when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the eight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:
1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

Plantation Melodies
—and—
REVIVAL HYMNS.
By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D.
With an Introduction
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.
A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.
"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—*Rev. ... OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

G. A. Payne, Bertie: "I have a good congregation, and I think I shall get along well."

TEXAS.

Jas. Shackelford, Paris: "The congregation makes me as welcome as one can be among them. The weather has been bad, yet attendance has been large, and in fair weather we will not be able to seat all who come. We have one of the finest houses of worship in the city; also, the best bell, and we want to have the best religion. Bro. J. C. Carter, from our house of education in Marshall, is here, teaching in our church, and is anticipating grand success. We are daily expecting Elder Molloy, whom the people think well of, to start us off in our work. There is a good spirit existing here in favor of the SOUTHWESTERN."

J. R. Carnes, San Antonio: "The trustees have bought a splendid heating stove, and at an entertainment raised enough to finish paying for the parsonage."

C. W. Campbell, Houston: "Our revival still goes on. Four more of our students were converted this evening, making nine in all. Praise the Lord for what he is doing in Houston Seminary."

Mason Reddick, Houston: "My church is doing as well as I could expect. Elder Moore has been with us. Have baptized three children and received two in the church." Mrs. Bashby Brown died in the full triumph of faith."

TENNESSEE.

J. Braden, Nashville: "School is going on with usual interest; about 200 now in attendance. About fifteen of our boarders have been converted during the year thus far. The winter has been so severe that but little work has been done in church matters in the country, and fear of smallpox has prevented work of revival meetings in the cities, so but little has been done beyond keeping up regular meetings. Glad to see your Conference (Louisiana) raised a good freedmen's collection."

MISSISSIPPI.

A. K. Davis, Canton: "We came to our work in due time, and the people gladly received us. The outlook for the year is hopeful. The spiritual condition of the church is reviving. I hope to be able to report a glorious year's work for the Master. You will pardon me for telling you in connection with this that March came in with a storm—at least at the parsonage. On the night of the 28th of February about seventy-five beloved friends, under the leadership of Bros. J. A. Conway and B. F. Garrett, marched into the parsonage, demanded a surrender, and took possession; rolled out the tables, loaded them down with choice eatables, which was enough to satisfy and gladden the heart of a Prince, much less an humble Methodist preacher. We regret exceedingly to say, and I assure we do say it, more in sorrow than in anger, that some of our brethren of the A. M. E. Church are endeavoring to draw the color line on us at this place, but we shall trust in God and keep our powder dry."

Wonderful Revelations of the Microscope.

DISCOVERY OF THE MOST DEADLY ENEMY OF MANKIND. THE BACILLUS AND ITS RAVAGES.

The scientific world has been greatly startled and agitated of late by the discovery with the microscope of the most dreadful enemy of mankind in the form of myriads of little death-dealing parasites. The air we breathe and live in is charged with these deadly little growths in proportion as it is infected from various noxious sources. Having by recent experiments and research been shown to be the most fruitful cause of disease known, and the welfare and health of every individual depending so largely on the freedom from their destructive ravages, it is but natural that the reports of recent investigators in this field of scientific inquiry should be widely read, and that every phase of these astounding discoveries should be subject to universal discussion. At first received with some suspicion they have at length been thoroughly proven, and are now receiving the unqualified endorsement of the leading scientific men throughout the world. But little else is talked of in the schools and clubs of science, and the medical and scientific journals are crowded with the testimony that is being added corroborative of the value of the marvelous discovery which is pronounced the greatest advance in medical science of modern times.

To L. PASTEUR, the eminent French scientist, who by his learned investigations has saved to France so many millions of dollars, is probably due the honor of first pointing out the terrible power of these germs. In recognition of his great service the government has recently voted him from the public treasury $10,000.00, with which to continue his experiments. He has described several varieties of these parasites, some comparatively harmless, others extremely dangerous. One form he proved by a series of vaccinations and other conclusive experiments was the cause of death of many thousands of animals and herds of cattle; another the active agent in the death of fowls by cholera. Acting upon the knowledge he had gained of the nature of these germs he pointed out a means of relief that speedily prevented a spread of the diseases and ended their devastation.

TYNDALL, with the aid of other eminent English investigators, made a number of examinations o the floating particles in the atmosphere, and found numbers of living spores capable of producing disease. In dry and healthy localities but few germs were found, and these of the harmless varieties, while in low, damp places, crowded houses and unhealthy cities, the poisonous germs were extremely numerous elsewhere.

DR. RUDOLPH KOCH, of Wallstein, Germany, a man whose work in connection with the organisms of contagious diseases has made him a recognized authority upon the subject, by experimenting after the methods of VILLEMIN, has discovered and published an account of one of the most dangerous varieties, to which it is proven more deaths are due than to any disease incident to the human race.

He describes it as a simple cellular organism belonging to the same order as the bacteria. When dried the germs may, without losing any vitality, endure great extremes of temperature. Being as fine and as light as dust, invisible to the naked eye, they may be blown any distance by the wind or carried upon the clothing of the body. Like seeds, they may lie for months or years undisturbed upon the furniture, floor, carpets, curtains, walls, or in the bedding, and only requiring a proper degree of warmth, moisture and food to waken into life, develop and grow. They thrive and live in the blood, lymph, mucus and secretions of the human body. When the system is unhealthy or weak they attack the cells that make up the animal frame. Any albuminous fluid will furnish them with food for growth, and a single drop is sufficient to contain hundreds. Examined with microscopes of great power, which enlarge them so that they can be seen and studied, they have the appearance of minute rod like bodies having, when active, some power of motion. They bend in the middle like a bow and straighten with a jerk that sends them a few times their own length. At the temperature of the human body they are the most active.

Their power of increase or reproduction is remarkably great. One ... a few weeks' time, under ... conditions, will give rise ... millions. The process is by simple ... division. Cold ... these small organisms attack and eat up the albuminous tissues leaving a foul mass. The odors so common to this process are given off by these minute organisms, and is about the only indications of their presence. This is the warning of nature and it is an instinct to avoid all such smells. The foul breath, bad odors of old sores, etc., leads man to avoid these germs in a great measure. The danger of their presence in the body can be imagined when their rapid increase is considered. A few germs may be readily absorbed into the system by breathing air containing them. They are then drawn into the interior of the body through the long and narrow respiratory passages of the throat, chest and nose, which are lined with soft membrane and covered with sticky mucus. In this fluid they find ready lodgement and favorable conditions for development, increase and growth. The "cold" or catarrh, ozena or chronic catarrh, hay fever, etc., are common manifestations of the effects of one of the least harmful of these germs or microzymes. In the discharges from the respiratory passages at such times thousands of the living animalculæ are found. The fever, debility, pains "in the bones," less of appetite, etc., are indications of their depressing effects upon the vital organs.

It is from germs of slower development, however, that the greatest danger follows. To the one most fully described by KOCH is due more deaths than to any other known cause. According to the researches of CUTTER, FLINT and DEJERINE over eight millions of of people die every year from this cause alone. The annual deaths in France, England, Germany and Russia from their destruction was was over one and a half millions. In the United States and Canada over three hundred thousand persons perished last year from the bacillus alone. The most common disease resulting from it is consumption of the lungs, but other organs of the body are liable to be affected as they develop slowly but surely in any organ that may be in a weak or unhealthy state.

If active and healthy, the liver, kidneys and bowels have to a wonderful extent the power of expelling these deadly animalculæ or parasites from the system. And this fact furnishes an important indication for the successful treatment of all the long list of maladies caused by these parasites as will be hereafter shown.

The studies of LANCISCA, an eminent Italian, and WOOD, FORMAD and others, are interesting, as showing the large variety of chronic diseases as heretofore classified, that result from these germs.— Among the most common were "liver complaint," billiousness or torpid liver, dyspepsia or indigestion, lung affections, bronchitis, kidney diseases, chronic diarrhœa, spinal complaint, fever-sores, white swellings, hip-joint disease, rheumatism, malarial diseases, such as fever and ague or intermittent fever, general and nervous debilities, female weaknesses, chronic catarrh of the head, or ozena, many forms of unhealthy discharges from internal organs, and all the various scrofulous affections of the skin, glands, bones, joints, etc., including consumption, which is but scrofulous disease of the lungs.

In this large catalogue of apparently widely differing diseases, but really all depending upon a common cause, and therefore naturally to be successfully treated on the same general principles, examination of the blood and secretions revealed large numbers of these parasites, and curiously enough the number bore a direct relation to the severity of the disease, a comparatively small number being present in mild cases and a very large proportion in bad cases. Under the use of the specific treatment which they give, and which is substantially the same as that described and recommended later in this review, the number was seen to steadily diminish from day to day until, with the restoration of health and bodily strength, they could not be found at all.

The greatest variety of symptoms were found to accompany their presence, due to peculiarities of the constitution, the part of the body most seriously affected, and the efforts of the different organs to rid the symptoms of these germs. Among the most common were frequent headaches, neuralgic pains, nausea, constipation, poor or variable appetites, diarrhœa, bad breath, hectic fever, cough, night-sweats, cold extremities, dyspepsia, catarrh, sore-throat, etc., while where the skin was affected, salt-rheum, boils, carbuncles, scurf skin, erysipelas, St. Anthony's fire, and other symptoms were common, and all gradually but with certain... cured by the same means. ... diarrhœa, and other ... due to the efforts of nature ... off and expel these germs ... also readily controlled and cured ... same way as were the old sores, abcesses and ulcers in the lungs, liver and other important organs. The pale and waxy hue and enlargement of the glands, due to early signs of their presence, were at once improved and soon disappeared under the system of treatment adopted.

It is found that in robust health the purifying action of the liver and excretory organs soon expel from the blood the few germs that may gain entrance, and that otherwise would remain if these glands were not active, and create serious disease. The presence of these germs in the air in rooms occupied by sufferers with such affections, points to the necessity of keeping them well aired and sunned. Weak persons should not expose themselves by sleeping or remaining in such rooms or by too intimate association with invalids. All clothing and discharges should be thoroughly disinfected and kept clean. Mucus, saliva, etc., must not be expectorated and allowed to dry upon the floor to be stirred up and diffused through the air by sweeping and dusting. Pure air and plenty of sunshine are necessities in these affections and good food a requirement to keep the body strong and capable of resisting the inroads of these minute bodies. Every individual should carefully watch his health and any evidence of inactivity of the vital organs or impurity of the blood should be corrected in time.

The corrosive acids and mineral poisons are found to possess the power of killing these germs, but the dangerous nature of such powerful agents prevents their internal use. For the purpose of expelling the germs when once within the system it is necessary to resort to vegetable remedies in order to cleanse the blood of the germs without injury to the patient.

An American physician of large experience in the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases, now conclusively shown to be caused by parasitic life, for many years devoted much time to the investigation of the causes of these affections, and in the treatment of many thousands of cases developed and thoroughly tested a combination of vegetable agents which he used with marvelous success in their cure.

In cases of wasting diseases, as consumption, or scrofula of the lungs, and other organs, and in all cases attended with great weakness, it was found the most wonderful tonic and restorative influences, besides its nutritive properties far surpass those of cod liver oil or any of the remedial agents resorted to by the medical profession in such cases. Hypophosphites, iron, and quinine bear no comparison to it in building up the strength of the debilitated. The receipe as advised by him has been used for years with the greatest success in a vast and most successful practice.

The written experience of the many sufferers who have been cured and who express in terms of the highest praise their endorsement of its great value, are sufficient to fill volumes. Living witnesses are everywhere, monuments to modern genius and scientific progress in the healing art.

Sufferers from "liver complaint," giving rise to "bad blood," consumption, scrofula, and other affections and symptoms, the results of blood poisoning from the ravages of the deadly parasites or disease germs so briefly referred to, find in this remedy prompt relief and a permanent cure. The great and increasing demand for this God given and peerless remedy for so many apparently different, but really kindred, ailments, led to its preparation in pure and convenient form under the name of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It can be obtained the world over at drug and general stores, and full directions for its use will be found in the pamphlet that surrounds each bottle. It exerts the most wonderful stimulating and invigorating influence on the liver, that greatest gland of the human system, which has been not inaptly termed the "housekeeper of our health." Through the increased action of the liver and other emunctory organs of the system, all poisonous germs are rendered inactive and gradually expelled from the system with other impurities. In some cases, where there are unhealthy discharges, as from the nostrils in cases of either acute or chronic catarrh, the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy, a mild and healing anti-septic lotion, should be associated with the use of the Discovery. It is also advisable to use this lotion in other local manifestations of disease of the mucous surfaces. By this means the germs of disease are destroyed and the membranes cleansed before any of the poisonous bacilli are absorbed into the blood. In sore throat, quinsy or diphtheria, the Catarrh Remedy liquid should be used as a gargle, and the Golden Medical Discovery taken freely.

In women where weakness of special organs is common and almost certain to be developed, attended by backache, bearing-down sensations and other local symptoms, the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in conjunction with that of the Discovery, speedily restores the healthy functions and assists in building up and invigorating the system.

In any case where the bowels have been inactive and are not regulated and acted upon sufficiently by the mild laxative properties possessed by the Golden Medical Discovery, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets (little liver pills) taken in small doses of only one or two each day, will aid materially in establishing healthy action, and in expelling the disease-producing germs from the blood and system.

At the risk of repetition, and by way of recapitulation, we may truthfully say that Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Erysipelas, salt-rheum, fever-sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by disease germs in the blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great eating ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing tetter, rose-rash, boils, carbuncles, sore eyes, scrofulous sores and swellings, white swellings, goitre or thick neck, and enlarged glands.

"The blood is the life." Thoroughly cleanse this fountain of health by using Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and soundness of constitution are established.

Consumption, which is scrofulous disease of the lungs induced by the deadly disease germ bacillus, is promptly and positively arrested and cured by this sovereign remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought favorably of calling it his "consumption cure," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine that from its wonderful combination of germ-destroying, as well as tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood cleansing, antibillious, diuretic, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all chronic diseases of the liver, blood, kidneys, and lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia, torpid liver or "billiousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal as it effects perfect and radical cures.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, short breath, consumptive night-sweats, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. In the cure of bronchitis, severe coughs and consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest Medical Discovery of the age. The nutritive properties possessed by cod liver oil are trifling when compared with those of the Golden Medical Discovery. It rapidly builds up the system and increases the flesh and weight of those reduced below the usual standard of health by wasting diseases.

The plan of treatment that we have so briefly outlined in this article for the large class of chronic diseases referred to, has long been acknowledged to be the most successful, based as it is upon the belief shared by the most skillful medical men of the day, that the only way to get rid of the noxious disease-producing germs in the blood and system is through the liver, kidneys, bowels, and therefore that those agents which are known to act most efficiently in restoring healthy action of these organs are the ones most to be relied upon. For this purpose the Golden Medical Discovery is pre-eminently the agent that fulfills every indication of treatment required.

Dreadful snowslides have occured in Utah and Colorado. At Crested Butte, Col., nine men were killed, and many others wounded in one of these avalanches.

MAKE HENS LAY

DEAR EDITOR: I desire to inquire for my wife's sister; her name was Patience Sophia Manning. My wife's name is Macathrine Mayo. Her mother was Letitia Manning and her father Alex. Ody. I heard her mother and father were dead, but don't know for certain whether they are or not. She left them about twenty-six years ago in Demopolis, Ala. They were sold there for Manning's estate. There were only two children of them, and my wife was the oldest. She was brought to Aberdeen, Miss., by Widow Sarah Manning, and her sister's mother and grandmother were sold to Robert Manning; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything of them or their whereabouts. Address at Central Grove, Miss.,

A LETTER FROM GERMANY.

SIEGEN, January 9, 1882.

Very esteemed sirs:— The praise your Liver Pills have called forth here is wonderful. After taking one and a half boxes of your genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, I have entirely recovered from my four years' suffering. All who know me wonder how I, who, for so many years, had no appetite and could not sleep for backache, stitch in my side, and general stomach complaints, could have recovered.

An old lady in our city, who has suffered for many years from kidney disease, and the doctors had given her up, took two of your Pills and got more relief than she has from all the doctors. Yours truly,
J. VON DER BERG.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar-coated.
Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression: McLane's Liver Pill.
The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. on the wrappers.
Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently, but of same pronunciation.
If your storekeeper does not have the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, send us 25 cents, and we will send you a box by mail, and a set of our advertising cards.

The Promise at the End.

BY T. O. LA MOILLE.

We climbed the rugged mountain to the peak,
And found reward grand as reward could be;
Below, beyond that youthful eyes could seek,
There rolled the billows of the western sea.

On a cloud-cap the warder of the day
Above his castle wall his bright flag [illegible]
And evening, like a [illegible] gray,
Came with a benediction to the world.

Thus, at the end of earth-life's toilful [illegible],
Death's restful summit views the silent deep;
On happy wings the spirit leaves time's land,
And then "God giveth his beloved sleep."

PHILANDER SMITH COLLEGE.

On Wednesday, January 31st, we reached Little Rock, Ark., and spent there two days. Here we found two institutions. The College is for colored students, and at present is held in the audience room of the church. About ninety students are on the roll, and of this number about seventy are in attendance. The place for holding the school was very inconvenient, and yet we found good work in instruction by two instructors. The branches taught were those of a good English education. We so felt the necessity for better accommodations for this school that we are on the verge of ordering the Adams Brothers to go on at once with both buildings. Just then we saw a providential opening in the offer made by the heirs of Philander Smith of ten thousand dollars for the erection of a building, and we immediately [illegible] the contractors to go forward with the new edifice. This lifts us [illegible] and serious embarrassment. For the future purposes of the school we have a tract [illegible] a square, [illegible] a most desirable situation, [illegible] the midst of [illegible] whom we wish to [illegible] to the new church [illegible] about completing. [illegible] and very ex[illegible] to cost $10,500 [illegible] and will be [illegible] the open[illegible] year. The first session of the school has opened in the "Methodist Block" in the city, making use of three rooms in this building, and nearly one hundred students are enrolled, representing various academic and collegiate classes. Several young men, in their eagerness to get education, and in the absence of better accommodation, have come in from abroad, and are rooming in the unfinished attic of the building. These facts indicate the speedy success of the institution when we shall be able to use the new edifice. Under the inspiration of this new movement, a preparatory school has been established at Texarkana, where two hundred student are in attendance, some of them preparing for the university, and others for teaching and the duties of life. There is good prospect that as soon as we get into working order we will be able to inaugurate the various university departments of theology, law, medicine and music. This movement is a very happy and important one, and is destined to meet a great and obvious need in all this region, there being no similar institution in this whole section of country. It has given new inspiration to our Church work in the whole State.

WILEY UNIVERSITY.

We reached Marshall, Texas, the 1st of February, where another of our colleges is located. We have here a fine site, overlooking the village, and about twenty acres of ground, on which there is a frame house occupied by the president, a small cottage occupied by one of the professors, and a two-story building for boarding and dormitory purposes, and two brick buildings, two stories high, each about 30 by 40 feet. They are substantial buildings, but somewhat out of repair, and defective in the construction of their roofs, for which some remedy must be found at an early day. After carefully investigating the condition of the buildings, and ascertaining the absolute necessity of additional accommodations for the students, we suggest that a mansard roof be placed upon each of these buildings, which will protect our property and obviate the necessity of any additional expensive buildings for years to come. There are a hundred and twenty-five students in the institution, gathered from various portions of the Southwest. We spent the day in examining the classes, which ranged all the way from preparatory to collegiate. There is also a primary school of nearly a hundred children taught by one of the students of an advanced class, who thus defrays his expenses in securing his own education. There are only four teachers here, and additional force should be added as soon as the finances of the society will allow. This property belongs to the Freedmen's Aid Society.

HOUSTON SEMINARY.

We spent the 4th and 5th days of February in Houston, Texas. Here we had a new enterprise, opened the present year, for the accommodation of which we have purchased a valuable property in a central part of the city, costing $7,500, and have opened the school with eighty pupils. This school is more than three hundred miles distant from our university at Marshall, and is in the midst of a dense population of colored people, and meets a necessity of another great region of this vast State. The grounds are high, and are sufficient for the erection of such additional buildings as may become essential to make this a first-class seminary. The deed for this property is held by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

BALDWIN SEMINARY.

On our way to New Orleans we spent a day at La Teche, La., visiting our Seminary for the whites there.

We have here a beautiful property, twenty acres, donated by the venerable John Baldwin, on which is a convenient building occupied by the principal, and a pleasant cottage occupied by brother [illegible] during his pleasure. We have also on this ground a two-[illegible] for school pur[illegible] being divi[illegible] recitation rooms, and [illegible] used for school [illegible] probable develop here an important center for the education of white students. It is expected that this enterprise will become largely self-sustaining.

NEW ORLEANS UNIVERSITY.

On the 7th of February, we arrived in this city. Our school property is centrally located on the corner of Camp and Race streets, fronting a pleasant park. It consists of two frame buildings, two stories high, and of sufficient capacity to meet the immediate necessities of the school, but the time will soon come when these somewhat dilapidated houses must give place to a building adequate to the growing wants of this institution. We ordered certain repairs to be made, the buildings to be painted, and encouraged the teachers to toil on, in patience and hope. The school is in every respect in a good condition, and excellent work is being done by the teachers and students. The College has already graduated several classes of good scholars and useful workers. A hundred and seventy pupils are in attendance, in classes of various grades and attainments, and this number might soon be doubled if we could offer suitable accommodations. Five teachers are employed here.

CLARK UNIVERSITY.

On Saturday, Feb 10th, we arrived at Atlanta, and left on the evening of the 12th. Here we have one of our largest and most flourishing enterprises. We have 450 acres of ground—about twenty acres of which are inclosed for college purposes. A large portion of the land is wooded, and the whole of it well adapted for farming purposes, and this use should be made of it. We would therefore recommend to the board to consider favorably the question of putting on this ground an intelligent and experienced farmer, to take charge of the grounds, and give employment to such students as may desire and need it, in cultivating the farm. This would greatly improve and add to the value of the ground, would furnish at a moderate rate supplies to the institution, and would be a great help to a number of students, who must either thus find some remunerative employment, or go elsewhere to find it. It would also be in keeping with the line of policy pursued by the college in other departments.

We have here a large, commodious, substantial brick building of three stories and basement, which cost $30,000. It is our best building, is admirably adapted to all the wants of the school and boarding department, and is one of the best school edifices in the South. There is also a very pleasant and commodious house for the residence of the president. A neat cottage furnishes a home for one of the professors. A blacksmith shop and carpenter shop give employment and opportunity to the students to learn useful trades. A model home is being built for the purpose of giving the girls lessons in home-making and house-keeping. All these buildings, except the college, are of wood and have been mainly built by the students, thus giving them employment, and furnishing us the buildings at a comparatively moderate expense.

There are in the university 100 students, nearly all of whom are from abroad, and are boarders in the institution, the property being too far distant from the city for the accommodation of local day students. The school is well governed, the instruction is careful and thorough, the students are industrious and in earnest, the order is excellent, the boarding department is neat and clean. The Church and our society have good reason to be thankful that we are in possession of so excellent an educational institution, and one which promises so much for the future. There are seven teachers in the college proper, and one professor in charge of the industrial department, and a matron for the boarding department.

GAMMON THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTION.

Under the sanction of our committee a beautiful knoll of pine acres adjoining our own grounds had been purchased for the Theological Institute. We found a space cleared away for the building, and were shown by the con[illegible] the plans for the structure. [illegible] will be an imposing building, to [illegible] $22,000, for which the [illegible] been nearly raised by [illegible] of which [illegible] The [illegible] the commencement of the next year. Mr. Gammon also secures to it an endowment of $20,000, which is to be available as soon as the school opens. When this edifice shall be completed, we shall have our property at Atlanta a combination of buildings and educational facilities unsurpassed by anything in the whole South, except the Vanderbilt University.

Our Great Work at the South.

The one unquestioned, ample field for both the outlay of service and substance in the Southern States, for the Methodist Episcopal Church, is the Christian education of the illiterate. We have ample opportunity for preaching the Gospel and gathering the people for worship, but the most imperative call at this moment is for trained teachers and educated ministers. There can be no real advance in the condition of the colored people until the schoolmaster reaches the children, and their religious instructors are able to read and interpret correctly the Holy Scriptures. The emotional religion, fed by the uncultured utterances of devout but very ignorant men, met the spiritual necessities of an enslaved race, cut off from many of the strongest temptations of human life, but it is insufficient for the broader licenses of the era of liberty. These four or five millions of people, in these early hours of emancipation from all restraint, made an impressive plea to thoughtful and patriotic Christian men for adequate aid to rise to the opportunities and perils thrust so suddenly upon them.

In our Western and Northwestern States a little aid to erect a house of worship, with the earnest preaching of the itinerant, will soon develop a strong and permanent church. The sturdy men from the New England States, with their intelligent and industrious wives, are everywhere to be found, and ready to become the hearty co-workers in establishing the two vital centres of every thrifty village—the church and the public school. At the South a more protracted and difficult work has to be undertaken. Hereditary ignorance, superstition and vice, the lack of the pure invigorating family influence, a sensibility deadened by ages of servitude to the commonest requisitions of social life, meet the Christian reformer everywhere as he enters upon his work among the colored people of the South. Already, however, a wonderful result has been accomplished. No missionary field on earth compares with it. There is no established opposing religious faith in this broad field, but a singular predisposition to, at least, the outward forms of piety. Time and patience are required. The soil has long been left fallow. They need the presence and sympathy of well-trained Christian ministers with their families, as really as do the people of India. Of course the former house and body servants, which form but a small proportion of the population, are exceptions; but with others all true ideas of home and family life are to be taught and illustrated by example. This work, at the cost of no inconsiderable personal sacrifice and the loss of all social recognition by the resident white families, has been carried forward now for the last twenty years by many of our noble Northern ministers with their families, and our equally self-denying teachers and professors in schools for colored pupils.

But this work cannot be carried on simply by outside help. We must develop this new, cultivated Christian life among the people themselves. Our schools seem, indeed, few when divided among so many millions, but their influence increases by a rapid progression. Who can measure the influence of one thoroughly-educated colored minister! Hundreds have already been graduated from Orangeburg, from Bennett Seminary, from Clark University, from Nashville, from New Orleans University, from Wiley University, Texas, and others of our institutions now crowded with students. What an educated influence these these trained men exercise over their companions in the Conferences, and what a cultivating power in the pastorates they fill, year after year! One can readily see how widely and rapidly such sanctified personal forces extend themselves. Thousands of teachers and of educated mothers have been trained in these schools, and have [illegible] to establish set up model Christian homes. The influence of these agencies is everywhere perceptibly felt. It is awakening the interest of the Southern Christian and citizen. Already the M. E. Church, South, has laid the foundation of a school for the higher education of colored youth, with one of its most accomplished professors at its head. The inspiring character of the ministry, and the fine scholarship of some of the graduates, are awakening, slowly indeed, but certainly, the respect of the hitherto exclusive class of the community. The orderly conduct of our Southern colored Conferences, and the striking abilities and cultivation often shown among their members, have already occasioned remark and produced a highly favorable impression. No Christian work of the hour brings a richer or earlier harvest than that expended upon the education of the pupils in our successful Southern institutions.

In our ministry to a white population in the South, which calls for our services, and which, certainly, has a right to make its own election as to the Christian teaching it prefers, we come into competition with a church bearing a common name with ourselves and enjoying the traditional history of a century. Our growth in the Gulf States, very naturally, as the Northern emigration southward has not been large, and as many Northern families, for business and social purposes, prefer to make their alliances with the previously existing churches, has thus far been comparatively slow; but in this work among the colored people we have an open door and no serious hindrances. Indeed, in the educational aspects of it, we are, at least, beginning to hear a few hearty "God speed you!" from Southern Methodists. Our church, from its prominent position in reference to the colored man before the era of freedom, has ever found a peculiar welcome in its endeavors to preach the Gospel and to establish Christian schools among them.

We are only limited by the contributions of the church in the enlargement of the work upon which we have entered. A third of the sum required to board and educate a pupil in our Northern seminaries will train an excellent teacher, or a devout young minister, for their important callings. It is fortunate that we have already so many, and such well-situated, institutions. Dr. Rust, with the advice of our Bishops, constantly supervising the whole work, and the able board of the Freedmen's Aid Society, has succeeded in planting his schools in the finest points of power, and by indefatigable labor has been able to crowd their halls with young men and women who are already making themselves felt throughout the States in which these institutions are established. Dr. Hartzell is now in this vicinity, setting forth the interesting and persuasive details of this important work. He speaks of what he has seen, and felt, and handled himself. He is a full man, and no one can listen to him without being powerfully moved by the claims he advocates. Let him be heard; and may the church generously respond!—Zion's Herald.

William Earle Dodge.

MEMORIAL MEETING AT ST. JAMES A. M. E. CHURCH.

A very large number of our colored citizens, representing many religions and educational organizations of New Orleans, met at the St. James Church to do honor to the memory of this Christian philanthropist. The church was tastefully draped in mourning, and the platform strewed with flowers. A large cross of flowers was suspended over the pulpit, and above that was hung, in large white initials, "W. E. D." Hon. J. B. Gaudet, calling the house to order, stated that the meeting was nonpolitical, nonsectarian and not even confined to the people of any particular race or clime. They had met upon the broad and comprehensive platform of the religion of our Lord Jesus Christ, as illustrated in the exemplary life of the Hon. William E. Dodge. After a few appropriate remarks, Mr. Gaudet, according to the request of the committee of arrangements, nominated the following gentlemen as officers of the meeting, and they were unanimously elected, viz.: President, J. W. Pierce, Esq.; Vice-Presidents, Prof. [illegible] C. Hitchcock, Nicholas Jefferson, John Graham, David Henley, [illegible], Hon. J. B. Gaudet, Hon. C. Antoine and W. B. Mason. Secretaries Rev. A. M. Green, Col. James Lewis, Rev. John Marks, D. B. Temple and W. J. Thompson, Esqs. Chaplain, Mr. Henry Ginder Committee on Resolutions, Edward Thompson, W. P. Green, D. Burwell, A. A. Gaines, W. Scott and C. J. Dowden, Esqs., and Rev. W. Sanderson. Mr. Pierce, on taking the chair, after thanking the meeting for the honor conferred upon him requested the choir to sing; after which the chaplain offered a very earnest and fervent prayer. The choir then sang another sweet and appropriate anthem. The committee on resolutions presented their report. Pending a motion to adopt the resolutions, Rev. W. S Alexander, D. D., President of Straight University, and Rev. A. M. Green, delivered touching and eloquent tributes to the memory of the lamented, public-spirited and philanthropic Christian gentleman, whose death is so universally deplored. At the close of these eloquent eulogies the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, To dissent from the dispensations of Providence in regard to human destiny is a proof of the weakness and frailty of our sinful nature. Especially is this true when we would call back to labor and toil and care one who has most heroically served his day and been permitted to enter upon his eternal rest amid the rejoicings of the angels of God and the spirits of just men made perfect. Jesus taught us that not even a sparrow falls to the ground without the notice of our Heavenly Father, and we are of more value than many sparrows, for even the very hairs of our heads are all numbered. Christ is the resurrection and the life, and he that liveth and believeth in Him shall never die. With feelings and emotions prompted by reflections of this kind we come to lay our tribute of praise and gratitude upon the dusty bed where sleeps quietly and peacefully, resting from a long, useful and heroic life all that is mortal of the noble, generous and faithful servant of God, William E. Dodge. In responding to these feelings and emotions we do not injustice to Him who formed the eye, the ear and the heart of man, and who implanted within us those tender emotions which reflect His own living image through us. Regarding it, therefore, a duty as well as a privilege to honor the memory of one of God's true noblemen, it is hereby Resolved, That the supreme blessedness of the true Christian character is no less strongly reflected through the long and useful life of William E. Dodge than in his sudden and happy close of an eventful and pious career.

Resolved, That we see in his useful and eventful life a fulfillment of David's eulogy of the Christian in the 1st Psalm; and in his death a fulfillment of the beautiful prophecy of Zachariah 14th chapter and 7th verse: "But it shall come to pass that at evening time it shall be light."

Resolved, That we shall bear in faithful remembrance the character of a man whose life is worthy the imitation of all who would at the end receive such recompense of reward as the faithful Judge who cannot err will bestow upon all who, like our common friend and benefactor, William E. Dodge, prove their faith by their works, sending the sweet incense of their love to God and man up to heaven before them.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be furnished the daily press, and that these resolutions, suitably inscribed and endorsed, be forwarded to the bereaved family of the deceased.

We are apt (nay, sure) to parade our statistics of Christian effort in foreign lands, and give their results as the basis of our confidence in the final triumph of the Christian faith. When the real work is regarded, that is to say, its extent, and the comparative fruits as to their magnitude considered, we do quite well in giving our assent to the future success of the undertaking. There is much in this for congratulation. But when we remember that the heathen world is supplied, on an average, with but one missionary for every 1,000,000 of inhabitants, and that the average contribution of the Christian world for the spread of the Gospel is but one cent per member, a little modification of our congratulatory condition would not be unseemly.—Pittsburg Advocate.

Not long since Lily, a little girl of five years, after saying her evening prayers, began to indulge in an original petition of her own, varying it according to her moods. She was aware that she had not been particularly good on a certain day, and her evening prayers were thus supplemented; 'I pray the Lord to make Lily a good girl, and if at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again.'

The Discipline.

This is a most remarkable compend. It may be said to be "boiled down" wisdom of a hundred years' experience. It is the product of the legislation of twenty-four General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, so far as our polity and methods are concerned. If the church would closely follow its plans, our efficiency would be increased a hundred fold. Instead of doing this, official boards and pastors, and even presiding elders, are devising new and untried methods in carrying on the work of the church. By putting aside the Discipline, we say that we know more than the General Conference. Brethren, let us follow closely the suggestions of the Discipline! There is not a phase of church work but what this little book touches.

But we know so little about the Discipline! A large majority of the official members of the church do not even own a copy. This is inexcusable negligence. These brethren are entrusted with the sacred and responsible duty of directing the affairs the church. They cannot have too much wisdom for such a task. It is almost a crime to be ignorant of the very best methods, when we may be so easily informed.—Rev. W. T. Smith.

Care of the Eye.

1. Avoid reading and study by poor light.
2. Light should come from the side, and not from the back or front.
3. Do not read or study while suffering great bodily fatigue, or during recovery from illness.
4. Do not read while lying down.
5. Do not use the eyes too long at a time for near work, but give them occasional periods of rest.
6. Reading and studying should be done systematically.
7. During the study, avoid the stooping position, or whatever tends to produce congestion of the head and face.
8. Select well printed books.
9. Correct errors of refraction with proper glasses.
10. Avoid bad hygenic conditions and the use of alcohol and tobacco.
11. Take sufficient exercise in the open air.
12 Let the physical keep pace with the mental culture, for asthenopia is most usually observed in those who are lacking in physical development.

The assured evidence of the perpetuity of the Bible is its marvelous spiritual power. Men in all ages have acknowledged this. The mightiest in literature, like Shakespeare; in poetry, like Milton; the world's seers, like Coleridge; the men of romance, like Sir Walter Scott; the philosophers, like Newton—all have affirmed that the Bible reaches them at deeper depths than any other volume. While the Bible continually leads burdened and despairing men to peace, while it forms the abiding consolation in hours of physical and mental suffering, while it is the one volume of all others that a mother would give a son or daughter leaving her home and guardian presence, while it is the only voice that can be patiently heard in the dying hour, while it inspires the noblest charities and sacrifices, and discloses man to himself as no human interpreter can, there is no fear that it will become obsolete, that it will be shorn of its due proportions, or that its circulation will be limited.

During the past week Rev. T. McCant Stewart sailed for Africa to take charge of the college at Freetown, Liberia. He is a graduate of Princeton, and has been successful in the pastoral work—is a native of South Carolina, and expects to die in Africa, the land of his forefathers. In company with him went twenty-five students who will finish their course in this college and devote themselves to the populations. We understand that others, male and female, are pledged to go, some now and others as soon as their studies are completed—two from Atlanta University, two from Clark University, eighteen from Baptist Seminary, Richmond, six from Biddle University, North Carolina, and twelve from Hampton Institute. When the current once gets fairly started in this direction it will soon increase to the volume of a great stream.—Alabama Christian Advocate.

FANCY WAYS OF COOKING EGGS.—At one of the illustrated lessons before the Boston cooking class, lately, the teacher said: No one needs to be told that eggs make a delightful addition to breakfast and luncheon, but not nearly everybody knows all the nice ways of cooking them; baked eggs, for instance, are seen at few tables, and yet they are more delicate than when cooked in any other way. The simplest way is to butter well a somewhat shallow dish, and break carefully into it each egg separately, taking care not to break the yolks: put a bit of butter into each yolk, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake until the white is set. In this way several eggs are cooked in the same dish. Another way of baking them is to butter well small patty pans, line them with fine bread or cracker crumbs; drop an egg in each one, taking care to keep the yolk whole; cover lightly with fine crumbs that have been sifted, peppered and moistened with melted butter; bake until the crumbs are browned. The third way is more ornamental and is the genuine egg sur la plat. Beat the white of two eggs to a stiff froth and salt slightly; spread it over a platter and make a nest for each egg; season and bake as in the first rule. Under the department of cooking eggs, omelet souffle finds its rightful place. This dish is unsubstantial, but it is a very pleasant dessert. For this, use the whites of four eggs and the yolks of two; four tablespoonsful of powdered sugar and one tablespoonful of vanilla. Beat the yolks and add the sugar and vanilla, then the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Drop the mixture by the tablespoonful on a buttered dish, and bake in a moderate oven about twelve minutes. Serve at once or it will fall.—Exchange.

[illegible] Cook's Lectures were [illegible] popular than now. In [illegible] prelude on Monday Feb. 24, he discussed the subject of revivals, and gave his ideas of what the church of the times should be. Mr. Cook believes in Evangelist and revival work. He wanted "a thousand Edwardses, a thousand Whitfields, a thousand Wesleys, a thousand Lyman Beechers, a thousand Finneys, a thousand Moodys on the globe, and that ten of each of these classes would go around the world as Evangelists every ten years," to test the importance and value of revival work. Mr. Cook made a practical use of the congregation before him. There were present not less than three thousand persons. First he asked all who where Christians irrespective of sect or peculiar church relation to rise up, when nearly the entire audience arose. Then he asked those who were not converted at, or in the time of some special revival to sit down. Those standing would indicate the number of the vast congregation converted to God as the result of special Evangelistic and revival work, and most of those on the platform were of the opinion that full three-fourths of the audience remained standing.

In spite of John Jasper's astronomy, the world does move. Down to reconstruction Georgia had in full force on her statute books the following law: "If any slave, Negro, or free person of color, or any white person, shall teach any other slave, Negro, or free person of color to read or write either written or printed characters, the said free person of color or slave shall be punished by fine and whipping, or fine or whipping at the discretion of the court. And if a white person so offend, he, she, or they shall be punished with a fine not exceeding $500, and imprisonment in the common jail at the discretion of the court." To-day, in the beautiful city of Augusta in that State, the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which used to preach so eloquently upon the divine approbation of slavery, has opened a school for the higher education of the Negro, and placed it under the management and fostering care of one of her best and most experienced educators. Verily, the world moves, and the time changes wonderfully.

The late flood in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky has justly been spoken of as a national calamity. New Albany, Jeffersonville and Hardentown in Indiana seem to have been temporarily almost annihilated by the water. At New Albany over five hundred houses were flooded. Business was nearly suspended in Cincinnati; on the 13th the great city was reported to be in darkness. In Louisville 2,000 houses by actual count were submerged; over five thousand workmen were idle and twelve thousand people driven from their homes. While there has been an untold amount of suffering, relief has been sent from every direction. The State Legislatures of Ohio, Indiana and Kansas have voted money; many cities have given large sums, and private individuals, and business firms, almost without number, from Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Baltimore and New Orleans, and many other cities, have contributed freely for the relief of the suffering.

What is Said.

A Presiding Elder in Texas says: "I want to extend to you the right hand of fellowship. I am thankful for your manly words in defense of our work in the South and the colored people. We love the SOUTHWESTERN and its editors, because we know on what side they will be found. I am doing all I can to extend the circulation of the paper."

A layman from Texas write "Send the SOUTHWESTERN at once; I had almost as soon be without my Bible. I look for the paper [illegible] week as a friend I cannot do without."

The New York Independent says: "The SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is doing a noble work in the South for the Methodist Episcopal Church."

The Methodist Church South, from the tone of the organs, we should judge, has rolled up her sleeves, and means to go to work in earnest, in bearing a part in the salvation of the colored people in the South. The Christian Advocate, of Nashville, says: "In the new movement of Southern Methodists for the benefit of the Negroes in the South there will be no sense of awkwardness or misgiving. They have worked that mine before, and it paid. They will sink deeper this time and get richer returs."

Hon. Robert Toombs, of Georgia, made an engagement to call the roll of his slaves within the shadow of Bunker Hill monument. Certain persons in and around Boston have expressed an earnest desire to know at what time in the near future the General proposes to fulfill this engagement. Mr. Toombs ought to remember that "hope deferred makes the heart sick."

We take pleasure in calling special attention to Dr. Morris' new book, "Celestial Symbol Interpreted." See the notice in this week's SOUTHWESTERN. We advise our preachers to get this book.

PERSONAL.

—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage drew small audiences at a dollar a head before the gaslights of a New Orleans Opera House last week.

—Rev. J. W. Hamilton, D. D., pastor of the Peoples Church, Boston, Mass., has made a flying visit through the Southern States and paused a few days in this city. Dr. Hamilton is a thoughtful and cultured man who is well known as an eloquent, earnest and efficient preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. H. preached in Ames M. E. Church, March 18th. His sermon was a masterpiece of elegance. It was an occasion which will long be remembered by those present. We trust we will meet him in our city again.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

We are glad to announce that the people at Pleasant Plains have received Brother Hudson with open arms, hearts and purses. All seem delighted with their new pastor. February 28th was a golden day both to Bro. Hudson and the people. The members of the Golden Aid Circle turned out en masse to give him and his wife a welcome to their new home. Mrs. M. G. Devezan, the president of the Circle, presided with the greatest ease. The good things brought consisted of just what the minister and his family needed to make them comfortable and happy. Mr. J. L. Brown, in a few well chosen words, presented the articles brought by the gentlemen to Sister Hudson, while Mr. Brown in one of the best speeches Bro. Hudson ever listened to, presented the things brought by the ladies to him. The evening was spent in pleasant social conversation. At a suitable hour all retired to their homes feeling that it was more blessed to give than to receive. Brother and Sister Hudson desire to express their thanks to the members of the Golden Aid Circle for the numerous tokens of love left at their home on this occasion.

Tennessee P. Jackson thus describes the work God hath wrought at Simpson Chapel since conference: "I found the people scattered, many of them gone to other churches, those that remained for some cause unknown to me very much discouraged. But God who has a way of His own has spoken and the people have heard. At the beginning we gave out the grand old hymn beginning,

"Hark, how the watchmen cry, Attend the trumpets sound."

And the old soldiers fell in line and marched out and offered battle to the enemies of the Lord. The Lord was on our side and gave us victory, so we are able to report nine converts, thirteen backsliders reclaimed. We have received twenty-six on probation and three by letter. The people have received me with open hands and hearts."

T. G. Montgomery, says: "Our first quarterly conference was held 16th inst. Brother Cushman was present and we had a pleasant session. The business of the conference was minutely attended to. Everything was done quietly and thoroughly. The brethren were highly pleased. The financial exhibit was good. The salary of the pastor was advanced one hundred dollars, and the Presiding Elder's ten. The Sunday School is doing a grand work. As a result of our protracted meeting ten were converted to God and [illegible] were received [illegible] are still re[illegible] show that [illegible]

[illegible] and [illegible] promised to support the cause of Christ. Many, not members, have promised to help us. The trustees have bought lumber to enlarge the parsonage and make it comfortable. Plans are being devised to liquidate the debt of the church. We want to send for the bell that was given, and put it up this week. We shall soon fish for men, and pray that our nets may catch many."

A letter from Rev. A. Spears, Campte, March 13, says that he has just learned of the death of Rev. John Wesley, a supernumerary member of the Louisiana Conference, which occured in Vicksburg. Miss., Feb. 16. Bro. Spears desires to open a new work at Sparta and Arcadia.

The entertainment given by the Ladies Aid Society of Ames M. E. Church on Friday evening Mar. 16, was a success both socially and financially. The Young People's Literary Society is increasing constantly. This society is drawing in many young people from other churches and some who belong to no church. May its good influences continue and its interest increase.

ARKANSAS.

Edward Spencer: "My first quarterly conference for Fulton circuit was held in Fulton, March 10 and 11. Presiding elder Elkins, was with us and won the hearts of the people at once by his kindness. On Sunday the church was filled with an intelligent audience, all of whom were delighted with the eloquent sermon and sacramental services. By request of both white and colored people, he remained to preach for us again to-night. The prospects are good for grand success on this charge this year. We have bought a beautiful lot in Fulton upon which to build a church, and are putting the lumber on the ground, and expect to have the church ready for services by the first of July."

TEXAS.

M. Wilson, Butler: "By the help of the Lord I am moving on. I am now building my church at Oakwood, expecting to have it completed by the last of next month."

Jacob Marshall, Sherman. "I would almost as soon be without My Bible as to be without my paper. I look for it every week just as though I was looking for some one, and can not do without it."

MISSISSIPPI.

L. Bradford, Grenada: "Because of indisposition I have not been able to go to my appointments. I am now able to go to my work again, and shall push the cash subscriptions for the ADVOCATE. I am anxious that it shall speedily become, as it merits, the church organ for our entire Southern work and go out in the regions beyond."

TENNESSEE.

D. Cook, Nashville: "For our work, the city mission, we have bought a lot and commenced to build a church. The whole cost will be about $1300. Any contribution sent to Rev. J. Braden will be thankfully received."

H. Robinson, of Spring Hill, says: "The papers have had much to say about the great storm that was to swoop the country, and many people have been looking for it, and feared the ruin it would bring to their homes. But there has come to us in our parsonage home from the loving hearts and hands of our people a storm of flour made of the finest wheat, of meat, beans, peas, sugar, coffee, dried fruit, and potatoes, valued at $18. God grant that such storms may spread all over the Tennessee Conference." The editor of the SOUTHWESTERN would like to have them sweep the entire country and thus gladden the home of every Methodist preacher.

Judging from the tone of some newspapers in this State the period for debate will soon arrive. One member of the Legislature of North Carolina has shown temerity enough to introduce a bill, which, in effect, means the abolition of common or public schools for colored children in this State. In substance, he proposes to so change the constitution of the State as to provide that the proceeds of taxation for educational purposes from the whites shall be applied only to the education of the white children, and those from the colored people shall be applied only to the education of colored children. In other words this distinguished North Carolina statesman, who, got his education (!) and other possessions by the sweat of the Negro's brow, proposes to close the schools against Negro children, since the taxables of that race are as scarce as hen's teeth.—Afro-American Presbyterian.

PLANS FOR CHILDREN'S DAY, 1883

1. As the collections will this year be classified under the heads of the several districts of each Conference, a circular will be sent to each Presiding Elder, asking his co-operation and influence toward securing a good Children's Day Celebration in every charge under his supervision.

2. To each pastor will be sent an explanatory circular addressed jointly to him and his Sunday-school superintendent for immediate and careful consideration. This circular will be accompanied with two copies of the Board of Education's Report on Children's Day, 1883, and a Letter to the Children and youth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, relating to Children's Day and its objects.

3. An offer will be made, in the circular to pastors and superintendents, of a suitable number of Orders of Service and Children's Letters to be gratuitously sent to each school pledging the Children's Day collection and ordering them in a specific way and in proper time. The proper time is so as to reach New York within the month of April. This will make it necessary to send out the circulars earlier than we had before proposed to pastors in the Conferences meeting in the month of April.

It will be seen that the above measures contemplate progress on a grand scale. They have been adopted after extensive consultations with leading ministers and laymen in various parts of the Church, who, with great unanimity, have approved and endorsed them.

Nevertheless, as they involve large expense and an unusual amount of labor, they are regarded as experimental and not to be repeated unless they are well received and found in practice to be advantageous.

THE CELESTIAL SYMBOL INTERPRETED; or, the natural [illegible] spiritual teachings of the sun as revealed by the triumphs of modern Science. By Herbert W. Morris, D. D. J. C. McCurdy & Co., publishers, Philadelphia.

It is [illegible] much to say that this is a wonderful book, wonderful in the vast amount of matter given and in the necessary research given to the work. Of all observable objects in nature the sun is apparently the most familiar, but to the vast majority of the human family it is really the most unfamiliar. In this volume the author speaks of the sun as the primary globe, as the fountain of light, the source of heat, as a chemical agent, as the origin of all magnetic impulses, and as the center of gravitation or attraction, and in a masterly way draws a comparison or likeness between the qualities or offices of the sun of nature, the Parent Orb of a great family of worlds, and the offices or work of the Son of Righteousness, and succeeds in a most entertaining and instructive style in tracing the analogies which exist between the relations and agencies of the sun of nature, and the character and offices of the Son of Righteousness. Ministers of the Gospel will find this book of eminent use to them. It will supply them with a vast amount of information, and a great variety of illustrations. It is a beautiful volume, outside and inside. It cannot fail to do good; we crave for it a wide circulation. It contains over 700 pages. Price, in best English cloth, $3.50.

Hints to Self-Educated Ministers. We keep this book constantly on hand because of its great value. We know of ministers, whether self-educated or not, to whom Dr. Porter's hints would be of great value. It is just the book all of our preachers and public speakers need. Its hints concerning the preparation and delivery of a sermon are the best we have ever seen. We commend it to all of our ministers whether traveling or local. The exhorters in our churches will find it a great help to them. Price, $1,25.

The last issue in the Standard Library, by Funk & Wagnall, New York, is Lives of Illustrious Shoemakers, by William Edward Winks. It has been said that the Wesleyan Methodists of England owe more to cobblers than any other class. Samuel Bradburn, once a cobbler, but after his conversion to God, proved to be a man of great mental and moral strength, and was elected to the highest office in the denomination. Mr. Winks writes in an interesting and popular style. This book will be read with interest.

Few only of our readers have seen Dr Porter's new book, Christianity Demonstrated by Experience. Yet it is just the book for everybody to read who wants to understand God's own method of proving the truth of his doctrine. There should be a few copies in each church to lend to all sorts of ministers until they are worn out. If you are poor and not able to purchase a copy, club together with others and get the book to read among the people. It contains 430 pages. Price, $1.50.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The numbers of The Living Age for March 3 and 10, contain "The Brothers Henry and Thomas Erskine," Westminster; "The Primacy of Archbishop Tait," British Quarterly; "A Farewell Appearance," Longman's; "Dr. John Brown of Edinburgh," and "Churchyard Poetry," Macmillan; "Mr. Gladstone's Schooldays," Temple Bar; "In Alsace, Mr. Gladstone in Hawarden," and "The First of the White Month," Leisure Hour; "Some Curious Commissions," All the Year Round; "The Humors of Examinations," and "A Reminiscence of Sir Walter Scott," Chambers'; with the conclusion of "A Singular Case" and instalments of "For Himself Alone," and "No New Thing," and the usual amount of poetry. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

Additional numbers of the Elzevir Library have been received: "Cricket on the Hearth," by Charles Dickens, 10c.; "Paul Gustave Doré," by Frank H. Norton, 3c.; American Humorists," by H. R. Haweis, [illegible]c. John B. Alden, publisher, 18 Vesey street, New York.

Our Little Men and Women for March (Boston: D. Lothrop & Co.) has numerous illustrations and stories. "What Bobby saw at Sea," "About the Rhinoceros" and "Annie's Ducks," are the principal ones. Price, $1 per year.

MARRIAGES.

In New Orleans, March 15th, by Rev. T. G. Montgomery, Mr. Wm. Robinson to Miss Eliza Williams.

DEATHS.

Annie Walker, of Victoria, Texas, was converted to God in 1843, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which she was a faithful member till the time of her death. She departed this life in the full triumph of Christian faith Feb. 7, 1883. In her death the church has lost a mother in our Israel.
P. M. CARMICHAEL.

Sister Charity Cornelius departed this life Feb. 24, aged 20 years, 8 months. She was a member of the Sunday School, and at an early age was converted and united with the Church in Clinton, La., of which she remained a faithful member. She died in the triumph of faith.
WM. NAYLOR.

Sister Sarah McGuire, of First Street Church, died, March 12, aged near 70 years. She said before her death that Jesus had been watching over her for years and she was ready to go. Arthur Bailey a young convert of last year, died on the 19th, mourned by all.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

FIRST QUARTER. [illegible] March [illegible]

Our first lesson tells of "The Ascending Lord." Jesus loved his disciples so he promised to send them something to cheer or comfort them. This is given in the lesson called "The Descending Spirit." Next we find Peter preaching, and people believed and formed the First Christian Church. They sang, prayed, and divided their money with one another, doing all the good they could. Lesson four is about the lame man at the beautiful gate. He thanked God for healing him. Then we find a great crowd around Peter and the lame man. Peter tells them, it is Jesus, the Prince of life, who has cured the lame man. Lesson six finds Peter and John arrested for saying Jesus was not dead but alive and gone home to heaven. Peter stands up and says Jesus is alive, and then said the words of the text; For there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved. Next we find the disciples commanded to stop preaching Did they obey? No, indeed. They preached and taught, and said, If God be for us who can be against us? The lesson about Ananias and Sapphira all, even the little ones, remember. God hates lying lips. Now comes a night lesson, about an angel opening the prison doors. God always helps his people. Next comes the seven chosen men with good names. Stephen was one. Our last lesson finds Stephen dying amid his mad enemies, but he dies with Jesus and sees heaven while the stones kill him. Are we like any of these first Christians?

(Boston Globe.)

On a recent trip by a representative of this paper to the city of [illegible], Mass., a most important interview occurred, which cannot fail to be of the greatest interest [illegible] to our readers. [illegible] man met a lady [illegible] middle age with luxurious white hair [illegible] with piercing black eyes. She possessed a straight, full habit, womanly, but commanding, combined with manners wholly ladylike, and yet pronounced. Any acute judge of human nature could see at once that he was in the presence of an unusual personage—one destined to accomplish more than most of her sex, and to exert an influence far reaching in its power. This lady was Mrs. M. W. Wingate. Almost from childhood she has taken a special interest in the bodily troubles of her sex and has probably been more successful in relieving suffering and saving lives than any other woman in America. Indeed, she seems to have been to women what Florence Nightengale and Dorothy Dix were to the suffering soldiers. The instances of women who were in the greatest agony and apparently beyond the reach of human aid, that she has restored to health and happiness, are almost innumerable, and it was only natural that the scribe should become specially interested and wish to converse with her more in detail.

"How long have you been engaged in the practice of medicine Mrs. Wingate?"

"For more than 25 years."

"A long time certainly. How did you happen to enter the field at the early day when women in the professions were specially frowned down upon?"

"I think I must have inherited a taste from my Father, Professor J. G. Wood, of Harvard college. He was eminent in the profession, a hard worker and equally earnest in his recreations. He hunted considerably and I remember when only nine year old I used to dissect the birds and animals he had killed. I became infatuated with medical science, even then and the infatuation has continued up to the present time."

"And did you begin your studies early in life?"

"I can hardly say when I began, for I can not remember when I did not read medical literature. You would scarcely believe it, but I was a slender girl and did not weigh over 120 pounds but I used to 'sit up night after night until 2 o'clock in the morning poring over my studies and never dreaming of the flight of time. It seemed as though calls for my attendance on the sick always came unsolicited. I certainly cannot fix the date when I first began practicing. Of course most of my patients were women, and the natural sympathy I felt for my sex has increased during all these years where I have been brought so closely in contact with them and have learned to anticipate their needs and sympathize with their sufferings. After the opening of the Boston Medical College I appeared before the faculty, passed examination and received a diploma, I had practiced many years previous to that time but thought it desirable to receive another diploma, which I did without [illegible]

"Your experience with the many peculiar diseases of women have been as extensive must also be [illegible]. Can you give me some [illegible] regarding them?"

"I find that woman seems born to suffering, and where she avoids it, it is by reason of some care on her part or owing to some special restoring power. It is true, some manage to go through life without unusual suffering, but they are none the less in danger, for there are critical periods all along their pathway where the utmost precaution is required. The innumerable complaints called female weaknesses; [illegible] of life and changes of life and change all indicate the danger over every woman's career, and which, unless attended to, may result disastrously."

"Is there no way by which these terrible troubles can be avoided?"

"That has been the problem for years. The habits of life and the [illegible] of fashion are clearly at war with the health of women. I have been, perhaps, unusually successful in my treatment of their complaints. Others have been many [illegible] attended specially stubborn. I recall one in particular. I tried all the usual expedients and the results were not satisfactory. I became worried over it and really did not know what to do, but finally thought I [illegible] something out of the [illegible]. I had heard a certain [illegible] recommended very highly for [illegible] some and made [illegible] analysis of it. I found it [illegible] pure, and that the [illegible] unusually valuable [illegible] giving it to my patient [illegible] however, into [illegible]. To my great [illegible] I have an almost [illegible] a complete [illegible] from [illegible] I [illegible] to my [illegible] Are [illegible]

"I notice in the New York papers that Doctors Hammond, Agnew and other prominent physicians are taking a similar stand, Mrs. Wingate."

"Yes, and all independent thinkers are bound to do so. I am, however, on the best of terms with my professional brethren as you can see," and the lady produced a beautiful gold medal mounted in the form of a badge which had been presented her by the medical society, known as the Ensign of the Humble Family, of which she is a prominent member. After examining it closely, the reporter remarked that the medical profession evidently were proud of what she had done, as she might well be in the possession of such a medal.

"I am proud of that" she replied, "and I was also pleased a short time since to receive an offer at a large salary, to take the professorship in the new medical college at Walla Walla, on the Pacific coast. I do not know how they heard of me out there, but I was obliged to decline their offer."

"And so, in your experience with the diseases of women, you have found success, and that Warner's Safe Cure has been a most efficient remedy."

"Yes, I have had unusual success and the remedy of which you speak has been proven of great benefit. There are, however, some base imitations of it to be found in the market; these are bad and should be avoided, but the genuine remedy is one of the very best."

"And has not the practice of your profession injured your health?"

"No, I am better now than ever before in my life. I froze my limbs last Winter, while riding one cold night to see a patient and was obliged to remain indoors for over two months. Otherwise I am healthy, as you can see by looking at me."

"And may I publish this interview, Mrs. Wingate?"

"Yes. If what I have told you should be the means of assisting any women who may be suffering, I shall be perfectly willing to have it published."

The President has proclaimed a treaty with Madagascar, of a commercial nature.

The Bad and Worthless

Are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their names, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and Dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if the use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.
The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. No. 56 USE THE TRADE MARK St. Charles St.
A WONDERFUL and SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.
These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analyzed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:
1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improve the eye.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH, Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.
By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D. D.
WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.
A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should love it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

TENNESSEE.

J. B. Bradford, Purdy, says: "My first quarterly meeting was held by J. P. Price, P. E. The people were pleased and profited. Prayers are daily offered for his return to us again. Ten joined the church by letters; two on probation, one was baptized. Have paid the pastor up to date $15, Presiding Elder $4 50. Have collected for the pastor $15, for the Presiding Elder, for missions 40 cents, church extension 35 cents, freedmen's aid 25 cents, for the bishops 15 cents. We know that this may seem small to some, but it shows an increase over last year, when they paid for all purposes $8. I found 14 members, we now have 38, and hope soon to receive more."

MISSISSIPPI.

M. Adams: "Elder Campbell held Ex-Prairie quarterly conference, and the people were pleased with him. We had a very good meeting. The elder lectured, preached and administered the sacrament. Collection $10."

H. Cawthorn, Greenwood: "I arrived on my new field Feb. 3d. On account of the weather being so disagreeable we have not done much. Elder Barney was with us Feb. 17 and 18. Notwithstanding the snow and sleet on Sunday a good many came out. The Elder preached a good sermon and administered the Lord's Supper to 26. His collection was $12. I desire my correspondents to address me at Greenwood. The people here are in dread of high water."

TEXAS.

W. H. Moseby, Seguin: "Elder Henson held our quarter but the weather was unfavorable and congregations small. The elder administered sacrament to 45, and we gave him $6 45. I have received up to date $17. My little son, who has been very sick is now recovering."

Lee Reed, Peach Creek Circuit: "The revival work of my circuit has fairly opened for this new conference year. Last Tuesday I had a Board meeting at night, and the people came out, so we had to go to the parsonage to do business, and the presiding elder preached in the church. We kept up the meeting all week and had three converts and twelve serious mourners. The quarterly conference Saturday was a good business meeting and a good religious meeting. The official members all promised to stand up to their duties and give themselves more earnestly to the Lord than ever before. They fixed the pastor's salary at $300 and agreed to pay the elder $36 this year. On Sunday Bro. Richardson explained the conditions on which God will answer prayer in such a way that the people were wonderfully stirred up to pray. The people showed how they liked the sermon when they raised $13 for the elder's collection. The revival on this circuit last year shows itself in real solid improvement this year. Immediately after conference the people went to work on the parsonage, and in six weeks I moved my family into it. The parsonage is 14x22 feet with a good fire-place and an eight-foot gallery. Too much praise cannot be given to Bro. George Allen, who worked on the parsonage from the first to the last, making a donation to the circuit of 15 days work. We had 166 converts on this circuit last year, and this field is not half harvested yet. We are looking for a greater work this year. Pray for us that we may not be disappointed."

A. J. Turner, Corpus Christi: "I was appointed to this work t the last Conference at Columbus, and wish to lay before your readers my position and prospects. I found ... no Church property of any kind. The members number 18, and all they can give for the support of myself and family is $54 ... This added to the ... appropriation ... A Medley, a Mystery, a Marvel and a Miracle.

THE STORY OF A DREAM.

"Get money honestly if you can, but get money," was a foolish father's advice to his son. Get money, if you can honestly, makes but a slight alteration in the order of the words, but varies the sentiment considerably. There is no harm in making money. It answereth all things. Used rightly it is a power for good, and there is money enough in the world to form a lever by which the mass of humanity could be lifted, to a certain extent, out of its depths of sorrow and despair. Money we must have for money makes the mare go. Some can make money who have no faculty of saving. Would you save you must know how to deny those who would borrow and never repay, as well as those who beg simply because they are too lazy to work. There are men who never want to see you except to ask the favor of a loan. They will ask for just one word with you, and that one word is sure to be money. An impecunious fellow met a rich acquaintance, and not liking to ask directly for a loan, said, "Friend Smith, if you had ten dollars in your pocket and I was to ask you for the loan of five, how many would remain in your pocket?" "Ten dollars, to be sure," replied the rich man, without a moment's hesitation. He had gumption, and knew too much to part with his money by any such rule of substraction.

O I see, said the impecunious man thus rebuffed. He was able to owe. He was one of the Micawber sort—always waiting for something to turn up. How like some people who are sick. They think to get well by letting disease take care of itself. But diseases do not heal themselves, and too late their victims full often find this out to their sorrow as death seizes upon them. Had they been wise in time they might have added many years to their lease of life. The cure was nigh them, as it is nigh to all who read this medley. These paragraphs tell the story, as a patient perusal will prove. Those who have keen insight and can read between the lines may solve the conundrum the sooner for it, but upon all, light will dawn ere they read the final word of our story.

Light will dawn, we said, and so it will, light of hope and help. Light is what a certain individual wanted. Mr. Jones we will call him. He was very sick. Consumption had fastened its fangs upon him. He had long neglected catarrh, and laughed at the idea of taking anything for it when advised to do so, and so went from bad to worse. His lungs became diseased, a hacking, churchyard cough racked him almost to pieces, and he was fast wasting away. A mere shadow of his former self, he scarcely slept at all at night, or slept only to dream horrible dreams. Talk of nightmare! A whole circus troupe, horses and all, seemed to make his bed the arena of their wild performances. In this case money did not make the mare go, for he spent a deal of money on doctors and physics and was nothing bettered. He ate little, and was fast going down to an untimely grave, leaving his wife a widow and his four bright children orphans, when, lo! on one eventful night he dreamed for once a bright and happy dream, which our next paragraph will relate.

Death, the black-visaged monster, had until then stared him in the face, but the dream brought him hope. He saw a bright, white-robed angel in his dream, who said: "I come to bring you good news. Here is your cure—sure safe, harmless, prompt, and reliable. Get well and seek to take health thereby to others. Behold the cure!" With these words the angel was gone, but ere the trail of light which followed him had vanished the dreamer saw glittering in the light three golden letters—G. M. D. "What can it mean?" he said to himself, as he awoke from his slumber. "I have had a Good Many Dreams before, but never such as this." Startled and surprised he aroused his wife and to her related his vision. Alas, she could not solve the problem. Remembering all the medical advice, and the physic, and the expense involved since her husband became sick, she expressed the hope that the letters were not intended to suggest that a Good Many Doctors must yet be consulted in addition to all that had been interviewed. He groaned in reply and ... that if he ... consult ... be a ... r to ... his ... till.

... where they sought—hoping to find a clue. Letters stand for words, and they hoped to light upon the words that should suggest the cure. They Grieved Many Days over their lack of good luck, as they said, and the Good Man Dreamed again and again, but saw no more angels. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick. "Oh, that the angel had Guided Me Definitely and Given More Directions," he exclaimed, again and again.

Nearly two weeks had elapsed since the night of the Great Mysterious Dream, when there came to the house a pamphlet. Tired with his exhausting office work, which he still pursued, determining if possible to die in the harness, Jones was about to throw the pamphlet in the fire when something prompted him to examine it. Surely, thought he, here can be nothing that will Pierce this Gloom Most Distressing, or Give Me, Disheartened, any relief. Poor man, he had worked letters over in his mind, and made so many combinations with them, that they occurred in almost every sentence he uttered. They entered even into his prayers. Heaven Grant Me Deliverance, he would say, nor let disease Grind Me Down, and so forth, ad infinitum, and a mile or two beyond.

Mentally tortured and suffering in every fibre of his body, what wonder that he read page after page of the pamphlet. It was a work on diseases, and in the morbid state of his mind its contents seemed to suit him. It spoke of almost every disease that flesh is heir to, but oh, joy! as he read, a Glimpse Most Delightful of light stole in upon him. "Eureka! Eureka!" he cried. "Wife, I have it, I have it."

Everybody in the house heard him cry eureka, and rushed to the room to hear what he had found. All expected to see some Great Miracle Done, and then came the explanation. Simple of course, but why had he not thought of it before? Oh what a revelation! Here was hope for him and for all consumptives. Here, hope for suffering friends and neighbors. That night he scarce could sleep, but when he did, he again saw a bright vision of golden letters, in fact, a Glittering Monagram Deciphered readily, and reading G. M. D.; and again P. P. P., and yet again F. P., and one huge P., around which these others were entwined, and then W. D. M. A. All the letters blended, yet each was distinct. All he had seen in the book, all he again saw in his vision.

Dream Most Glorious. D. M. G.—G. M. D.—Again he rang the changes; backward, forward, every way. Gold Medal Deserved. M. G. D.—Misery's Great Deliverer,—till time would fail to tell them all. P. P. P. stood for Perfect Peace Promised for sufferers, and sweet release from Prostrating Purgatorial Pains. And again F. P. was Freedom Promised, and backward, P. F. it became Pain Flees. Now he could get well, and once well, he would be a missionary, a Glad Missionary Devoted to the work of telling others how they might get deliverance. He went through the list of diseases among those of his own acquaintance, from John Robinson, whose torpid liver gave him constant headache and severe bilious attacks, on through the list of those suffering from ulcers, coughs, weak and diseased lungs, to his friend, General B——, who was as near the grave as he. And for all these, as well as for himself, the Grave May Disappear from present vision, and each may be Given More Decades of life than they had hoped to have years. Against the milder cases he marked P. P. P. Against the serious cases he marked G. M. D., not the Grizzly Monster Death, which he so long had dreaded, but something—oh, so much better, as we shall presently see.

In a short while our hero was well and went everywhere among his friends and neighbors, telling of his good fortune and showing the sick and the suffering how they might be healed. Some laughed and continued to suffer, refusing to be healed. More were wise, took his counsel and proved his vision of the night as he had done

"A vision, less beguiling far,
Than waking dreams by daylight are."

Can anything be more delightful than health after sickness? To be a well man, to feel pure blood coursing through your veins, to know that lungs, liver, kidneys, and all the Grand Machinery, Does its duty perfectly in one's body; to carry health's ruddy mark on the cheeks. Ah, this is Good Most Decidedly. This was our hero's case, and thousands can tell the same story. The good angel has ... They have seen ... and Going Most ...

... ered that great ... G. M. D. has been to ... nel of good, Good My... Done, and they have bid them friends do what all the sick should do, namely, put themselves in communication with the W. D. M. A., Which Done Most Assuredly will put them in the Way Desired Most Anxiously.

Alas, that human nature is so slow to believe—alas, that men and women are bowed down with the burden of complaints, of which they might be rid,—consumption, bronchitis, dyspepsia, heart disease, kidney disease, malarial complaints, scrofulous diseases, skin diseases, tumors, ulcers, and many more. It would seem as though some ill deity had given every letter of the alphabet as many diseases as it could possibly desire, thus forming an alphabet of sorrow, suffering, and woe. Happy they who the Great Mystery Discerning, have escaped the clutches of sad diseases.

Looking back upon his past experience, Mr. Jones feels Grateful Most Decidedly, and continues telling the old story of his sickness, his vision, and his restoration to health; for all the sick are not well yet. But he has had the pleasure of seeing, as he says Good Miraculously Done to hundreds upon his personal recommendation.

Dear reader, bear with us awhile if light has not yet dawned on your mind. The mystery will soon be revealed. If the key be not on your right hand it is at least on your left, in letters clear as daylight. A Good Many Delighted have discovered it and opened the portal to a long life and a useful one.

Initials of words that stand for all that is sorrowful and sad, letters, the self same letters, are often initials of words that breathe of hope and benediction.

Search but awhile and you will find the boon, the blessing and the benefit. The mystery of the three P's, of the F. P., of the G. M. D., and of the W. D. M. A., Will Dawn Most Auspiciously upon you.

Columbus discovered America and won high honor and immortal fame, and they who have learned the secrets of the wonder before your eyes, good reader, Give Most Delightful testimonials of their gratitude.

Of all sad words of tongue and pen, the saddest are these—it might have been—so sayeth the poet. When we think of the myriads that might have been saved from untimely graves had they seen Mr. Jones' vision and sought his way to health, we feel sad. Yet we cannot but rejoice at the Great Many Delivered from death's door by G. M. D., and that Pain's Positivo Persecution has been escaped again and again by P. P. P.

Virtues unnumbered serve to make G. M. D. the Greatest Mercy Deigned by favoring providences for the relief of sufferers, and its discoverer feels P. P. P.—Perfectly Pardonable Pride in telling of the Growing Multitude Delivered from the Grasp Most Dreadful of Greedy Mournful Death.

Every sick person is interested in the theme before us, and every well person, too, for who does not know some one who is sick and needs, therefore, the good news of health that is Given Many Daily.

Reader, mystified reader, we will detain you no longer. Perhaps you have Guessed Most Deftly the hidden meaning. P. P. P., you know, stands for Pleasant Purgative Pellets, curing constipation, torpidity of the liver headache, and many other complaints. F. P., of course, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that has proved such a P. F., Prime Favorite and Precious Friend to ladies; safe, easy to take, working like a charm—curing the peculiar weaknesses incident to their sex. The letters W. D. M. A. stand for the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y., with its imposing structure, its army of medical men, specialists all of them, and its president, Dr. R. V. Pierce (the large and central P of Mr. Jones second vision), all at the service of the sick and suffering, everywhere; while G. M. D. is—well read the initials of the paragraphs of this article and you will see that G. M. D. is Golden Medical Discovery, the boon of the diseased. This wonderful medicine cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple, or eruption. Erysipelas, salt rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great eating ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influences. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing tetter, boils, carbuncles, scrofulous sores and swellings, goitre or thick neck, ... enlarged glands. Consump... disease of ... and ... by this ... and God-given remedy; if taken before the last ... reached. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, consumptive night-sweats, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. For indigestion, dyspepsia and torpid liver, or "blind ..." Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

You will do well if afflicted with any chronic disease to write to the Association for advice, describing your malady as well as you can. Many cases are successfully treated through correspondence and no fees are charged for consultation. For one dollar and a half you can secure a copy of the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," sent post-paid to your address. Its purchase will repay you. In this is Given More Desirable information than you can find in any other work of a similar nature.

What's Saved is Gained.

Workingmen will economize by employing Dr. Pierce's Medicines. His "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" and "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanse the blood and system thus preventing fevers and other serious diseases, and curing all scrofulous and other humors. Sold by druggists.

The Church, without accessions of new converts to nurture and train, is as dull and joyless as a family without children. Converting power is the mark of the true New Testament Church.

Bilious, Dyspeptic, Nervous Invalids grow strong, ruddy, and healthy by the use of Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic. Beware of imitations. It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed, says Professor H. GOULLON, M. D., LL. D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony, etc.

When man can vote and refuses, the sooner he is poll-taxed out of the country the better. He has no just appreciation of the duties and responsibilities of a citizen of a republican government. It is a duty which no citizen can slight, and the man who sneers at the ballot should at once seek a country where ballots are not in demand.

Dr. Hawks, an eloquent and popular New York divine, once asked the vestrymen of his church to increase his salary because of his increased family expense. "Don't trouble yourself," said the vestrymen "the Lord has said he will care for the young ravens when they cry." "I know that," said the clergyman, "but nothing is said about the young Hawks."

DEAR EDITOR:—I take this means of inquiring for my brothers and a sister from whom I have not heard since the first year of freedom. Our father and mother's names were Elijah and Lucy Patterson. Father died in Paducah, Ky., and mother died sometime since the war, I know not where. The names of my brothers and sister that I wish to inquire for are: Brothers Burr, Charles and Alford, and sister Mariah. Old master and mistress' names were Robert and Elvira Patterson. He was a lawyer. They had three children, Willie, Arthur and Robert. All of us lived in Paducah, Ky., till just before the break up, when Burr, Charles and sister Mariah were sold and carried to New Orleans, La. Mother, Alford, Leanders, and Betsey Juno, refugeed with old master's family to Beaumont, Texas. While at Beaumont, I was sold, and Bro. Leanders died at the Salidee Place. The rest of the party started back to Paducah just before the war closed, and the last I heard of them they had got as far as Little Rock, Ark., where I think the emancipation stopped them. If any one can give me information regarding my people it will be a great accommodation. Address, care Trinity M. E. Church, Houston, Texas. MRS. ... RAY.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to know of the whereabouts of my people. Mother was Pinnie, father was Jack. They belonged to Robert Ellison in Marshall county, Tennessee. Brothers were Wesley, John Green, Patrick, George, Peter, Phillip and Anthony. Sisters were Jane, Susan, Ruthy and Winnie. At the death of Robert Ellison we were divided out among his children. I fell to Jimmie Ellison; Mother, Wesley, John Green, sister Jane, and my Father, all fell to Tom Ellison. This is all I can recollect. At the death of Jimmie Ellison I fell to his daughter Harriet Bowden. I left Tennessee about 1834 The last I heard they were still in Tennessee. I now go by the name of Edmond Toland. Address me at Columbus, Texas.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire to find my brothers Robert, Benjamin and Joe, I last saw them in Danton, Pilot Point county, Texas. Before the war we belonged to a Mr. Monday. I was called Maria Monday, but have married since and changed to Maria Taylor. We were born in Alabama, and only three of us came to Texas. I belonged to Gage. She was deaf, and Miss Gage, C. Nelis and I went to Wise county, Texas. Address me at Pleasanton, Texas, care Rev. D. Edmonds. MARIA TAYLOR.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to inquire for my kin people whom I left in North Carolina when I was quite small. I was only eight years old. Owner was Brimlett. He had sons, John and William, and a daughter Miss Sallie. My mother was Pinkie Brimlett, and there were Alice and Paul Brimlette. I lived in Halifax county. JERRY WALKER, Mashulaville, Miss.

MR. EDITOR—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zazhariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted at Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette. She and I went to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address, REV. J. I. TURNER. Lock box 21, Abilene, Taylor co., Texas.

MOTHERS READ.

GENTS:—About nine years ago I had a child two years old and almost dead. The doctor I had attending her could not tell what ailed her. I asked him if he did not think it was worms. He said no. However, this did not satisfy me, as I felt convinced in my own mind that she had. I obtained a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE (genuine). I gave her a teaspoonful in the morning and another at night, after which she passed seventy-two worms and was a well child. Since then I have never been without it in my family. The health of my children remained so good that I had neglected watching their actions until about three weeks ago, when two of them presented the same sickly appearance that Fanny did nine years ago. So I thought it must be worms, and went to work at once with a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE between four of my children, their ages being as follows: Alice, 8 years; Charley, 4 years; Emma, 6 years; John, 9 years. Now comes the result: Alice and Emma came out all right, but Charley passed forty-five and Johnny about sixty worms. The result was so gratifying that I spent two days in showing the wonderful effect of your Vermifuge around Utica, and now have the worms on exhibition in my store.
Yours truly, JOHN PIPER.

The genuine DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE is manufactured only by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa., and bears the signatures of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. It is never made in St. Louis or Wheeling. Be sure you get the genuine. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy, and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guaranty that it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

THE SOUL'S QUEST.

Is there a future endless life,
Which vindicates this earthly strife—
The manhood of the soul?
What form do earth-born spirits bear,
What garments do the ransomed wear,
What bounds their range control?

Does death, that wrecks this mortal frame,
Release for ye the vital flame
Which death cannot o'erwhelm?
And does the body in the grave
An endless sleep, and respite have Diffused through nature's realm?

Does there a spirit vesture wait
To clothe the soul at death's dark gate—
Fit medium of its powers;
An outgrowth of the life divine,
Maturing as these frames decline,
At once, the Lord's and ours?

Is there in distant realms of space
A spirit home, a glorious place,
Where bliss unmeasured reigns?
Where God and Christ and angels dwell,
And songs of praise forever swell,
In most ecstatic strains?

Or are all worlds alike a heaven
Where to all righteous souls are given
The light of love divine?
And through the vault of every sky
Do souls redeemed, on errands fly,
And saints and angels shine?

Do loved ones wait beyond the flood
To welcome us to their abode,
As families in heaven?
Or are all souls alike akin,
Union with God, the bond divine
To future being given?

Alas! our quest is all in vain;
Perpetual silence seems to reign
Beyond the vail of death.
Jesus the bliss immortal gave,
He breaks the gloom that shrouds the grave,
Only to restful faith.

Bishop Wiley and Dr. Rust's Tour of Visitation.

CLAFLIN UNIVERSITY.

On Tuesday, February 13th, we reached Orangeburg, S. C., the seat of our University for this State. We have here an excellent property, with ample grounds and eligibly located. The main building is a large four-story brick edifice, used for chapel, school rooms, and dormitories. A frame cottage, used for boarding-house, and several buildings for grammar-school, scientific department, and primary school, are located on the grounds. The South Carolina Agricultural College is located here, in connection with our university. It has a large farm, which furnishes students an opportunity to aid in their expenses, and the State appropriates $6,000 each year toward the support of the school, under the direction of the president of the university. This aids in giving stability and efficiency to the [illegible] A carpenter shop also [illegible] opportunity to students to learn a useful trade. Exclusive of [illegible] school, which is run as [illegible] school of the city, there [illegible] in the college. [illegible] the appear[illegible] of workers, and [illegible] like health and [illegible] management is ad[illegible] thorough. Instruc[illegible] in all grades. A [illegible] class is ready for gradu[illegible] of the year. We [illegible] in mathematics, [illegible] classics, and we [illegible] ashamed of them in [illegible] The University [illegible] among the [illegible] There are [illegible] in the school [illegible] by the Freed[illegible]

We found every thing in good order. The president and teachers are enthusiastic, and the students are earnest. It is a good institution, doing first rate work. There are 102 students. The grounds contain about 25 acres, and are excellently located, and are held by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

MORRISTOWN SEMINARY.

Our trip from Greensboro to Athens took us through Morristown and New Market, Tenn. We have a good seminary in Morristown, well managed, and for which a building costing twenty-five hundred dollars is nearly finished. There are about 128 students here, three teachers, and the property is deeded to our society.

Our school at New Market is for whites. The academy is small, and needs repairs. We are rendering aid to this school by paying the salary of one of the teachers.

EAST TENNESSEE WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY.

We visited next the institution for white students at Athens. There are in the college grounds about ten acres, on which is located a three-story brick building, which is used for chapel, recitation, and college purposes. They have commenced a brick church on the college grounds, and have laid the foundation, and are waiting for funds to complete it. There are about two hundred very promising students gathered from all parts of that section of the South. We have rarely met a better appearing body of students, they are from the middle class of society, and are industriously laboring to prepare themselves for usefulness. There are six professors, industrious and doing good work. This institution is of great value to our work in that section of the country, and has sent forth a large number of students qualified for teachers and preachers. Athens is a pleasant village, a quiet and moral place, and is a good location for a first-class institution, which will be needed for many years to come.

HUNTSVILLE NORMAL SCHOOL.

We have in this place a normal school, with sixty-seven students in attendance, under the instruction of two teachers. We have nearly an acre of ground, and upon it a two-story brick building, with two recitation rooms on the first floor, and a school room on the second. The State has established a normal school in the place which interferes somewhat with the prosperity of our school. It has no accommodations for boarding students from abroad, and its patronage is mainly confined to the children of the town, and does not meet the object we have in view of educating youth for teachers and preachers. This object can not be reached without securing a boarding-house, and a large increase of expense, which, in view of the nearness of Nashville and Atlanta, where we have first-class institutions, we do not think it justifiable to make at present. The probability is, that at some future day we shall be compelled to do something more towards educational work in Alabama, and then it will be necessary to seek a more central and available location.

Thus we have visited our schools of the higher grade, and have not deemed it best to take the time and incur the expense of visiting several of our seminaries at places distant from our regular route. The Biblical Institute at Baltimore is one of the best of the institutions in our Southern work, but did not lie within the range of our present visitation. It has recently increased its faculty, and has entered upon a new era of interest in training young men for the ministry.

We spent two days at Chattanooga, and looked at several sites which were pointed out us eligible locations for a university. We found the citizens intensely interested in this educational enterprise; they would welcome it and aid liberally in its establishment. The locating committee was called to meet at Chattanooga the 28th inst., to act upon this question of location.

IMPRESSIONS.

1. [illegible] pleasure in recording [illegible] with the places [illegible] the location of our [illegible] experience of the presence hour, it would hardly be possible to locate these institutions more favorable. With the exception of Alabama we have one of our higher institutions in each of the Southern States. In the selection of Little Rock, Arkansas, for the location of one of our universities, "to aid in the education of the white population," we have a position that commands the whole South-west, and when the location of our university for the South-east shall be determined, we shall be able to meet all the wants for higher education in this part of our Southern work for years to come.

2. We supposed when we started on this tour, that we should be able to see our way clear to recommend the reduction of the course of study in some of our colleges to a lower grade, and to concentrate the course of collegiate instruction within two or three of our leading institutions. But our observation has convinced us that this is not practicable. Our schools are far apart, and have been so located with reference to future needs that it will be our wisest policy to develop one of these institutions in each State into a college proper. We do, however, think that in the present condition of this people, and in their present practical needs, they should not be urged to seek a complete classical education, but rather to become thorough in those practical English studies which will meet their immediate necessities. We should contemplate the establishment of no more colleges, with perhaps the exception of one in Alabama at some future day.

3. We were much gratified by what we saw at Atlanta and Orangeburg of the movement inaugurated to give the students an opportunity of becoming acquainted with some kind of manual labor, by which they can obtain an honest livelihood without becoming dependent upon their mental education. We believe this to be a wise movement, and, under the peculiar necessities of this people, should be encouraged in our schools.

4. We were disappointed in some of our institutions in not finding a larger number of students preparing for teaching and preaching, believing this to be the most important work to be accomplished in the schools in the present condition of our people. We, therefore, recommend that increased attention be given to such an education as will enable, as soon as possible, young men to go out into the work of the ministry, and others to enter the wide field of teaching their own people.

5. We were gratified to find in all our institutions a prevalent high tone of religion and morality, and that instruction was given in morals and good manners. We were impressed with the evidences of good order, politeness, cleanliness, and general good bearing among the students. Nearly all the schools have enjoyed revivals of religion during the year, and these are almost of annual occurrence.

6. We carefully examined the financial working of each of our institutions, and were impressed with the care and accuracy with which the accounts are kept, the carefulness and economy with which expenditures are made, and the obvious concern of the officers to manage the interests intrusted to them as economically as possible. It is a matter of great congratulation that we have been enabled to establish and conduct so extensive an educational system on so small an expenditure of means.

7. It is a matter of devout thankfulness that the Church has been able in so short a time to establish so many schools of a high grade, erect so many excellent and valuable buildings, to inaugurate so extensive a circle of educational forces, to educate so many youth, to accomplish so much in the elevation of a needy and oppressed people, and to disseminate so many and so great influences toward the improvement and advancement of so large a portion of our country.

8. We have been so deeply impressed with the great good accomplished by our schools in the South, and the imperative necessity for the permanence of this work, that we earnestly commend this Society to the liberality of our people, urge the pastors to raise large collections for it, and our men [illegible] wealth to endow professorships [illegible] colleges, or to erect build[illegible] schools suffering for [illegible] believing that no [illegible] more urgently [illegible] will [illegible]

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Letter From Alexandria.

DEAR EDITOR:—Once more, thank the Lord, I am permitted to write you a letter concerning the Alexandria charge. There is not much to brag about, but I feel gratified with the past year's work, and hope, by the help of the Lord, to do better in future. The Louisiana Annual Conference held its session at this place a few weeks ago, and for once in my life, I felt like a Bishop, because the Lord and I had the Bishop, presiding elders and preachers of it under our special care for several days. I noticed in looking over my appointments of of the members to their places of abode during the Conference, in the SOUTHWESTERN that somehow a great big P. E. was placed after my name How came it there? When I saw it I began to try and remember what kind of meat I had eaten that I should grow thus so suddenly. However, Conference is over, and the Bishop, elders and preachers have gone, and my big P. E., too, I presume, that settles the matter. Anyhow, I feel thankful that I am appointed to serve the Alexandria charge another year, though it is my third and last, and my heartfelt prayer is that the Lord will bless us with a year of peace, plenty and fruitful labor. It was indeed quite cheering to me, the first Sunday after adjournment of Conference, when I met the Sunday-school to have it, through the superintendent, officers and teachers, also scholars, extend to me a hearty welcome to my pastorate. May the good Lord bless them all. Last year we held both Easter and Childrens' Day services. Both occasions were such as will not be forgotten soon by any that were present; the church each time was splendidly and beautifully decorated by the officers and teachers, with numerous little class banners, flowers, garlands and mottoes, and the special services for the occasions were conducted in such manner as brought credit to all concerned. And now comes a word for our dear presiding elder, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, whose quarterly visits we shall always remember pleasantly. His sermons were edifying and addresses impressive and instructive. May his shadow never grow less. Speaking of our revival services that have been held we cannot boast of our hundreds, but we do know that the souls of some Sunday-school scholars, as well as those of our church probationers, have been truly born of God, and besides this backsliders have returned unto the fold again with exclamations of joy and gladness, and withal the Lord has managed our affairs, both temporal and spiritual, so as to leave no complaints from us. Near the latter part of the year, that is when cotton picking and sugar making began, we commenced in real earnest to prepare for entertaining the Louisiana Annual Conference. Calling the trustees together, we looked over the church building with a view to making it longer, in order to give as much comfort and room to the Conference and visitors as were within the reach of our means; therefore, it was decided to add 14 feet more to the building making it 65 feet long by 30 wide We then had but one other thing to do, and that was to trust in God and go to work, which we did right earnestly, and inside of 125 days the addition was completed inside and out, painted, whitewashed and paid for. Our people were in earnest that the Louisiana Conference should be entertained right royally, and they were, for I have heard no complaint from any of the preachers. I would like to present to your dear readers three model workers who were a great source of assistance to the trustees in collecting funds to defray the expense of building. I have styled them each respectively, 1st a model trustee, worker for God; 2d, a model lay member, worker for God; 3d, a model sinner, worker for God. 1st, a model trustee, Bro. Alto Mitchell; God bless him and his family: he certainly deserves the above title among us. While the majority of our members were bringing in their mites through the agency of circulars issued by the stewards and trustees, he alone collected from our people on the streets and everywhere in general, and put in the Lord's treasury cash to amount of $100, and all for the special use of the trustees in building the addition to the church, and besides this gave two very beautiful spittoons [illegible] for the [illegible] brethren. And now comes another model in the person of Miss Alice Thomas, a teacher in the girls department of our public school, also a worthy member of our Church, being received into full membership by Bishop Hurst during session of Conference here, and one of the assistant superintendents of our Sunday-school. Like Bro. Mitchell, she did grandly; truly imbued with the spirit of a worker for God and his Church, she armed herself with one of the stewards and trustee's circulars for aid, and went forth to battle, and the result of her labors was $25 more for the Lord's treasury and the use of the trustees; independent of this she collected enough money to buy a marble slab centre-table, and placed it in the chancel of the church in place of the old one. The new table is a beauty, and cost $15. Still filled with the spirit to work, she, in company with another one of our dear sisters, namely, Mrs. Peggie Powell, begged some chickens and other edibles from sisters Ambler, Stevens and others, besides putting their hands into their own pockets, succeeded in getting up a festival for the benefit of the Gilbert-Haven School of Theology, and through cold, rain, mud and slop for four nights in two weeks stood their posts until they realized the sum of $11. Surely the Lord will hold them in remembrance in the day when He shall make up His jewels; and yet this is not all, some time prior to this she again, in company with a committee of sisters and brethren, she being chairman, managed a chicken-pie supper, at which the nice little sum of $76 was realized. The committee was composed of the following sisters and brethren, all honor to them: Miss Alice E. Thomas, chairman; Mrs. Peggie Powell, Virginia Mitchel, Lausania Ambler, Delia Stevens, Susan Baxter, Cynthia Coleman, Rev. H. J. Wright postmaster, (we had one, you know) Warren Ezell, Edward Powell, our humble self, and A. Mitchell. Here comes another model, Mr. John Parker. Although he claims no part in Christ (a condition, I trust, he will not remain in any longer) yet he is a dear lover of God's church and people, with a feeling akin to the loyal centurion of days long agone. He also armed himself with a steward's and trustee's circular, and went out into the highway to battle for the treasury of the Lord and victory perched upon his banner in the sum of $37 50: Mr. Parker is one of our very public spirited men, and assisted largely in entertaining the Annual Conference during its stay here. He is also one of the trustees, and I hope the Church at large will pray for his speedy conversion to Christ. Jesus is ready to save. Many of the members did their share of the work in an earnest and grand manner. Each of them, with a circular armed, battling for the Lord. All honor to them for what they have done; may their shadows never grow less. The following are their names and the amounts given into the treasury: Alto Mitchell $100, John Parker $37 50, Alice Thomas $25 60, N. Pembroke $5, E. Powell 10c; Dr. H. St John, 1000 feet of lumber; Mr. Patrick Kelley, two large window frames made to order; Thompsom Cokely, two days work; Alto Mitchel, two days work; E. Walker $1, Warren Ezell 35c, R. Now, a word about our Sunday-school. Though I say it, it is one of the best within the bounds of the Louisiana Conference, and I will further say, considering all things, I believe it has done work this year, superior to any other of its existence, and complete in its organization for future usefulness. It has an efficient staff of officers and teachers, who are governed by the spirit of the times, which means go forward rendering unto God the things which are God's and Cæsar the things which are Cæsar's. Our form of organization is in accordance with the Discipline of our Church, 1880, page —. The Board meetings are held every Wednesday night at which the lessons are gone over preparatory for the next Sabbath, and all other business beneficial to the school transacted. We have our Missionary Sunday which comes round the second Sunday in each month. At the 11 o'clock service the pastor preaches the missionary sermon and takes a missionary collection. By this means at the end of the year there is always nearly $30 in the Sunday-school missionary treasury. Besides all this we have an auxiliary organization known as the Reapers Missionary Society, the funds of this society are to be contributed both to home and foreign missionary work. It has a constitution adjunctive to that of our Discipline. The officers are — Miss Alice Thomas, president; Mrs. Peggie Powell, vice-president; Mr. Pinckney Osborn, Secretary; Mrs. Cora L. Armstead, treasurer; Mr. William Murray, Financiel Secretary, and a Board of Directors, all of the above are elected by a majority of the society, and hold office one year or until their successors are elected. Any one may become a member by paying the small sum of ten cents; the monthly dues are five cents. This society bought and presented to the Sunday School nine little class banners costing about $50; it also contributed some funds to the Gilbert Haven School of Theology enterprise, and some to the mission work abroad, and beside this collected with nickle subscription punch cards, assisted by the Sunday School, the sum of $40. The following are the names of the members of the society and school, and the amounts collected: Doctor Young, 25c.; E. Randal, 40c.; O. Murray, $1; W. Murray, $1; S. Young, 55c.; T. Boxter, 30c.; M. Ambler, $1.20; L. Parker, 55c.; S. Parker, 45c.; E. Dennis, $1.80; L. Dorsey, $1.35; Violet Hyams, 50c.; M. Tousant, $2.50; H. Christmas was a time of rejoicing with the little ones. Old Santa Claus came round as usual with his Christmas tree, and it was well loaded with presents. The audience room was filled with bright eyes and smiling faces, and a sprinkling of our white friends—one dear face was missing, and that was sister Armstead, who had but lately recovered from a spell of illness, therefore could not attend; however, everything went on smoothly, and while the children were singing, "Come Kriss Kinkle with the Christmas tree," in steps the old gentleman, looking as if he had come a long journey through the cold and snow. He was well sprinkled with the latter, the children shouted, jumped and screamed with delight, but order was soon restored, then old Santa Claus had some questions properly answered, ordered the presents to be immediately distributed to the children, and then took his departure for other places to make happy by his presence and gifts. After distribution, a song of dismission was sung and benediction pronounced by Rev. Horace Wallace. M.

The collapse of the magnificent endowment scheme of the East Tennessee Wesleyan University, and its incidental circumstances, which incidentals immensely preponderate the main issue, affords another lesson of pious fraud, preposterous confidence and dear bought experience. As the story goes, Colonel Bixby called upon Rev. John F. Spence, the honored president of the University, expressing his desire to furnish it, from a rich mining property which he owned, an ample endowment. A few thousand dollars only were needed to put the enterprise on its feet, and after consultation with leading ministerial brethren in New York and Philadelphia, arrangements were completed. The "Great Official" endorsed the scheme, and a few blocks of Isabella stock were sold to very particular Methodists about the Book Concern, and the "boom" commenced. But promised dividends never came, and special investigation having been instituted, it was ascertained that the "Isabella" mine was worthless, but the sanguine stockholders were assured that by an outlay of only $25,000 the "Alice," a rich mine adjacent, could be purchased, and this little additional consideration was promptly provided. But the end has come. All is silent at the mine, Bixby is in Europe, the University scheme has gone to "limbo," and the favored ones are consoling themselves with the reflection that, although their losses were severe, ranging from $1,000 down, they were in eminently respectable company. But the sad fact of the case is, as in all such cases, that the rank and file of the ministry, who have nothing to spare, and others whose investment represents all their living, are also lured into the snare of the fowler. —Michigan Advocate.

At the time the Chinese emigration bill was being discussed, it was understood that the Chinese Government represented that they were indifferent as to the action of the United States in reference to the matter, and readily assented to the treaty which was made the basis of the restrictive emigration legislation. It appears, however, that the impression received that China was oblivious to the enactment of the Chinese bill was erroneous, and that the position of the United States in the matter is deeply resented. The Department of State is informed that every means is being adopted by the government to drive Americans from the empire. All sorts of onerous restrictions are placed upon their business, and new enterprises are entirely prohibited if conducted by Americans. In other words, they are making it so unpleasant that Americans find it more convenient to leave the country than to remain in the face of such difficulties, and it is also absolutely impossible, it is reported, for them to carry on successful business, owing to the retaliatory measures resorted to by the Chinese Government.

At Maryville, East Tennessee, there is a factory which manufactures buttons of mussel shells gathered from the various rivers. The buttons are said to be very fine and give much satisfaction.

The Housekeeper.

CITRON CAKE. — Stir together three cups of brown sugar, four and one-half cups of flour, seven eggs, two cups of citron cut in small pieces, two and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one cup of butter, one and a half cups of sweet milk.

TO PREVENT PICKLES FROM MOULDING.—Horse-radish will prevent pickles from moulding. Cut in little round slices a piece of horse-radish root as large as your finger, and twice as long, and throw into a two gallon jar of sweet pickles just before setting it away, and you will find them all right when you go in haste to get a dishful for the table.

SALAD DRESSING. — Take the yolk of one hard-boiled egg, and, after mashing well with a spoon, stir in five teaspoonfuls of water, to make it a rich creamy thickness, add a heaping saltspoon of salt, and half a saltspoon of red pepper. Have ready one heaping teaspoonful of raw mustard, mixed with five teaspoonfuls of water: stir this into the egg; then with a fork, stir in four tablespoonfuls of oil and one of vinegar.

OYSTERS ON TOAST.—Toast six small slices of stale bread crisp and brown; butter them and lay on a plate. Put in a saucepan on the fire one quart of oysters, a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste; let them just come to a boil, then pour them over the toast. Garnish with celery leaves and serve at once.

Something to Read.

Every Methodist family ought to take one of our church papers; certainly there ought to be a Methodist newspaper in every Methodist home. Without such a paper it is impossible that a family be intelligent in regard to the work of the church. All would call that business man stupid who did not take a secular paper. But more stupid is that Christian man who sits down with no religious newspaper; of necessity he must be ignorant of the grand achievements of Christ's kingdom. Let us look at this matter. Here you are a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, a grand and glorious army, battling for Christ and the salvation of the world. But what does the person who does not take a church paper know about her achievements. There is the Missionary, Church Extension, Freedmen's Aid, Tract and Sunday-School Union Societies, thundering all along the line, and going on from conquest to conquest, but the person who does not take a church paper must be ignorant of their achievements. Without a religious newspaper one cannot know of what any of the grand divisions of Christ's army are doing for the conquest of this world, nor of the thousands who are coming into the church.

We plead for the SOUTHWESTERN, and ask you to take it into your families; because it will preach to you all the week long. You may be waiting for breakfast, or dinner, and have but five or ten minutes, just take up the SOUTHWESTERN and read a word, perhaps about some glorious revival of religion, or the triumphant death of some good person, or an earnest plea for a close walk with God, and so for three hundred and sixty-five days in a year it will be constantly preaching to you. The sermon will be short but most always appropriate. We plead for the SOUTHWESTERN, because people know where to find it; and while it is free from all acrimony and bitterness, and never bristles, much less will it make a pet of a porcupine, but it hates caste, and has an utter loathing for the disposition that in this year of grace, 1883, will attempt to defend or apologize for this abominable of all abominations. The religion of the Lord Jesus has suffered from a pious twaddle, mental and spiritual dullness and stupidity, from the awful inconsistencies of its professed friends and the vile slanders of open and avowed enemies, but this spirit of caste, the masterpiece of the Devil, is more horrible and harmful than all. It is an accursed thing, no mercy should be shown it and if the church does not lift up its voice and cry aloud and spare not, it will soon be as powerful, as permanent, and accursed, in America as in India,

We plead for the SOUTHWESTERN; because it will give its readers help for both worlds. It will help them to be better men, better women and better children. It will help on the farm, in the store, in the law office, in the school room, in any thing God may have for one to do. It will call the sinner to repentance; it will present Chirst as a complete Savior; it will be out and out Methodistic; and while it will be loyal to the nation and Methodism, it will never shilly-shally.

The Land Job.

The Baton Rouge Truth comments on the disgraceful State land jobbery:

A suit has been entered against the United States Surveyor General for Louisiana, to recover $30,000 for having listed to the State lands bequeathed to the city of Baltimore by John McDonough. This land was secured from Surveyor General Gis, through the instrumentality of Mr. John McEnery, who represents Louisiana's interest in securing from the General Government [illegible] and suspended lands. The [illegible] of Baltimore, however, is not willing to mildly surrender a claim that is justly her property. She is [illegible] willing to have her estates appropriated by land agents, without title or right thereto.

Last week we gave the gist of Mr. McEnery's contract, and alluding to the fact, that it was an easy [illegible] for the agent or sub-agent to [illegible] lands that this State [illegible] to claim to. The working of [illegible] incites to speculation. [illegible] Mr. McEnery, is given [illegible] lands recoverable in [illegible] The wealth of [illegible] it in[illegible] of its cou[illegible] to crea[illegible] We also [illegible] had prof[illegible] for one half [illegible] to Mr. Mc[illegible] against the further existence of an agency, which will ultimately embarrass thousands and thousands of titles in this State. It would be well for the journals to comprehend the nature of this contract. Sooner or later they will be forced to recognize its perniciousness. Protecting the right of the people is the duty of the public newspaper. Securing the lawful property of citizens is the duty of the Governor in this instance, which can only be accomplished by convening the Legislature.

The Florida Methodist (Church South) commented on the article of the Popular Science Monthly, in which a large increase of the Negro race, and consequent conflict of races, was predicted, as follows:

Admitting the gradual, and ultimately great increase of the colored race, a long period must elapse before even an approach to equality of political influence could be obtained. Meanwhile, the capacities of the colored man, by the two fold influence of education, and religion, are being broadened and strengthened; and the actual community of interest between the two races, and all classes of society, is becoming so obvious, that, in practice, there would be little to fear from class legislation, or class conflict. The Divine Providence which permitted the Negro's enslavement, and permitted his sudden and violent emancipation, will be equal to the direction of his destiny without involving his destruction.

In Georgia the constitution contains a provision, inserted at the dictation of Gen. Robert Tombs, which requires that not only the poll tax of the current year, but of previous years, shall be paid before a ballot shall be deposited. To-day it is asserted that two-thirds of the voters of the States cannot honestly deposit a ballot. Poor whites as well as poor Negroes are in default. The grand jury of Monroe county reports 1200 tax defaulters, and the zeal of candidates has caused the law to be repeatedly overridden and disregarded. The constitutional provision was intended to disfranchise the Negro in large numbers, and reacts in corruption and debauchery of the whites at the polls.

Rt. Rev. Bishop R. H. Cain, D. D., delivered a masterly discourse in the white Methodist Church, Sunday night. The church was literly packed from pulpit to doors. The Bishop is the only colored divine who ever preached in that church. His audience was composed of the refinement and culture of this place.—St. Mary Herald.

Our brethren of the Church, South, are moving on, as the above will indicate. We congratulate them on their effort to break down a "color line" in Christian work.

The Evening Chronicle is a new daily, published and conducted by an association of printers on the co-operative plan, which made its appearance in this city last week. It contains a fair summary of local and general news, and is served at ten cents per week to subscribers. Mr. D. W. Roberts, former printer of the SOUTHWESTERN, and lately of the Daily States, is connected with it.

The Baptist Weekly thinks that "Christians should blush to know that the bees in this country do much more in making honey than the Churches of all denominations in raising money for missions. The value of the honey crop exceeds $3,000,000 annually, while contributions for foreign missions amount to less than $2,500,000."

What unprofitable servants we are!

Mr. E. C. Stedman's essay on Emerson, is the chief literary feature of the April Century, and deals mainly with the poetic aspect of its subject. It is accompanied by a portrait, engraved by Cole from a daguerrotype of Emerson taken when in his prime.

—The fall of Queen Victoria on the steps of her palace, created wide spread uneasiness; and the world rejoices to know that her injuries were slight.

—It is highly credible to Mr. Morris Marks, Collector of Internal Revenue for Louisiana, that his office, after inspection, is rated by the Revenue Department as first class in every respect.

—Georg Milburn, one of the most wealthy and liberal Methodists in Ohio, died recently, aged sixty-two years at Merriam, Kansas. whither he had gone in search of restoration to health.

—The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Gracey, of Rochester District, Genessee Conference, celebrated their "silver wedding" anniversary, and received the hearty congratulations of "hosts of friends," recently.

—Ex-Gov. Sprague, of Rhode Island, has just married a young Virginia lady although his former wife, the daughter of Secretary Chase, is still living. He has also received the Democratic nomination for the Governorship.

—The friends of Rev. Frank Walker, in charge at Monroe, La., will be pained to learn that his wife has been very sick and has lost her sight. Bro. Walker has our sympathy in his affliction. He writes: "I cannot get about as I wish to, but I do not intend to lose one subscriber to the ADVOCATE.

—President Gardner, of Liberia, was compelled to resign his offise, owing to extreme ill health and disability from paralysis. The Legislature granted him $1,000 and the expenses of removal to his home, in Grand Bassa County. Vice-President Russell was sworn in as President on January 20th. Steps are being taken for the removal of the Liberian College to the banks of the St. Paul's River.

—Advices from Tombstone, Arizona, are to the effect that Harvey M. Dibble, brother of Judge H. C. Dibble, and well known in this city, where he resided several years, has been murdered by the Indians during a recent attack upon the settlers near that place. Mr. Dibble was highly esteemed as a young man of intelligence and sound character, and his terrible death is learned with sadness by his many friends.

—Dr. Schweinfurth, the celebrated African explorer, writing from Cairo, says that the new prophet, the Madhi, is desolating the region about Khartoum, and that his plan is, after making himself master of the Sondan, to invade Egypt, and then to fight the Turks, whom he regards as infidels. Shhweinfurth asserts that the Madhi is a much more dangerous man than Arabi. The people trust him as a divine messenger, the one who has always been successful. The object of Schweinfurth in writing was to call for help from England for the defense of the Sondan in the interests of humanity, and especially to secure the abolition of the slave-trade.

—Hon. Timothy O. Howe, Postmaster General of the United States, died suddenly of pneumonia, on the 25th inst. He was born in Livermore, Maine, in 1816, and was 67 years of age at the time of his death. He was an Old Line Whig, a firm supporter of Henry Clay; he studied law and was admitted to practice in 1839; he became a member of the Legislature in 1845. In Wisconsin he held a judicial office and was elected to the United States Senate three successive terms. He succeeded Mr. James as Postmaster General, Dec. 21, 1881. Judge Howe was honest in public and private life, and an able defender of the war for the Union in the Senate. He honored every position to which he was called, and his death occasions profound sorrow in all parts of the country.

—Postoffice Inspector James D. Kennedy, on learning the news yesterday of Postmaster-General Howe's death, telegraphed the department for permission to go to Green Bay, Wis., for the purpose of attending the funeral ceremonies of the dead statesman, which was granted. Mr. Kennedy will accordingly leave to-night for Chicago, en route to the home of the deceased, and will be present at the burial of his friend and benefactor. Mr. Kennedy, it may be said, began his official career as private secretary to the late Postmaster General, when Judge Howe occupied a seat in the Senate at Washington, and this close [illegible] [illegible] for ten [illegible] the [illegible] of office. Subsequently, when Judge Howe became Postmaster-General, he invited his former private secretary into the Postoffice Department as postoffice inspector, thus renewing, to a certain extent, their official relations. In the death of Judge Howe, Mr. Kennedy laments the loss of a warm personal friend and protector, and in a spirit of profound sorrow he now departs to perform the last sad duty to the honored dead.—Times-Democrat.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

Rev. M. J. Dyer thus describes the work at Sixth Street: "We began this year under very encouraging circumstances. The church is well united, congregations are good. The average attendance of the Sunday-school is over a hundred. A blessed religious interest prevails among the people. We have had since conference fifteen converted to God, and have received twenty-three on probation. Our first quarterly conference was held on the 23d inst. Bro. Cushman, our presiding elder, was present. The reports were all in order. The brethren showed their appreciation of their pastor by advancing his salary $200; they also voted an increase of the amount to be paid to the P. E. of five dollars. Vigorous efforts are being made to liquidate the entire debt upon the church, and we hope soon to have a grand jubilee and thanksgiving service in commemoration of our deliverence from our debts."

The revival flame is kindling in nearly all the churches we hear from. The Holy Spirit with dove like wings seems to be hovering over the churches, mantling the pulpit and permeating the pews. God is opening the windows of Heaven and pouring blessings upon the churches. Brother Ford, at Houma, reports twelve converts received on probation. Brother Morant, at Alexandria, in the midst of a wonderful work of grace reports seven reclaimed, twenty-four converted to God, thirty reclaimed on probation. Brother Armston, at Morgan City, says the clouds are breaking, the Son of Righteousness arises with healing in his wings. Brother Marshall, at Mt. Zion, has a congregation and Sunday School steadily increasing in numbers and interest. The fire is burning on the altar of the church, they are now in the midst of glorious revival of religion. Mourners and converts are daily increasing. The outlook for Mt. Zion was never brighter. Simpson Chapel, under Brother Jackson's care is fast coming to the front. And Sixth Street, so long one of the least of the thousands of our Israel, under the pastoral care of Brother Dyer, is fast putting on strength. All the services are well attended and the shouts of saved men and women are constantly heard.

A new Methodist Episcopal Church, to be called Haven Chapel in honor of the late Bishop Haven, is shortly to be built in the village of Darrowville, on the lot donated for that purpose several years ago by that liberal and progressive citizen, Mr. Ben. Gibson. Rev. P. F. Robinson, an intelligent young colored minister, has been assigned to the charge of the Darrowville circuit, preaching alternately at Darrowville, Ashland, Bowdon and New River, and under his direction preparations for the erection of the new church are going briskly forward. A Board of Trustees has been formed, composed of Messrs. Paul Carroll, Benjamin Reddick, Sancho Lewis, Benjamin Lewis and Wm. Kenner, and subscription lists are being circulated for the purpose of soliciting public aid in the work of putting up the building.—Donaldsonville Chief.

R. P. Younggreen, Rosedale: "On the first Sabbath in March we had a grand meeting. We received one young convert, reclaimed a backslider, and added a member. Sacrament was administered by Rev. H. T. Abbott to 77 persons. The collections of the day amounted to $52 15."

C. D. Shallowhorne, Jackson: "We have started a subscription list to raise money for the repairing of our church. Was heartily received by the members, and by April 1st expect to accomplish a great deal."

TENNESSEE.

Alex Burdett, Friendship: "My first quarterly conference was held by Elder Jesse Price. We had one of the best love feasts I have been in for some time. Reported for elder, $15; pastor, $8 25; missions, $1. Bro. J. B. Marbry, of Mason circuit was with us, with his bride. He preached well, and we should be pleased to have the couple call again."

TEXAS.

I. Smith, Winchester: "Elder C. L. Madison held my first conference Feb. 24th. One was received into the church. Rev. P. Carmichael, of Victoria, and the elder both preached for us rousing sermons. Sacrement administered to 54; elder's collection $10. We feel that the Cunningham and West Point work is growing. Pray for our success."

E. Cogswell, Alleyton: "After Conference I found this work in a live condition, with due respect to Bro. E. E. Cooper. Bad weather repressed the work, but the spring is now about to open and we are on the up grade and moving along. Sabbath School prospers under Prof. G. R. Smith, a student of West Texas Seminary. Elder G. W. Richerdson gave us a flying call a few days ago. He is in excellent health and says his work is opening up splendidly. I send enclosed a list of 19 subscribers, and I will forward the money as fast as collected."

MISSISSIPPI.

C. W. Ivy, Enterprise: "On my circuit are two fine Sunday schools. Zion Chapel and Little Zion are blooming. F. F. Knox and sister Polly Brown are faithful teachers, and have equally earnest assistants. The churches are beginning to prosper, but the devil still retains his hold in some places."

J. J. Harris: "Preaching at Pontotoc, the second Sunday in each month at 11 o'clock, A. M., and at night; and at M. T. Nebo's every 3rp Sunday, at 11 o'clock; and at Hopewell every 4th Sunday at 11 o'clock A. M. and at night; and at Trott's school house every 1st Sunday, at 11 o'clock, A. M., and at night.

Women's Home Mission Notes.

DEAR EDITOR:—Having had so much cold weather we have not been able to carry out plans we have laid, but thank the Lord we are doing a little to help make the world better, and hasten the coming of Christ's Kingdom.

Please permit me to say to the friends of W. H. M. work, that I shall be glad to get reports from those who have not yet sent, as quickly as possible.

During the session of the Texas Annual Conference the officers of the Baptist Church at Hempstead kindly allowed the women of the W. H. M. Society, the use of their church daily, and a very great convenience it was.

May God bless all those who are willing to help one another as they pass through time into eternity.

Some years since I enjoyed the hospitality of Brother Terrell, at Anderson, and was very glad to hear of the prospect of wedded bliss of his son Isaiah. I trust their home will be all they can desire.

Yours in Christ,

I. HOWELLS.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

SECOND QUARTER. LESSON I. April 1. SIMON, THE SORCERER. (Acts viii, 14-25.)

After Stephen was stoned to death, one of the seven deacons, named Philip, went to Samaria and preached. The people heard him gladly, and the city was full of joy.

In this city lived a man called Simon, who could perform tricks that deceived people and made them think he was a wonderful man. Simon knew all his works were only tricks, but he wanted the people to think God helped him. Simon saw all the wonderful things the apostles did, for Peter and John came to help Philip. Simon pretended to believe their preaching and was baptized. Simon's heart was not right. He only wanted to be able to do the wonderful things Peter and John did. Pteer and John gave God all the praise. Simon wanted to do wonderful things so people would praise him.

At last Simon came and asked them to show him how to do such things, and he would give them money. Peter told Simon he could deceive men, but he could not deceive God. He said, "Thy heart is not right in the sight of God."

Peter showed Simon how wicked he was, and talked so plain and earnest, that Simon asked Peter to pray for him. The Bible does not tell us more about Simon.

If we do any thing deceitful then we are something like Simon. If we bring a big piece of money on missionary day, not because we love Jesus and want to tell others about him, but to show the class how much money we give, then our hearts are wrong. You all know what Jesus wants his people big and little, to be, so you can have your heart right in his sight if you really want to. Let us say every morning with our prayers, Thou, God seest me.—Western.

It is to be hoped that this General Assembly will pass the compulsory education bill. It is stated, and cannot be controverted, that by a vigorous enforcement of such a law for a period of seven years the little Grand Duchy of Baden reduced crime within its border 51 per cent and pauperism 26 per cent.—Inter-Ocean.

It is the duty of the State to provide by law for a thorough and efficient system of schools which shall be equally open to all, and it should compel the location and maintenance of a sufficient number of schools for the education of all children.—Terrebonne Times.

Ex-Minister Foster left Washington for St. Louis to meet ex-President Diaz as the representative of the United States to formally welcome him to this country, and to conduct him wherever he chooses to go.

An ukase has been published appointing a commission to examine and amend the laws of Russia relating to Jews, which will afterwards be submitted to the legislative department for examination.

The value of farm products sold and consumed in the United States in 1879 is reported as equal to $44 for every man, woman and child, including Indians, in this country.

THE LOST CHILD.

A Fate W[illegible]

[illegible] Parents, by a Lack of Precaution [illegible] Care, are Responsible for the Death of Their Children.

(Camden, Me., Herald.)

The moral and legal responsibility of parents, in the care of their children is, fortunately, attracting the serious attention of the better portion of the entire country. The many instances of child beating, oppression, and other forms of cruelty which have come to light, demand that something be done; and it is gratifying to know that the people are becoming thoroughly aroused. Whether the cruelty be in the form of physical violence or physical neglect matters not—the principle in both cases is the same. The man or woman who neglects his or her own health may be pardoned, as the consequences fall upon the individual alone; but the parent or guardian who permits the inroads of disease upon the innocent ones dependent upon him for protection, is criminally liable in the sight of God, however he may appear in the eyes of men. There are, however, parents that intend to care for their children, but, who through carelessness or the urgency of other duties, permit them to become the innocent victims of disease. Such parents may be guiltless of intentional wrong, but the disastrous results upon their children are just as great.

These are truths which must be manifest to every worthy parent and especially in a vicinity where the unknown effects of the atmosphere, the water and the general tendency to malaria are so great. There are many families in this locality who have been called upon to mourn untimely losses, even when the greatest care was exercised; but the experience of one only will be given: It is that of the late W. O. Thomas. The children where all most promising, put for some unexplained reason their health and strength seemed to gradually lessen until their friends feared they were victims of consumption. One by one they sickened and died until three had departed and two of the surviving brothers were also taken ill. Their names were Hermon and Edward. Hermon, however, seemed the stronger of the two; and, while his younger brother was confined to the house constantly, and to his bed much of the time, Hermon was able to be about but in so weak a condition that he had no desire to play. Eddie's symptoms were terrible! He found difficulty in retaining food upon his stomach, was restless and irritable, and out of his head frequently. At various times three different physicians visited him; and each one told his friends he could not live. He finally got so low that death was only considered a matter of a few days. At that critical time his elder brothers, aroused almost to the pitch of desperation by the three deaths that had so recently occurred, and the other one staring them in the face, resolved to take the case into their own hands. They accordingly did so, and secured a remedy that was then being universally used, and began giving it to him. Its effect at first was slight, but any improvement was considered a good symptom. By degrees his strength returned; he was able to eat with a relish, then walk about the house; and finally he regained complete health and strength. The boy was so rejoiced over his recovery that, accompanied by the editor of this paper, he went before Justice Charles K. Miller and made oath to the facts of his sickness as above related, and that he was restored to perfect health by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. [illegible] Edward Thomas's [illegible] lived, undoubtedly [illegible] for the [illegible] children; and yet [illegible] of disease had taken [illegible] root. Their care in one direction had been counteracted by [illegible] carelessness in another. [illegible] love was sincere, but wholly misdirected. They should have [illegible] children are just as [illegible] and liver diseases [illegible]; and that the [illegible] disease of the [illegible] just as great among children as with adults. This is a serious subject. Hereditary [illegible]; the after consequences of [illegible] and scarlet fever, diph[illegible] chronic, all [illegible] cholera infantum, [illegible] or diphtheria [illegible] while the child's [illegible] were healthy. It [illegible] an impossibility [illegible] organs of the body [illegible] the child [illegible] growth; and [illegible] strength and [illegible] little mind [illegible] upright[illegible] of naturally [illegible] trouble of [illegible] those [illegible] and fever, [illegible] emphasized. [illegible] so readily to the [illegible] are so annual [illegible] that is [illegible] a sin

IRON AND CALISAYA BARK have long been esteemed by the medical profession as among the most reliable of tonics, and when the celebrated Dr. Harter conceived the idea of combining them with phosphates, he formed a tonic that has proved beyond any question to be superior to any offered to the public, and one that no intelligent physician would refuse to sanction or to recommend; in fact, two-thirds of the Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC sold in the North, East and West, is through physicians' prescriptions, and is not classed in the same category with patent or proprietary medicines. There can be no doubt that in cases of dyspepsia in its worst form, general debility, all female diseases, want of vitality, etc., it is a speedy and positive cure and brings relief where all other remedies fail,—ask your druggist for it.

NEW BOOKS.

THE CHILDREN'S SECRET OF HAPPY LIFE. By H. W. S. Published by F. H. Russell, 148 and 150 Madison street, Chicago, 240 pages. [illegible] and chaste cloth binding. Price [illegible].

This is a new and enlarged edition of a valuable book. It is not scientific or theological, but intensely experimental and practical. The author has been taught certain things out of God's word, and then filled his soul with a "joy unspeakable and full of glory," and she could not bear to keep it to herself. We have not seen a book for years that we could commend more heartily. It would be a boon to the world if such books were put in place of the trash so widely circulated.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MOSES; or the Import of Sacrifice in the Ancient Jewish Service. By W. W. Washburn, A. M. Published by Walden & Stowe, Cincinnati.

To those who study the revelations of the Bible, its narratives, its predictions, proverbs, prophecies, and sacrifices, this little book which a person can read in three or four hours, will prove a mine of information and throw "a new light not only upon the altar of Jewish worship, but also upon the Cross of Calvary." The book is a timely and valuable contribution to current religious literature, and cannot fail to do good.

The Bad and Worthless

Are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their names, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and Dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits.

Gorham Solid Silver.

An experience of over fifty years in the manufacture of SOLID SILVER WARE, combined with the advantages that large capital and a constantly increasing business afford, enable the GORHAM COMPANY to stand PREEMINENT in this department of industry.

These wares have been sold and endorsed by every prominent dealer in the United States, and the trade mark [trade mark] has become as sure a guarantee for pure metal in this country as is the Hall STERLING Mark of England.

Gorham Plated Ware.

Parties desiring Plated Ware of a more elegant and substantial character than the commoner grades, will now find the GORHAM PLATE the most economical ware made. The quality is fully maintained, and the prices are much less than formerly, while the variety of design is larger.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.
By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D D.
WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.

A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational singing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.

"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev C. H. Collins.

Bound in cloth, gilt, 272 pages, and portrait. Sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, 60 cents.

USE THE

A WONDERFU[illegible]d SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:

1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The MEDICATED GLASSES are all stamped on the frame H. HOUSAH. Medicated. NONE GENUINE UNLESS STAMPED.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

H. J. Wright, Natchitoches: "I came to my work Feb. 7th, and returned for my family on the 16th. While away the trustees and stewards prepared for our reception. The parsonage was renovated and ceiled, and the sisters came and helped us to make things comfortable. We are now preparing to receive Eelder Duncan."

MISSISSIPPI.

C. W. Ivy, Enterprise: Bev. Peter Kirkland spent a few weeks on this circuit, visiting his wife and people, and his visit was a power of good, We gave him $4 60. May he live long and prosper.

TENNESSEE.

J.W. Matthews, Caploville: "Bro. Tilman, a member of the Missionary Baptist Church, was shot near Pleasant Hill by Mat Black. He fell dead, and leaves a wife, child and many friends to mourn his loss. Black is in jail for trial."

Geo.W. Cowans, Kingston: "The 2nd quarterly meeting on my circuit (the Robertsville) was held at Shady Grove. Our much loved presiding elder Bro. Provine was with us, preaching to the satisfaction of all. The meeting was a success, all things considered; many of the Brethren were present in the conference, and the sacrements were given to quite a number of anxious persons. From thence we went to Oak Dalo, where there is a large iron furnace in successful operation; there we joined Rev. J. C. Tate, our conference Evangelist, who is doing much good in his evangelistic tour this winter. Owing to the hardness of the weather our Sunday-schools have not been what we desired, but we are renewing our strength. We are trying to keep up with our presiding elder's claims, and also our conference menies. This is my third year on this circuit, and I hope to leave it in an improved condition in every respect."

TEXAS.

M. Smith, La Grange: "District conference for Austin district, held February 14-18, and did some good. I continued a protracted meeting which resulted in 3 conversions, 4 backsliders, and 11 received in full membership. If we can keep up in this way we will be able to realize a grand work for the church and the Lord."

J. Shackleford, Paris: "My church is increasing rapidly. My congregation is very large, and all seem to be awakened to the word of God. Nine have joined the church, and the prospects for others are very favorable. In class meeting Feb, 27th, we had about 40 mourners. My Sabbath school is also increasing; new scholars are coming in every Sabbath. The following officers and teachers of my school are very active: D. Frison, supt.; Chris. Johnson, secretary; Henry Hendricks, librarian; Miss Nancy Hendricks, treasurer; Prof. J. C. Carter, Mr. Jeff. Barnes, Miss Nora Hendricks, Miss Lina Buckner, Miss Peggie Woods, and Miss Ella Gray, teachers. Our aim is to have as good a Sabbath school as can be had in any city or place. I am doing all I can in favor of the SOUTHWESTERN, and am in hopes of securing many subscribers for it."

A Joyful Greeting.

Hello! How are you? I am glad at last your eyes have fallen upon me. Now that we have met, pray cultivate the acquaintance, for it is my purpose to interest and to serve you. Between you and I, though only a newspaper article, I am ambitious. Having a portentous message for all mankind, if it be cordially received, its import truly realized and acted upon, I shall be considered a world's benefactor. Could have no higher ambition you will admit.

A misanthrope of ample means determined to end his life by drowning himself. Going to the banks of the canal, found the time not favorable for the purpose, a number of persons being in the vicinity, and daylight still present. He concluded to walk along the towpath until it was dark. While doing so he heard piteous cries issuing from the door of a hovel near by, and unconsciously walked over to the place, and found a poor family consisting of a mother surrounded by several children who told him of their sufferings for food. He took from his pocket his wallet and handed it to the woman, reasoning with himself that he would not need it. The grateful thanks and praises that he received from the recipients of his bounty awoke emotion within his breast, of such a pleasurable character, that he changed his suicidal intent and decided to live for others. His future life became replete with good deeds—many a dark home and heart were made bright by his presence.

Well, my appearance in these columns, springs, simply from a desire on the part of those I represent, to benefit your news-devouring race. My province is to help you, your friends, your relations, aye, even your mother-in-law, if that interesting lady be not already far beyond the pale of good influences.

I am sent among men to bear tidings of a discovery that marks an epoch as important to the health of mankind as Newton's apple and Franklin's kite were to natural science. The sick, the discouraged, the dejected, the broken down, and the despairing, may now all find a cure, certain as the Jordan proved to the Syrian leper. It is only necessary, as in the case of that sufferer of old, to follow directions.

The agent which I herald builds up the system, sweeps the cobwebs from the brain, and sends pure, invigorating blood dancing through the arteries, to the music of happy laughter.

The gloomy, worn-out man of business, by proper use of this wonderful medicine, will be enabled to meet trouble and reverses like a man. Then, in perfect health, he will not have abnormal views of the "Vicissitudes of fortune, which spares neither man, nor the proudest of his works, which buries empires and cities in a common grave."

The weak and nervous woman, just able to drag herself, in "moping melancholy," through duties of the day, may steal the bloom from blush roses, and have eyes bright and sparkling as the dew-drops nestling in their leaves; and the poor little baby, now disfigured with pimples and scabby sores, may be made sweet, cool and wholesome as—"that youngster of Mrs. Blank's, across the way, whose family is always in a glow of health." Don't you know the reason? "No." Then I will tell you. For years your neighbor has never been without Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

This remedy is a medicine, not a beverage, and is to be taken according to full and perfectly plain directions accompanying each bottle. It is specific, but not a patent medicine, and contains no vile narcotics, or viler liquor. It is a prescription, used for many years by the well-known physician, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose name is a household word in innumerable homes all over our own and foreign lands. The Golden Medical Discovery is prepared and offered to the public by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, a body corporate, existing by and under the laws of the State of New York; its president is Dr. Pierce, the great specialist in chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted the best years of a very busy and wonderfully successful life to the relief and cure of his suffering fellow-men—and at a time, when high political honors lay broadly open before him, Dr. Pierce resigned his seat in the Congress of the United States, simply from a sense of duty towards others. His associates in the great sanitarium represented to the doctor that the immense business of the Association demanded ... attention should ... [illegible]

... and luxuries of a first-class American hotel, has in addition the daily attendance of a large faculty of eminent specialists, whose practice collectively covers the whole field of surgery and chronic diseases. The laboratory in which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is prepared is an object of interest and wonder. It has a frontage of one hundred feet, a depth of one hundred and twenty-five feet, and is six stories high. In this mammoth and palatial workshop two hundred persons are constantly employed in putting up Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

While the Golden Medical Discovery's curative effects are almost immediately felt, it is not merely a temporary stimulant, but is as certainly a safe and complete cure, in all cases for which it is recommended, as it is that certain misery and death will follow their neglect. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will not cure club feet, will not refurnish armless or legless unfortunates with new and perfect limbs, and it is not guaranteed that even a dozen bottles applied to any stray portion of a second-hand skeleton will develop such member into an animate human form divine (?) In brief, it is not asserted that this medicine will, or can, counteract the decrees of Providence. But in all cases where a high state of civilization and cultivation has engendered disease and suffering, whereby God's natural man has become a nervous, artificial being, the Golden Medical Discovery will positively restore to him the strong, vigorous, self-asserting life, from which, almost unconsciously, he had drifted far, and perhaps hopelessly away. It is claimed, and guaranteed, if this medicine be used as prescribed, and faithfully persevered in a reasonable time, it will permanently cure liver complaint, and the various blood disorders consequent upon torpor of the liver, in all their various forms and ramifications, including bronchitis, consumption, which is scrofula of the lungs, dispepsia, costiveness, sick headache, skin diseases, fever and ague, malaria, and other disorders arising from poisoned or deteriorated blood.

This wonderful medicine cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple or eruption. Erysipelas, salt-rheum, fever sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great eating ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influences. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing tetter, boils, carbuncles, scrofulous sores and swellings, white swellings, goitre or thick neck, and enlarged glands. Consumption, which is scrofulous disease of the lungs, is promptly and positively arrested and cured by this sovereign and God-given remedy, if taken before the last stage is reached. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, consumptive night-sweats, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. For indigestion, dyspepsia, and torpid liver, or "billiousness," Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it affects perfect and radical cures.

To all suffering from lassitude, weariness, despondency, lack of vigor or ambition, be it man, woman or child, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will speedily impart new tone, vigor and life to the whole system. The haggard face will grow round, ruddy, and beam with the expression of long lost confidence. The step will be firm and elastic, and the relieved sufferer will once more enjoy in common with fellow men that feeling of proprietorship in earth, air and being, only fully realized by those in perfect health.

The Golden Medical Discovery will not make drunkards or opium eaters; on the contrary, any unfortunate, driven by trouble, adversity or inherited appetite, to the use of insidious stimulants, will find the Discovery of great assistance in efforts to break the chains binding him to a shameful and miserable existence.

Those feeling only "out of sorts," with no predominant symptoms, and who, if asked, would find it difficult to explain their sensations, will find a sovereign remedy in the Golden Medical Discovery.

Those who are irritable, petulant, or fretful, ever seeing the gloomy side of life; who imagine "the time is out of joint;" to whom life is a heavy burden, not a blessing, who think the whole world is arrayed against them, and anticipate calamity at every turn; to all such let this message be full of encouragement and joy—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will radically cure them, when it will be found, to their lasting benefit, that life and the world have not changed but that disease had thrown clouds of misery and woe about them, through which all things were seen, as "through a glass darkly."

Let no sufferer be discouraged because he or she has ... [illegible]

... Dispensary Medical Association particularly desire to reach through their Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When all other Medicines fail let this be tried, and no one will be doomed to further disappointment.

The Golden Medical Discovery is a prescription of a physician with a wide-awake reputation and an honorable position to maintain. It is far beneath the dignity of Dr. Pierce to lend his name to any vile nostrum, or catch-penny preparation, whereby the public may be deceived. Having used his Discovery for many years in his unprecedented private practice, he is convinced it is indeed a specific in diseases mentioned. Desiring this marvelous cure shall benefit, not only those with whom he comes personally in contact, but that all mankind may be embraced in his grand plan for the amelioration of human suffering, the doctor, through the World's Dispensary Medical Association, earnestly and most confidently recommends his Golden Medical Discovery to the public at large, assured the most skeptical will be thoroughly convinced of its worth by a trial of a single bottle.

In stubborn, or long-seated affections, and where the bowels are very costive, the gentle, though certain action of the Discovery, will be more rapid and satisfactory by supplementing Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets in small daily doses of one or two. These pills (the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills) are purely vegetable, sugar-coated and very small, yet by the peculiar process used in their preparation, they possess the strength and virtue of larger and unpalatable pills. Pleasant Purgative Pellets will speedily remove all ill and disagreeable effects arising from over-eating or drinking, and are recommended as a cathartic, at all times, being perfectly safe, sure, and unattended by the griping pains usually experienced in the use of purgatives less carefully prepared. Promptly resorted to, these little Pellets will radically cure indigestion, biliousness, and sick-headache, thus saving the patient from serious and lingering disorders. Dr. Pierce, the President of the World's Dispensary, and his faculty of twelve skilled specialists, can be consulted by letter or in person in any case of chronic disease requiring either medical or surgical treatment free of charge. For those desiring more exhaustive information than can be imparted through correspondence the doctor has written a book, called "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English, or, Medicine Simplified."

This work alone is a goodly harvest for an ordinary life, and stamps its author a profound scholar and a very remarkable man. The book contains nine hundred and twenty two pages, illustrated with two hundred and eighty-six wood-cuts and colored plates, and makes plain as a, b, c, anatomy, physiology, materia medica, practice of medicine, hygiene, temperaments phychology, etc.,—and answers in plain, easily-to-be-understood terms all questions that may arise within their range, especially those questions the would-be inquirer is deterred by fear or modesty, from asking the family or other physician. That all may be enabled to acquaint themselves with matter so vital to health, happiness and success, the price of this great work has been fixed at one dollar and fifty cents, post paid by mail to any address, while smaller and far inferior books, purporting to cover the same ground, have sold at five dollars a copy. It being the aim of the proprietors of the Common Sense Medical Adviser to reach not only the affluent, but also those in moderate, and even straightened, circumstances, the price of the work places it within the reach of all.

Mrs. Comstock, of Michigan, who has visited over 115,000 prisoners finds that 105,000 were brought to prison through strong drink.

EASILY PROVEN.—It is easily proven that malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness, and neuralgic ailments yield readily to this great disease conquerer, Hop Bitters. It repairs the ravages of disease by converting the food into rich blood, and it gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm always.

Rev. Joseph Cook says: "I am no fanatic, as to Sunday; but it does not seem to me accidental that Swizerland, Scotland, England, and the United States, the countries which best observe Sunday, constitute almost the entire map of safe popular government."

FROM THE OLD WORLD.

From the great London (Eng.) Times.

Among the many specifics ... public for the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, derangements of various kinds, and as a general family medicine, none have ... genuine ... to this ... short ... since, to ... a pure, safe and perfect family medicine, they have rapidly increased in favor, until they are, without question, the most popular and valuable medicine known. Its world-wide renown is not due to the advertising it has received; it is famous by reason of its inherent virtues. It does all that is claimed for it. It discharges its curative powers without any of the evil effects of other bitters or medicine, being perfectly safe and harmless for the most frail woman, smallest child, and weakest invalid to use. Few are the homes indeed where the great discovery has not already been hailed as a deliverer and welcomed as a friend. It does what others affect to do. Composed of simple materials, it is a marvel of delicate and successful combination. Nothing is wanting. Every ingredient goes straight to the mark at which it is aimed, and never fails. Pleasant to the palate, agreeable to the stomach, and thoroughly effective as a cure, it has won for itself the confidence of all.—Times, London, Eng.

A Few Unsolicited Letters From Thousands Received.

Feb. 9, 1882.

I have tried experiments on myself and others with Hop Bitters, and can recommend them as a pleasant and efficacious medicine. I have found them specially useful in cases of congestion of the kidneys, as well as in bilious derangements.

REV. J. MILNER, M. A., Rector to the Duke of Edinburgh.

U. S. Consulate, MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 8, 1882.

Gentlemen:—Since writing you of the great benefit I had derived from taking "Hop Bitters," I gave a friend a bottle, who had been suffering much from dyspepsia and a sluggish liver, and the change was marvellous; he appeared another being altogether. He had tried several other remedies without any benefit. I could name over a dozen miraculous cures.

ARTHUR C. HALL, Consular Clerk.

LONDON, ENG., Sept. 1, 1882.

I am pleased to testify to the good effects of your "Hop Bitters." Have been suffering a long time with severe pain in the left side and across loins, and, having tried a number of so called remedies without any benefit I am glad to acknowledge the great relief I have obtained from your medicine. CHARLES WATSON.

COLCHESTER, ENG., Aug. 18, 1882.

Gentlemen:—I was troubled with a very bad form of indigestion for a long time, and tried many things in vain until I got some "Hop Bitters," and on taking was quite cured, and remain so till this time. It is now three months ago since I was bad. F. BELL

From Rev. J. C. BOYCE, M. A. Oct. 30, 1882.

Dear Sirs:—I have lately finished my first bottle of "Hop Bitters." After having for many years suffered acutely from rheumatic gout (inherited) I feel so much better, and can walk so much more freely, should like to continue the use of it. I write to ask how many bottles you will let me have for $1, so that I may always have some in stock.

Gentlemen:—You may be interested to learn that one of the most eminent Judges on the Irish bench (a customer of mine) highly approves of your Hop Bitters, having received great benefit from their use. T. T. HOLMES, Chemist.

Alexandria Palace, London, England, April 18, 1882.

I find Hop Bitters a most wonderful medical combination, healthful, blood-purifying, and strengthening. I can from analysis as well as from medical knowledge, highly recommend them as a valuable family medicine.

BARBARA WALLACE GOTHAAN, Supt.

London, England, Feb. 1, 1882.

Gentlemen:—For years I have been a sufferer from kidney complaint, and from using your Hop Bitters am entirely cured, and can recommend them to all suffering from such disease. WILLIAM HARRIS.

Sheffield, England, June 7, 1882.

Sir.—Having suffered from extreme nervous debility for four years, and having tried all kinds of medicine and change of scene and air without deriving any benefit whatever, I was persuaded by a friend to try Hop Bitters, and the effect, I am happy to say, was most marvellous. Under these circumstances I feel it my duty to give this testimonial for the benefit of others, as I may say I am now entirely well; therefore I can justly and with confidence give personal testimony to any one wishing to call upon me. Yours truly, HENRY HALL.

Norwich, England, June 20, 1882.

To the Hop Bitters Co.

Gentlemen.—Having suffered for many years from billiousness, accompanied with sickness and dreadful headache (being greatly fatigued with overwork and long hours at business). I lost all energy, strength and appetite. I was advised by a friend in whom I had seen such beneficial effects to try Hop Bitters, and a few bottles have quite altered and restored me to better health than ever. I have also recommended it to other friends, and am pleased to add with like result. Every claim you make for it I can fully endorse, and recommend it as an incomparable tonic.

Yours faithfully, S. W. FITT.

From Germany.

Katzenbachhof, Germany, Aug. 28, 1881.

Hop Bitters Co.

Dear Sirs.—I have taken your most precious essence Hop Bitters—and I can already, after so short a time, assure you that I feel much better than I have felt for months.

I have had, during the course of four years, three times an inflammation of the kidneys. The last, in January, 1880, was the worst; and I took a lot of medicine to cure the same; in consequence of which my stomach got terribly weakened. I suffered from enormous pains, had to bear great torments when taking nourishment, had sleepless nights, but none of the medicine was of the least use to me. Now, in consequence of taking Hop Bitters, these pains and inconveniences have entirely left me, I have a good night's rest, and am sufficiently strengthened for work, while I always had to lay down during the day, and this almost every hour. I shall think it my duty to recommend the Bitters to all who suffer, for I am sure I cannot thank the Lord enough that I came across your preparation, and I hope He will maintain you a long time to come for the welfare of suffering mankind. Yours very truly,

PAULINE HAUSSLER, Gehr. Rosler.

From Portugal and Spain.

Gentlemen:—Though not in the habit of praising patent medicines, which for the most part are not only useless but injurious, I have constantly used Hop Bitters for the past four years in cases of indigestion, debility, feebleness of constitution and in all diseases caused by poor or bad ventilation, want of air and exercise, overwork and want of appetite, with the most perfect success.

I am the first who introduced your Hop Bitters in Portugal and Spain, where they are now used very extensively. Yours very truly,

"The Coca Beef Tonic of the Liebig Company, combined as it is with Coca, quinine, and iron, forms a most valuable adjunct to the practice of medicine. From the experience we have had with it, we are forced to speak in its favor, and to recommend its use. Beef, iron, and quinine cannot be surpassed by any other three ingredients in or out of the dispensatory, for invigorating an enfeebled system, and when such remedies can be obtained combined, from so reliable a house as Liebig's it behooves the profession to patronize the same to the fullest extent."—*Prof. C. MR. EDITOR:—My maiden name was Margaret Green, and I belonged to James L. Peak, when I was a child, and lived in Palmyra, Mo. My mother belonged to John Garner, who lived four miles from Palmyra, Mo. I can't say what direction. My step-father was named Harry Digs, and he was blind and lived at John Garner's. My father's name was Jackson Green, but he died in Kentucky. My sisters names are Eliza, Rendy and Clara Green. My half sisters are Julie Digs, who belonged to a Mr. Randolph, four miles of Palmyra; Fannie Digs belonged to a Mr. Holiday, and Dilcy Digs belonged to Jno. Garner. My brother, Jackson Green, belonged to Robt. Stewart in Palmyra, Mo., and Biscoe Green belonged to Hamilton Lowen. My mother's name was Sarah Digs. I was sold by Mr. James Peck to Wilson Vaughn, and he sold me to John Mackifel, and he sold me to Wm. Ousley, and I was brought to Mississippi. My name was Margaret Stringer, wife of John Stringer. My postoffice is Hazlehurst, Copiah county, Miss.

MR. EDITOR—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zazhariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted at Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister, Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette. She and I wont to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address,

Snakes as Life destroyers.

The loss of life in India due to the ravages of venomous snakes is almost incredible. Yet Consumption, which is as wily and fatal as the dealiest Indian reptile, is winding its coils around the thousands of people while the victims are unconscious of its presence. Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" must be used to cleanse the blood of the scrofulous impurities, for tubercular consumption is only a form of scrofulous disease. "Golden Medical Discovery" is a sovereign remedy for all forms of scrofulous disease, or king's-evil, such as tumors, white swellings, fever sores, scrofulous sore-eyes, as well as for other blood and skin diseases. SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Pain in the right side, under edge of ribs, increased on pressure; sometimes the pain is on the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder and is sometimes taken for Rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with laxity; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled; his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low, and, although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it.

If you have any of the above symptoms, you can certainly be cured by the use of the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

[illegible] $200 paid on the debt on the church at Murfreesboro since Conference. We are resolved to complete and dedicate it this year, and as we don't know how to fail it will be done. Rev. B. Anderson, at Lebanon, is having a good revival, 8 or 10 converts last time I heard from him. I was at Rev. J. Seay Feb. 24th and 25th, and found him enjoying good health. He told me he would pay his subscription on Key's Chapel, at any time when he could sell 50 bushels of wheat for $50 net. He is still wide awake to church and temperance interests. He has been a temperance advocate for 60 years; he and his brother took a stand for the temperance cause when there was not another to be found in the country; he used to distill whiskey and owned one of the best stills in the country, but he very soon saw the error of his way. His customers were judges, lawyers, men of high calling, and the worst of all ministers of the Gospel, so he very soon saw his misinvestment and in less than a year tore down his still and he has stood firm on temperance ever since. There is a general spirit in the district to build. At Alexandria Rev. C. H. Seward has his lumber all on the ground and the building under way; he wants to complete by August. I paid Bro. Seward $50 from Rev. John Seay. Rev. John Kinser has paid for a lot at Manchester and contracted for lumber. Rev. Wm. Miller, McMinnsville, and congregation have finished paying for their lot, contracted for by S. P. Bell; we also received $50 from Rev. John Seay. Rev. P. P. Brooks, Shelbyville, has nearly completed his parsonage at Shelbyville. He has also repaired his church and has everything looking nicely. He is now occupying his new pastor's home. I received from Bro. John Seay $50, and paid on the church and pastor's home. Rev. B. Whitley is pushing ahead on church at Sparta. I made a contract with the carpenters to build. We also received $50 from Bro. J. Seay. Another is under headway where our old church was burned at Mellon's chapel, Wesley Lillard; another on the North Lebanon, Rev. B. B. Manson. They are trying to buy a lot for our church at Petersburg, so you see we are advancing all along the line Pray for us. Yours,

A Letter From a Prominent Colored Man.

HIS VIEWS ON THE GOSPEL OF CHRIST AND ASKS THE CONSIDERATION OF THE PEOPLE.

CLARENDON, Ark., March 1[illegible], 188[illegible].

EDITOR SUN: I have arrived in this community for the purpose of doing good among my people, religiously and morally. I am no politician, but a minister of the Gospel of Christ. I represent the M. E. Church. The work of this church being unknown to many of the good people of this community, I beg space in the column of your valuable paper to publish a few statistical facts and figures. They speak for themselves and claim for the church a favorable consideration of all people. The M. E. Church has erected 3,385 churches since 1864. The actual strength of the church in the South, the membership including travelling and local preachers is 410,890; her church and parsonage property amounted in 1880, to $563,416. The institutions of learning fostered by her, all founded since the war, are 43, with students in attendance, mostly advanced, 6000. The property of these institutions, in lands, buildings, &c, all acquired since the war and owned by the M. E. Church, is valued at [illegible]. The Freedmen's Aid Society has received and expended in educational work up to June [illegible] 1882, $10,810,64. These are facts as gathered by Dr. Hartsell [illegible] Egypt, [illegible] engaged in the work of elevating [illegible] clear of prejudice, [illegible] that the M. E. [illegible] prejudice and hatred to white people, owing to the failure of the church with her large white majority to elect and ordain a colored Bishop. The facts and figures shown above are the results of the labors and benevolence of white people; and yet, because she does not pick up a down trodden and ignorant race, and put it at its head, and over all of her great institutions of learning, some colored people who claim to be intelligent, are ignorant enough to oppose all of her acts of kindness, benevolence, and labors of love to the poor colored people. I am thankful to God that he has raised up, and put it into the hearts of the good people, who have done, and are doing so much for us, to come to our rescue in the times when there was no eye to pity, and no other arm strong enough to afford the help we have received from them. For if there is a people under the canopy of high heavens needing help, it is the colored people. I love the white people as a people, as friends, and as citizens—the colored Bishop worshipers to the contrary notwithstanding. Those who love the great M. E. Church, but will not join her ranks owing to the failure of the white majorities in the General Conferences to elect a colored Bishop, I say to you, come, and enlarge her membership, elect delegates to the General Conferences and we will elect a colored Bishop. The colored members of the M. E. Church, and others who wish a colored Bishop, have no more grounds of complaint against the white majorities, than have the colored citizens in the United States against the whites for not electing a colored President of the United States. The M. E. Church is doing more more for the moral, educational, and religious elevation of the colored people in the South alone, than all the different colored bodies presided over by colored Bishops and all other colored churches in the United or States. She ought to be planted in every village, town, and city in the world. I have yet to understand how people who profess to have the religion of Jesus Christ in their hearts, can hate or hold prejudice against any one white or colored. The membership of the M. E. Church numbers nearly 2,000,000. What little I have learned was taught to me by the agencies of white people. I would not live without them. I want to learn wisdom of them. They have it, and I intend to get some of it in the M. E. Church among them, out of the Church where ever I can. They are the principal instructors in all things, ignorance and superstition excepted. Those who don't want anything to do with white people, ought to be better prepared to live without them than they are. Those who hate their instructions, love ignorance. I can't perceive how it is that those people who are opposed to white people supplicate them most. If they want help they go to them. To get them out of trouble, write letters, figure their cotton and other accounts, for counsel or advice in temporal things, and yet they think them incapable of instructing them in moral or religious matters. What have the colored Bishops, of whom they talk so much, done? Did any colored Bishop or man ever produce a spelling book or readers that have been used in the public schools of this, or any other nation? Did any colored Bishop or man ever serve on any of the several committees on the revision of the Bible? What great acts or deeds have been performed by colored Bishops or men of which their friends can boast? I heard a colored minister say not long since, that he would suffer his right arm to be cut off before he would serve God in a church with white people. My opinion of that brother is, that he needs to be truly converted. He ought to go to Africa where he can't be governed by white people. If he were in the M. E. Church here I should take pleasure in recommending to him [illegible] God for man, and the [illegible] the Son of God.

The Atlanta Advocate.

BY L. M. HAGOOD.

We are all sorry that we can not have one of our church papers printed and edited in Atlanta. Much good could have been accomplished if it had been possible to sustain the Atlanta Advocate. Everything from without was done to save it, it seems to me, and it was given up only when it was not possible to do otherwise. A church paper there we will not likely have again soon like the last one; but ought the brethren of the States of Georgia and Alabama sit down and cry over what might have been if—? Certainly not. The Book Committee sympathize with those conferences that are left without newspaper protection, and give them opportunity of ordering either of the other church papers, for money already paid, or valid subscriptions given for the Advocate that was printed there. Now the matter which I wish to call attention to is, which of the papers ought they throw their strength to? The New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Central, nor Cincinnati Advocates will be able to pay attention to the wants, and to defend the interests and hear the appeals of the members of our church in the two States mentioned. The secular Democratic papers have got no time to print communications from church papers in general, and no disposition, if time and space, to defend the interests of any, and more especially the colored part of the "Northern" M. E. Church. These dear people and their ministers must have a paper where they can report their work and defend their interests, and they can find no better paper in the church or out of it than the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, printed by our book agents, Phillips & Hunt, 32 Natchez street, New Orleans, La. The editors are men who are not only Methodists, but the right kind of Methodists; men in whom is the fear of the disapprobation of God only when it comes to the defending of the church at large. This paper is fearless in its advocacy of all measures, and the rights of all classes of members in the communion of the great M. E. Church. The two hundred and fifty thousand colored members of our church in the South ought each and every one be subscribers to this paper. Not simply because Rev. L. P. Cushman is white, and Rev. A. E. P. Albert is colored, and these two conduct the paper, being jointly editors, but because it is one of the best papers for any purpose, it seems to me, printed by the church. It does seem to me that the members of the M. E. Church in Alabama, Georgia, East Tennessee, and in all the territory where the Atlanta ought to have gone, should, unitedly, subscribe for this most excellent paper. Some "Southern Items," no doubt will appear in the other papers above mentioned; but our members in these conferences want to know what the mother church is doing in the South, and if this be true, they ought to have their subscriptions placed on the books at New Orleans for the SOUTHWESTERN. The Chattanooga Advocate is like the "Methodist" of New York was, exactly, to my mind, and is therefore not a church paper, but private property. The net pocceeds of the Book Concern goes to poor preachers, and, at least, was so intended, and we cannot therefore afford to support another paper in preference to our own. If the brethren mentioned will only wake up now and improve the opportunity, we can make the SOUTHWESTERN the peer of any of our church papers, and thus build up the waste places. By the time the subscription already given is out you will have learned to love this paper that has always stood up for the right. Brethren, now is your time! Let each of us see to it that the SOUTHWESTERN is in every family of our congregation, in every pastor's study, and thus push forward the victory of the cross. If we fail to attend to this matter at once, the removal of the Advocate from Atlanta may do us incalculable injury. If we act now no harm can come to our work in those States where the other paper was.

write, though I hardly feel capable of acting as his substitute.

I read the SOUTHWESTERN every week; I feel an interest in the paper and I wish it success. Our school year has been pleasant and prosperous so far. Our number has not been what it would have been had not the small-pox been in the city. We have had only two very light cases in our midst, and not one death as yet has been reported. Several students left for fear of the disease, and several remained away who would have come.

Our medical commencement in February, was to us an interesting occasion. Five young men were graduated and have gone to do their part in relieving humanity of some of its ills. The people here seem to take quite an interest in that department of the college, for at the closing exercercises our chapel was too full to be comfortable, and certainly the young men had reason to be satisfied with the attention paid them.

One evening last week the legislature were invited here and the students had prepared several essays, readings, recitations and songs, with which to entertain them. The visitors said some pleasant things to us which we appreciated, and they expressed themselves as having enjoyed our efforts to please them.

The students really deserved the praise they received. In their singing, especially, they did well. We read in the Bible that there will be singing in heaven, and if the colored people are "faithful unto death," they will certainly do their share there. I wish to mention the recitation of one of the young ladies, Miss Ida Belle Evans, which impressed me as being superior, in not only the rendering, but in her selection. It was the story of a fisherman's wife, who lived alone by the sea. Her husband was from home and she was alone, and it was night. Her babe lay upon her knee apparently dying. She was watching its breath as it grew fainter, suddenly she heard a sound, it was the voice of some one in distress. Again she heard it, she ran to the window and there she saw at some distance out on the water a ship all ablaze. The flame lighted up the sky and far out on the ocean. Her heart was filled with pity for the poor people, she knew not who, on the burning ship. What could she do! She prayed with all her soul that the Lord would take her child in his arms and do for it what was best, and help her to save the lives of those helpless creatures. She laid her babe lovingly in its cradle, and opened the door and stepped out in the snow and darkness. She ran to the church and climbed to the belfry and began ringing the bell. Peal after peal rang out on the midnight air, which soon aroused the neighborhood, and then plenty of brave, strong men with their boats were soon rendering assistance, and landed safely the terror-stricken sufferers. The sexton soon after found the woman lying unconscious in the belfry, and carried her to her home. When she was restored to consciousness she heard the soft cooing of her baby. A short time after she left it was found sleeping sweetly. God had indeed answered her prayer, and had made her instrumental in saving many lives, and her babe, too was restored to her.

I liked the teachings of that little story. When we go forth to the work God gives us in His strength, O, how He rewards us and how much we can do.

The school year is fast coming to a close. The days are passing pleasantly for we have plenty to do. The students are happy in the anticipation of soon enjoying home associations. We are saddened often with the thought that very likely we shall never see again some who go out from us. We hope that all of them will go away with the fixed purpose of making the best possible use of their lives.

I hope the SOUTHWESTERN may long continue to bless the world, and that the colored people may take a greater interest in it.

MRS. L. C. BRADEN.

Reasons Why I Am Not A Baptist.

1. Were I a Baptist I would virtually deny Christ in professing to be a follower of John the Baptist [illegible] church organization and [illegible] Baptist was [illegible] and [illegible]

2. Were I a Baptist I would cut myself off from communion with a very large majority of the truly Christian world—perhaps my own mother.

3. To become a Baptist would say to the world, I regard all other so-called church organizations as spurious pretenders, without authority to teach or preach or administer the sacraments of the church of Christ.

4. By being a Baptist I deny being a Protestant, and cut myself off from those pure men that have protested and do protest against the crying errors of Romanism, and assume the motherhood of all the wicked errors of the papal church.

5. In becoming a Baptist I enslave myself to a church that denies me the right of withdrawal or change of denominational relations without subjecting myself to the disgrace of expulsion from its communion.

Reasons why a Methodist cannot become a Baptist: All of the above five reasons together with the fact that in doing so I have to submit to a re-baptism to be administered only by a Baptist minister, and thus, like the Baptists, confound myself before the intelligent world by saying, Though water baptism itself is not essential to salvation, yet the mode thereof is essential.

Reasons why I am not an Episcopalian: In addition to reasons 2 and 3, as given above, I would, by becoming an Episcopalian, say to the world that I believe in water baptismal regeneration, and that little children are lost if not the subjects of water baptism, and thus say to the world that God, through Christ, by his Spirit, cannot save a soul without the help of frail human agency.

Lastly. For a Methodist to join either of these Churches he is circumscribing himself, in all respects, as a co-worker with Christ in the evangelization of the world.

Population of European Cities.

The following statistics of the number of inhabitants of some of the principal cities in Europe have recently been issued: There are 92 cities in the whole of Europe, each containing a population of more than 100,000, but only four of which have more than a million, viz: London, 3,832,440; Paris, 2,525,910; Berlin, 1,222,500; Vienna, 1,103,110. Of the other capitals St. Petersburg possesses 875,570; Constantinople, 600,000; Madrid, 367,280; Buda-Pesh, 360,580; Warsaw, 339,340; Amsterdam, 317,010; Rome, 300,470; Lisbon, 246,340; Palermo, 244,990; Copenhagen, 234,850; Munich, 230,020; Bucharest, 221,800; Dresden, 220,820; Stockholm, 168,770; Brussels, 161,820; Venice, 132,830; Stutgardt, 117,300. In addition to these Moscow contains 611,970; Naples, 493,110; Hamburg, 410,120; Lyons, 372,899; Marseilles, 357,530; Milan, 321,840; Breslau, 272,910; Turin, 252,830; Bordeaux, 220,960; Barcelona, 215,960; Odessa, 193,510; Elberfeld, 189,480; Genoa, 179,510; Lille, 177,940; Florence, 169,000; Riga, 168,840; Prague, 162,520; Antwerp, 150,650; Adrianople, 150,000; Leipsic, 149,080; Rotterdam, 148,000; Cologne, 144,770; Madgeburg, 167,130; Frankfort, 136,820; Toulouse, 136,630; Ghent, 127,650; Messina, 126,500; Hanover, 122,840; Nantes, 121,960; Liege, 115,850; The Hagne, 113,460; Oporto, 105,840 and Rouen, 104,110.

The Bishop of Durham is one of the most learned and excellent of English prelates and his official charges are valuable documents. The one which he delivered last contains a suggestive reference to the Salvation Army. He says the Army is "fast degenerating into a sect," and that its extravagances are developing more "rapidly than its excellences." Both these statements may be correct. But the outlook of the Bishops has changed. A year or two ago they expected to be able to incorporate the Army with their Church, and then they were a little oblivious of the defects. Now they are beginning to be convinced that General Booth is too sagacious and too jealous of his own influence and authority to hand the Army over to the control of the Bishops and the Anglican Church. He never entertained any such suicidal thought, and the Bishops must have been exceedingly [illegible] in their discernment [illegible] that he could be carried [illegible] such a decision.—Lon.

Woman Suffrage.

In Wyoming where woman suffrage was legalized in 1869, and where it has been in practice ever since, say for thirteen years, the following testimony, which looks to us pretty conclusive, is borne concerning its results by the Laramie Sentinel:

1. Fewer women fail to vote than men.

2. Women are less persistent office-seekers than men.

3. When elected they make good officials.

4. They are entirely free in their action.

5. There are no signs of demoralization on account of obtaining the franchise.

6. The polls, once riotous, are as orderly now as churches.

7. The votes and influence of women have doubled the power of the better element in society.

It is probable that in all rural or village constituencies the same results might be expected as those above described by the Wyoming journal. In large cities there might be more difficulty; but, even there, with a proper system of giving in votes, there might be great improvement if women voted. —N. Y. Witness.

Normal Schools.

The question of special schools is settled the civilized world over, in the affirmative. The principle of the division of labor, which specializes all human endeavor, creates special schools. The people who wake up now and then, and, after rubbing their eyes, start an inquiry as to whether we shall have normal schools or not, are either talking about a question they are boorishly ignorant of, or they are educational Rip Van Winkles—Miss. Journal.

There is said to be considerable uneasiness in China over the treaties recently negotiated by the United States and Japan with Corea. Of course, the negotiation of treaties necessitates the acknowledgment of an independent sovereignty on the part of Corea, whereas China has for centuries claimed a sort of authority over that country, which Corea has acknowledged by the payment of tribute. It is probably well that Corea should be an independent nation, and should be acknowledged as such by the leading powers of the West; but it is not perfectly clear why the United States just now should join Japan in taking the initiative step in the matter. There does not seem to be a very pressing demand growing out of commercial interests; for until active measures are taken to bring our commercial marine to some degree of strength and importance, we can hardly be said to have any interests in that line sufficient to justify the formation of a treaty, much less to risk the awakening of unpleasant feeling on the part of a great power, toward which we have already acted with an unfriendliness not at all wise or becoming.—N. Y. Advocate.

It is said that a few years since not one of the colored people in Crittenden county, Kentucky, could read. Now there is a newspaper owned and conducted by colored men in that county, and a few schools likewise; while decided advance is reported in the general condition of these people. In the Louisville public schools the colored children are found to average as well as the white children, though it is to be remembered that white children enter at an earlier age than the others. Until this year the whole expense of educating Kentucky colored boys and girls was paid by that race, and the sole reason why the State has undertaken to look after this portion of its inhabitants is given by the Louisville Commercial as a fear that the colored children would demand admission into white schools and enforce their claim by the aid of the national authorities.

A little three-year old had fallen down and hurt her knee, and as she sat rocking in her little chair, pitying and rubbing the injured part, she suddenly looked up and said: "Did God make me, mamma?" "Yes, dear." "Well, said she "if He's got any pieces left, I wish He would mend my knee!"

There was a lawsuit in Omaha last week, in which is involved an alternative morals. A young man hired a horse and cutter at a livery stable to give his girl a ride. The horse got frightened, ran away, and injured the young man. He sued the owner for damages. But the owner proved that the horse was frightened by a struggle between the occupants of the cutter concerning a kiss. The young man was non suited. The possible moral is, either that kissing should be done in a safer place, or the girl shouldn't struggle.

CRANBERRY SAUCE.—One quart of water, two quarts of white sugar and two quarts of cranberries. Put all together in a saucepan, and let it stew for an hour. Strain and cool in jelly molds. Serve with roast poultry.

GOOSE PIES.—An old goose is as nearly good for nothing as it is possible for any thing which was once valuable—and is now absolutely spoiled—to be. The best use to put it to is to make it into a pie in the following manner: Put on the ancient early in the morning, in cold water enough to cover it, unsalted, having cut it to pieces at every joint. Warm it up gradually and let it stew, not boil hard, for four or five hours. Should the water need replenishing, let it be done from the boiling kettle. Parboil a beef's tongue (smoked) cut into slices, nearly half an inch thick; also slice six hard-boiled eggs. Line a deep pudding dish with a good paste; lay in the pieces of goose, giblets chopped, sliced tongue and eggs in consecutive layers; season with pepper, salt, and bits of butter, and proceed in this order until the dish is full. If the goose is large, cut the meat from the bones after stewing, and leave out the latter.

CREAM OF CELERY.—Cut celery into very small pieces, rejecting the toughest green portions. Add only water enough to keep it from burning, and boil it in a closely-covered vessel for an hour, or until perfectly tender. Then add a sufficient quantity of milk, first thickened with a tablespoonful of flour to each pint, previously rubbed smooth with two tablespoonfuls of butter, and salt and pepper to the taste, very little of the pepper. Boil and serve as soon as thoroughly cooked. If made moderately thin with the milk, flour and butter, it can be rubbed through a colander, when it gives a delicious cream-like soup. Smooth squares of bread, well browned, are frequently put into the soup when finished. A bowl of the soup with bread makes a [illegible] supper-lunch.

[illegible] was imposed upon the head of the family. Finding that in some instances the educaton of the children and servants was still neglected it was ordered, prior to 1647, that the children of all such parents and servants of such masters be placed by the authorities under the guardianship of other heads of families, the boys until the age of twenty-one and the girls till the age of eighteen. This order applied to both children and servants. It may be thought out of place, but we are constrained to put this along side the following clause in the codes of most if not all the Southern States prior to 1860:

"If any slave, Negro, or free person of color, or any white person, shall teach any other slave, Negro, or free person of color to read or write either written or painted characters, the said free person of color or slave shall be punished by fine and whipping, or fine or whipping at the discretion of the court. And if a white person so offend, he, she, or they shall be punished with a fine not exceeding $500, and imprisonment in the common jail at the discretion of the court."

Here are two forms of civilization. One counting the neglect to educate children and servants an offense to be punished by fines, the other the slightest effort to teach servants an offense to be punished by whipping, imprisonment in the common jail, or fines, at the discretion of the court. So this awful illiteracy in the South is but the result of a deliberate policy in the past. And the damning sin of the fathers is visited upon the children; they have sown the wind and are reaping the whirlwind. And when we look at the amount expended per capita for the education of the enrolled pupils in the public schools, we see that but little is being done to remedy this evil ignorance. There seems to be an unwillingness on the part of the people to tax themselves in order to maintain public schools. Turning to the census of 1880, we find the amount expended in each State per capita for the education of the enrolled scholars. Georgia pays $1 99 per capita; Iowa, $12 25; North Carolina, $1 12, while Connecticut the amount of $17 80. In Alabama the amount is $2 09; in Massachusetts, $14 93. South Carolina pays $2 42; New York, $10 09; Mississippi, $2 70; Illinois, $9 61. One cannot help ask why this difference! Turning again to the census we find the amount of illiteracy in these States where there seems to be the greatest unwillingness on the part of the people to tax themselves for educational purposes the most dense. Nor is this illiteracy confined to the colored population. In Alabama 25 per cent of the native white population ten years old and upward are not able to write; in North Carolina it is 31 per cent; Arkansas 25 per cent; Georgia 23 per cent; Kentucky owes 22 per cent and the same in South Carolina, while in Tennessee it is nearly 28 per cent. This illiteracy cannot be charged to the inability of the people to learn. But it does show a want of appreciation of the value of education and an unwillingness to be taxed for the support of schools. There are communities with almost endless resources of material wealth prodigal in self-indulgence, but parsimonious in this provision for the education of the rising generation, their children growing up in the most dense ignorance to the death of the State and the Nation.

Mr. Kellogg's Indictment.

So many items of circumstantial evidence have been made public since the commencement of the Star Route trials, connecting Senator Kellogg with the corrupt transactions of the men who defrauded the Government, that his indictment by the grand jury on the 27th inst., was generally received without surprise.

The presentment against Kellogg charges that, as Senator from Louisiana, he unlawfully received from J. B. Price $20,000 for influencing Brady to increase the pay on the routes from Monroe to Shreveport and from San Antonio to Corpus Christi. The witnesses are Walsh, Price, Cochran and J. W. Brady. The presentment against Kellogg and Brady, jointly, charges that they conspired with Price to defraud the government by means of [illegible] and fraudulent allow[illegible] pay, etc., on [illegible] and [illegible] attempted [illegible] be [illegible] and thus the law and evidence were strongly in favor of the government.

It is said that Mr. Kellogg's attorneys assert that the statute of limitation has run against all the charges preferred against him in these indictments. Again it is said that Mr. Kellogg is considering the preparation of a public statement in his vindication. But of what avail the pleading of a statute of limitation or a public card will be in the way of clearing up Mr. Kellogg's smirched character, we are at a loss to imagine. A few days ago Mr. Dorsey rushed into print, to anticipate the legal verdict, with professions of innocence and assertions of an attempted persecution, but we have not heard of any modification of public opinion as to his guilt in consequence of it. To take shelter behind the statute of limitation is tantamount to a confession of guilt, and would ill become one so loud in his protestations of innocence, and who has held so many prominent public positions as Mr. Kellogg

On the contrary, if Mr. Kellogg's hands are clear of the defilement charged against them he should rejoice at this unsought and unexpected opportunity to establish beyond all doubt, his integrity. On two previous occasions, owing to legal quibbles, or "good luck," as some said, Mr. Kellogg was deprived of this high privilege, and the wicked chuckled and the good people were puzzled. If, however, Mr. Kellogg feels the weight of his guilt pressing upon him, and he seeks an alibi, hides behind a statute of limitation, or flies from a judicial examination to a partisan appeal, the solemn duty will devolve upon his constituents to request his resignation or petition the new Congress to declare his seat vacant. In the work of civil service reform, no man's past services, however honorable, should grant him immunity from the punishment due to the bribe taker and public corruptionist.

The report of Dr. McFerrin, agent of the publishing house of the M. E. Church South, Nashville, Tenn., shows a decrease of sales from the previous year of nearly fifteen thousand dollars. Here is one of the churches in America increasing in its membership, steadily and largely from year to year, and its great publishing house reporting a decrease in its sales.

PERSONAL.

—The health of Bishop Peck is announced as improving. His colleagues advised him not to attend the Vermont Conference.

—Congressman Thos. H. Herndon, first Alabama district, died on the 28th, and was buried in Mobile with imposing ceremonies.

—Dr. George F. Kettell, presiding elder of Brooklyn district, N. Y., East Conference, died, aged 68 years. He was a good and strong man.

—Bishop R. S. Cain, of the African M. E. Church, expects to sail in June with four missionaries for Monrovia, Africa, to establish a mission under the auspices of that church.

—Ex-Senator John B. Gordon, of Georgia, denies that he registers himself as a citizen of Florida, and has Senatorial aspirations in that State. He is pushing the construction of railroads.

—Bishop Campbell, of the A. M. E. Church, had paid full fare, but was driven from a first-class to a smoking car on the Western and Atlanta railroad. His representations to the road have received no attention.

—In the issue of March 29, Wm. H. DePuy, D.D., closed his connection with the Christian Advocate. To us this is a source of regret. We are sorry to part with Dr. DePuy. Our people all through the South have felt that in him they had a true and tried friend.

—It is announced in the last issue of the Christian Advocate that Mr. Robt. R. Doherty, of Jersey City, N. J., is to be the successor of Dr. DePuy, and will at once enter upon his work as assistant editor. Mr. Doherty has had considerable editorial experience, and is to give all his time to the duties of his new position. We certainly wish him the greatest measure of success.

—Our advices from Monroe, La., are to the effect that Chas. Merritt, who left here in response to an advertisement for a [illegible] [illegible] has completed a [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible]

[illegible] Apply [illegible]

—The publishers of H[illegible] Weekly availed themselves of [illegible] of our local talent, and by assistance of Mr. C. Whitney and L. Hearn, of the Times-Democrat staff, were enabled to give an illustrated sketch of St. Malo, La., in the Weekly of March 31. Mr. Hearn, in his usual thorough and graceful manner, has written a sketch of a village of Malay fishermen on the Southeast coast, the existence of which was previously but little known and whose inhabitants often indulge in ways that are vain if not wicked. Hr. Hearn is introduced to the readers of the Weekly in a Texas sombrero, and Mr. Whitney as a rakish Southerner, in which disguise the friends of those amiable literary gentlemen will find it hard to recognize them; but it is barely possible that association with the leading spirits of St. Malo led to this result.

—Frederick Douglas's autobiography has been translated into French and published in Paris.

—Rev. James Mitchel, D. D., of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting his old home, at Jeffersonville, Ind., after an absence of several years. He preached at Wall Street Church, Sabbath evening last, with acceptability. Brother Mitchel was for several years a member of the South-east Indiana Conference. When Mr. Lincoln became President, brother Mitchel was called to Washington to engage in work there, where he remained until Mr. Johnson's administration. For several years he was a member of the Virginia Conference, from thence was transferred to Georgia, where he has been in labors abundant, both as a presiding elder, a pastor, and in an effort to build up the educational work of the Church.—Western Christian Advocate.

—Nathan Goff, Esq., of Clarksburg, West Virginia, an uncle of the Hon. Nathan Goff, congressman elect from that State, has for sixty years, notwithstanding his numerous and engrossing business engagements, been a volunteer distributor of the Scriptures. He thus concludes a letter to the American Bible Society; "During the war I continued the distribution throughout Harrison county, and also gave a great many Bibles and Testaments to soldiers in the Union army. From my earliest connection with the cause, whenever I have sent to the Parent Society I have met with prompt and generous answers to my requests. After the war I began to supply the freedmen. At one time the Society sent me a donation of seventy-five Bibles for that purpose. It is understood all through this country that I keep on hand all kinds of Bibles and Testaments for sale and for gratuitous distribution to the poor, so there is hardly a day passes that I do not distribute from one to twenty. As near as I can calculate, I have distributed between 23,000 and 24,000 volumes."

—From two copies of The Evening Star, of Kansas City, Missouri, we learn that Rev. August Gottschall, who is well and favorably known in this city, has not been idle since he left here a few months ago to better his circumstances. He commenced evangelical labors in the workhouse and is reported to be the first man to make the slightest headway in that stubborn field. He carried them books and delicacies, won the confidence of old offenders, and when released penniless he has fed and kept them. So generous was he in the use of his means that he was greatly afflicted by poverty, and an operation performed for a disease of the optic nerve made him almost blind and absolutely unable to work. The Ministers Alliance appointed a committee to look up the matter, and presented him with a collection taken for his benefit. Said the Star of Feb. 26: "Rev. August Gottschall still continues his religious work among the inmates of the work house with most gratifying results. Although Mr. Gottschall is scarcely able to walk he still persists in his work of regeneration and yesterday preached his discourse seated on a soap box. In the male department eight of Recorder Jones's victims professed repentance and came forward to acknowledge their sins. A fine Bible was presented to the notorious Bell Payne who has professed a change of spirit lately and who now prays as energetically as she formerly cursed."

La Teche Seminary.

[illegible]

[illegible] to organize a [illegible] preparatory to the New Orleans Universi[illegible] which we did, naming it La Teche Seminary, after the name of our vil[illegible] school was, from the [illegible] nized by the Freedmen's Aid Society, and has always had a place in its list of institutions as published in the annual report."

The number of scholars in 1875 was 138, of whom 32 were of academic grades. In 1876 this school was in charge of Mr. R. L. Thompson. In 1877–'78 it was taught by Miss Mahaffy. In 1878–'79–'80 it was suspended i. e. during our travels in the North. In 1881 it was reorganized; and in that year the number of scholars was 215, the list being published in the catalogue of the NewOrleansUniversity. In 1882 the number became 255. The neat little church in which our people worship—largely the gift of the Church Extension Society—has been occupied by the Seminary until now. Thank God! we are now in the new room, a part of the reconstructed ORPHAN'S HOME, a commodious and beautiful room, 60 feet by 24 feet, with outlook directly over the Bayou Teche.

The La Teche Seminary has furnished the New Orleans University with excellent receipts every year and some of our youth have been among her best students.

In 1876 we acted for the Freedmen's Aid Society, taking its collections within the limits of the Philadelphia Annual Conference. We were instructed to devote the collections to the New Orleans University and the Orphan's Home, one-half to each. The collections of that conference the previous year had been $2,650. In 1876–'77, they became $3,968, an increase of $1,318, about 50 per cent. We paid to the New Orleans University $2,136; to the Orphans' Home, $1,832; total $3.968.

A report of this year's work was presented to the Orphans' Home board in the spring of 1877 and by them accepted and filed. We were able thus to meet all the current expenses of the New Orleans University for that year excepting $600, paid to one of the teachers, beside affording so much relief to the Orphans' Home.

In the years 1877–'78–'79–'80, a period of three and a half years, we were traveling in the Northern States with a company of singers, in order to raise money for the Orphans Home, its further existence being threatened by debts. December 31, 1880, we had remitted for—

Payment on debts	$4104 90
We had cash on hand	676 06
Paid for school Requisites and books for Sem. Library	102 86
" for Mason & Hamlin organ for Sem.	50 00
" Hardware for Orphans' Home building	19 16
" for moving expenses, including railroad tickets and freights from New York and New Orleans, together with insurance	248 07
Cash on hand	676 00
	5200 00
Adding amount for 1876	1832 00
	7032 00

We thus show a record of more than $7000 at the beginning of 1881, the figures rather understate the result. There can be no harm in adding that, beside the above, myself and Mrs. G. during 1875–'6, gave the Home in payment of some of its debts, $534, no formal report being made We have also in hand the gift of the M. E. Tract Society, of the Messrs. Harper Brothers, New York, of James Worthington, Esq., New York, and of H. M. Ingham, Esq., of Cleveland, Ohio—about 500 books for the Seminary library, the value of which cannot be less than $500.

Balance given by us to Home in 1881		787 34
Add amount at beginning of year		8191 00
Total of contribution Dec. 31, 1881		$8978 43

These figures show the standing of our work financially at the date of Dec. 31, 1881. The reports for 1882 are not quite ready; but will soon be presented to the Orphans' Home board. They will show a considerable increase of the contribution.

It may be observed that we have served without salary for a number of years. In 1876 when we had to preside in New Orleans, and take collections in Philadelphia, we had a salary of $1200. Since then, we have paid our own way by the hard[illegible] of work. If we had received $1200 per annum for the last six [illegible] we might have achieved [illegible] for the Home [illegible]

We are thankful for the co-operation of the School Board, who are among the best friends of the education of the colored race.

The Death of a Friend.

DEAR EDITOR—Insert this as my last tribute of honor and respect to my dearly beloved cousin who, a few days since, departed this life to meet his reward. On last Saturday morning I, a member of the House of Representatives, received information of the illness of my cousin, Arthur Murray, and immediately started for home and was met with the shocking intelligence of his death. I was forced to return to Little Rock bathed in tears. Mr. Arthur Murray, son of my uncle, Marshall Murray, was born near Glennville, Ala., Sept., 1846, and died March 9, 1883, aged about 37 years. A host of friends are left to mourn the loss of one who was patriotic to his country and a lover of his family. Not the people of his county alone will miss him, but every man in the land that knew him. He had been a successful farmer ever since the surrender in 1865. It is evident that he was endowed with extraordinary mind and intellect. Born in abject slavery, but by the mercies of an overruling providence was made free. While the agony of the bereaved family was heartrending, many assembled to shed tears of sympathy. But though the loved one be gone forever from them, the bereaved family can live in happy consciousness of a joyful reunion hereafter, for the Lord giveth and He taketh. Oh how shocking to know of the death of this one! May the blessing of God overshadow, protect and keep his bereaved family in safety, and in the end bring them into the realms of everlasting enjoyment. To him, the deceased, requiescat pace.

Yours, in Christ,
M. M. MURRAY.

NEW BOOKS.

THE HISTORY OF THE SCIENCE OF POLITICS. By Frederick Pollock. Price 15 cents. J. Fitzgerald, Publisher, 30 Lafayette Place, New York.

In the compass of a small volume, the author gives a spirited and detailed sketch of the development of politics from Socrates' day to our own time. For sale by newsdealers.

PEERLESS PRAISE. A collection of hymns and music for Sabbath Schools, with a complete department of Elementary instruction in the theory and practice of vocal music By J. H. Kurzenknabe, Published by John J. Hood, 1018 Arch street, Philadelphia. Price 35 cents.

Music has no doubt contributed largely to the success of the Sunday schools cause in America. It is pleasing to note the improvement, both in hymns and music designed for our Sunday schools. We think in this respect the Peerless Praise is fully abreast of any book published and that it will be received with "favorable consideration by the friends of Sabbath school song everywhere."

It is estimated that the New Orleans Pacific Railway Company will get about 1,640,000 acres of land in Louisiana by the late decision of the Secretary of the Interior, giving that company the "Backbone land grant."

A Singing Congregation.

Chaplain C. C. McCabe has received the following:—

"Dear Chaplain: Let me thank you for your last musical achievement, viz, the '52 Hymns of the Heart.'

I introduced a few copies as an experiment, but they were perfectly contagious and in such demand that three hundred copies have been sold to members of my congregation alone. Now the singing is wonderful. I never heard anything like it in my life. All the people sing, and it must be that ours is the banner church in Methodism. Come and hear us if you don't believe it. DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER.
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

United States Flagship Nomad,
Navy Yard, Boston, Mass.
January 10, 188-.

My Dear Friend:—Your kind favor containing congratulations on my restoration to health is before me. When we parted thirty months ago little did we imagine that either would be brought near death's door by a disease which selects for its victims those who present an internal field of constitutional weakness for its first attack, because you and I were in those days the personification of health—and can claim this to-day, thank God! Why I can do so will be told to-morrow, when we meet at your dinner, as you only know that I have passed through a terrible illness; my delivery from death being due to the wonderful discovery in medical science, made by a man who to-day stands in the front rank of his fellow-workers—unequaled by any in my own opinion. That I, who heretofore have ever been the most orthodox believer in the old school of medicine, its application and results, should thus recant in favor of that which is sneered at by old practitioners, may startle you, but "seeing is believing," and when I recount the attack made on my old hulk, how near I came to lowering my colors, and the final volley which, through the agency above mentioned, gave me victory, you will at least credit me with just cause for sincerity in my thankfulness and belief. I will also spin my yarn anent my China cruise, and also expect to entertain us well as be entertained by you. With best wishes. Sincerely yours,

———

Rear Admiral U. S. Navy.

HON. GEORGE WENDELL,
Sinclair Place, Boston.

An autumnal afternoon in the year 188- found the taut flagship Nomad rounding the treacherous and dangerous extremity of South America. And this day certainly intended to place itself on record with those of its predecessors marked stormy, its nastiness in wind and weather giving all hands on board the flagship their fill in hard work and discomforts. The record of the Nomad on this cruise, which she was now completing on her homeward bound passage to Boston, had been most disagreeable, when considered in the light of heavy weather work. From Suez to Aden, then on to Bombay, Point de Galle, Singapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Nagasaki, and Yokohama, the balance sheet stood largely in favor of old Neptune's rough characteristics, but with remarkable evenness the health and original roster of the ship's company stood this day as it did nearly three years ago with one exception. Throughout the diverse and varied exposures incidental to cruising over the Asiatic station, where cholera, fevers, liver complaints, malaria, and colds of all degrees reign in full force, none of the crew had suffered more than temporary inconvenience, and thus it seemed [illegible] that [illegible] in the closing [illegible] there stood [illegible] against, a victory being at last scored for the destroying angel Death. When the Nomad reached Shanghai in the early portion of her cruise her admiral was the healthiest man aboard. A grand specimen of manhood was he. Over six feet in height, weighing two hundred pounds, broad in chest and strong in limb, he rightly claimed for himself a full share of Nature's blessings. While returning late one night from a diplomatic reception at the Consulate at Shanghai, through over-heating and insufficient protection from the dangerous effects of the peculiarly damp and searching night air, he caught cold. "Only a cold," remarked the admiral to the doctors of his ship, "and easy to cure." So thought the medical officers, but with a quiet though insidious progression, this cold clung to the admiral in spite of their best efforts [illegible], and when the time [came] for leaving Yokohama, homeward bound, the admiral realized that his lungs and throat were decidedly out of order. The doctors advised returning home by mail steamer to San Francisco, so that greater means for curing this persistent cough might be found in the Naval Hospital there; but the admiral preferred to stick to his ship, [illegible] imagining that his trouble would eventually be overcome by [illegible] treatment.

[illegible] admiral [illegible] very [illegible] admiral's case, [illegible] imagined that they [illegible] in check at least. [illegible] the formation of tubercles, [illegible] sweats and the now rapid consumption of lung tissues, which had set in with alarming symptoms, the patient realized that his cold had laid the seeds of that fell agent of Death, consumption. The hacking cough of the admiral had in itself been sufficient for serious consideration, and now, as in the warm autumn days the flagship gallantly rode over the blue waters of the Pacific, bound for Cape Horn, the doctors hoped much for success. But this boisterous afternoon found the good ship struggling with gigantic seas set off from the Cape by a fierce northerly wind. Leaden were the heavens and sad the hearts of all aboard, for that morning the usual bulletin of the medical officers had set forth this intelligence: "The admiral is in same condition as reported last night. A burning fever has been slightly reduced, while other symptoms are as heretofore announced." All understood these words without questioning. The beloved admiral had during the past two weeks sunk very low. The symptoms of blood-poisoning, a torpid liver, intense pains throughout the body, eyesight and mental faculties affected, appetite gone, through inaction of that great regulator—the liver. These were the means which had reduced the admiral from the pinacle of health to the valley and shadow of death. Consumption held full sway now, and the well-known skill of naval doctors was in this instance at least completely foiled.

The admiral had issued orders for the flagship to touch at Montevideo for coal, and it was the intention of the doctors to land the admiral there for treatment. But one man in the ship was wrapped in the gloom of despair, as standing by the weather-rigging on the poop deck he gazed absently over the seething waste of waters. This was the admiral's son, a lieutenant, and attached to his father's staff. He feared that the wear and tear of ship-life would sap his father's strength beyond endurance, and before the ship could reach Montevideo. Among a group of sailors gathered around one of the great guns on the spar deck stood the captain of the fore-top, Brown, a slight but healthy looking man. His companions were listening to a recital of his sufferings from consumption, which had developed while he was attached to the sloop-of-war Ranger, lying in the harbor of Yokohama a year ago, this "yarn" having been started by a discussion about the admiral's condition. The men had just returned from some work around the deck, an order for which had interrupted Brown's story a few moments previously.

"A year ago this day I was hove to in the 'pill man's' sick bay in the Ranger, then off Yokohama, an' I tell you, pards, 'twas no use pipin' my number, 'cause I was nigh on passin' in my enlistment papers for a long cruise aloft," continued Brown. "Consumption had me flat aback, and the doctor says it was no use to stow away his lush in my hold seein' that my bellows was condemned by a higher power than he could wrastle with."

"How did you pucker out of it?" asked a gunner's mate.

"Wa'all," replied Brown, "my Chinee washman come to me one mornin' an' he says to me, 'me hab got allee same Melican man medikin, do you heap good!' I says bring it off, Chang, I buy all the same. That afternoon Chang hove up with fourteen bottles of a lush, enough to kill or cure a whole ship's crew, an' that looked fresh in their nice wrappers. Says Chang, 'China man doctor hab got plentee more, he make heep good well with my sick, this number one medikin allee same through Yokohama.' Wa'all, I took the bottles an' told the doctor I was goin' to try one, as by the sailin' orders on the bottle, and the doctor he laughed and says 'twas no good, but I done as the regulations says from the first, an' here I am, ag'in the doctor's ideas to be sure!"

With this triumphant assertion Brown looked about the circle. Then, lowering his voice said: "boys, I've four of those precious bottles left—ain't give 'em all away yet after I was cured—an' if you all think that it would not be too free with the 'old man,' suppose I go to his son there on the poop deck an say what I have to you, an' askin his pardon, say we want the admiral to try [illegible] seein' [illegible] reasons for doing [illegible] This was readily granted, [illegible] out.

"Seeing that I was once cured of consumption, lieutenant, I make bold to ask if I can tell you how, an' why I've the reason for wishing you to use on your father what was my salvation."

In a few moments the lieutenant had Brown's story out, and much to the latter's gratification granted a ready permission to him. It did not take Brown long to run to his ditty box, get the bottles of medicine, and return to the lieutenant with them.

"I'm afeared that that the doctors will kick ag'in the use of this blessed stuff, an' what wid you do, sir," said Brown, as he placed the medicine in the cabin orderly's hands to be taken into the admiral's room.

"I will attend to that, Brown, and rest assured that your remedy will have a fair trial in spite of any opposition. It will not harm my father, judging from your statement and the opinion of the medical officers of the Ranger."

"Thank you, sir, an' God help the admiral to weather his trouble, is the prayer of all the ship," said Brown, as the lieutenant turned to enter the cabin.

There was no cessation in the storm that evening. The gale howled through the rigging in wild discordant tones; the great ship labored through the white-capped mountains of water threatened to engulph her with each burst of their storm-whipped crests. Within the admiral's cabin the Argand lights, the comfortable furniture, and the numerous evidences of the admiral's wanderings over land and water, as displayed in choice bric-a-brac and trimmings, gave to the room a warm, snug appearance, most pleasing this wild night to those within. In his stateroom lay the admiral, made comfortable by all that loving hands and willing hearts could suggest. By his side sat his son, who in a quiet voice was recounting to his father the interview with Brown, and the opposition met with from the doctors when the idea of giving this new medicine was broached.

"You were sleeping at the time, father, and therefore missed a laughable scene, made so, in spite of your condition, by the intense dislike displayed by the doctors for this 'new fangled-stuff,' this 'patent liquid,' which they declare should never with their consent be given to you. Well, I cut the matter short by saying that I would take all the responsibility and with your permission would administer it. That I obtained when I found you awake, and now you are under way, with the first bottle as per directions. I am satisfied, dear father, that it will do you good, a premonition filling my heart that at last we have founds the means of arresting the burning fever and hacking cough which have been troubling you so much."

The admiral's reply was cut short by a severe spell of coughing, during which he spat blood, and when finished he sank back exhausted. But the grateful look which he bestowed on his son was an additional assurance of belief in that which the admiral had at first sight dubbed as a possible but doubtful means of doing him any good. But laying aside his dislike for any but old established remedies, the admiral acquiesced in his son's request, and now, after this last spell, admitted that the effect of the dose had softened the dreaded severity of the racking cough.

* * * * * * *

Three weeks later found the Nomad making the harbor of Montevideo. After severe and prolonged weather she had rounded the Cape and now was standing in the harbor for the purpose of recoaling and watering. To one given to the study of human lineaments the faces of those aboard the flagship this bright morning would have afforded infinite scope for such pursuit. But the source of each man's happiness flowed from the same fountain of grateful joy. The beloved admiral was the cause of this. And why? If you could have seen the admiral this bright morning, dear reader, your answer would have been easily found in his face. A changed man was he. Victory was perched on his guidons! the dread enemy was slowly retreating! The fight was a severe one, but with no cessation in vigilant action and careful application of the contents of four bottles the admiral had turned the flank of consumption, and was slowly but surely driving him off the field with a [illegible] astounded the [illegible] all hearts with [illegible] that had won [illegible] Brown, [illegible] through his [illegible] that in [illegible] all [illegible] read them, [illegible] this great remedy could [illegible], coupled with the genius who discovered it,—the GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY! Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., the man [who has] given to his fellow men the [illegible] relief from all ills that mortal flesh is heir to."

"This is the name of the contents of that bottle on my table, and God bless the man who has found the secret of filling it with a medicine at once purifying and strengthening, wholesome and thorough in its results, and claiming, in my humble opinion, nothing for itself that it cannot reasonably perform. Nature's ally against the abuse of man!"

Well might the admiral sing the praises of that which had so unexpectedly rescued him from a fatal illness. When the ship anchored the first commission for the admiral's son to execute was a large purchase of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which, as the admiral sadly admitted, he had seen in every port the world around and only admired as an evidence of the energy and enterprise of an American who could thus place his Golden Medical Discovery in every nook and corner of the globe. But now he was one more to testify to the wonderful power of this medicine, and certainly did so in Montevideo, by praising it up to all the high officials who visited him.

A week later and the Nomad sailed for Boston direct. What the condition of the admiral was when she arrived there is shown in his letter above. Let it be recorded to the credit of the doctors on the flagship that they were completely cured of all dislike for the Golden Medical Discovery, used it faithfully on the voyage to Boston, and landed, through its wonderful power, the admiral completely restored; and more than one poor fellow who started out in the sick bay of the Nomad. What staunch friends the Golden Medical Discovery made in that ship!

The above, reader, is an outline of the story spun by the admiral to his friend when they met at the dinner. We will not touch on other portions of his interesting recital of his cruise in general, our aim being to record his testimony for the greatest wonder in medical science that this nineteenth century of surprising developments has produced.

From the wonderful power of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery over that terribly fatal disease consumption, which is scrofula of the lungs, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought favorably of calling it his "consumption cure," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine that from its wonderful combination of germ-destroying, as well as tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, antibilious, diuretic, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all chronic disease of the liver, blood, kidneys and lungs. Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the worst scrofula to a common blotch, pimple, or eruption. Erysipelas, salt-rheum, fever-sores, scaly or rough skin, in short, all diseases caused by disease germs in the blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great eating ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influences. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing tetter, rose rash, boils, carbuncles, sore eyes, scrofulous sores and swellings, white swellings, goitre or thick neck, and enlarged glands.

"The blood is the life." Thoroughly cleanse this fountain of health by using Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and soundness of constitution are established.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, had taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia, and torpid liver or "biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for such cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal as it effects perfect and radical cures.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, short breath, consumptive night-sweats, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. In the cure of bronchitis, severe coughs and consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and [illegible] possess[illegible] all [illegible] ling when compared with those of the Golden Medical Discovery. It rapidly builds up the system and increases the flesh and weight of those reduced below the usual standard of health by wasting diseases.

* * * * * * *

The reader will pardon the foregoing digression, prompted by our admiration for a remedy that performs such marvelous cures, and permit us to say that when the admiral returned to his home in New York the only cloud cast upon the happiness of the reunion with his family was caused by the continued illness of his eldest son, a young man of twenty-four, whose disease, when the admiral sailed from Montevideo, had been reported as succumbing to the treatment of the family doctor. But his father found it otherwise; the unfortunate young man was suffering severely from chronic disease of the kidneys and bladder. Before leaving Boston the admiral had purchased a copy of Dr. Pierce's book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." He read this valuable book thoroughly, and upon his arrival home had made up his mind as to the future treatment of his son. The latter was sent to the famous Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y., conducted by Dr. R. V. Pierce, and his competent staff of specialists, where, under skillful treatment, the sufferer soon found relief and a permanent cure.

In the library of his handsome home the admiral placed one of the four bottles sent him by the seaman Brown. Conspicuous in its pretty frame and stand it attracts all eyes, which can easily read the lines in golden letters inscribed on the tablet under the stand as follows:—"This bottle once contained the ammunition which secured for Admiral —— the victory in his battle off Cape Horn with the enemy consumption. His undying gratitude is thus shown for that which this bottle and its mates held."

The Jesuit Father, Antonio Julian, in his book on travels in South America, says: "This plant (The Coca) possesses all of the wonderful properties claimed by it." Commodore Gibbon (U. S. Exploring Expedition of the Amazon), says: "The Coca has properties so marvelous that it enables the Indians, without any other nourishment, to perform forced marches of five and six days. It is so bracing and tonic that by chewing it alone they perform journeys of 300 miles on foot without appearing in the least fatigued." To build up a broken down system, to relieve dyspepsia, biliousness, female monthly sufferings and nervous prostration, the Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic has no equal.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

The countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach; at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

[illegible] TESTIMONY.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 8, 1881.

Hop Bitters Co.:

I am 74 years old, have lived 38 years in Philadelphia, and well known among Germans, have been troubled 12 years with a white swelling on my right foot, and getting worse every year, very painful, and breaking out in hot weather. I consulted several doctors and they told me it was incurable and I would have to take it with me to the grave. Some time ago I lost my appetite, was costive, had headache, and fever, in fact was very sick. I saw in the German Democrat that Hop Bitters was what I needed. I got a bottle, took it one week and was as well again as ever, and to my greatest surprise right from the first, my swelling went down gradually and I taking another bottle got entirely well of it. The wife of my neighbor had two such swellings on her legs and three bottles cured her. I think this is a great triumph for your bitters.

JOHN STEIL,

No. 4 Young's Alley, above Willow St.

STIFFSHILL, IND., Nov. 13, 1881.

DEAR SIRS—I have read so much about Hop Bitters and always being afflicted with neuralgia, weakness, diseased stomach, never having much health, I tried a couple bottles; it has strengthened and helped me more than any medicine or doctor. I am now on a third bottle and am thankful that it has helped me, I will advise all that are afflicted to give it a trial. LUCY VAIL.

Hop Bitters Co.,

I have not been well for three years, tried almost every kind of patent medicines and no less than seven doctors, one of Elmira N. Y., none have done me any good. I finally tried your Hop Bitters and found them just the thing. I have praised them so highly there is a great number here who use them with great benefit and satisfaction.

Very Respectfully Yours, R. HUNT.

GENTLEMEN—The "Hop Bitters" meet with large sales and give general satisfaction, one case in particular you should know of. Mr. John B. Green, 728 Spring Garden St., Phila., Pa., has been suffering from kidney affection, which superinduced rheumatism. He tried physicians and remedies in vain. He was obliged to take morphine to induce sleep; his trouble was so great. Reading your advertisement in the "Christian at Work," he was prevailed upon by one of his daughters to try it. Three bottles effected a cure, and now he is an enthusiast for "Hop Bitters." He is one of the oldest residents in the locality named, and known as a gentleman of unusual probity.

I have been troubled with vertigo since last July, and have suffered greatly every night after any considerable exertion from dizziness and blindness. I tried two bottles of Hop Bitters, and since than have been entirely relieved.

Respectfully Yours,

Hop Bitters Co. June 15, 1881.

I have been suffering five years past with neuralgia, liver complaint, dyspepsia and kidney complaint, and I have doctored with fourteen different doctors who did me no good. At last I tried Hop Bitters, and after used a few bottles I received a great benefit from them, and if I had used Hop Bitters regularly I would have been well before. I know them to be the best medicine in the world for nervous diseases of all kinds.

Wicked for Clergymen.

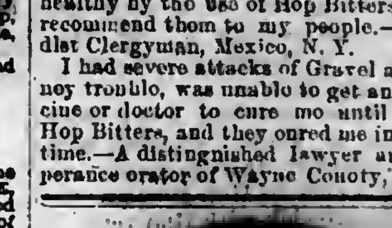
"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or patent medicines, but when a really meritorious article composed of valuable remedies known to all, and that all physicians use and trust daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them.

REV. B. R——, Washington, D. C.

A good Baptist clergyman of Bergen, N. Y., a strong temperance man, suffered with kidney trouble, neuralgia and dizziness almost to blindness, over two years after he was advised that Hop Bitters would cure him, because he was afraid of and prejudiced against the word "bitters." Since his cure he says none need fear but trust in Hop Bitters.

My wife and daughter were made healthy by the use of Hop Bitters and I recommend them to my people.—Methodist Clergyman, Mexico, N. Y.

I had severe attacks of Gravel and Kidney trouble, was unable to get any medicine or doctor to cure me until I used Hop Bitters, and they cured me in a short time.—A distinguished lawyer and temperance orator of Wayne County, N. Y.



Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while, to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair,

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts [a] agreeable and lasting perfume, and [as an] article for the toilet it is [un]surpassed in its excellence.

CHRIST IS RISEN.

BY MATTIE L. HOY.

Allelula! He is risen,
From the grave, the darkest prison.
Victory! victory, we are free,
For Christ hath bought our liberty.
Our God is mighty to save,
He hath triumphed o'er the grave;
Tell to every one you meet
The Lord hath done the work complete,
On his arm we can rely,
For He is with us, very nigh,
Though gone above the heaven's high,
Goes before our path to clear;
Goes before our burdens to bear;
Goes before our sorrows to share.
He who did for sin atone,
Is reigning now upon the throne,
Pleading with his Father alone,
For earth's creatures, all his own;
Spare, O, Father, mortal spare!
Stay thine hand another year,
For mankind to me is dear;
Since Jesus is our advocate,
We may go to God in our low state.
We need not stand like aliens afar,
Whose striving to enter will find no bar
To the pearly gate which stands ajar;
The fields of Beulah we may roam,
For Christ invites us to his home.

Nashville District Conference.

The first conference for the year commenced in Violet's Chapel, M. E. Church, Dickson, Tenn., March 13th, 1883. At 9:30 A. M. the P. E., James Picket, called conference to order. Devotional services by the same. On motion L. M. Hagood was chosen Secretary, J. F. K. Moreland assistant. The usual committees were appointed. The Presiding Elder's report with that of the pastors, showed the work to be prosperous. Small pox had somewhat prevented the work from progressing in some places, but everything moves on now. The spiritual and financial interests are being looked after, and an effort to increase them will be made. Several resolutions that will interest your readers were presented. The Committee on Education presented the following:

Resolved, That the education of our people is of vital importance to our financial and moral progress, and that we will labor for the establishment of common schools in every district in our bounds.

Resolved, That it is our duty to urge our young people, as far as possible, to secure a good common school education, and if possible [illegible] to attend the Central Tennessee College to go and prepare themselves for any position [illegible] may in the Providence of [illegible] be open to them.

Resolved, That we request all the [illegible] in our bounds to labor in [illegible] schools, and good, [illegible] at least, in case [illegible] teachers cannot be secured.

The following was offered:

WHEREAS, but comparatively [illegible] of our local preachers and officials [illegible] any church [illegible] no church [illegible] literature and [illegible] are not read; therefore,

Resolved, That we shall from [illegible] question the utility [illegible] any local preacher or [illegible] or appointing to any [illegible] in our church any [illegible] who will not [illegible] SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN [illegible] or some one of [illegible]

[illegible] aroused some [illegible] and Bro. C. [illegible] in addition the [illegible] young [illegible] of a [illegible] de- [illegible] year's course, and publish the report through our conference paper, the SOUTHWESTERN, and let them understand that no one's license will be renewed unless they pass a satisfactory examination before this committee.

The conference passed strong resolutions endorsing the prohibition movement and requesting all our members to subscribe to every proper petition and take all legal steps possible to stamp out this monster evil; to discourage the use of tobacco in every form by any and all with whom we have influence. The people of our church in Dickson (for the other denomination refused) entertained the conference right royally. A resolution requesting the Presiding Elder to consider the advisability of changing the seat of the next annual conference, in view of the fact that the church of Dover is too small and out of corporate limits of town, and that there is no telegraphic communication and mail irregular, and besides this the lay conference will meet with the annual conference and the good people of Dover cannot entertain them, was unanimously adopted, and the Presiding Elder said he would take the matter under advisement. The seat of the next conference was fixed at Nashville—City Mission—to be held in the new church recently erected. The programme of literary exercises was very interesting and all seemed well pleased.

Austin District Moving On.

MR. EDITOR—Beginning at Austin, Wesley Chapel, Dec. 30, 1882, we found Rev. H. Swann and his work all in good shape; the quarterly meeting passed off lovely. Pastor's salary was fixed at $650. The membership is 496.

Jun. 11, 1883, found us with the Rev. E. Nesbit at Cedar Creek. Here we met with a little, but faithful few; the meeting was good, and the pastor and people all seemed to be doing well. Pastor's salary was fixed at $100. Membership, 50.

Rev T. Wadkins and his brethdren met us at Simpson Tabernacle on the 13th, with their reports, and all in good shape. The conference was good. Bro. Swann preached for us here in the morning, and Bro. Wadkins at Wesley Chapel in evening. The Lord's supper was administered at both places the same day; thus began a union between the two churches that we hope will never cease. The pastor's claim is $375. Membership, 120.

The 27th found us on the Manor Circuit with that stiring brother, Rev. G. Norman, who had his men on hand in good time. The quarter was one of much good to that part of the work. The Baptist preacher that travels this circuit is such a powerful man that he says he can pour the Methodists out into a glass and drink them, so Mr. Editor you need not wonder if you should find some of us floating on some of the large streams, as we learn that all of the little rivers flow into the large ones. At this point the pastor's salary was fixed at $400. Membership about 80.

Feb. 8th found us on the McDade and Giddings circuit. We held the quarter and salary of the pastor was fixed at $260; membership about 80. The weather was so bad that we could not have any meeting.

The quarterly meeting for the La Grange circuit was held on the 13th, under unfavorable circumstances. A membership of 340 promises to pay the pastor $200. He has seven in family.

Our District Conference met at La Grange Feb. 15. There was not many of the members of the conference in attendance, but we certainly had a fine and prosperous meeting.

Bro. M. Smith was ready for us and had more places than he had men to fill, this the people did not like so well, as they had made ready and had killed the fatted hog, [illegible] and chicken. They wanted [illegible] to come and eat. Our [illegible] was with Sister L. [illegible] and we felt a little like [illegible] he said "Lord it is [illegible] had of the meeting that we left going on, there were eighteen accessions to the Church. The quarter was held at the same time and the pastor's salary was fixed at $300; membership 96. From La Grange we went over to Columbus and spent a few days there with some of our many friends. That Christian gentleman, Rev. G. W. Townsend, of Columbus circuit, and his lady gave us a pleasant call at the residence of Bro. E. Easons, where we stopped, and reported his work as in a good condition. On the evening of the 21st in the parlor of friend Eason, Mr. and Mrs. H. Webb presented their little Harry Webb, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jones presented little Eddie, Elvira and Quincy Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Eason presented little Lewis E. Eason; these children were dedicated to the Lord according to the usages of the M. E. Church by myself.

In company with Rev. G. Norman we returned to La Grange where we parted, and on the 23rd I found myself with Rev. I. Smith on the Cunningham work. Rev. P. M. Carmichael of Victoria was with us here and added to the success of the meeting by his presence and his sermon on God's thought of man. The work is in a good condition. Pastor's salary $400, membership 143. In company with Rev. C. Hart we left here on the 26th and stopped a few hours at Gidding to wait for the train. While there learned that the work had begun to revive and several had been received into the church.

March 3, the Rev. C. C. Robinson and his brethren met us on the Austin circuit. The meeting was good enough all the way through. Pastor's salary was fixed at $200, membership 63. More as we go on.

From Center Point to Fayetteville.

MR. EDITOR—Myself and many others, who know something about train-riding, are glad whenever we have an opportunity to go on the Iron Mountain & St. Louis Railroad for swift running and beauty; but from Center Point to Hope, the third station from Texas to Little Rock, is always dreaded on account of the unsolid road. Being appointed to the Fayetteville charge, we had to try the rough roads. From Center Point to Washington, with wife and children, we came slowly over the rocks and crossings, after being two days on the way. We got aboard the long dreaded train for Hope. Bump, jump went the train off into the mud, and after remaining from 4 until 12 P. M., after hard work by conductor and section hands, we were again on board. The rest of the passengers had gone on in hand-cars to make connection on the north bound train. We finally arrived at Hope Station and found some willing but unable to give us proper accommodation. I had disposed of my overcoat for means to travel, and the weather was cold. We arrived at Little Rock and took the Pine Bluff train. At Sweet Home we were kindly received and cared for, and I was able to collect some money due me when on this circuit, enough to carry us to Van Buren. Here we were assisted by Bro. Mack and Sister Wallace to board the train for Fayetteville, where the presiding elder came out with bright eyes and welcoming hands to meet us. Dinner was prepared and we were soon refreshed. Then we passed to the train and I redeemed my fifteen dollar watch I had given to the conductor for the half fare he demanded for my boy, and I felt happy.

The elder was here carrying on a grand revival, by which fifteen souls had been brought from darkness to light. I found the church in hallowed fire, but the congregation worshipping in a very small rented house. But they had a building spirit. We are now getting ready to begin on our new church. A house was rented for use as a parsonage, and filled with such furniture as we needed. Pray for us.

Letter from Lockhart.

EDITORS. As this is the first time since 1877 that I have written to your valuable paper, I hope you will indulge me a little space in your columns to speak a word about Lockhart. On the 22d of Dec. 1882, after returning from Conference at Columbus, your humble servant resigned the principalship of the San Antonio (col) City schools, and came, the next day, to this beautiful little town. Friends of all denominations greeted and treated me cordially. On Christmas day, Dec. 25 I had the pleasure of eating dinner at Brother William Soloman's house in company with three gentlemen of the Anglo Saxon race, yet of different nationalities; and when we bring brother Soloman, in, (he being a Mexican, but married to one of the leading colored ladies of this town,) and include myself, one of Ham's sons, we have five different nationalities brought face to face. Bro. Soloman a local preacher of our church and a good Christian, has a good trade and sticks right to it. I need not tell you, that our meeting and eating together was most enjoyable. Bad weather caused us not to be able to get about among our churches, till very recently. March 4th was the first time we were permitted to fill the appointment in the town church at Lockhart. We have on this work 3 churches belonging to us. Since Christmas, the brethren on Clearfork, one of our "points," led by the hero, Bro. Isom Ellison, have built themselves a nice little new church out of debt. No church had they last year in which to "worship," now they enjoy the blessings of God under their "own" vine and fig tree." It is beautifully situated upon a very high hill, commanding a view of more than 8 miles. In "String town," we have a very nice church, Bright's Chapel, situated among a number of large trees, very beautiful. Since Christmas, the people have gone forth manfully, purchased the needed remnant of lumber, and completed the church, which is now comfortable by addition of a large heater. At Lockhart Church, we've not done anything. Since I moved from San Antonio, my family have been domiciled at Bro. Charley Berry's, one of our trustees, who is a model in temperance to all around him. He neither uses tobacco, nor whiskey, and is a good Christian. While there no pains were spared by his nice family to make it pleasant for us. We moved on last Saturday March 3, to our parsonage in town. The house is very small and the friends and brothers have united to raise means to enlarge it. Over twenty dollars are at command and we only wait for time to do the work. Two more rooms are to be added right away. The brethren, (headed by Bro. Callihan, one of our trustees) have combined and bought, what they call a "pastor's horse." Since last Thursday this was done. A nice nag it is, too. To other charges, having two or more churches, I say, "go and do thou likewise" for your pastor. We've just organized at two of our three churches Sunday schools, and they are working tolerably well. At each church, for the good of our cause, we have started prayer meetings, as well as enlivening the class meetings. Our prayer meetings are prospering. I have a good people who are doing manfully their duties. All classes of people seem to be interested in us. Pray for us. Yours for success.

R. H. HARBERT.

The Accepted Time.

Souls are perishing all the time; souls are perishing now, and the Church, under God, is committed the duty and responsibility; by fidelity in work, in persuasion and entreaty, and in holy living, of saving some who for lack of that fidelity will be lost. Remember, too, that the obligation which rests upon the Church, rests upon each one of us who belong to it, and that it is not the Church as a whole that shall be judged, but that we, as individuals will have to give an account of our stewardship at the bar of God. Many of our acquaintance, and possibly, of our kindred, are still unsaved, and may be lost forever, if we fail in our duty to them. [illegible] says, "Behold [illegible] fact that some, nearer and dearer to us than life, have perished through our neglect, what regrets, what condemnation, what agonies of remorse for unfaithfulness to to them will be ours!

To the unconverted, God says, "Now, is the accepted time for your salvation. Now, if you will repent and believe I will forgive and save you." Now is God's time to save. He gives no assurance of salvation at any future time; promises no future opportunity; but says, "To-day, if you will hear my voice, harden not your hearts. Now is your time; the only time you are sure of. To-morrow it may be too late, because you may not live till to-morrow. Prepare to meet thy God. Be ready, for in such an hour as ye think not death may come. Flee the wrath to come. Turn ye, turn ye, for why will ye die?" Such is God's appeal to all impenitent souls. What response do they make? "Time enough yet;" or in the words of Felix to Paul, they say to God, "Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season I will call for thee." Consider the fearful import and sin of this answer; of presuming to say to the great Jehovah, "Go thy way. Leave me. Wait my convenience. Defer to me. Consult my preference. Waive your will and preference to mine. I know that it is my duty to repent now, but I do not choose to do so. Wait till I am ready. When I have a convenient season I will call for thee!" Surely there can be no grosser insult offered to God than this. It is willful disobedience of his command; and more, it is despising the riches of his goodness and forbearance and long suffering; it is rejecting the overtures of infinite love; it is grieving the Holy Spirit; it is trampling under foot the Son of God; it is a heartless disregard of his sufferings on the cross, and of his tender entreaties to accept him. He says, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any man will hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and sup with him and he with me;"

"All day long the Savior stands,
Shows his wounds and spreads his hands
Cries, Will ye not happy be?
Now, will ye not come to me?
Me who life to none deny,
Why will ye resolve to die?"

To all this, the sinner returns the heartless answer, Wait till I have convenient season.

The exceeding sinfulness of this response is equaled only by its fallacy. No sinner can have a more convenient season than the present to seek God. Hard as his heart is, it will never be more tender. Never will duty be plainer, never will it be easier for him to break off his sins by righteousness and his iniquities by turning unto God. On the contrary, the longer he remains in sin, the more complete its bondage becomes, and the more difficult it will be to break that bondage. Evil habits will be more firmly fixed, and conscience will gradually lose its grip. Every time the sinner resists God renders it easier for him to continue to do so until at length, his conscience will be "seared as with a hot iron." Instead of finding "a more convenient season," he will find, when it is too late, that he has sinned away his day of grace, and will wake up in eternity with the ferful wail: "The Summer is ended, the harvest is past, and I am not saved."

Wherefore it is certain that the best time to repent is now. To delay on the theory that "there is time enough yet," is sinful and perilous in the extreme. The sinner who slights God's "now," may never have another opportunity to seek him. Nothing is so uncertain as life. Any day, any hour, any moment we are liable to die.

"Dangers stand thick through all the ground
To push us to the tomb,
And fierce diseases wait around
To hurry mortals home."

"Now is the accepted time." "Now God commandeth all men everywhere to repent." Now the Holy Spirit strives. Now Christ pleads. Now "the Spirit and the Bride say, Come;"

"Now God invites, how blest the day!
How sweet the Gospel's charming sound!
Come, sinner, haste, O haste away,
While yet a pardoning God is found."

The Number Seven.

On the seventh day God ended his work.

On the seventh month Noah's ark touched the ground.

In seven days a dove was sent.

Abraham pleaded seven times for Sodom.

Jacob mourned seven days for Joseph.

Jacob served seven years for Rachel.

And yet another seven years more.

Jacob was pursued a seven day's journey by Laban.

A plenty of seven years and a famine of seven years were foretold in Pharoah's dream by seven fat and seven lean beasts, and seven ears of full and seven ears of blasted corn.

On the seventh day of the seventh month the children of Israel fasted seven days and remained seven days in their tents.

Every seventh year the law was read to the people.

In the destruction of Jericho seven persons bore seven trumpets seven days. On the seventh day they surrounded the walls seven times, and at the end of the seventh round the walls fell.

Solomon was seven years builping the temple, and fasted seven days at its dedication.

In the tabernacle were seven lamps.

The golden candlestick had seven branches.

Naaman washed seven times in the river Jordan.

Job's friends sat with him seven days and seven nights, and offered seven bullocks and seven rams for an atonement.

Our Savior spoke seven times from the cross, on which he hung seven hours, and after his resurrection appeared seven times.

In the Revelation we read of seven churches, seven candlesticks, seven stars, seven trumpets, seven plagues, seven thunders, seven virgins, seven angels, and a seven headed monster.

The predominence of the number seven in sacred and medieval history is remarkable and suggestive. Chaucer reports seven bodies—all metals—in alchemy, represented by the Sun, Moon, Mars, Mercury (hence the name for quicksilver), Saturn, Jupiter and Venus. Of course, when the sun was gold the moon was silver. The seven champions of Christendom became eminent patron saints, Saint George, of England; St. David, of Wales; St. Dennis, of France; St. Patrick, of Ireland; St. James, of Spain; St. Andrew, of Scotland and St. Anthony, of Italy. Each of them performed some remarkable feat involving the number seven. Greece, it is well known, had her seven wise men. There are the seven wonders of antiquity. These were the Pyramids, the Temples and Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the statue of Jupiter Olympus formed of gold, seven feet high; the Temple of Diana, at Ephesus, 220 years in building and supported by 127 marble columns 60 feet high: the Mausoleum of Halicarnassus, erected to Mausolus by his wife, Artemisia, 353 B. C.; the Pharos, a lighthouse 450 feet high at the harbor of Alexandria; the Colossus at Rhodes, the image of Apollo, 105 Grecian feet in height, at the entrance of one of the harbors at Rhodes. There are seven wonders of the middle ages, namely: St. Sophia's Mosque at Constantinople, the Coliseum at Rome, the Alexandrian Catacombs, the Wall of China, Stonehenge, Pisa's Leaning Tower, and the Porcelain Tower of Nankin. Many of these seven commend themselves to the desire of the human mind for completeness in great things. The idea of sacredness in seven lingers in the supposed special power of a seventh son, and still more in the seventh son of a seventh son. Persians, ancient Indians, Egyptians, Greeks and Romans had this sacred association with the number as a day for rest. The Hebrews did not magnify the seven but the seventh. Among them it became an easy starting point for all periodical and numerical matters in religion, as seventh month for a feast, seven weeks between feasts, seventh year as Sabbatical, and seven times that as the Jubilee. Then came seven days for marked periods too numerous to be mentioned, seven kinds of sacrifice and many others. So the number [illegible] into prophecy as a complete [illegible] God [illegible]

The Southern Exposition.

The main building for the Southern Exposition to open at Louisville, Ky., August 1st, is now in a sufficiently advanced stage of construction to give the spectator some idea of its extensive proportions. It will be one of the largest exposition buildings ever erected, as will be seen from the following comparisons of the area, in square feet, of the main buildings of the world's great industrial exhibitions:

London, 1851	989,884
New York, 1853	249,691
Paris, 1855	545,934
Paris, 1863	456,923
Vienna, 1873	430,500
London, 1862	1,400,000
Philadelphia, 1876	872,320
Atlanta, 1881	107,520
Southern Exposition at Louisville, Ky.	677,400

In the machinery department there will be four main lines of shafting speeded at 200 per minute. This uniform speed will obviate the inconvenience of separating the different parts of one exhibitor's group of machinery, as he may regulate the speed for his different machines by adjustment of his pulleys and counter-shafts. The rules for the machinery department, where power is desired, require application for space to be made before May 15, all heavy machinery to be placed before June 15, and all such heavy machinery to be ready for running before July 15. These rules and the general rules for exhibits are now in press and will soon be distributed.

The fare from all points in the United States has been fixed at one and one-third fare for the round trip during the Exposition. That is, if the regular round fare from a distant point is $48, it will be reduced to $32. Within a radius of several hundred miles, however, excursion rates will prevail, which will make the fare very much less. It is stated at the Louisville & Nashville Railroad office that that company has already arranged for increase of carrying capacity for the Exposition travel that will cost $150,000. The freight rates for exhibits will in a short time be arranged on the basis of freight one way. All indications point to more than a realization of the expectations of the most sanguine of the projectors of the Southern Exposition.

The attitude of the M. E. Church, or rather its southern policy, is creating no unfavorable criticism. It not only has its color line conferences, schools supported by money to aid the freedmen but closed to colored students, and churches in which colored members are advised not to visit. There is a coming irrepressible conflict and there is but one alternative, either this powerful denomination must abolish the color line or lose its colored membership. Perhaps that's what the M. E wants, in order to unite with the M. E. South.—People's Advocate.

The Advocate has either deliberately misrepresented the M. E. Church for a purpose, or has acted very unwisely in not properly informing himself before writing the above. Editors above all other men, should be truthful. Their position and influence demand it. They have the moulding of public sentiment — the morals of our youth in a measure will be just what the family newspaper makes them. In the discussion of political matters, we often find politicians resorting to falsehood and misrepresentation in order to carry their points, but we do not look for such among Christians when discussing ecclesiastical matters. A lunatic knows that one church is not a denomination, neither is one man a church. Because one man is a thief, are all men thieves? Because some Democrats are mean, are all Democrats mean? Because some Republicans are good men, it does not prove that all are good. Yet this is the inference to be drawn from the Advocate's hypothesis. Study the history of the M. E. Church before venturing to draw your quill against her again. There is no color line in the M. E. Church. A certificate of membership in the M. E. Church, has no sign board on it describing origin or color, and is respected wheever that Church has an organization. "Truth, I love thee." —National Witness.

He will present a draft of the commercial treaty with the United States to the Senate for ratification when he deems that the proper time has arrived. He considers this treaty beneficial to both countries, though not ratified by the American Senate. He congratulates Congress upon the peace prevailing throughout the country, and states that the few disturbances that have occurred since last September were purely local in character and have all terminated satisfactorily. The postal reform authorized by Congress would be introduced very soon, and he expected would produce substantial benefits to the country. The treasury receipts for the first half of the present fiscal year were larger than those of the same period of last year by nearly $1,000,000, but importation duties are falling off, which fact he explains thus: When the Central and National Railroads began the construction of their roads they drew all their money from abroad. Since they have completed long sections of their lines, the traffic receipts, with government subventions, have diminished their need for foreign money. The sudden introduction of such large amounts of foreign money lowered discounts and facilitated business. Since these companies have ceased drawing all their money from abroad, money has become scarce and interest has increased, consequently orders for foreign goods have increased. He says the development of all national industries has steadily increased, and he is confident the present prosperity will remain uninterrupted, but recommends Congress to be prudent and economical. [illegible] the Senior spoke, drunk[illegible] free, the Jews were offended. It hurt their pride to be represented as slaves, yet slaves they were, and such is every sinner. Sin is represented as a cruel master who will not allow his subjects to rest, but is always hurrying them on from one thing to another. The way of sin like the way of holiness is a way in which there is no standing still. There is this difference, holiness is an uphill road, but each step gives the traveler accelerated force. Yielding to one sin prepares the way for another, and strengthens the habit, and the habit once formed, like a mighty stream, it bears all down before it. The drunkard knows that every day he is wasting his substance, shortening his life, and ruining his soul, but still he calls for more drink. The debauchee was once a pure and sober man; his first impure thoughts were suggested by his associates. But having once broken the laws of chastity he has no control over his impure desires. Peter describes him as "Having eyes full of adultery", and adds "that they cannot cease from sin." Thus the sinner yielding to sins in various shapes, and like the child that is accustomed to rags and filth, loses all shame and feels no ambition to appear clean and decent. He is a slave to sin. He has sold himself for naught. His present and eternal ruin are complete unless liberated, and saved by the grace of Almighty God. The condition of the sinner is deplorable. The disease is not one merely of outward spots, "From within out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemy." It is no use to try to purify the stream till the fountain is cleansed. And a little reformation, or exchanging of vices, will never do this. Education can do some things but it can never change or purify the heart. We can grow in grace, but not into it. To the men who were pricked in the heart and asked Peter and the apostles what they should do, Peter said, "Repent." All reformation short of this is good for nothing, but the moment the sinner renounces all other hopes and dependencies and believes in Christ he shall be saved, "He is able to save to the uttermost all that come unto God by him."

"Redemption's the power of canceled sin,

Church Extension Report.

There lies before us the Seventh Annual Report of the Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the fiscal year January 1st to November 30th, 1882.

It is understood that the report now submitted is for eleven months only. In our examination of this report we turn first to the financial part of it, and find cause for mixed emotions. The receipts during the 11 months ending November 30, on general account were $125,790 08; on loan fund, $103,671 10, giving for use in 1882, $268,792 10; and showing an increase in 11 months in 1882 of $34,779 89, over the full year of 1881. This certainly is healthy progress. The report shows that during the 11 months the society has aided by donations only in the erection of 275 churches, by loans only 31, by donations and loans 125. Thus in 11 months it has aided in the erection of 434 churches, being one church for every day in the 11 months and 100 over. And Chaplain McCabe looks forward to the time when he shall sing

"All hail the power of Jesus' name,
We are building three a day."

In the summer of 1879 Chaplain McCabe became deeply impressed with the importance of our church occupying the Northwest. After an extended tour, he became satisfied that with a donation of $250 to encourage and inspire the people, a church suited to the wants of the people, costing from $1200 and upward could be secured. He accordingly made his appeal for special gifts of $250 each to procure the erection of 400 churches on the frontier. At the close of the first year only four churches were aided on this plan. But the effort was continued, and in 1880 23 more were procured. In 1881 45 were added, and during the 11 months of 1882 69 more were added, making in all 141 toward the 400. These frontier churches are valued at $261,595, and have been aided by special donations from individuals whose names are given in the report in the sum of $35,500, by the Church Extension in the sum of $21,500.

One of the interesting features of the Report is the tabulated statement showing where each church was built, its size, plan and cost, with the number of church members and of the Sunday-school, so each person can see the result of his or her gift. Of course we could not overlook the reference to the Louisiana conference, and here we find that Morgan City Union Chapel received $50; St Marks church, Rapides Parish, $75; Mt. Carmel church, East Feliciana Parish, $50; St James, Shreveport, $250, Pleasant Hill church, Sabine Parish, $100; Live Oak, $200; Cypremort, $250; and a loan of $250. All of this was done during the eleven months of 1882. We received from the Society $1,225.00 and paid into the treasury $174.50.

The following churches have had loans granted to them: Union Chapel in 1872-76-79 $4,100; Alexandria in 1874 $300; Algiers in 1874, $100; Pleasant Plains in 1875, $600; Mt. Zion in 1876 $1,000; Cypremort in 1882, $250.

We have never studied any of our church reports with more interest, and were never more deeply impressed with the importance of this work. We wish that our preachers would read this report, and bring the facts before their congregations. We here in the South need help, but they need it more in the new and rapidly developing parts of the country. We think that the Presiding Elders of this conference should apportion to their districts and the pastoral charges the amount asked of this conference, and give early notice to each pastor, and bring this matter before the Quarterly conference. Let us see what can be done. Evidently we can do better in the future than we have in the past.

The Loan Fund is the result of special contributions, controlled by the Board of Church Extension under the following restrictions: No part of it can ever be donated or used for current expenses. It can never be diminished, it is a perpetual fund. And while it may be loaned in small sums to any church or Society with or without interest as occasion may require, it must, however, be understood by all of our people that this is a sacred and a perpetual fund; it cannot be donated, it must be preserved without diminution a perpetual fund. In 1808 Bishop Kingsley thus epitomized the loan plan: "I am exceedingly well pleased with [illegible] Beal feature of the Board [illegible] I can think [illegible] with the glad tidings of what it has done, and goes again and builds or helps build another church, and comes back again saying: 'Here am I send me,' and goes again and again." Let us remember that this is a sacred and a perpetual fund.

The Texas Advocate, M. E. Church South, is a paper that we always read. We have met its editor and have had a high appreciation of him as a Christian gentleman. But once in a while we have been astonished at some of its utterances and could not see how our Bro. John could so write. Read:

"The New England systems of public schools, of which all others in this country are but copies, have been fruitful in their increase of bestial crimes, easy divorces, and the reign of lust. They have indeed shown that mere education of the mind is no guarantee of advance in morality. On the contrary, advancing the vicious solely in an intellectual direction distinct from moral education, is but adding to their force as emissaries of evil for the spread of all impurity."

We do not understand how it is that Dr. John could say that "the New England system of public schools have been fruitful in their increase of bestial crimes." Nor, how he could call all the public schools in this country copies of the New England system. But in the issue of March 24th we find the following item:

After a storm and rain Thursday night of last week, a yellowish deposit was noticed on the ground in Galveston. Chemical tests proved it, to the satisfaction of the testers, to be pollen; while others claimed it was sulphur drawn by peculiar atmospheric and chemical conditions from the salt sea. To the utterly uninitiated the sulphureous appearance was suggestive of the nearness of Galveston to Hades.

The Advocate is published in Galveston. Dr. John has, we believe, a pleasant home in that city. Hereafter when we see any of the sulphureous statements in the Advocate we shall understand that they all come from the nearness of Galveston, the place where the Advocate is published, and the home of its editor to Hades.

Dr. Watson in a recent address before the School of Theology in the Boston University said: "There were two receivings of Christ." We receive Christ first that we may become the children of God. "As many as received Him to them gave He the power to become the children of God."

In the second place we receive Christ in His fullness to our entire santification. "Of His fullness have we all received grace for grace." There were also, he said, two revealings of Christ. The first was to us, the second was in us. The first in the instant of our justification, the second in our santification. In pardon we are saved from actual sin, in santification we are saved from inbred sin. "To tell people to seek religion," he said, "is a humbug. We are to seek Jesus as a person for our personal salvation. Ministers may preach volumes of theology about Jesus and yet not preach Jesus." The world has has just now great need of ministers who speak of what they feel and know about Jesus. Facts are of greater consequence and have a greater influence than arguments. All Christians are said to be witnesses; a witness is not on the stand for argument, nor to speak of what he believes; he is to tell of what he knows. That which he has heard, which he has seen, which he has looked upon, and his hands have handled, he is to talk about. We would not place a low estimate upon religious doctrine. In fact we do not think there can be a correct religious life with an incorrect theory. Nor would we underestimate the value of a well ordered, consistent Christian life, but experience comes as a demonstration of the truth.

The government authorities of Bulgaria have, for reasons not yet apparent, forcibly closed our school at Sistof. Measures are being taken to obtain relief. The English Consul is exerting himself in our favor. Mr. Challis writes: "There is a strong influence being used against us in official circles, instigated by the Bishop, who is the chief politician in the country. But our real influence was never stronger among the natives. Our sale of books was never so large as last year." The Rev. R. W. Flocken, whose long experience entitles him to judge, writes: "I am not surprised at this news from Bulgaria, and have no doubt that this circumstance will result in good for the work of God in that land." The reported imprisonment of some of our preachers seems to have been [illegible] route journey [illegible] sympathizers, having assured [illegible] Attorney-General Brewster approved of the course of the government's attorneys [illegible] attention of the grand jury [illegible] him, the correspondents of the New York Times, Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, and other Republican papers, interrogated the Attorney-General on the subject. Mr. Brewster declared the reports, coming from whomsoever they might, to be utterly false. It was preposterous, he said, to suppose that counsel for the Government would take such a step without his knowledge or approval. His attention had been called to these cases in December, and he had insisted that they should be brought to the Grand Jury, no matter who should be hurt. As the law officer of the Government he could do no less. Mr. Ker had gone before the Grand Jury in the matter, because Mr. Merrick, representing the Attorney-General in court, was employed in a part of the case that demanded his constant attention at that time. Mr. Kellogg will not profit by any subterfuge. He must distinctly prove his innocence or go the way of once honored but erring statesmen.

Canada Methodists voted strongly in favor of union.

Few works are more instructive than the tables of the tenth United States census. All that relates to each State is carefully tabulated and so easily found. Take Massachusetts. Many supposed that as a State it would soon fall under the rule of foreign blood. The total population of the State in 1880 was 1,783,085. The native population was 1,339,594. The number of persons in the State over ten years of age not able to read and write was 74,935, but the number of native white persons unable to read was only 6,934, or one-seventh of one per cent. These tables show from what source the illiterates of the State come, and that it will be a long while before the old Bay State will fall under the rule of foreign blood.

We wish that we might have in New Orleans a great religious revival. We would like to see a general attack upon all the strong holds of sin and Satan, led on by some one, we would not care who, provided he led to victory. We want to see New Orleans taken for God. Take this city and it will be an easy matter to take the surrounding country. The whole city needs to be washed from its pollution. We want to see it as lively with religious emotion as we have seen some New England camp-meetings—warm enough to melt every religious iceberg, whether in the pulpit or pew. A little sharp shooting and skirmishing will not do. We need and must have a general engagement. To your closets and knees, O Isreal!

Last Friday, Confederate Decoration Day and anniversary of the battle of Shiloh, was celebrated by the laying of a corner stone of the monument to the dead of the Army of the Tennessee, in Metairie Cemetery, New Orleans. Congressman Charles Hooker, of Mississippi was the orator of the day; and Hon. Jefferson Davis responded to repeated calls, and delivered an eloquent tribute to the memory of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston. The Grand Army of the Republic, Mower Post, was invited and represented on this occasion.

—We had a pleasant call last week from A. B. Leonard, D.D., presiding elder of the Cincinnati District, Ohio Conference, and J. W. Gaddis, D.D., pastor of the Asbury M. E. Church, Cincinnati. Dr. Leonard preached at Ames at 11 a.m., and worshipped at Union Chapel in the evening. These brethren had seemed to have no doubts as to the importance of our work in the South.

—Miss Edmonia Lewis, a Baltimore sculptor of African descent, has completed at her studio in Rome a fine bas-relief in white marble for a church in Baltimore. It represents the Magi adoring the infant Jesus, and of the three the African is given greater prominence than either the Caucasian or the Asiatic. Miss Lewis has also recently finished a statue of the Virgin Mary for the Marquis of Bute.

—P. C. Cotton writes us from Fort Atkinson, Wis., that he is a regular reader of this paper, and a member of Hasou Chapel, Allen, La. He attends the M. E. Church, there being no church for colored people in the vicinity, and but few colored people in that part of the country. He is well pleased, the climate is pleasant and healthy, though the winters are somewhat cold. The people are blessed with churches and excellent schools. He rejoices to hear of the progress of education and Christianity in the South, and expects to return during the present year. Bro. Cotton's oldest brother James went North in 1863, and was supposed to be dead. The family heard of and corresponded with him, and in June, 1880, the younger brother went North to see him, and since that time has worked on a farm in summer and attended school in winter. He is trying to prepare himself as a teacher so as to teach on his return to the south.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

H. T. Abbott, Rosedale: "We have been carrying on a protracted meeting for two weeks, and it has resulted in 9 converts and 6 reclaimed. The church is in good spirit, but the high water has taken possession of our building, and we are compelled to hold service in the house I am living in."

A. J. Ford, Houma: "We closed our protracted meeting with 12 converts and many on probation. The Lord has blessed us wonderfully. The church is in a splendid state. The people in Terrebonne are beginning to know that we have a church here. Pray for us."

S. E. Morant, Alexandria: "We commenced revival services Sunday, March 4th; since which time the Lord has blessed us with 24 converts and 7 backsliders reclaimed. Being somewhat worn-out by excessive labor, we will rest for a short season, expecting to open again soon. Pray for our continued success."

H. C. Arnston, Morgan City: "The people received me kindly, and are doing all they can to make my stay agreeable. In a protracted meeting 8 mourners were brought to the beach, 2 backsliders reclaimed. The sisters are united in church work. The Sunday-school is small and lively."

son, at Camp Parapet, entered upon his work under discouraging circumstances. The Sabbath-school existed only in name, the congregation was badly scattered, the brethren were nearly discouraged, but like a true son of Wesley, Bro. Johnson entered upon his work. The members of the church and congregation received him as a messenger sent by God. The Lord opened their hearts to receive the word. A good Sunday-school has been gathered; the congregation more than doubled; the parsonage put in order; a good stove for the kitchen, and nice chamber set for the sleeping room. The word preached has been sent home to the hearts of the people, and the hearts of the pastor, and people are gladdened by the conversion of over a score of souls. Sabbath, April 1, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to over eighty-five.

At Plum street Bro. Mason, assisted by Bro Norwood, has one of the best Sunday-schools in the city; there may be larger schools, but none better. The congregation is constantly increasing; the place of worship is too small. The people are calling for a more commodious place, and we think that they ought to have it. So far as we know, our ministers and people here in the city all feel that the faithful struggling band at Plum street deserve a new church, and are ready to help them in securing it. No man can lead off more successfully in such a work than Bro. Mason, their pastor. Here, too, there is a good religious interest. The church is moving on and up close to God. At the mourner's bench are seen backsliders returning back to the fold, sinners anxious to know God in the pardon of their sins, and the Lord is adding to the church such as shall be saved.

At Thomson Chapel, Bro. Beal has entered upon his second year full of hope. Congregation and Sunday-school constantly increasing; the church gaining in its strength. At a protracted meeting in March, six were received on probation, and five converted to God.

Bro. Vaughan, at Ames, is having special tokens of God's favor. The records show the Sunday-school the largest now it has been for a number of years, and what is more encouraging, the school is constantly increasing. The prayer and class meetings are well attended. The spiritual strength of the church is increasing. Sabbath, April 1st, was the regular communion day. A. B. Leonard, D.D., presiding elder of the Cincinnati district, Ohio conference, was present and preached an able and instructive sermon, and assisted in the administration of the Lord's Supper. Three joined the church in full connection, one by letter, and two by profession, and eleven on probation. All that Ames Church ever has needed was a Christian preacher and pastor, a man who will stand by his guns twelve months in a year. There are blessings more than earth can give for all such men. We have no doubt as to the future of this church. To us it is full of promise.

D. Shelby, Allen: "This little place has very many good people. There are between 500 and 600 inhabitants. There are three stores, and no whiskey is sold within ten miles. Good land can be obtained suitable for cotton and corn. I long to see the time when the place shall be crowded with people."

Eliza Verdin, Verdunville: "I have started a Sabbath-school here. It was organized February 3. Bro. J. Williams, of Centreville, called and gave the children good instruction. Pray that the school may grow in grace."

L. Kennedy, Alexandria: "In our church for the last two weeks we have had a protracted meeting. Some 20 professed to have found Christ in the pardoning of their sins; five backsliders were reclaimed. Bro. Morant says he will continue as long as he can get one to come to the mourner's bench."

TENNESSEE.

J. J. Barr, Sharon: "Judging from the present spirit among the people this will be a great year for the gathering in of souls. If the brethren will quit fighting each other and preach Christ and the way to heaven, what happy reports we may read at the next conference?"

H. W. Key, Murfreesboro: "We acknowledge the receipt from Bro. John Seay, of Tennessee conference, of $70, on paying indebtedness on Brownsville M. E. Church. This is the amount in full subscribed by Father Seay during the annual conference. He has our thanks."

MISSISSIPPI.

J. W. Preston, Morton: "Elder D. A. Williams held quarterly conference here March 10. Our [illegible] all officers were [illegible] sermon on Sunday. Our church is small, and contains but a few members. We are trying to purchase a lot in town for the purpose of building a church upon. Several went from here to hear the elder preach at Forest on the following night, and went their way rejoicing."

TEXAS.

Lizzie Perkins, Pleasanton: "We have a good school, and a lovely little Sabbath school, in growing condition."

W. L. Molloy: "We are building and have nearly completed the best church in Clarksville. As I passed Clarksville on Monday several gentlemen came aboard, and I overheard a conversation that was going on between them. One of them said he was invited the day before by a friend to take a walk and among other places visited was the M. E. Church. He said to his astonishment the Negroes of Clarksville were building the best church in the city. Pray for us.

KENTUCKY.

The 14th session of Lexington conference was held in Lexington, Ky., March 22-25, Bishop Andrews presiding. J. Courtenay was re-elected secretary. The presiding elders reported their several districts in excellent condition, spiritually and financially. Presiding Elder Jones, of Lexington district, was presented by the ministers of his district with a handsome gold watch and a purse; the Rev. M. Walton, of Louisville district, received a gold-headed cane; and the Rev. Scott Ward, of the Bowling Green district, a gold watch. The statistics evidenced a gratifying increase in membership, in benevolent collections, and in value of church property."—N. Y. Advocate.

A Letter for the Bryan Church.

DEAR EDITOR.—Please allow space for the following:

Dear Brethren:—I am well. I am anxious to hear from you. It has been some little time since I claimed a member's part in your church. Our sweet communion then cannot be forgotten. I joined your class in 1878, when the church was under the hand of W. W. Brown. It is a great consolation to think of that day; it brings to my heart joy. I am sure I will not in this life let it pass my mind; for its impression is too weighty. Can you? I expect that you have enjoyed many such days. I hope so, but I have not; for it was to me a day of sin-forgiving, sight-giving, and lost finding. I indeed often repeat the words of that hymn, by which I was invited to Christ:

Now is the day of grace;
O, sinners! come, without delay,
And seek the Savior's face.

I am happy, because I know that it was an invitation of Christ, and that it was accepted in due season. Dear brethren, I have not forgotten my promise to the church. I know there is no one that belongs to the M. E. Church that loves it more than I do. I would much rather have something disrespectfully said about me than about the M. E. Church. I am toiling hard for the Lord in the midst of enemies, but I feel cheerful and anxious to accomplish something this year for the Lord. I have added four to our small number. I have not been able to do anything toward building in town yet, but I will within a few days have up a church in the country, a few miles from town. I think it will be ready for the second quarterly conference. The prospect for a grand harvest is cheering. I shall come ere long to see you, and I hope to find you up and doing. We are having good news from Tennessee. All of my talk will be about the Lord, the church, and the SOUTHWESTERN. The latter is our news agent, and it ought to be in every family.

You may expect me at any time. We would like to hear from our friends of Camden and Pine Bluff, Ark. Again, your brother in the Lord. R. K. WHITING.

Crockett, Texas March 23, 1883.

In the death of Gov. Stephens, of Georgia, we know of no step in favor of humanity that will lose anything. Not because the Governor did not think right, but lacking the martyr element in his make-up, he was not prepared to suffer for his convictions. No man more strongly than he, believed less in slavery; yet when the moment of decision came, he subscribed to its demands with greater zeal than ever Charles Carroll subscribed to the Declaration of Independence. No man more strongly than he believed in the Union; yet, as in the matter of slavery, when the test came, he agreed, Pilate-like, to its death. And so through life. He thought upon almost every subject, but upon every subject of [illegible] lacked the strength of his [illegible] tions. But we know of [illegible] one is the nation who [illegible]

[illegible] to see him [illegible] a learned man and [illegible] the Jewish laws. He hated the Christians, and thought he was doing God's work when he helped stop their preaching.

[illegible] went to the priests [illegible] to send him to [illegible] break up the homes [illegible] Christians [illegible] poor [illegible] near [illegible] when all [illegible] great [illegible] shone around [illegible]. He fell [illegible] the ground, and a voice said, [illegible], why persecutest thou me? Saul knew it was God, and said, What shall I do? The voice told him to go to Damascus, and he would be told what to do.

Saul arose, opened his eyes, but could not see. The people with him hear the voice, but saw no one. They led Saul to the city, and for three days he was blind.

Then God spoke to a good man named Ananias, and told him to go and see Saul. This made Ananias afraid. He knew about Saul, and how he abused those who loved Jesus.

But God said go, and told the good man Saul would some day bear the Gospel to the Gentiles. So he went and said, Brother Saul, the Lord sent me that you may receive your sight and be filled with the Holy Ghost. Saul saw at once, and believed in Jesus, and was baptized.

O, what a change. He came to Damascus to kill Christians, and now he is one himself. God called Saul, and he obeyed. God calls every one. When we do wrong our hearts tell us we are grieving Jesus. This is God talking to us. We must obey as Saul did, pray to Jesus, and he will lead and take care of us. Sin made us like Saul, before he loved Jesus, we do all against him. When we obey his voice, we work for him.—Western.

NEW BOOKS.

THE SNOW-FAMILY. By Maala Bruce Lyman. D. Lathrop & Co., Boston.

Mrs. Lyman is the author of two or three Sunday-school books, [illegible] the quality of direct[illegible] teachings and calculated [illegible] lead to a better life. The intent of this book is to stimulate its readers to greater activity in seeking out the poor and needy, and somehow to impress upon their minds God's care for them and [illegible] urge them to care for them[illegible]. Mrs. Lyman that while it [illegible] to give to the poor a little [illegible] and clothing, that it is [illegible] to lead them to earn a support by labor than by charity[illegible] believes that a little hard [illegible] will enable multitudes of [illegible] helpless persons to rise [illegible] positions of honor and usefulness.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for April contains even more than the usual attractive features. The editor, Dr. Talmage, has a characteristic article, "Mending the Bible;" Edwin de Leon continues; "The American Pilgrim in Palestine," etc. There are serial and short stories, a large number of very excellent sketches, some admirably written essays, a sermon, several poems, a record of important events, personal notes, comments, etc. The miscellany is entertaining and instructive; the number abounds with illustrations. The price is 25c a copy, or $3 a year, post-paid. Address, Mrs. Frank Leslie, publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York. The May number will contain the first of papers by Lieut. Fred. Schwatka, entitled, "Among the Natives of the North.

An anonymous novel will be gegun in the Century Magazine some time during the next volume. It is entitled "The Bread-winners," and is described as a story unusual in scene and subject, and powerful in treatment. The locality is one of the lake cities, and the plot includes a charming love-story with a tragic undercurrent, in which are described the doings of a secret society of "Bread-winners." Certain phases and types of American society will be here described for the first time by a literary artist of real merit. Among the most striking passages in this book is a description of a reign of terror in a western city, culminating in a labor riot, in which the "Bread-winners" bear a prominent part.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for May is an interesting one. Prominent among many admirable articles are "What is Presbyterianism?" by Rev. E. F. Hatfield, D.D.; a continuation of De Leon's "The American Pilgrim in Palestine;" the first of a series of papers by Lieutenant Schwatka, "Among the Natives of the North," and an article by the editor, "Home." There are contributions of articles, serial and short stories, sketches, essays, poems, etc., by Alfreton Hervey, Adelaide-Stout, O. M. Birrell, Edwin Arnold, Robert Buchanan, Ida E. Hervey, Rev. Mr. Hammond, J. W. Thirwall, and other favorite authors. In the Home Pulpit, is a sermon by Dr. Talmage, "The Eye." The subscription is $3 a year; single copy 25 cents, post-paid. Address, Mrs. Frank Leslie, publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

The April Number of Harper's Magazine, invites special notice. An engraving from the portrait of Washington Irving by Gilbert Stuart Newton, is published apropos of the centenary of Irving's birth. Phebe Earle Gibbon's "English Farmers," is a close study of rural life in Sussex. George H. Boughton's fourth paper on Holland is even more interesting than those which have preceded it. Col. Higginson, in the sixth chapter of his American History, gives a concise and comprehensive review of the early English settlements in this country. The Hon. John Bigelow, in an article entitled "The Heir-Presumptive to the Imperial Crown of Mexico," gives an interesting chapter of secret history connected with Maximilian's unhappy reign in Mexico. Professor Simon Newcomb contributes an interesting account of his recent interview with Cetywayo, the Zulu King. The editorial departments are full of timely and interesting matter.

Every purchaser of the Golden Days, for March 31, is entitled, free of charge, to a beautiful statuette called "Ouch!" A boy is preparing to remove a splinter from his foot, and his expression will provoke the sympathy of all. Golden Days is one of the best and brightest of juvenile papers, and can be had every week for $3 a year. Address James Elverson, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Wide Awake for April, describes "John Angelos' visit to the Water-Color Exhibition of 1883," with thirty illustrations. There is a great variety of stories and instructions for a cooking society. Old and young will be refreshed by [illegible] perusal. D. Lothrop & Co., [illegible], publishers, $2.50 a year.

From the new edition of Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co's American Newspaper Directory, which is now in press, it appears that the newspapers and periodicals of all kinds issued in the United States and Territories, now reach the imposing total of 11,196. This is an increase of 585 in twelve months. It is interesting to note that the newly settled regions of the Canadian North-West are productive of newspapers as well as of wheat, for the number of journals issued in Manitoba was nearly doubled during the year.

Farmer Franklin's Costly Shot.

Mr. Franklin and Mr. Raynor reside at Queen's, Long Island, and are neighbors. There was a misunderstanding between them, and when Farmer Franklin called upon Mr. Raynor to adjust the difficulty he carried with him a shot gun. He knocked at the door of Mr. Raynor's house, and in due time Mr. Raynor came out. The argument between the two men soon became so warm that Farmer Franklin injudiciously brought the shot-gun into play, and discharged one of the barrels at his neighbor. Fortunately the charge passed over Mr. Raynor's head, and lodged in a cherry tree. Farmer Franklin was arraigned yesterday in the Queen's County Court of Sessions to answer for his indiscreet act. He pleaded guilty, and Judge Armstrong sentenced him to pay a fine of $250 or go to jail for that number of days. Farmer Franklin said he supposed he would have to pay the fine as it was plowing time, and he couldn't go to jail.—N. Y. Times.

Bro. Charles Dechard was born in Richmond, Va., Oct. 15, 1796. He removed to Winchester, Tenn., from there to Aberdeen, Miss., from there to Bastrop, Texas; from there back to Tennessee where he remained until after the war; he then came back to Bastrop, and from there came to Waco, where he remained until his death. He is the father of thirteen children, only two of whom are living. I called to see him, and he seemed to be perfectly resigned to the will of his blessed Master, whom he had served for 34 years. He was regarded as one of the oldest Christians in Waco, and was well thought of by all. He leaves a wife, daughter, and several grand children.
A. R. NORRIS.

At the church Monday night, March 19, Jane Baptise, one of the oldest and a faithful member of Union Chapel, New Orleans. In the midst of a revival service, while two were converted, Sister Baptise went out to the cistern and fell dead. She leaves many friends to mourn her loss. She has been a great help to the church. She fell in the field at her post; a friend to the church, a friend to the preachers, and a friend to the young people, has gone to rest.
STEPHEN PRIESTLY, pastor.

Died, March 7, 1883, at her home, Sister Lucinda Mitchell. Sister Mitchell was born in Clark County, Miss., 1834, and moved to Choctaw, Miss., in 1843, and was married to Mr. Littleton Mitchell 1853, retaining her first name. She united with the M. E. Church, 1881. Before joining the church she was esteemed to be a Christian lady; after uniting with the church she was always found in her place as long as her health would admit. Her victory over death was quite a glorious one. She said to her weeping friends that she desired to go, saying she "saw the angels waiting to receive her." The dear Sister will be missed by us all, but by none so much as her kind husband and children. May God comfort them and bring them again to her embrace
L. O. CROWDER.

March 20, 1883.

Died, March 16, 1883, at the residence of Mr. Thomas and Sister Mary J. Philpot, their little daughter Mary Annie, aged six years and ten days. After suffering 25 days little Mary passed away to the home of the blessed. As we saw the little body interred amid the sobs and tears of its many friends, we could but say:

Sleep on little Mary, sweetly sleep,
No storms disturb thy rest,
Though loved ones for will weep,
Yet thou art with the blessed.

May angels guard thy sleeping dust,
Till God shall bid it rise,
Then faithful to their trust,
Conduct thee to the skies.

Compliments to American Organs.

Dr. John Stainer, Organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, than whom there could not be no higher authority in regard to organs, music, etc., has shown his appreciation of American instruments by preparing an instruction book especially for the Mason & Hamlin organs. It has already been published in London, but will be immediately republished in this country by Messrs. Ditson & Co. Messrs. Mason & Hamlin have received very recently two noteworthy compliments for their organs from London. One is in the sale of an organ to Her Majesty Queen Victoria; the other is the announcement that one of them will be used in Westminster Abbey, under the direction of Dr. Bridge. The same organs were used last week in the production of the same work by the Philharmonic Society of Brooklyn N. Y., under the direction of Theodore Thomas, and will be similarly used next week in the production of the same work by the Cecilia Society of Philadelphia, under Mr. Thomas' direction.—Boston Journal.

WALTER RIPETO, P. E.

"Became Sound and Well."

HATCHER'S STATION, Ga., March 27, 1876.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D.: Dear Sir—My wife, who had been ill for over two years, and had tried many other medicines, became sound and well by using your "Favorite Prescription." My niece was also cured by its use, after several physicians had failed to do her any good.

Yours truly, [illegible]

Our Bishops hold their semi-annual meeting in Pittsburgh, about the second week in Mas. The Preacher's Meeting are making arrangements for the public services usually held in connection with that occasion.

Forty Year's Experience of an Old Nurse.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœ, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

Greeley, Col., was visited by a $150,000 fire on the 4th.

NOTED MEN!

DR. JOHN F. HANCOCK, late President of the National Pharmaceutical Association of the United States, says:
"Brown's Iron Bitters has a heavy sale, is conceded to be a fine tonic; the character of the manufacturers is a voucher for its purity and medicinal excellence."

DR. JOSEPH ROBERTS, President Baltimore Pharmaceutical College, says:
"I indorse it as a fine medicine, reliable as a strengthening tonic, free from alcoholic poisons."

DR. J. FARIS MOORE, PH. D., Professor of Pharmacy, Baltimore Pharmaceutical College, says:
"Brown's Iron Bitters is a safe and reliable medicine, positively free from alcoholic poisons, and can be recommended as a tonic for use among those who oppose alcohol."

DR. EDWARD EARICKSON, Secretary Baltimore College of Pharmacy, says:
"I indorse it as an excellent medicine, a good digestive agent, and a non-intoxicant in the fullest sense."

DR. RICHARD SAPINGTON, one of Baltimore's oldest and most reliable physicians, says:
"All who have used it praise its standard virtues, and the well-known character of the house which makes it is a sufficient guarantee of its being all that is claimed, for they are men who could not be induced to offer anything else but a reliable medicine for public use."

A Druggist Cured.

Plantation Melodies
—AND—
REVIVAL HYMNS.
By MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D D.
WITH AN INTRODUCTION
By Rev. F. S. HOYT, D.D., Editor of the Western Christian Advocate.
Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved.
A remarkable and unique collection of religious songs, with their accompanying weird, pathetic, ever varied and charming melodies, as sung for generations by the colored people of America. A few of the songs will be familiar, but the great majority have never before been printed, and are now given for the first time with the original words and music. The music has been carefully written, and is well adapted for quartet, chorus, and congregational signing, and is especially excellent for social evenings at home. All singers should have it. First edition was exhausted in sixty days. Send for a copy.
"These songs ought to be saved and they ought to be sung."—Bishop I. W. Wiley. "Should think that the book would sell by thousands, and that it would do good."—Dr. J. M. Buckley. "It is grand. I like it."—Dr. R. S. Rust. "Just the thing—the gold saved from the dross."—Dr. Jacob Krehbiel. "Am perfectly delighted with it; it will sell by the thousands."—Rev. A. E. P. Albert. "There should be a copy in every household."—Rev. H. W. Tate. "Having carefully read your hymn-book, and being acquainted with many of the soul-stirring anthems spread upon its pages—especially one that was the cause of my conversion—I can and will commend the book, in the name of God, to all the world."—Rev. C. H. Collins.
Bound in cloth, gilt, 272 pages, and portrait. Sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, 60 cents.

OUR SOUTHERN WORK.

LOUISIANA.

Cornelia Bell, Centreville: "Mr. K. B. Bell left March 14, on a visit to his father in Morehouse parish. He has resided here since 1880, and is beloved by the people. His wife remains, full of vigor, to promote the cause of Christ.

The reports that come to us from nearly all of our preachers indicate a year of religious prosperity.

Clinton street, New Orleans, P. King, pastor: "We held our first quarterly conference March 30. Presiding Elder L. P. Cushman was present. The reports were all in order; those of the class leaders deserve special mention. Each leader stated in his report that he had no members habitually absent from class and that all contributed to the support of the church. The report of the stewards presented a clear statement of what had been done and showed a good beginning for the year. The Sunday-school was never more prosperous nor better attended. The Conference made an advance of $100 in the salary of the pastor and five in the quatterage of the P. E. Class No. 4, Bro. John Mathews leaders raised last year $154 10, but proposes to do better this year."

MISSISSIPPI.

P. Blue, Enterprise: "The first quarterly conference was held by Elder Campbell, March 5. We had a well attended, pleasant and agreeable session. The Elder inquired into all the matters of the church, advised as to the benevolent collections. At night he preached a most excellent sermon to a large congregation, and administered the Lord's Supper to one hundred."

C. Vaughan, Vaiden: "On my first round I found the church work in backward condition. I had to secure correct deeds for the churches, and two of them are now all right. In bringing my family from Yazoo City we came near drowning, our wagon floated in the creek, and about $15 worth of goods were lost. Quarterly conference was held by Elder Barney, and it was an inspiring occasion."

TENNESSEE.

J. L. Massey, Martin Station: "I found my work in a medium condition spiritually, but financially very poor. We had a little building about a mile out of town where we held our meetings, so situated that in rainy weather we could not hold services. I have bought a lot in town 150x100 ft., and have moved our little church upon it and enlarged it, doing all the work with my own hands. I hope to have it all finished and ready for dedication at our second quarterly meeting. Martin is a growing town and will in the near future become one of the great commercial centres of Tennessee. The dark cloud in behind me, the bright light is front. Pray for us."

J. A. C. Wade, Petersburg: "A good time to pray is when you are tempted to sin; for by prayer we can and will gain the victory and abstain from sin. We have just closed our first quarterly conference at Friend's Hill. Our congregation was small on account of deaths in the vicinity, but the presiding elder preached a rousing sermon. Rev. P. P. Brooks, and Rev. A. Clark, a Cumberland preacher, were with us. Collection $6.90."

TEXAS.

Geo. Pleasants, Cedar Creek: "I am out at a place where there is not a member, but I find some sinners who love the Methodist Church. A gentleman, Mr. Jones, has given me a place to hold meetings on his land. He talks of doing for more us. Mr. Douglas is another friend."

R. Weaver, Jacksonville: "I met a little handful of warm-hearted Methodists, and they gladly received us. I have a large work, [illegible] few members. The weather [illegible] against us, but is now [illegible]

A Voice From the People.

THE GREATEST CURATIVE SUCCESS OF THE AGE.

No medicine introduced to the public has ever met with the success accorded to Hop Bitters. It stands to-day the best known curative article in the world. Its marvellous renown is not due to the advertising it has received. It is famous by reason of its inherent virtues. It does all that is claimed for it. It is the most powerful, speedy and effective agent known for the building up of debilitated systems and general family medicines.

Winston, Forsythe Co., N.C., Mar. 15, 1880.
Gents—I desire to express to you my thanks for your wonderful Hop Bitters. I was troubled with Dyspepsia for five years previous to commencing the use of your Hop Bitters some six months ago. My cure has been wonderful. I am pastor of the First Methodist Church of this place, and my whole congregation can testify to the great virtue of your bitters.
Very respectfully, REV. H. FEREBEE.

Rochester, N. Y., March 11, 1880.
Hop Bitters Co.—Please accept our grateful acknowledgment for the Hop Bitters you were so kind to donate, and which were such benefit to us. We are so built up with it we feel young again.
OLD LADIES OF THE HOME OF THE FRIENDLESS.

Delevan, Wis., Sept. 24, 1880.
Gents—I have taken not quite one bottle of the Hop Bitters. I was a feeble old man of 78 years when I got it. To-day I am as active and feel as well as I did at 30. I see a great many that need such a medicine.
D. ROYCE.

Monroe, Mich., Sept. 25, 1875.
Sirs—I have been taking Hop Bitters for inflammation of the kidneys and bladder; it has done for me what four doctors failed to do—cured me. The effect of the Bitters seemed like magic. W. L. CARTER.

If you have a sick friend, whose life is a burden, one bottle of Hop Bitters will restore that friend to perfect health and happiness.

Bradford, Pa., May 8, 1881.
"It has cured me of several diseases, such as nervousness, sickness at the stomach, monthly troubles, &c. I have not seen a sick day since I took Hop Bitters."
MRS. FANNIE GREEN.

Evansville, Wis., June 24, 1882.
Gentlemen—No medicine has had one-half the sale here and given such universal satisfaction as your Hop Bitters have. We take pleasure in speaking for their welfare, as every one who tries them is well satisfied with their results. Several such remarkable cures have been made with them here that there are a number of earnest workers in the Hop Bitters cause. One person gained eleven pounds from taking only a few bottles. SMITH & IDE.

Bay City, Mich., Feb. 3, 1880.
Hop Bitters Company:—I think it my duty to send you a recommend for the benefit of any person wishing to know whether Hop Bitters are good or not. I know they are good for general debility and indigestion; strengthen the nervous system and make new life. I recommend my patients to use them.
DR. A. PLATT, Treater of Chronic Diseases.

Superior, Wis., Jan., 1880.
I heard in my neighborhood that your Hop Bitters was doing such a great deal of good among the sick and afflicted with most every kind of disease, and as I had been troubled for fifteen years with neuralgia and all kinds of rheumatic complaints and kidney trouble. I took one bottle according to directions. It at once did me a great deal of good, and I used four bottles more. I am an old man, but am now as [illegible]. There are seven or eight [illegible] in our place using Hop Bitters for their family medicine, and are so well satisfied with it they will use no other. One lady here has been bedridden for years, is well and doing her work from the use of three bottles.
LEONARD WHITBECK.

What it Did for an Old Lady.

Coshocton Station, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1878.
Gents—A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. A lady of over seventy years, had been sick for the past ten years; she had not been able to be around. Six months ago she was helpless. Her old remedies, or physicians being of no avail. I sent forty-five miles, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It had such an effect on her that she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. After taking two bottles more she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to her neighbors, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children also have derived great benefit from their use.
W. B. HATHAWAY, Agt. U. S. Ex. Co.

Honest Old Tim.

Gorham, N. H., July 14, 1879.
Gents—Whoever you are I don't know; but I thank the Lord, and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago I had a slight shock of palsy, which unnerved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change; another did so change my nerves that they are now as steady as ever they were. It used to take both hands to write, but now my good right hand writes this. Now, if you continue to manufacture as honest and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest fortune, and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conferred on mankind.
TIM BURCH.

Anna Maria Krider, wife of Tobias K.

Chambersburg, July 25, 1875.
This is to let the people know that I, Anna Maria Kridder, wife of Tobias Krider, am now past seventy-four years of age. My health has been very bad for many years past. I was troubled with weakness, bad cough, dyspepsia, great debility and constipation of the bowels. I was so miserable I could eat nothing. I heard of Hop Bitters and was resolved to try them. I have only used three bottles, and I feel wonderful good well and strong again. My bowels are regular, my appetite good, and cough gone. I think it my duty to let the people know how bad I was and what the medicine has done for me, so they can cure themselves with it.

My wife was troubled for years with blotches, moth patches, freckles and pimples on her face, which nearly annoyed the life out of her. She spent many dollars on the thousand infallible (?) cures with nothing but injurious effects. A lady friend of Syracuse, N. Y., who had had similar experience and had been cured with Hop Bitters, induced her try it. One bottle made her face as smooth, fair and soft as a child's and given her such health that it seems almost a miracle.
A MEMBER OF CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

A Rich Ladys Experience.

I traveled all over Europe and other foreign countries at a cost of thousands of dollars in search of health and found it not. I returned discouraged and disheartened, and was restored to real youthful health and spirits with less than two bottles of Hop Bitters. I hope others may profit by experience and stay at home. A LADY, Augusta, Me.

I had been sick and miserable so long, causing my husband so much trouble and expense, no one knowing what ailed me. I was so completely disheartened and discouraged that I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said: "Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper for they have made mother well and us happy." THE MOTHER.

My mother says Hop Bitters is the only thing that will keep her from her old and severe attacks of paralysis and headache.—Ed. Oswego Sun.

The Housekeeper.

TAPIOCA PUDDING—Three tablespoonfuls of tapioca, one quart of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, two eggs, and salt. Mix the tapioca in one-half of the milk while cold, add butter, and stir over the fire until it boils. Pour in buttered pudding dish, add the rest of the milk, sweeten to taste, add eggs well beaten, flavor with nutmeg, and bake half an hour.

BOILED APPLE PUDDING—Make a batter with two well beaten eggs, one and one-half pints of milk, and one and one-half pints (scant) of flour. Pare, quarter and core apples, stir into the butter with a teaspoonful of salt, pour in a pudding dish and boil two hours. To be eaten with a hard sauce.

SQUASH CAKE—One cup of sifted squash, three cups of sifted flour, one tablespoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cream tartar, one teaspoonful of saleratus, and one teaspoonful of butter. Mix with milk sufficient to make a stiff batter. Bake in a quick oven in gem pans.

COTTAGE PUDDING—One cup each of sugar and milk, one egg, three tablespoonfuls melted butter, one pint of flour, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Serve with sauce or sugar and cream.

NEBRASKA CORN BREAD—One pint of buttermilk, one pint of Indian meal, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one teaspoonful of soda. Stir well and bake.

FOR SEASONING SAUSAGE—For eleven pounds of meat take four ounces of salt, one-half ounce of sage, and one-half ounce of pepper.

Remember This.

If you are sick Hop Bitters will surely aid Nature in making you well when all else fails.

If you are costive or dyspeptic, or are suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the stomach or bowels, it is your own fault if you remain ill, for Hop Bitters are a sovereign remedy in all such complaints.

If you are wasting away with any form of Kidney disease, stop tempting Death this moment, and turn for a cure to Hop Bitters.

If you are sick with that terrible sickness Nervousness, you will find a "Balm in Gilead" in the use of Hop Bitters.

If you are a frequenter, or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all countries—malarial, epidemic, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

If you have rough, pimply, or sallow skin, bad breath, pains and aches, and feel miserable generally, Hop Bitters will give you fair skin, rich blood, and sweetest breath, health, and comfort.

In short they cure all Diseases of the stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Nerves, Kidneys, Bright's Disease. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

That poor, bedridden, invalid wife, sister, mother, or daughter, can be made the picture of health, by a few bottles of Hop Bitters, costing but a trifle. Will you let them suffer?

Twenty-six persons have been arrested at Ballinrobe, County Mayo, charged with complicity in the murder of Feerick in June, 1880.

Liebig Co's Coco Beef Tonic.

"Gives more tone than anything I have ever used or prescribed," says Professor H. GOULLON, M. D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony, Knight of the Iron Cross, etc. "The effect of the Coco borders upon the marvelous, and if not clearly authenticated by scientists of undoubted veracity would be altogether beyond belief," says Dr WM. S. SEARLE.

Invaluable in head affections, weakened memory dizziness, determination of blood to the head, sick and nervous headache. Also highly beneficial in palpitation of the heart and other forms of heart disease, dyspepsia, monthly suffering and billiousness. Beware of worthless imitations.

MOTHERS READ.

GENTS:—About nine years ago I had a child two years old and almost dead. The doctor I had attending her could not tell what ailed her. I asked him if he did not think it was worms. He said no. However, this did not satisfy me, as I felt convinced in my own mind that she had. I obtained a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE (genuine). I gave her a teaspoonful in the morning and another at night, after which she passed seventy-two worms and was a well child. Since then I have never been without it in my family. The health of my children remained so good that I had neglected watching their actions until about three weeks ago, when two of them presented the same sickly appearance that Fanny did nine years ago. So I thought it must be worms, and went to work at once with a bottle of DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE between four of my children, their ages being as follows: Alice, 8 years; Charley, 4 years; Emma, 6 years; John, 9 years. Now comes the result: Alice and Emma came out all right, but Charley passed forty-five and Johnny about sixty worms. The result was so gratifying that I spent two days in showing the wonderful effect of your Vermifuge around Utica, and now have the worms on exhibition in my store.
Yours truly, JOHN PIPER.

DEAR EDITOR:—I wish to find out the whereabouts of my relations. My master's name was Almer Villars. My mother's name was Rachel Villars; my brothers and sisters was Fannie, John, Tom and Charity Villars. I left them in Tennessee, five miles below Bolivar. My name then was Adeline Villars, but by marriage it is now Adeline Renfro. Address me at Mexia, Texas, care A. Brown.

DEAR EDITOR:—I wish to find out whereabouts of my relatives. My father's name was Anthony Ford. He left me in Morgan county, Ala. My mother belonged to John Allen; her name was Melinda Allen; her children's names were Frank, Susan, King, Aleck and Felix Allen. Her oldest son was Frank Allen. My mother's brothers were named Frank and Phillis Peck. My name now is Felix Dancuill. Address me at Mexia, Texas, care of A. Brown.
FELIT DANCUILL.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to inquire for my father and aunt. Father was Bob Bannett, aunt was Dinah. He belonged to James Bannett in Norta Carolina, and was carried to Mississippi by a speculator Thos. Woods. Aunt Dinah belonged to Vinson Brown, and I left her with him in North Carolina. I came out of the old Larkin Brooks family. I belonged to Larkin Brooks' daughter. Fanny, who married a Mr. Burton, who brought me to Texas. Then he changed his name to Haliburton. Now my name is Betty Allen, wife of George Allen. I belong to the Methodist Episcopal Church. Address me at Waelder, Gonzales county, Texas.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to ascertain through the columns of your paper, if possible, the whereabouts of my mother, whom I have not seen or heard of for thirty-two years, and who was transferred from Henry Winegar to Nevill, with two children, of dark complexion. Her first name being Elizabeth Bulinger.

MR. EDITOR—I desire information of the following named relatives: My mother's named Maria, belonged to Perry Starks in Louisville, Ky.; my brother's named Zazhariah Taylor; my sister named Dollie Ann—all belonged to Perry Starks. My sister Mary we left in Virginia. I think she belonged to a Mr. Carter at the time. We parted at Charlottesville. We were sold there from the Eade's estate, as well as I can recollect. My sister Sarah she belonged to Terry Graves in Fayette. She and I went to Missouri together. In a short time after I was sold again; and to the present time I have been unable to learn anything from them, or their whereabouts. I am the oldest boy, and was about three years of age at the time of our separation. I am about 35 years old now. I hope brother preachers will take an interest in my inquiry and help me find my relatives. Address,
REV. J. I. TURNER.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.
The genuine SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP must have DR. JOHN BULL'S private stamp on each bottle. DR. JOHN BULL only has the right to manufacture and sell the original JOHN J. SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP, of Louisville, Ky. Examine well the label on each bottle. If my private stamp is not on each bottle do not purchase, or you will be deceived.

A WONDERFUL [illegible]d
SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.
These Glasses are chemically treated in the process of manufacture, and possess the property of keeping your eyes in good condition, as when first you use them. They have been carefully examined and analysed by American and European oculists, who claim that the MEDICATED GLASSES have no equal, and can in some cases restore the sight if used in time, but in no case can the eye become impaired by their use for the following reasons:
1. The chemicals soften the light to the eye, completely doing away with that tiresome sensation that is usually experienced in using glasses after one or two hours' use.
2. The chemicals make the glasses hard; they retain their polish. Hence you will always see through them as bright and clear as at first.
3. The chemicals keep the glasses cold, and the result is that the optic nerves are always cool, doing away with any feverish sensation to the eye.
4. With these glasses you can read, write or sew all night, the light having no effect on the eye, with no distressing or tiresome sensation, which necessarily improves the eye.

Ague Cure
Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.
It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.
For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.
We warrant it when taken according to directions.

Nothing and Something.

BY MRS. F. E. W. HARPER.

"It is nothing to me," the beauty said,
With a careless toss of her pretty head,
"The man is weak if he can't refrain
From the cup you say is wrought with pain."

It was something when in after years,
Her eyes were drenched with burning tears,
And she watched in lonely grief and dread
And startled to hear a staggering tread.

"It is nothing to me," the mother said,
I have no fear that my boy will tread
In the downward path of sin and shame,
And crush my heart and darken his name."

It was something to her when her only son
From the path of right was early won;
And madly cast in the flowing bowl
A ruined body and sin-wrecked soul.

"It is nothing to me," the merchant said,
As over his ledger he bent his head;
"I am busy to-day with tare and tret,
And I have no time to fume and fret."

It was something to him when over the wire,
A message came from a funeral pyre,
A drunken conductor had wrecked a train,
And his wife and child were among the slain.

"It is nothing to me," the voter said,
"The party's loss is my only dread."

[illegible] in our midst a grist of sin?

[illegible] something, yes all, for us to stand
[illegible] by faith the Saviour's hand;
[illegible] to labor, live and fight
[illegible] side of God and unchanging right.

[illegible] New and the Old in Louisiana.

BY BISHOP JOHN F. HURST.

This Louisiana, and New Orleans in particular, is a rare place for contrasts and grotesque combinations. Never did the Saxon and the Latin more completely jostle each other in the pathway, [illegible] than here. The very [illegible] you think you have hold [illegible] type and fixed factor you have [illegible] again, for it is as apt [illegible] the exception as the rule. [illegible] days ago we went to the [illegible] factory, and after a full [illegible] of all the details, and [illegible] of a chill upon us [illegible] to look on the [illegible], we saw on the [illegible] of the street a grove [illegible] well laden with [illegible] and some of the [illegible] the "ban[illegible] of the sidewalks [illegible] City. Ice and [illegible] tropics, all [illegible] all the peoples— [illegible] you may expect [illegible] in this [illegible] to politics, [illegible] as any[illegible] is no part of [illegible] I have heard [illegible] stalwarts talk of [illegible] Grant for [illegible] the southern[illegible] while, within a [illegible] the other [illegible] as the [illegible] country. Yonder [illegible] as he is, [illegible] years, he [illegible] and one of [illegible] Right [illegible] large plan[illegible] down the [illegible], [illegible] comes to New [illegible] few days, to see his [illegible] and conduct his business.

The contrast in wealth and social position in the city is painful. The high and the low move along the same streets in easy juxtaposition. The one does not seem to despise, nor the other to envy. It is, in fact, the paradise of pleasant contradictions. The creole and his peculiarities are fast passing away. Mr. Cable has done much to preserve his memory in "Creole Days" and "Grandissimes," and just now in his articles in the Century concerning the early history of New Orleans, but the creole does not accept his version, and despises the very ground Mr. Cable walks on. I have seen some of the creoles who deny his accuracy with such passion as to take away even the genteel calm of the real Frenchman. Soon there will be no more of the creole here. He and his are in the boiling caldron of the new life, and in due time all that will be left of him will be the general air of acquiescence in the existing which his fathers brought with them from fair France and dear Spain. The creole hostility to Cable is based on his alleged inability to appreciate the admirable and serviceable qualities of the creole character. He sees its weak side, it is claimed, but not its strong points. But the purely American people recognize him as the best interpreter of the creole character, and are ready to give him credit for being the best gleaner in this now fading havest.

The busiest scene in New Orleans that I have witnessed is along the levee, or river bank, on a Wednesday or Saturday, when the steamers are loading up with cotton. All the roads and rivers and bayous send down their tribute of cotton to the great city. They come down as great bales, packed as tightly as the appliances of the upper country allow, pass through the hands of the middle-men, are taken to the compress, and with one descent of the awful jaws of the machine are packed into a solid block of flock, and then are thrust off to the steamers and sailing vessels for the distant lands. The paradise of the colored laborer is in handling the bales and putting them on the boats.

"You like this, for it is good solid work," we said to a couple of happy workers, who rested a moment from their strain.

"O, yes; there is nothing better we could do," they replied.

"Your wages—how much do you get?" we asked.

"We are paid always by the hour, and the pay is thirty cents an hour."

"Then that is satisfactory?"

"Yes; but you see it's only 'dib-dab' work."

"What kind of work?"

"Only 'dib-dab' work, off and on, you see; sometimes a job, and then nothing to do for some time."

We saw, in a moment, that while the work was well paid for by the hour, its dib-dab character detracted from its general quality.

Concerning our ecclesiastical work among the colored people, I must say this: That our Church has seldom devised a better piece of ecclesiastical workmanship, or have wrought out the plan into better form, than in the effort to build up a Church with and for the people that constitute such conferences as the Mississippi, the Louisiana, and the Little Rock. Are these men growing? do they know how to lead and educate their people? are they aware of their responsibility? I had my doubts once, but cannot doubt any longer. The time they have been in this leadership has been short, but they have been gathering wisdom and knowledge rapidly, and are sure to fill a large place in the future of the southern tier of States.

Look at the schools. Take the New Orleans University as an example, and where can one hope to find a better illustration of the greed with which young people go after such knowledge as only good [illegible] and the best books can [illegible]. There are two rooms [illegible] used as chapels, and [illegible] and correctness as any college junior. So I might speak of all the studies. The day of doubt has gone as the African's fitness for studies, and for his higher and later uses of them. Already the schools are furnishing teachers, so that the colored man and woman are gradually getting able to teach the young people of their own race. Concerning the location of our university in New Orleans, only words of warmest praise can be spoken. It is situated on Coliseum Square, a most beautiful section of the city, lighted with electricity, and in the midst of beautiful residences. The buildings are inadequate, but the ground is ample. Soon the frame structures, which are to old for good use, will have to come down. The day cannot be far off when there will be commodious brick buildings to take their places. The temptation would be strong, and there would be some overbalancing advantages, to remove the school to the suburbs. But if one opinion is worth anything, I would say: Let the school stay in the bright, sunny place where it is, surrounded by the beautiful homes of New Orleans. Too long has the African been in the darkness—let him henceforth have the blessed noonday.

Three Reasons for Reading the Bible.

A Romish priest, who found one of his flock getting very familiar with the Bible, and fearing the result, tried to persuade him to turn his attention more to the "fathers."

"And who are the fathers?" he inquired.

"Those good men," said the priest, "who lived near the time of the apostles, and are said to have best understood what the apostles meant."

"Well," said the man, "as they lived after the apostles, I shall prefer attending to the apostles, themselves; I think that the GRAND-fathers are better guides than the fathers!" And so he continued reading, and found the entrance of God's Word gave him light and life.

Another priest, wishing to induce a man to give up the Bible reading, argued thus:

"Suppose, now, you were going to Dublin, and came to that spot where four cross-roads meet, and you did not know the way and one person told you to go to the right, and a great number told you to go to the left, to whom would you listen? In other words, would you mind what Luther, a single heretic, says, or what the pope, and the cardinals, and all the doctors of the Catholic Church teach you?"

"Well," replied the man, "if I had a road-book I should not mind what any of them said. Now," (producing his Bible) "I have here a road-book to heaven, and God helping me, I mean to follow it in spite of all that popes and cardinals may say."

"What warrant have you to read the Bible?" said another priest to a poor Irish lad.

"The best of all warrants," shrewdly replied the boy, "namely, a search-warrant; see, here it is, John 5: 36, 'Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of Me."

A Well Deserved Tribute.
